

Just Ten Years Ago

Taken From The Cleveland Star Of Monday, November 15, 1926.

Indications are that by the coming of another Armistice day a fine memorial tablet, topped with a bronze figure of the doughboy of 17, will grace Cleveland county's court square.

During the last week, in which was Armistice day, the memorial fund being raised by The Star, mounted rapidly with school and individual gifts.

The Shelby chamber of commerce is hard after the Piedmont and Northern railway officials for the extension of its line by way of Shelby. Secretary J. C. Newton has communicated with the P. and N. president and other officials with a view to sending a representative delegation to Charlotte to appear before the proper authorities for the purpose of setting forth Shelby's claims. A letter from the company promises the Shelby group a hearing.

Charles L. Ekridge, electrical genius, one of the first to install a radio when this marvelous invention came upon the market, now has the latest in radio achievements—a combination radio and electric. The $1,000 machine is said to be a combination product of the Radio Corporation of America and the Victor Talking Machine company and embodies the very latest improvements by both factories. The radio is without static which is so annoying to radio fans who possess the older machines, there are no batteries to go dry or burn out and there is no serial either inside or outside the house. The machine can be shifted from one room to another and set in operation by connection with an ordinary light socket.

Elizabeth Randle Goes To Chicago

Elizabeth Randle, 17, Kings Mountain, Cleveland county, selected by State Club Leader L. H. Barrill as the year's most all-around 4-H club girl in North Carolina wins an all-expense trip to the 15th National Club Congress to be held in Chicago, November 27 to December 5. She was previously named county champion.

Although a club member for only two years, Miss Randle has made an exceptional record in canning, clothing, and wild life and soil conservation. Her work in the latter project won a trip to the State 4-H Wild Life Conservation Conference at Camp Graystone.

She was president of her club both years and gave seven varied demonstrations at local, county and state events. With her team mate she won the state sweepstakes last year in demonstration contests, and ranked highest in the county clothing judging contest. Her prize winnings gross $6.25.

She will compete with other Southern state champions for regional honors, and if successful will be a contender for one of three cash college scholarships of $400, $300 and $200, provided by Montgomery Ward, sponsor of the contest, together with Chicago trips and county medals.

Turkeys Abundant, Low Prices Forecast

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. — Turkey eaters were given cause for rejoicing today in a government report that more of the birds are strutting around the nation's farms this fall than in any previous autumn. Compared to beef steaks and pork chops, the agriculture department added, "Turkey prices probably will be low this year." The drumstick and gizzard trade was warned, however, that the turkey supply may be short next year, because feed scarcity is expected to cause rapid chopping-block reduction of the army of 20,000,000 turkeys now abroad in the land.

Observations Of An Old Timer

By J. R. OSBORNE

I never was strong on trying to change a man on his idea of politics or religion. I was entirely satisfied I had the proper article for me, but was not positive that what I had to offer, was the brand that would suit his complexion best.

Bad luck is public property, as I see it. Anyway there's a lot of it lying around loose that don't seem to belong to anyone in particular.

Young men, when you get married and start out on life's warfare as a lieutenant, you need not hope for a promotion.

Frank Mull and I used to argue which of two old friends of ours were worth the most to civilization and the world—Jake or Dan. Jake was all head but no heart. Dan was all heart but no head. Take the case, gentlemen.

Look the world over and you will never find a perfect horse or a perfect man. How would you expect to find a perfect man when you can't find one who is half as good as he can be?

The feller who has done a charitable act and kept it a secret is courting companionship of the angels.

If we confess our sins, and joyfully forgive our enemies, we have made a good start. Not that I am a preacher, but I do have ideas of my own.

Some guy said way back in early days that "it's a wise child that knows its own father." All right, what's wrong with the wisdom of a father who knows his own child? Especially, in times of depression, and things. Figger it out boys and send in the answe.

LOUIS-BRADDOCK FIGHT STUDIED

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Negotiators for the Jimmy Braddock-Joe Louis heavyweight fight in Atlantic City got down to business again today after a week end interruption, with New York in general and Madison Square Garden in particular as the main fronts for action.

Of prime interest was the possibility that Herman (Mugger) Taylor, the Philadelphia promoter who started the whole thing by guaranteeing heavyweight champion Braddock $400,000 for a 12-round no-decision go, would post $100,000 of that amount as evidence of good faith.

Julian Black, co-manager of Louis, said Mike Jacobs, who has the Detroit "brown bomber" under contract, had informed him Taylor would put up that amount in New York today for the fight to be held in February. Taylor himself could not be reached for comment.

If that $100,000 is laid on the line, much of the sparring that has been going on for a week should be over. Joe Gould, manager of Braddock, has said he would sign up for the go if the money were put up. Black said he would put his name on the line, also, if the guarantee is posted. Jacobs, too, is agreeable.

ART BUCK, WISCONSIN QUARTER LEADS SCORING

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Although the nation's list of football scoring leaders underwent drastic revision over the week end, none of the touchdown-producing pace-setters was able to come even close to overhauling Art Buck, quarterback at Carroll of Wisconsin.

Buck's point total of 102, compiled by 14 touchdowns, 15 extra points and a field goal, went unchanged, since he has completed his season, but he still remained 17 points in front of his nearest rival, Len Wilson, of Appalachian, who added two touchdowns to bring his season record to 85 points.
