

PROSPECTUS FOR THE CAROLINA WATCHMAN

His object is to instruct and to please. He will therefore, with zeal and diligence set himself to this work, and he flatters himself that the great interests of Literature, Science, Politics, Agriculture and Commerce may be promoted by his labors.

Judge CLAYTON, of Georgia, who officiated in chief in the famous enquiry into the affairs of the Bank of the United States, during the last session of Congress, has put forth in the Georgia Journal an elaborate reply to Mr. ADAM'S separate report on that abortive requisition.

A biped made up of vanity, rage, - whole and stay tape. It is of the feminine gender, and mingles intimately with the human species, and is supposed by some to be an animal of that species.

Miss Anne Scott, the daughter of the late Sir Walter Scott, accompanied her brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lockhart, from Abbotsford to London, immediately after the funeral of Sir Walter.

To one pound of ivory black, in which has been mixed half an ounce of oil of vitriol and an ounce of sweet oil, add one pound of pulverized loaf sugar.

Early Rising. We pity the poor fellow who loves his pillow better than his health, or his purse. We pity him - for in so slugging a gratification, he loses the best of the day, and the luxury of the sweet breath of morn.

ARRIVAL OF LANDER'S EXPEDITION AT LIBERIA. - We have been favored with a letter, dated Monrovia, Sept. 25th, which says, "Richard Lander, the African traveller, has arrived at his port on his way to the Niger, with two steam boats. I spent one day with the expedition, and derived a great deal of information about the Niger and the surrounding country."

Mrs. Cline and Garrick. - Mrs. Cline was an eminent actress on the London stage before Garrick appeared, and his blaze of the excellency threw all others into comparative insignificance; she never forgave him, and took every opportunity of venting her spleen. She was coarse, rude, and violent in her temper, and spoiled nobody.

One of the late English papers, publishes a list of the sports at one of the wakes of fairs held at Somersetshire, among which is a bet between six noted gamblers, to grin through a horse's ear.

From the N. Y. Journal of Commerce. TO ALL DISUNIONERS THROUGHOUT THE UNITED STATES.

Listen to the voice of Lafayette a man who has hazarded his life for the good of our country; who has no private interests to observe, and no sectional feelings to bias his judgment.

"Upon you, my dear sir, I much depend to give our friends in the United States a prompt explanation of the state of things in Europe. You have been very attentive to what has passed since the revolution of 1830. Much has been said here, and in other parts of Europe, in this whirlwind of a week."

"In the meantime, I believe it to be the duty of every American, returned home, to let his fellow citizens know what ill natured handle is made of the violent collisions, threats of a separation, and reciprocal abuse, to injure the patriotism and good sense of the several parties in the United States, to be afraid those dissensions may terminate in a final dissolution of the Union."

RIGHT AT LEAST IN CHARLES, NOT TO TAKE PLACE BEFORE THE PERIOD (NOW NOW REMOVED) WHEN EVERY ONE OF THOSE WHO HAVE FOUGHT THEM, COOPERATED.

"LAFAYETTE AND THE REVOLUTION OF 1830."

Last week we read with much eagerness the Memoirs of Lafayette and of the French Revolution of 1830, which Mr. Sarrazin—who was the Adjutant-General from the three Days to that on which he resigned the command of the National Guard—recently issued at Paris in two octavo volumes.

The work has produced more sensation even in England than in France. Two translations of it into English—not very well executed, but handsomely printed—have appeared in London. It has been earnestly noticed and discussed in most of the principal London journals.

Mrs. Cline and Garrick. - Mrs. Cline was an eminent actress on the London stage before Garrick appeared, and his blaze of the excellency threw all others into comparative insignificance; she never forgave him, and took every opportunity of venting her spleen.

FOREIGN NEWS.

FRANCE.

From the Correspondence of the New York Courier.

Paris, October 6d. It appears, at length, to be settled that the French ministry is to be re-organized before the meeting of the Chambers. We are now in the month of October, and the taxes are only voted till the end of the year, so that neither the reconstruction of the cabinet nor the convocation of the legislature, can be much longer deferred.

"There is little doubt that the Duke de Broglie will be the successor of General Sebastiani in foreign department. He is stigmatized as the leader of the doctrinaire party, a term which is nearly synonymous with that of theorists in its most unfavorable acceptations."

"The Pacha of Egypt.—This man who has lately made so much noise in the world, by his opposition to the Sultan, the reform he has wrought among his people, and the cultivation of the soil of Egypt, was originally only a corporal soldier among his troops raised in Albania. By the vigor of his arm, by his talent and enterprise, he rose to be the Pacha of Egypt, one of the highest posts of honor in the whole Turkish empire."

help, he soon put down all bodies of robbers and plunderers, and rendered life and property perfectly safe throughout all the land of Egypt. The remnant of the Mamelukes, that singular military body, which since the days of Saladin, had governed Egypt, he annihilated, it must be confessed, by means but little consistent with our sense of humanity, but still effected his purpose, and he made himself sole and uncontrolled lord of the land of the Pharaohs, Ptolemies, Casars and Caliphs.

"Real popularity," says Lafayette, "is not to be tested by doing whatever will please the multitudes but by the success which we have in persuading the people that they ought not to do that which is wrong, and the firmness with which, when necessary, we prevent them from doing wrong without losing any part of their favor."

"Lafayette's maxim is, and always has been, 'In great personal questions, it is in general safest to decide against one's own interest.' How many doctrines has he at Washington? He said to the Belgians—'The race of Kings ye choose is not the important point, but the respect you can pay him; and if you respect the Monarch of your choice, you have genuine liberty.'"

"The Talents of Them, the historian of the first French revolution, on one of the Leaders of the National Convention, and previously one of the ablest writers in the Constitution, have raised him to the rank of Minister of public instruction, in the new government. M. Talens is considered by the Liberals as a man of a singularly fine mind, and as having said himself to the juste milieu for the sake of that place and power which has now been granted to him."

According to the new arrangement, M. de Montalivet remains at the Home Department, M. Barthe keeps the seals, M. d'Argout continues in a minister of public works and of commerce, and Admiral de Rigny retains the department of the Marine and the colonies. Marshal Soult retains the War Department, together with the presidency, which last is said to be in his hands a mere nominal dignity, without the corresponding concomitant of power, for the purpose of relieving the ministry from the imputation of that weakness and want of ability to which it might be exposed, if it wanted an ostensible head.

"The Pacha of Egypt.—This man who has lately made so much noise in the world, by his opposition to the Sultan, the reform he has wrought among his people, and the cultivation of the soil of Egypt, was originally only a corporal soldier among his troops raised in Albania. By the vigor of his arm, by his talent and enterprise, he rose to be the Pacha of Egypt, one of the highest posts of honor in the whole Turkish empire."

help, he soon put down all bodies of robbers and plunderers, and rendered life and property perfectly safe throughout all the land of Egypt. The remnant of the Mamelukes, that singular military body, which since the days of Saladin, had governed Egypt, he annihilated, it must be confessed, by means but little consistent with our sense of humanity, but still effected his purpose, and he made himself sole and uncontrolled lord of the land of the Pharaohs, Ptolemies, Casars and Caliphs.

"Real popularity," says Lafayette, "is not to be tested by doing whatever will please the multitudes but by the success which we have in persuading the people that they ought not to do that which is wrong, and the firmness with which, when necessary, we prevent them from doing wrong without losing any part of their favor."

"Lafayette's maxim is, and always has been, 'In great personal questions, it is in general safest to decide against one's own interest.' How many doctrines has he at Washington? He said to the Belgians—'The race of Kings ye choose is not the important point, but the respect you can pay him; and if you respect the Monarch of your choice, you have genuine liberty.'"

"The Talents of Them, the historian of the first French revolution, on one of the Leaders of the National Convention, and previously one of the ablest writers in the Constitution, have raised him to the rank of Minister of public instruction, in the new government. M. Talens is considered by the Liberals as a man of a singularly fine mind, and as having said himself to the juste milieu for the sake of that place and power which has now been granted to him."

According to the new arrangement, M. de Montalivet remains at the Home Department, M. Barthe keeps the seals, M. d'Argout continues in a minister of public works and of commerce, and Admiral de Rigny retains the department of the Marine and the colonies. Marshal Soult retains the War Department, together with the presidency, which last is said to be in his hands a mere nominal dignity, without the corresponding concomitant of power, for the purpose of relieving the ministry from the imputation of that weakness and want of ability to which it might be exposed, if it wanted an ostensible head.

"The Pacha of Egypt.—This man who has lately made so much noise in the world, by his opposition to the Sultan, the reform he has wrought among his people, and the cultivation of the soil of Egypt, was originally only a corporal soldier among his troops raised in Albania. By the vigor of his arm, by his talent and enterprise, he rose to be the Pacha of Egypt, one of the highest posts of honor in the whole Turkish empire."

TERMS.

THE CAROLINA WATCHMAN, is published every week at Three Dollars per year, in advance when the subscribers live. Counties more than one hundred miles distant from Salisbury, and in all cases where the account is over one year standing, the price will be $4.

HAMILTON C. JONES

WILL continue for the present to practice Law in the Counties of Rowan and Surry, in both the county and Superior Courts. He will visit the next Superior Courts of Stokes and Davidson in order to settle his business in those courts.

LIME.

I HAVE constantly on hand at my Limekiln in Stokes County, first-class lime both skinned and unskinned, which I sell at 25 cents per bushel for skinned, and 50 for unskinned—and when the quantity of one hundred bushels is taken at once and paid for, the price will be somewhat lessened.

JAMES MARTIN, Senr.

LYNCOLENTON FEMALE ACADEMY.

THE trustees respectfully announce to the public, that they have succeeded in renewing their engagement with Miss Amelia Thompson to take charge of this Institution. The School will go into operation again on the 15th October.

- The branches taught at this Academy, are the elements of English, Arithmetic, Geography, History, Chronology, Philosophy, Moral and Political, Rhetoric, Needle Work, Drawing, Painting, Music and the French Language.

Notice.

ALL persons having claims against the late firm of Clayland and Torrence, will present them to Charles L. Torrence for payment, and all persons indebted by note or book account to the late firm, are requested to call on Charles L. Torrence and settle the same, as he alone or his attorney is authorized to give receipts for and settle all debts due said firm.

No Indulgence.

ALL persons indebted to the late firm of Clayland and Torrence, are requested to come forward and make immediate payment, as suit will be commenced without distinction against those who fail to do so.

WANTED.

A LAD fifteen or sixteen years of age, active and intelligent, of moral habits and good disposition, will find a suitable situation as an Apprentice to the printing business, if application be made soon at this Office.

BLANK Warrants.

Of an approved form for sale at this Office.