The Indians fled and were closely pursued. A runner then came from Gen. Games ordering them to stop, and informing them that Oseola was treating with them. At first those in pursuit could not be restained, but the cry of 'treaty,' 'treaty,' soon checked them. Gen Clinch then for ned and proceeded to Camp.

The following extract of a letter, written after their arrival, contains some interesting particulars:

HEAD QUARTERS, CAMP IZARD, Florida, On the Outhlacoochee, March 8, at night. We arrived at this post on the evening of the 6th, and found Gen Gunes army in a state of starvation, eating horses, dogs, &c. Less than a gill of corn was assurd for a day's rations We brought but a small quantity of provisions with us, and I believe there are but few men in camp who are not hungry at this time. We found plenty fresh Indian signs two miles above this on the river, and some of us wanted to pursue them, but the General directed otherwise. When we came in sight of the camp the spy guard reported Indians (500) in battle array. The war whoop commenced, and all who heard it expected, and, I believe, were prepared, ready and willing for it. I was a being detained, as is too often the case with the head of Captains Martin and Carter's Companies, the left flank, when we discovered a considerable body of ludians on our left. We crossed up a little, faced to the left and gave them a fire-two only returned it, (and one of the balls struck near me, they instantly fled into the hammock; it said we killed one and wounded two; today the spot has been visited, and a considerable quantity of hides, some rice, &c., were found, so I guess they left in a hurry. They have had Gen. Gaines completely surrounded for several days previous to our arrival; they had fought him all the day before, without much execution on either side.

Hearing the attack of Gen. Clinch, the officer in conversation with Oseola advised him to retire into the hammock, while they went to the camp.

On reaching the Camp, Gen Clinch found its inmates in great distress. They were literally in a state of starvation. They had killed and eaten several horses and dogs. One soldier having stolen a dog and killed it, sold one of the quarters for five dollars. For this act of stealing, killing, or selling he received a severe flogging. One man gave six dollars for a piece of horses entrails about a foot long. Five dollars were given for a biscuit and the same for a quart of corn. We forbear to mention many other acts, showing what hunger will compel one to do, which are related of these patriotic men, thus surrounded and suffering in a savage wilderfeeting to witness the greediness and thank- resumed.

LATEST FROM TEXAS.

CHARLESTON, March 14.

We are indebted to an officer lately in he Texian naval service, who arrived in this city on Friday last via New Orleans, and who left Victoria, a port in Texas, on the 8th ult., for several particulars in relation to the state of affairs in that Territory. Our informant states that Gen. Houston arnved there from the Mission de Refugio, (which at that time was Head Quarters) on his way to San Feillippe, the seat of Government, some difficulty having taken place between Governor Smith and the Provisional Government, who had not however, resigned. The troops were concentrating at Copeno. They were to move or the 1st of March, and the forces constisted, as well as can be recollected, of the following: At the mission 180; at Labadie, 110; at Copeno, 210; at Bezar, 80. 100 men had landed at Dimmot's point from North Alabama, about the 10th of February; 180 sailed from New Orleans about the 23d. They are the troops that left New York, and were carried into Nassau, N. P. Col onel Farming commands the forces at Copeno. The gallant corps of Volunteer Greys from New Orleans had generally returned, disgusted with the service, saving that they would no longer fight to enrich a few land speculators; they went to estabish the Liberty of the Country. The general supposition in Texas was that there would be no fighting until the summer was far advanced, as the insurrection of two generals of Santa Ana's occasioned a division of his forces, which at no time amounted to more than $,000 troops. Mr. Mann at the suggestion of Mr. Cambreleng, modified the motion so as to fix upon Thursday, the 24th of March; and in this form the motion was agreed to.

Mr. Rencher wished, he said, to move an amendment to the motion so as to present the question whether the sitting member should have further time to take depositions. If the motion pending was agreed to, it would not be in order to amend it.

The Chair suggested that, if the motion permitted, it would be in order to move for the allowance of further time, on the 24th, when the subject was taken up.

Mr. McKay expressed a hope that the House, before proceeding to other business, would settle the question whether further time should be allowed or not. The question had occupied a month, and unless it was settled now, the discussion would be renewed on Thursday next, on the motion

EXPUNGING.

An argument within a nut-shell .- We subjoin an article from one of the most respectable presses in the country, which states strongly, but with substantial truth, the merits of the poposition, which has come from Richmond, for laying violent hands upon the Journal of the Senate of the United States.

Let any man ask himself, what would be the effect of success in the attempt to violate the journal as proposed? Must be not say, its only effect would be to give to the President of the United States a triumph over the Senatorial branch of the Government? In a word, is the concerted action among leagued partizans in the Legislatures of Virginia and other States, to effect this object, any thing other than a war upon the Senate; a scheme to prostrate the dignity, the honor, and the moral, too, of that body, to pleasure the passion, or the will of General Jackson ?- Nat. Int.

From the Albany Daily Advertiser, March 14.

Instruction .- While we fully adopt the republican notion that a Representative should conform to the wishes of his constituents, we do not by that intend to assert that immoral, illegal, or unconstitutional instructions are binding upon any person. Common sense at once teaches us better, and none but the unscrupulous partizans of a corrupt leader would contend otherwise.

Precisely in this light stands the question now being discussed in relation to Mr. Leigh, of Virginia; and we have seen but one or two presses on the side of the opposition, which have done otherwise than approve his manly course. Suppose the Legislature of Virginia had instructed him to go to the Clerk's desk, seize the minutes, and burn them up . Would any person other than a knave or fool contend that this was a binding instruction? We will not imagine that any one could be infamous enough to advocate his obedience to such a request.

But we ask our readers, in what does a resolution to burn differ from a resolution to expunge? In nothing. Both are subversive of the Constitution, which requires the Senate to keep a journal, and if that journal can be lawfully destroyed by one process, it can be by any other.

The attempt is disgraceful to the age, ine, Hoar, Howell, Huntsman, Ingersoll, carry men professing to be free! The con-James H. The proposition to mar and mutilate the records of the Senate of the United States is fairly under debate in that body, two leading speeches having been made upon it, one by the mover of it, and the other by Mr. Porter, the able and respected Senator from Louisiana.
