C., were united in marriage in a quiet and impressive double ring ceremony performed last evening at eight o'clock at the Second Baptist church. The wedding was an all-white one.

Dr. W. A. Ayers, church pastor, heard the vows spoken in a setting of floor candelabra entertained with ivy and large baskets of white gladioli against a background of greenery. Candles were lighted by Miss Catherine McCurry and Miss Doris Hughes at the ceremony hour.

Miss Sara Yates of Charlotte and Sam Greene, Jr., of Mooresboro presented the wedding music. "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "Always" were used prior to the Bridal Chorus. As a benediction Mr. Greene sang, "O Master Let Us Walk With Thee."

groom, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Merle Silver of Oak Ridge, Tenn., cousin of the bride, Miss Edna Earle Parker of Jackson, Tenn.; Miss Daisy Barrette of Charlotte, and Miss Sadie Outlaw of Seven Springs.

FROM SARA NEWTON'S SCRATCH PAD

THIS LITTLE PIGGY WENT to market, This little piggy stayed home. This little piggy had roast beef. This little piggy had none.

Most of us are fast developing a sympathy for the last little piggy mentioned in the nursery rhyme. We also strongly suspect that the first little piggy who went to market feasted his piglish eyes on an array of clean white enamel pans. There are plenty of "little piggies" today who have none—and it isn't because they can't afford roast beef or because they are too lazy to go shopping for it.

With mortification we recall the times that we had "stew" on those menu-slump days, the way we used roast cuts so freely for sandwiches, the casual air with which we gazed at piles of steaks. Oh, those torturing thoughts are enough to crumple us into the abyss of shame!

We haven't heard anyone in authority giving us encouragement about more meat being available, either. The articles headed, "When You Have No Meat" all say, "Eat more cheese and eggs, drink more milk." That changes the situation only to the degree that you are hunting cheese and eggs instead of a tasty piece of cow, pig, or lamb.

Wonder if vegetarianism will work in a democracy?

IF YOU ARE WORRIED ABOUT prices in this country, and that should include everyone, then realize you have a kindred brother in Russia. If he wants a three-piece tweed suit he has to possess $1,300 to pay for it. A Woman's Persian lamb coat costs $6,300, while shoes are valued from $400 to $860 a pair.

MRS. FRANK MOORE OF Austin, Texas, writes that it was Kipling's poem, "The Widow at Windsor" instead of "The Recessional" which lost the poet laureateship of England for that poet. Moral: The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You.

MENTION OF KIPLING suggests a cartoon from the roaring twenties found in the "Cartoon Cavalcade," a history of the cartoon in America compiled and edited by Thomas Craven. The sweet young thing is sitting on the campus lawn with a couple of fellows, and one says to her, "Do you like Kipling?" "I don't know," she replied. "How do you kipple?"

GENTLE REMINDER: We are all guilty, or most of us, of carelessly throwing paper on the streets, dropping drug store cups on the sidewalk, or in people's front yards, and tossing wrapping paper to the winds. The practice is boorish, however, and we should be more careful.
