

GARDEN CLUB HOLDS MEETING

Junior Woman's Club Organized At Boiling Springs; Personals

BOILING SPRINGS.—On Thursday evening of last week Mrs. Cade Greene was hostess to the Garden club and a number of invited guests at the club room. Bowls of mixed flowers made the room very pretty for the occasion. Mrs. Cade Greene met the guests at the door. After a short business meeting the following program was given: Devotional by Edna Hamrick; Landmarks of North Carolina by Mrs. Graham C. Hamrick; piano solo by Miss Doris Hamrick.

Miss Joan Washburn of Shelby spent a part of last week with Miss Patty Washburn.

Mrs. C. C. Matheny of Spindale and Miss Mary Culclasure of Buffalo, New York, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Urie Hamrick.

Miss Estelle Walker spent last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gariand Doty of Sandy Plains.

Mrs. J. H. Jones returned home Friday after having spent a week with her mother, Mrs. Ella Watson at Warham.

ATTEND WEDDING

The Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Jenkins, the Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Cantrell, Miss Grace Cantrell and Miss Marietta Hamrick attended the wedding of the Jessup to Duane Kline took place at Newton last Sat-

day. Rosina Hamrick of this place, Miriam Carson of Forest City and Miss Mary Lib Willis of Lattimore spent the week-end at Myrtle Beach.

Rush Hamrick of Shelby spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Hamrick.

Miss Helen Hamrick returned home last week after having visited her sister, Miss Sadie Hamrick, in Raleigh, Miss Nancy Carroll Moore at Arlington, Va., and Lieut. and Mrs. John Hamrick at Dahlgreen, Va.

CIRCLE MEETS

Born to Lieut. and Mrs. Donald Walker in Tucson, Arizona, a girl, The Fannie Heck circle met with Mrs. Beattie Hamrick Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock.

On Friday evening of last week, Mrs. Alda McClure and Mrs. J. R. Greene were joint hostesses to the Sewing club and a number of invited guests at the club room. Mrs. McClure met the guests at the door.

An arrangement of mixed flowers made the room colorful and pretty. After a short business meeting the following program was given: Piano solo by Patty Washburn; talk: Being a Real Person by Mrs. Leonard Allen. The hostess assisted by Miss Carolyn Hamrick. Mrs. Dean White, Mrs. Travis Wall, Miss Martha McClure, Mrs. Cohen Wall and Mrs. Jim Beason served a pretty refreshment plate.

Mrs. Ed Lemons of Shelby spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elaine Whisnant.

Miss Frances Dobson of Spartanburg came Saturday of last week to begin her work as teacher in the high school.

Both the elementary and high school opened Monday with an outstanding enrollment.

Pfc. Yates Bridges, who is now stationed at Camp Croft, is spending a few days here with relatives and friends.

BIRTHDAY PARTY
On Monday afternoon Mrs. Graham C. Hamrick honored her daughter, Linda, with a birthday party at her home. About thirty guests attended the party. It was Linda's fourth birthday. Mrs. Hamrick and Linda met the guests at the door. During the afternoon games were played on the lawn, after which the children were invited into the house where Mrs. M. A. Jolley entertained the children with stories. Then the four candles on the birthday cake were lighted and blown out by Linda after which "Happy Birthday" was sung. Mrs. Hamrick assisted by Mrs. M. A. Jolley served ice cream, cake, punch and candy. A gingerbread cake was given to each child when leaving. Mrs. Hamrick's home was very pretty for the occasion. Bowls of zinnias and gladioli were used for decoration. A lace cloth was used on the dining table, which was centered with the birthday cake. On each side of the cake were candelabra holding lighted tapers. Linda was the recipient of many lovely gifts.

CONDUCTS REVIVAL
The Rev. J. L. Jenkins is at Lenoir this week conducting a revival. A Junior Woman's club was organized here last Tuesday evening at the club room. The officers elected for the coming year were: President, Mrs. Jim Beason; vice president, Miss Louise Hamrick; secretary, Miss Elaine Ledbetter, and treasurer, Mrs. Robert Hamrick.

In the absence of Mrs. Milton M. Batton of Bessemer City, Mrs. M. A. Jolley took charge and assisted in the organization. Refreshments were served at the close of the business meeting by Mrs. B. G. Beason, Mrs. John Mintz, Mrs. Merlin Walker and Mrs. M. A. Jolley.

Pfc. Johnny Greene, jr., who is in service in the States is spending a few days here with home folks.

AWARDED MEDAL—T-Sgt. James H. Carpenter of route 5, Shelby, has been awarded the Bronze Star medal for meritorious service in Italy where he served with the 91st division. The citation stated that he "demonstrated qualities of leadership and efficiency that marked his service as definitely superior. Throughout the long and bitter winter, he was responsible for the highest state of morale and through his diligent efforts, supply within his unit was always adequate. His judgment, bravery and initiative inspired his men to determined aggressive actions and contributed immensely to the success of his entire battalion."

Washington In Wartime

By JACKSON S. ELLIOTT
(Jack Elliott is on vacation)
WASHINGTON—Fossilid, booby traps and miscellaneous artifices to the contrary, one of the country's foremost bird experts says the only sure way to get rid of pigeon pests is a charge of birdshot.
Author of half a dozen books on birds, Frederick C. Lincoln of the Interior Department's Fish and Wildlife Service makes his recommendation as several cities across the country are reported in the throes of ridding themselves of flocks of pigeons which have taken on light housekeeping on public buildings.

In Spokane, Wash., the city hall is being redecorated, and the city fathers want to keep it clean. So a man has been hired to build a high-pitched whistle, inaudible to human ears, which he guarantees will send the pigeons scurrying.

In Boston, where pigeons have taken over the famed Common, the public works commissioner is also proposing to use such a whistle; he calls it a fossilid.

Birdman Lincoln says the fossilid was new to him but that it is true that pigeons, as well as other birds, can hear better than humans. They see much better, too.

"But humans are up on pigeons by one whole sense," Lincoln reassures us. "Birds can't smell."

Since some of the city hall pigeons in Philadelphia were found to be carriers of a rare pneumonia-like disease known as ornithosis, health officials in a number of localities have been trying to trap their pigeons to see if they are infected.

Efforts of Baltimore officials to obtain samples of the pigeon population have so far been frustrated by the wary birds. At present net traps are being left about until pigeons get used to them. Then the officials hope, they will be able to catch an over-confident bird.

Scarecrows, flashing and rotating lights, firecrackers and Roman candles are old stuff to Lincoln. All they do, he says, is to make the birds move to another part of town. The shotgun, he says, is the answer in places where it can be used safely.

But birds that some people consider nuisances are usually liked by somebody. Efforts to deal drastically with the pesky pigeon problem always result in irate letters to newspapers and public officials.

The pigeon, says Lincoln, still has plenty of friends.
