

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Kiverd, or Yankee Neatness.—A Green Horn from the interior, recently went to visit a rich cousin in the city of Boston. Being introduced into the sitting room by the servant he stopped at the door and gazing for a moment, with astonishment upon the carpet on the floor, he at last observed a narrow space next the wall of the room, which it did not cover, and with long strides, marched over it opposite the fireplace here, being obliged to cross the carpet to reach his friends, (who began to be as much surprised as he was,) in the reaching the hearth, he could not avoid stepping on it—and turning with much apparent mortification to his cousin, he exclaimed—"There, polly, I have trod on your Kiverd after all."—Log. Mar.

BEGGING.—As you do not belong to my parish," said a gentleman to a begging sailor with a wooden leg, "I cannot relieve you." "Sir," replied the sailor, with an air of heroism, "I lost my leg fighting for all parishes."

The following letter from an Irish soldier on duty at the Tower London, was written to the warden—My wife is very ill, prays your honor's worship to let me sleep out at night, promising most faithfully never to go out till after the gates are all locked up at night and always to come in before they are open in the morning, for which your petitioner shall ever pray."

Trade of an Executor.—One of our Judges is fond of telling curious anecdotes. Travelling in one of Northern counties he met a boy, with whom he entered into conversation, and was much amused with the shrewdness of the boy's remarks. On being asked what trade he intended to bethe boy hesitated a little, and then answered, that of all trade he thought he should like to be an executor! "An executor," said his lordship, "why an executor?" "Because," replied the boy, "formerly our family was very badly off, but ever since my father was made an executor we have wanted for nothing!"

REPORT.—When pope Alexander the sixth demanded of the Venetian Ambassador Jeron Donatus, "of whom the Venetians held the rights and power of the sea?" he sharply replied, "Let your holiness show me the charter of St. Peter's patrimony and you will read on the back the grant made to the Venetians of the Adriatic sea."

MARCH OF INTELLECT.—What was the subject of Mr. A's. last lecture, said a young gentleman to a gentleman who professed to be State attached to lectures, and had general ideas of all the lectures on Natural Philosophy. "A Number of winters," it was said, "and a very interesting lecture it was too. Specific gravity—I do not exactly understand what that is said the lecturer, what is it?—Why it is difficult to describe, but it is a round piece of silver or tin a little larger than a dollar, and having a hole through it. Mr. A. had one in his hand, and described it very accurately. It is a very ingenious invention and every mechanic ought to understand how to use it."

THE WEeping Willow.—If you ask me to point out one tree more graceful than all the others, I would point out the weeping willow. Its long silk like boughs droop not less pensively than the eye-lids of some sleeping beauty. And when the airs stir them into what a delicious motion waves among them—where is the painter that can impart such a motion to his canvass—where the poet whose strains have such music in them as that which lives in the weeping willow? Where throughout all the works of nature, is any object more beautiful than this?

General Lafayette, in an able speech on the election Law of France, which he delivered in the Chamber of Deputies on the 15th of January last, made this remarkable observation: "I shall speak of the Government of the United States, although I am one of them who pay it the just tribute of calling it the pattern Government." But we are now told that what I should call "republican institutions suit only a vast continent, bounded on the one side by the ocean, and on the other by widely extended all forests. Formerly, however it was said that they suited only for an Island. They are suited to every country, where the citizens are intelligent, and wish to be free."

DUELING.—Swift's observation upon duelling is certainly the best reason that can be assigned for the continuance of its practice. He says, "I should be exceedingly sorry to find the Legislature make a new law against the practice of duelling, as I can discover no political evil in suffering bilious, sharpers, and rakes, to rid the world of each other by a method of their own, where the law hath not been able to find an expedient."

RECIPT.—We find in an English periodical the following receipt to cure a dog from sheep-stealing. Take a compound of charcoal, sulphur and saltpetre; introduce it with a due proportion of lead and wadding, into a iron tube, place the tube into the mouth of your dog, and then set explosion!

It is with sincere regret, that we have received, by the mail of yesterday, the news of the decease of the Hon. DOMINIQUE BOULIGNY, late a Senator of the United States, from the State of Louisiana. He died at his residence in New Orleans on the morning of the fifth of this month. He was a true patriot and an excellent and honorable man. Nat. Int.

Equivocal Premises.—"It seems to me your leaves are all of the same weight," muttered a fault-finding house-wife to a baker, as she poised a couple of loaves from his basket—"do you suppose you can cheat me?" "I don't want to cheat you," replied the man of bread, not relishing such an insinuation; "I know the loaves were weighed—every soul of them—and one weighs just as much as t'other, by gracious and more too, I dare say, if the truth was known!"

RICH BEQUESTS.—We learn from the Advocate that in the Will of Miss Sarah Jackson, recently deceased, the liberal bequest has been made of $10,000 to the Theological Seminary of Harvard College, and $10,000 to such charitable institutions in the city of Boston, as the Executor (Daniel P. Parker, Esq.) may direct. The Howard Benevolent Society, and the Boston Medical Dispensary, have a donation of $200 each, and the society worshipping at Dr. Lowell's Church, 700 from the same source.

The celebrated British Lord Exmouth—he, who a few years since, commanded a successful expedition against Algiers—died at Teignmouth on the 23d of January.

The eminent geometriean Legendre died at Paris, on the 11th Jan. last.

We learn with regret that news has been recently received by the way of England, from the South sea Islands, of a melancholy character. A bloody war has broken out between Tahaa and Raitea, and many lives had been lost. The Missionaries had not been able to allay the troubles, and it was feared their influence was on the decline."

BELGIUM.—It is stated by the Brussels Correspondent of the London Morning Herald, that great discontent, exists in Belgium. The people are somewhat inclined to repent of a separation, from which they have hitherto experienced none but ill effects. The French government has made an urgent demand upon them of 600,000 florins for the campaign of 1813, and of six millions of florins for the late Antwerp affair, besides the expense of maintaining the Dutch prisoners of war in France. The payment of these by Holland to Belgium was to be made the subject of future negotiations—in which it is very likely that his Dutch Majesty would display more than his usual obstinacy. There was said to be great coolness between Louis Philippe and his son-in-law. The young Queen was in a situation which promised an heir to the Belgian throne.

VALUE OF LABOR.—We have heard it stated that the value of the ice cut from a fresh pond, and shipped from this port present season for Southern markets, is estimated at $150,000.

WHALING.—Unparalleled Luck.—About the 1st of August last, the ship Boston, Capt. Sayer, left Norwich. (Conn.) fitted for a twelve months' voyage. We have the pleasure of stating that the Boston has returned, after an absence of only seven months, laden with 1906 barrels of right whale oil, and 16,000 lbs. of whale bone.—Norwich (Conn.) Repub.

PROSPECTUS OF THE Spirit of the Times, AND LIFE IN NEW-YORK.

IN undertaking the publication of a paper, devoted as this is designed to be, to the pleasures, amusements, fashions and diversions of life, the subscribers have been animated by the persuasive encouragements and generous promises of support of many of the most influential, enlightened and respectable members of the New-York community. It is to a certain extent, a field occupied by others, and one which is deemed important to be filled. For while the politicians, theologians, and the literati of our country, have each their separate oracles, which (like that of Delphos) proclaim slow and defend their several opinions and interests; and the cause of fashion, pleasure, amusement and recreation find but few publications of a periodical kind, appropriated solely to their encouragement and support. To paint "life as it is," without the artificial embellishments of romance; to speak of its propensities of enjoyment, the appetite for pleasure, and indulgence, and its tendency to enter into follies, is to do what many must approve, and no one condemn. For it is certainly more improper to reprove the acts of men than to promulgate them morally to the world. Pleasure, says the noble Frenchman, is the chief business of life, and however seemingly incorrect the maxim may be in the estimation of some, yet it is literally true, for the devotee certainly takes pleasure in the exercise of his religion; the merchant and mechanic, in their several branches of employment; and the man of letters in his books; while the sportsman who chases the hare or attends the ring or the race, is only pursuing pleasure in congeniality with his natural or cultivated taste.

In presenting this new candidate for favor and patronage to the public, it is the intention of the publishers to render it as interesting as possible, and to please all if they can, without wounding the feelings or disturbing the prejudices of any. The language will be always classic, so that the most delicate may approve. The paper will treat the Fashion, Taste and scenes in Real Life, gathered from the every-day exhibitions of the world. Theatres, Museums, and other fashionable places of resort, will receive appropriate notices while the Sports of the Turf, the Ring, and the Pit, of the Fisher and Fowler, will engross no inconsiderable portion of attention. The proceedings of the Courts—civil and criminal—will, as far as possible, be given, when matters of interest occur; and more especially those of the Police, where Life, in all its forms and colouring, is so faithfully portrayed. It is also the intention of the Editors, to devote a considerable portion of each paper to the compilation and dissemination of the news of the day, in a summarised form—which will serve as a brief and faithful record of all important passing events—condensing a large mass into a comparatively small compass.

With these intentions, fully and fairly proclaimed, and with the most perfect good feelings towards our co-laborers in the same vocation, we present ourselves before an enlightened community as candidates for their patronage and smiles.

PROPOSALS For publishing at Chapel Hill, the village of the University of North Carolina, A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER TO BE CALLED THE HARBINGER.

TO BE PUBLISHED BY JAMES C. PARKER, Under the special supervision of the Professors of the University.

PROSPECTUS.

THE plan has been already communicated to a number of gentlemen in different parts of the State, and the publisher has been encouraged to the prosecution of it by letters, not of approbation only, but of urgency. Some of the principal objects will be, to diffuse literary information with correct taste; to press the importance of popular and academic education; to explain their best methods discreetly, but with an independent freedom of stricture, to discuss subjects on which it is important to enlighten the public mind; to publish events and circumstances occurring among ourselves, that deserve notice; to exhibit scenes in popular forms that will solicit curiosity, and be generally intelligible; to promote the cause of Internal Improvement; and to give a competent portion of the political and religious intelligence of the time, with a studious exclusion of all that is of a party character.

If we have not misapprehended public sentiment, an opinion has long existed, at least in many parts of our State, that a publication of this nature was properly to be expected from the site of its university, the express purposes of which is to cultivate and diffuse valuable and practical knowledge, as it is already treasured up, and is constantly increasing with the progress of time.

It is a complaint with the publishers of periodical works that punctuality in remittance is less apt to be consulted in this than in most other species of business. The one now proposed, will be wholly without profit to any one, except the necessary remuneration to publisher, and to those he shall employ for the mechanical execution of the work. A periodical paper in all its movements must be by the very terms run against time, and every experienced and reflecting man knows the truth expressed by Doctor Johnson, that he who enters the lists with time for his antagonist, must toil with diligence not to find himself beaten. Every one who favors the Harbinger with his patronage, we hope will do it with presence of mind on the importance of fidelity in his remittance. On this establishment must depend for its support.

The publisher would not enlarge on the qualities of the proposed periodical, even to excite in the bosoms of his fellow-citizens a disposition to give it countenance and support, lest while consulting that object, he might seem to expose himself to the charge of making vain promises, or raise expectations too high to be fulfilled. But that a paper of such a character as has perhaps been already imagined in the mind of his readers, is desirable in our State; he cannot but think few will deny.

It is now to be determined after this explanation, whether the proposed publication shall be patronized by a sufficient number of subscribers to warrant its commencement. It is requested of those gentlemen to whom this prospectus is sent, and of others who may be disposed to promote the object, that they will consent to act for us in obtaining subscribers, either themselves personally, or by some friend who may be willing to undertake the task.

CONDITIONS. THE HARBINGER will be published weekly, on a super-royal sheet, in the quarto form, at Three Dollars per annum, payable yearly in advance, or Four Dollars, if payment is delayed six months after the commencement of each subscription year. The publication will be commenced as soon as six hundred subscribers shall be obtained.

Persons holding subscription papers will please forward the names of subscribers by the first of April next.

All letters addressed (post paid) to the publisher at Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

Editors of newspapers throughout the United States will please give this prospectus an insertion and consent to act as our agent in procuring subscribers.
