Pigs Grow Quickly Into Fine Breeders

All farrowed during the spring and summer and the second round is now nearly over and here are some of the results:

Instead of the first six there are now eighty. A number of first prizes were taken at the Cleveland fair. Owners have sold herd boars which are now in Alexander and Gaston counties and a number of sows have gone into Catawba and Alamance—all from the little start here in the spring.

"Regular Service" In Television Is Expected Early Next Month

LONDON.—(AP)—British television now officially in the experimental stage, becomes a "regular service" this month.

Daily broadcasts of pictures with sound for experimental purposes were started Oct. 1 by the British Broadcasting Corporation from Alexandra palace atop a hill north of London.

Officials declared the daily two-hour programs were designed for manufacturers and others desiring to demonstrate receiving sets, the theory being that so few sets were in private hands that longer broadcasts were needless.

Two systems are being used, Baird Television, Ltd., and Marconi-E.M. Television company, Ltd.

Each has a separate station in the palace under the supervision of the BBC which has been quite strict in observing a neutrality of preference.

The dual system was established by the television committee named in the house of commons in May of 1934 with Lord Selsdon as chairman.

The idea of dual broadcasting was to permit a free play of ideas leading to a more rapid development of the art.

As far back as 1929 BBC permitted the broadcast of low definition television, but there now has been established by the Selsdon committee a minimum definition of 240 lines per picture with a minimum frequency of 25 pictures per second.

Results Simulate Movies
That means the pictures must be sent in sections of at least 240 lines reproduced 25 times each second, a continuous process which results in a final effect much like moving pictures.

The Baird system employs 240 lines; the Marconi is sent in 405 line sections.

First public demonstration of high definition television was given during a national radio show in September.

The initial experimental programs in October were pronounced satisfactory by public and press. Programs were picked up some 10 miles from the studio in busy Fleet street with very little distortion despite the operation of hundreds of printing presses, telephone and telegraph wires and other electrical disturbances.

High Price Bans Purchase
Few sets so far have been sold to the public, and a television receiver in London excites as much interest as a cat-whisker crystal radio set in the old days. A price range on receivers of $50 to $120 (about $244 to $586) and more has restricted distribution.

Either the Baird or the Marconi sending impulses can be picked up by the receivers.

Baird operates with a moving picture film but can also send directly from a spotlight studio. When using the former, the film with a sound track is made of the scene in the studio, and within 30 seconds it is developed and threaded through the television sending machinery.

The Marconi system picks up the scene directly through a television camera, which can be used either in the studio or outside, and broadcasts it directly.

After many months of investigation both in Europe and the United States, the Selsdon committee declined to install both systems under similar circumstances under the direction of BBC.

What the future holds for British television has been left for time to decide.

Place Grigg Under Bond In Boy's Death

LINCOLNTON, Nov. 4.—J. A. Grigg of Newton was arrested by Patrolman Beard and placed under $2,000 bond pending his trial in which he will be charged with hit and run and manslaughter in the death of Willie Cooper, 19, of Long Shoals, who died Saturday night from injuries received in an automobile accident which occurred near the Lincolnton high school Saturday night.

Grigg's son came to Lincolnton Sunday afternoon to find out how badly damaged the car was and upon learning of Cooper's death he told officers where they could find his father, according to Mr. Beard's statement, and Mr. Beard himself went to Newton and made the arrest. Mr. Grigg is said to be 46 years old.

Young Cooper was riding on the running board of a car belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ross, of Long Shoals, when the car was sideswiped by Grigg's car. Another person, also riding in the Ross car, escaped uninjured.

Behavior Fine As Heavy Vote Cast In County

"When folks misbehave and we have to arrest them you put it in the paper," said Chief Willis last night, "and I think when they be-lieve themselves like they did all day and all night you ought to put that in the paper, too." And so, here it is.

The most orderly election ever held in the county, was the consensus of opinion. Voting was heavy all day but those held up a few minutes at the polls were good-natured.

Several thousand people gathered in front of the Shelby Daily Star for election returns and there was cheering, but no disorder of any sort.

Robert Stamey, Jr. Aided Peace Work

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4.—Taking part in a gigantic nation wide program of peace education, as a feature of the two year drive of the Emergency Peace Campaign to keep the United States out of war, Robert Stamey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Stamey, Lawndale, N. C., was a member of a large volunteer "Youth Division" which toured the rural areas of the country for eight weeks last summer in the interests of peace.

Stamey was a member of team No. 2, which carried on the campaign from headquarters in Berea, Ky.

He was among 223 volunteers, mostly college students, who worked for the Emergency Peace Campaign, in an endeavor to make the nation peace-minded. Their avowed purpose was to discover and help develop all potential peace forces in the communities where they operated and also to make the existing will to peace "politically effective."

The volunteers lived a simple, frugal life. Many of them contributed all of their own expenses, while all of them paid at least half of them. Their duties consisted of leading discussion groups, arranging exhibits, producing plays, speaking before churches, service clubs, young people's societies, labor groups, and farm organizations. Their main objective was to make people articulate in substituting peaceful processes for war methods.

Cleveland Girl Among Four Who Go To Chicago

COLLEGE STATION, Raleigh, Nov. 4.—Miss Ruth Current, State College extension specialist in girls' 4-H club work, has been named one of the four district judges from over the United States to select winners of girls' contests at the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, November 30-December 5.

House Building Important Thing For Any Family

COLLEGE STATION, Raleigh, Nov. 4.—It takes more than a house to make a home; but just the same the house plays a vital role in the life of the family.

"The money you invest in a good home will return, year by year, its full measure of value, dollar for dollar," said Miss Mamie Whisnant, State college assistant extension specialist in home management.

A well built house should last 50 or more years, she stated, and the construction of a house is too serious a matter to undertake without giving it a great deal of thought and study.

Consideration should be given present and future requirements, the advantage, beauty and cost of all building materials used, the type of house wanted, and the amount of money that can be invested.

There is no exact rule for determining the exact amount of money that a family should put in its house, Miss Whisnant said. For a family with a year income of $1,500, twice the amount, or $3,000, is often considered a safe investment.

The amount, of course varies in accordance with where the house is to be built, the type of family to occupy it, and how the family spends the great part of its income, she added.

After determining the cost, the next thing is to select a house plan suited to the location and the needs of the family.

The floor plan should be so arranged as to provide space for all work to be done inside the house, space for all necessary storage and space for enjoyable living and comfortable sleeping.

Smallpox Vaccine Law Compromised

GOLDSBORO, Nov. 4.—(AP)—The Wayne county board of health agreed on a compromise policy in enforcing the law requiring school children to be vaccinated against smallpox.

The board decided to go ahead quietly with its vaccination program and consider separately cases of opposition as they arise.

The decision was made necessary when Dr. S. B. McPheeters, county health officer, reported several instances of objection to vaccination, some on religious grounds.

Beware All Snakes
TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—(AP)—It is good commonsense to regard all snakes as poisonous, although many types are not, observes Dr. A. B. McCreary of the Florida state board of health.
