

Washington Faces One Additional Hurdle To Get Rose Bowl Bid

WESTERNERS ARE NOT THINKING OF EAST RIGHT NOW

Expect To Win But Also See Stiff Fight

By FRANK GORRIE
SEATTLE, Nov. 17.—(P)—The University of Washington football team, heralded as the likely western choice for the Rose Bowl game, doesn't give a whoop at this time whether Alabama, Pittsburgh, Fordham, or some other outfit furnishes the eastern opposition in the New Year's day classic.

What Coach Jimmy Phelan, the Huskies, and Washington officials are thinking about now is the big battle with Washington State college here Thanksgiving day to decide the western representative.

"How can we consider inviting anybody when we still have to fight our way to Pasadena?" asked Ray Eckman, director of athletics. "We're already getting wires from eastern and southern schools asking for the invitation to play us. What a laugh!"

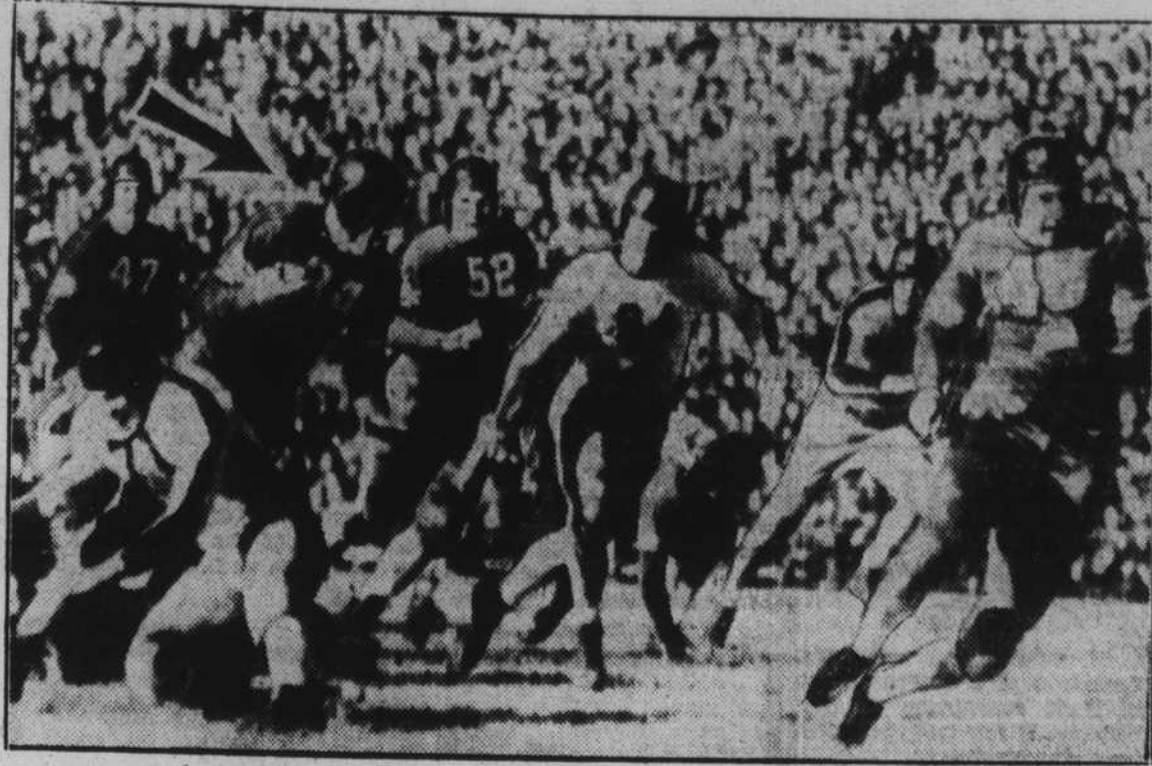

Washington has the inside track to the Rose Bowl with no defeat on its Pacific coast conference record. But a loss to Washington State would give the Cougars a tie for first place and the conference officials would have to settle the issue by ballot.

The "grape vine" channel reported, however, that Alabama has been the chief topic of discussion since Washington moved into the front ranks.

Washington has a score to settle with the "Bama" boys, and has been waiting 11 years for another crack at the Crimson Tide. The last time the Huskies played in the Rose Bowl was in 1926 when Alabama defeated them 20 to 19.

If not Alabama, then Fordham or Pittsburgh seemed the likely eastern choice. Everything depends on the outcome of pending games. If the three first choices get bumped off then Louisiana State and Marquette would come in for consideration.

DUKE'S BLUE DEVILS TRIM CAROLINA 27 TO 7

The widely discussed question of superior strength on the part of Duke university or the University of North Carolina was definitely settled at Chapel Hill when the Duke Blue Devils handed the Carolina Tar Heels a 27 to 7 lacing. "Ace" Parker (arrow), Duke's spectacular back, is shown breaking away for a substantial gain in the second quarter. The victory gave Duke undisputed possession of first place in both the state and Southern conference standings. (Associated Press Photo)

UNKNOWNNS LEAD FIELD AT START OF GOLF FRACAS

Dark Horses Gallop Down Pinehurst Stretch

By DILLON GRAHAM
PINEHURST, Nov. 17.—(P)—The dark horses were galloping down the stretch today in the final qualifying round of the professional golfers championship with a flock of the favorites trailing in their dust.

A trio of virtual unknowns—Little Clarence Yockey of Kansas City, slender Alex Gerlak of Catskill, N. Y., and a 37 year old driving range pro, Leo Walper of Bethesda, Md.—were among the half dozen pace setters as the professional brigade shot its second 18 hole of qualifying play.

Down the line, some of them apprehensive after flirting dangerously with the 80 mark in yesterday's opening fire, were little Paul Runyan, flashy Walter Hagen and Burlly Mortie Dutra among others.

Shy Youngster
Gerlak, a shy youngster of 28 who combines a greens keeping job with his professional tasks, turned in the biggest surprise of the first day by shooting a sub-par 71 over the cold, windswept No. 2 layout here.

He's found time to slip away from his post for four other PGA tournaments but only once has he earned his way into the match play competition. He ventured the hope that "maybe I'll get in this time."

Yockey, a slim chap playing in his first PGA tourney, and Walper who operates a driving range on the outskirts of Washington, D. C., checked in with 73's, to join a pair of favored aces, the national open champion, Tony Manero, and the lanky Henry Picard.

Another professional of only a few years experience, Fay Coleman of Culver City, Calif., equalled the course record and took first honors with his four under par 68. Only Coleman and Gerlak broke par yesterday.

Veterans Must Settle
With the high winds sweeping this Sand Hills course, it looked like a pair of 78's might win positions among the 63 players entitled to join defending champion Johnny Revolta in the match play Wednesday. The five times victor, Walter Hagen, with a 77 and Dutra and Runyan with 78's, along with Jimmy Hines and Leo Diegel at 79, must settle down today if they are to continue in the chase.

The winner of this championship will be a short titleholder. He'll land a berth on the 1937 Ryder cup team which will go to England in June to defend the trophy against the Britons, but before sailing across the big water hole he'll have to defend the title at Pittsburgh in May.

Coleman copped the shotmaking laurels for the opening rounds but to Ray Schirmer of St. Louis fell the somewhat dubious honor of high gun. He got an 88 and a lot of exercise.

Just a year ago Hagen won the qualifying round medal at Oklahoma City. Today he's got to come through with one of those characteristic Hagen spurts to stay in the parade.

Trials Continue In Monroe Meet

MONROE, Nov. 17.—(P)—Trials continued here today in the membership all-age derby of the Monroe field trials.

The event was started late yesterday but darkness forced a halt after seven braces had run. Officials said they hoped to complete the event today and start on the blue ribbon event—the open all age.

L. M. Bobbitt's Peerless Decision yesterday won the Juvenile Derby and Tar Heel Bob, also of the Bobbitt Kennel of Winston-Salem placed second. Lexington's Lou owned by Harvey Hedrick was third.

No Action Taken On State Coach

RALEIGH, Nov. 17.—(P)—Members of the executive committee of N. C. State college's alumni association declined today to say whether any action was taken at a meeting last night on renewal of Head Football Coach Hunk Anderson's contract.

The group expressed its confidence in the athletic council and pledged its support to the council in all activities.

Anderson's three-year contract expires this year.

The committee also postponed a vote on selection of a permanent alumni secretary. Fred Dixon, sports publicist, is the acting secretary.

SPORTS SLANTS

By 'PAP

The fortunes of Alabama's Crimson Tide were at a low ebb when Tennessee tied Coach Frank Thomas' boys, but they reached the flood stage in the game with Tulane. Alabama was great that afternoon, outclassing a fine Tulane team, 34-7.

The lopsided score may have been a surprise to many but Chet Wynne, coach of the Kentucky eleven, expected to see Alabama score decisively. Alabama had knocked off his team 14-0.

Potentially, the present Alabama team is every bit as strong as the 1934 Rose Bowl champions," says Wynne, coach of the Kentucky over. In fact, they took everything over. In fact, they took everything over. In fact, they took everything over.

"Right now I would say that the two strongest teams in the South are Alabama and Louisiana State," he continues. "Either one of 'em would do as the South's candidate for the Rose Bowl. But I'd give the edge to Alabama if I had to decide."

No great hope was held out for Alabama when the season got under way. The Tide had lost too many experienced men. When Coach Thomas assembled the candidates for the first time there was not an experienced end in the lot. Harold Drew, end coach, had a real job on his hands.

The Ends Grow Up
The raw, inexperienced wingmen, "Tut" Warren, Paul Estes, "Shoey" Shoemaker, Jim Tipton, Lonnie Jackson and "Dixie" Davis were a peppy bunch and eager to learn. But that was all. Physically, only Paul Estes, standing 6 feet 5 inches tall and weighing 190 pounds, was outstanding. The rest of the group are in the 170 and 180 pound class. After the first two games, the major problem dwindled to a minor one. The green ends learned fast and, at this stage of the season, must be rated as strong points in the Tide's machine.

Both Alabama tackles, Bill Young and "Biff" Lyon, were triple threat backs in high school. Young, right tackle, is the biggest man on the Alabama squad. He weighs 218 pounds.

Lyon is a 208 pounder. He is proud of the fact that he had a 74 yd. punt to his credit as a prep player. He got his biggest thrill, however, the day he completed three successful passes in a row for a gain of 80 yards and a touchdown. His other claim to fame as a prep school football star was a 50 yard dash to a touchdown.

Bangup Backfield
Coach Thomas had an outstanding pair of guards in White and Bill Peters, but lost the latter on the eve of the Tulane game when the big fellow had to undergo an operation for appendicitis. Lroy Monsky, who replaced Peters, did better than fair against Tulane. He intercepted one of Bucky Bryan's passes and scampered 28 yards to a touchdown in the final period. Moyer, a veteran of Rose Bowl competition, has handled his center assignment in such a manner as to give Coach Thomas no worry.

In the backfield the Tide has some rare talent. The two Joes, Riley and Kilgore, are as good as you will find in college. The nice thing about this pair is that they work so well together. Kilgore is an exceptional passer while Riley is just about tops as a punter. Both can carry the ball.

Capt. "Bubber" Nisbet takes care of the fullback post. Other capable backs on the roster are "Blackie" Caldwell, Vic Bradford, Henry Cochran, "Tut" Warren, Young Boozier and Charlie Holm.

Bill Peters' case calls to mind that in 1934, when the Tide was making the trip to the Rose Bowl, two tackles, Jim Whately and Bill Young, were stricken with appendicitis. Young was operated on immediately on arrival in Del Rio, Tex., but Whately managed to get by with ice packs.

You can well imagine that the Alabama coaches were worried looks when the team arrived in Pasadena minus one tackle and not knowing whether or not the other would be able to play. Whately did get in and played a whale of a game despite his "tummy ache."

RABBIT GETS REVENGE ON ILLINOIS HUNTER
CHICAGO.—(P)—Edward Piggett, 29, wounded a rabbit while on a hunting trip. Then he used his double barreled shotgun to club the rabbit to death. He succeeded, but the accidental discharge of his gun killed him, too.

Russia this year used tractors for the cultivation of 1,000,000 acres of cotton land.

DUSEK WILL TANGLE WITH HENRY GRABER

There will likely be a few of our local wrestling fans in town between the supper hour and bedtime Monday night, for the mat addicts are pretty certain to motor to Charlotte to see the famous Rudy Dusek in action.

Dusek, a topnotcher in New York and other big cities of the East and the elder and smarter of four famous wrestling brothers, will tangle with Henry Graber in the main event of Promoter Jim Crockett's strong mat bill at the Charlotte armory.

RAZZLE DAZZLE FOOTBALL PLAYED BY WESLEYAN

BLOOMINGTON, Ill.—(P)—Illinois Wesleyan epitomized the open style of football offense in defeating Elmhurst, 39 to 6. On one play Wesleyan advanced the ball 90 yards for a touchdown on an intercepted pass and three laterals.

The interception occurred on the 10 yard line, the first lateral pass on the Wesleyan 20, the second in midfield and the third on Elmhurst's 20.

'Lucky' Professor

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—(P)—Clarence E. (Pat) Manion, Notre Dame law professor, is the most sought-after pep meeting speaker on the campus. No Irish grid team has ever lost after listening to his exhortations on the night before a game. Manion addressed the rally on the eve of the Rambler-Ohio State game, which the Ramblers won, 7-2.

'Bama Ahead

UNIVERSITY, Ala.—(P)—Alabama was way ahead of its first six grid opponents this year in yards gained at scrimmage and in first downs. In the first half dozen battles, the Crimson Tide gained 1,453 yards, yielded only 391. The Tide meanwhile amassed a total of 78 first downs to the enemies' 29.

Licenses For Snakes

GETTYSBURG, Pa.—(P)—Council is considering an ordinance to equip owners of snakes to license them as pets. Scores of Texas bullheads, kept as pets, escaped from a pen recently and caused a number of complaints. And it was suggested the ordinance should have "teeth" in it.

Russia this year used tractors for the cultivation of 1,000,000 acres of cotton land.

Alan Gould Hears Both This, That

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(P)—Overheard in the huddles, from New York to Lincoln and back, by way of Chicago:

Sam Francis, Nebraska's great fullback, hopes to renew his spotlighting rivalry with "Dimmy" Zaitz, Boston's indoor champion, on the eastern boards this winter . . .

John Wiatrak, University of Washington center who returned to action in time to help the Huskies trim Southern California, makes most of his team's decisions as to substitutes, so great is the confidence placed in his judgment by Head Coach Jimmy Phelan . . .

Here's one for the signal calling book: To share responsibility in the University of Chicago's scheme of attack, the passer calls all aerial plays, an end calls the signals for flanking maneuvers, the center directs the balance of offensive formations, while the right halfback calls defensive signals . . . the quarterback is a sophomore and does what he's told . . . Don Heap, the left halfback, calls signals for Northwestern.

Who's the best all around back in the Big Ten this year? . . . Answers to this query vary but the main choice seems to rest between Indiana's Vern Huffman and Purdue's Cecil Isbell . . . Andy Uraue of Minnesota and Oze Simmons of Iowa are conceded to be the outstanding "threat" men, once they have been shaken past the line of scrimmage.

Weather Is Ideal For Fox Hunters

ROCKY MOUNT, Nov. 17.—(P)—The first cast in the derby class inaugurated the 17th annual North Carolina Fox Hunters association's field trials and bench show at dawn today.

The second cast will be tomorrow, and the all-age trials Thursday, Friday and Saturday Association officials said they looked for ideal weather and hunting conditions during the meet.

EXPECT DUEL TO BE SEEN AT TRACK MEET

CHAPEL HILL, Nov. 17.—An individual duel between Captain Bill Morse of Duke and Bill Lumpkin of Richmond is expected to feature the 18th annual Southern conference cross country meet to be run here Saturday afternoon at two o'clock.

While Morse and Lumpkin reign as the individual leaders, the Tar Heels are favored to dethrone Duke's Southern conference champs. Coach Dale Ranson's charges recently upset the Blue Devil harriers in an impressive fashion 22-33.

Northwestern Leads Pack As Grid Season Nears End

Alabama 8th; Duke 15th In National Standings

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(P)—The Northwestern-Notre Dame game offers the best prospect for a shake-up in the national football rankings this week.

The Wildcats, heading the national "first ten" as compiled from the weekly Associated Press poll for the third straight week, barely staged off Minnesota's renewed challenge to hold their lead. Notre Dame, meanwhile, climbed back to eleventh place on the basis of its showing against Army and was ready to pull off an upset. The Irish have gone through more ups and downs than any team listed regularly in the poll.

Here's how the rankings for the week shape up:
Northwestern, Minnesota, Fordham, Pittsburgh, Louisiana State, Washington, Marquette, Alabama, Santa Clara, Pennsylvania.

Dartmouth, Nebraska, Texas Aggies, Washington State, Duke, Holy Cross, Ohio State, Tennessee. Complete.

This Golfer Tired Of So Many Holes In One; Too Costly

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 17.—(P)—The high cost of golfing a hole in one was explained today by former Mayor M. G. Tennent of Tacoma as he a bit reluctantly received congratulations on his eighth in 11 years.

"They're getting to be a nuisance," he said. "Every time I have to be host to everybody in the neighborhood. Since 1925, I've paid and paid. How much I can't say, but it's been a lot more than the prizes I received."

These prizes include several cases of beer, two pairs of golf shoes, a pair of knickers, numerous medals, a deer and a turkey. The turkey was collected Sunday when Tennent sank his 145 yard tee shot on the 16th at the Allenmore course here.

There isn't any system to it," the 52 year old golfer said. "I simply stand up and hit the ball with a six iron."

SQUADS REST AS COACHES GRANT SOME TIME OFF

Greensboro Boy At V. P. I. Has Broken Wrist

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 17.—(P)—Southern conference football squads rested yesterday—the first week day off for many of the players since the first of September—and counted but one serious injury as the result of last week-end's strenuous campaigning.

Herman (Fools) Dickerson, all-conference fullback last year at Virginia Tech, received a broken wrist bone in tackling a Virginia player against V. M. I. at Roanoke Thanksgiving.

V. P. I. officials reported the injury yesterday when the arm was placed in a cast. The Greensboro, N. C., youth gained wide attention last year for his terrific line plunging and superb punting. Although his team finished well down in the conference ranks, sports editors and coaches gave him their votes for the all-conference team.

Early this year Dickerson underwent a major operation and for a time it was doubtful whether he would be able to play this season. He rallied rapidly, however, and has been a spearhead in the Tech attack all season. His punts have averaged approximately 50 yards.

While most of the coaches dismissed their charges entirely for the day, brief drills were held at South Carolina, Davidson and Maryland. Regular who took the brunt of Saturday's attack were excused, however.

The Gamecocks held the sternest of these workouts where Coach Don McAllister was pointing his men for a North Carolina invasion in the only contest scheduled between conference members for Saturday.

Maryland's Old Liners were also preparing for a Saturday game with Georgetown, but the rest of the conference teams had no games on the docket until Thanksgiving day.

The Duke Blue Devils, who must defeat N. C. State to stake an undisputed claim on the circuit crown for the second consecutive year, were idle again today but will resume work tomorrow for the season's finale against N. C. State.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(P)—For a guy who craves a change of scenery, Wes Ferrell of the Gold Sox is a bit choosy . . . He has let the Sox know he'll be glad to play with any other club in the American League except Washington, St. Louis and—you guessed it—Philadelphia . . . Paulino Uzcudun, the old heavyweight, now is a chauffeur for a rebel general in Spain . . . Buffalo papers say if Vic Hanson goes out at Syracuse the job will be offered Howard Jones of Southern California.

If Joe Gould signs today to have Jimmy Braddock fight Joe Louis in Atlantic City, Mike Jacobs will fly to New Orleans to get Louis' autograph . . . Just before the Holy Cross-Dartmouth game, Dave Camerer, Dartmouth tackle, looked up and down the Crusader line and asked: "Which of you guys is it that speaks English?"

The censor deleted the Holy Cross captain's reply . . . The Southeastern conference is so heavily loaded with good backs, sports writers can't decide on an all-conference backfield.

Fother Lumpkin, of the Brooklyn football Dodgers, has experienced only one injury in eleven years of football campaigning . . . Coaches and players agree the bald headed gent is the smartest quarter in the league . . . Here's another tip-top coaching job: Blytheville (Ark.) high hasn't lost or tied a game since Carney Lassie, former Alabama star, took over in 1934 . . . Twenty-six straight is his streak.

Cuba wants Santa Clara and Marquette for a post-season game New Year's day . . . Bobby Cruikshank, Richmond golf pro, has been in this country 15 years, but got his naturalization papers only the other day . . . The Queen Mary, with James J. Johnston aboard, was kept by stormy weather from docking until today.
