"My subject is The Menace of the Third Shift.

"For the first Summer of 1933, the cotton textile industry is showing evidence of getting on its feet again. After a long period of adversity we have every reason to rejoice. For the first time in a number of years the industry is now resting on a solid foundation and every indication points to a long period of stability and reasonable profits, provided a decent regard is shown for the importance of keeping production in reasonable balance with present the subject. In my judgment, the present position of the cotton textile industry is due in a large measure to the imposed lessons the industry apparently learned in the kindergarten days of its operations under the unconstitutional National Industry Recovery Act. I do not feel that there is a mill owner in this audience that honestly believes the cotton textile industry in all its branches would be operating full time today, with profit, if the twenty five million spindles of this country were running on the same basis of hours and wages that prevailed throughout the states prior to 1933. We must all admit that the conditions before that time were generally intolerable and could not

Walkouts Hamper Shipping In Atlantic and Gulf Ports

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6 .- (A)-The Pacific coast's general maritime strike entered its second week today with no sign of a break in its paralyzing grip. Assistant labor Secretary Edward F. McGrady, unable to bring peace between ship owners and 37,000 striking union a return to Washington.

At least 150 vessels were strikebound in west coast ports. Sympathy walkouts hampered shipping in major ports of the Atlantic and Spokesmen for both sides expessed belief that intervention by President Roosevelt was necessary. Fears of food shortage were renewed in Alaska and Hawaii, partially isolated by the strike.

McGrady denied he would seek intervention of President Roosevelt, who was expected to attend a meeting of his cabinet today. White House sources said in Washington that Secretary Perkins might report on the strike at the "sgular cabinet session. A presidenhal secretary emphasized the meet-

BALANCE BUDGET

By D. HAROLD OLIVER WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. — President Roosevelt stepped into the arms of an uproarious welcome today unprecedented in the capital as he came 'home," victorious from the election campaign wars.

Members of his cabinet, others high in the New Deal, thousands upon thousands of government workers, school children and others crowded into a festooned railroad station and along flag drap Pennsylvania avenue to cheer Chief Executive who had declared he came back to "try to balance the budget, thereby carrying out the first campaign pledge."

Even as Mr. Roosevelt returned, however, he looked forward to more travel. His aides held out a strong possibility that shortly ne would dash by cruiser to Buenos
