Backgrounds and Hedges You Can Grow from Seed

Great interest in ornamental plants is being shown by Victory gardeners this year. Many are planting borders and backgrounds of flowers to set off their attractive rows of garden vegetables. Where screen and background planting is desired quickly and at small expense, there are annual plants which can produce both. Largest of all is the castor bean. From one small bean can be grown a beautiful plant eight feet tall and as much in diameter. The leaves are large, and of a bronze or maroon tone. The Zanzibar strain will produce plants twelve feet tall, in suitable locations with plenty of water and rich soil. Great bushes four to six feet tall are grown by the Tithonia, sometimes called the Golden Flower of the Incas, and this is a flowering plant, bearing 2-inch orange flowers resembling a single zinnia. The five leaved fern plant Kochia tricolor, makes a miniature tree of bright yellow green leaves which in late summer turn to crimson.

Average GI Dreads Move To Pacific

By HAL BOYLE

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN GERMANY, May 3—(Delayed)—The victory over Germany finds the average American soldier curiously unexcited.

There is little exuberance, little enthusiasm and almost none of the whoop-it-up spirit with which hundreds of thousands of men looked forward to this event a year ago.

It has been a long and bloody trail—this 800-mile march from the beaches of Normandy in less than 11 months. It has drained much from the men who made it—much from their bodies and much from their spirit. They are physically and emotionally tired.

The destruction of the German armies came more slowly in this war than in 1918 when the armistice burst with climatic suddenness, stunning the world with joy. This time there has been a series of capitulations and surrenders.

GRADUAL CRACK-UP For most units there was a gradual cessation of combat as German lines melted into nothing before them or dissolved in chaos. That has prevented any mass feeling of exhilaration such as swept through the American army and the American nation at the close of the last war.

It also has given many soldiers days or weeks in which to think—ponder over problems that victory in the west brings. And presently they are talking over one thing:

"Will I be sent to the Pacific?" They have written the European war off the books in the army ranks and the chief topic is what outfits will be sent around the world to finish cleaning up the Japs. You can drop into any front-line mess for chow now and you'll hear comparatively little talk of Germany, the Russians, or the decline and fall of Adolf Hitler. The interest centers almost completely on which outfits will pack up and leave for the Far East, which will stay put and occupy Germany, and which lucky ones will hit the happy road that leads to home.

HOMESICK It is only truthful to report that a very small percentage of these veteran troops have any desire to go and fight Japanese. There is a great and spreading nostalgia for home and peace among the battle-weary soldiers who have walked and fought painful miles from Cherbourg to the Elbe.

Particularly this is true among older men. Newcomers already are pretty well resigned to another year of fighting in another climate. They feel it's in the cards and there isn't much they can do but pick up their tommy guns and move on to meet the next enemy, waiting for them hidden behind the next hill or dug in deep in the next jungle.

But some older men—those above 30 with wives and children to come back to—have developed homesickness in the hour of victory here, a homesickness that is almost an illness. Many of them have been in the army more than four years and have served two to three or more years overseas.

Some fought in Tunisia and Sicily or Italy before coming to western Europe. They feel they've sacrificed enough for their country—considering that the biggest peril is over—and they'd like a chance to go home, pack away their medals and go back to punching the old time-clock for their families.

FEAR DISEASES All aren't combat troops, but you can get almost as tired hauling gasoline or patching up the wounded as you do lying in fox-holes. At least if you are doing it, you feel you can.

But they'll go if they are called. They are afraid chiefly of new diseases—elephantitis and bone-break fever and Pacific malaria—rather than meeting a new enemy.

my, because they feel sure the Japs are no tougher fighters than the trained German SS troops they have already beaten. As one veteran of North Africa, Sicily, France, Belgium, Luxembourg and Germany said with a wry grin: "Sure I'll go to the Pacific. I'll go anywhere my old Uncle needs me. If he needs me that bad. But they'll have to cut out all that saluting. You can't salute when you're in a strait-jacket."

A babe in a house is a well-spring of pleasure, a messenger of peace and love, a resting-place for innocence on earth, a link between angels and men.—Tupper.

Joe Ramsey Dies At Home Near Gaffney
GAFFNEY, S. C.—Joe Ramsey, 61, retired farmer, died late Friday at the home of a son, Robert Ramsey, near Cowpens after a day's illness. He was a native and had lived practically all his life in Cherokee county. Funeral services were conducted Sunday at Graham chapel at Mayo by Rev. Carl Wright, Rev. James Miller, and Rev. C. L. Farris. Burial took place in the church cemetery. Surviving are two sons, two sisters and a brother.

Before the war, the average person in the United States ate 17 pounds of butter a year.
