Salisbury, March 11, 1837.

The Supreme Court of this State ad journed on Saturday the 4th inst. after a laborious session of about ten weeks.

We take pleasure in returning our thanks to the Hon. Bedford Brown, for a copy of the Farewall Address of Andrew Jackson, to the people of the United States; and the Insugural Address of Martin Van Buren, President of the United States. We will endeavor to lay thear before our readers in in a subsequent number.

We received no Northern Pepers by the last Mail, indeed it has become too common to receive them by the Southern Stage. We will not at this time charge any one with palpuble negligence, but unless there is some speedy alteration in the transportation and receipt of our papers, we will at least tell the public, what we believe upon the subject, so let those interested take the hint A word to the wise, &c.

THE FAYETTEVILLE & WESTERN

RAIL ROAD We believe there is but one sentiment in the counties of Rowan, Ledell, Davie, Surry, Davidson, Handolph, Chatham and Guilford, on the subject of this Road, and that is, if it shall be so located as to strike the River above the mouth of Abbot's Oreek. the residue of stock will be forthwith taken by these counties. Otherwise, the s mount of subscription will be exceedingly small. We have not heard of a dollar beog subscribed to the absolute subscription: we find also, that most of those interested a the work, are opposed to a conditional ubscription, they fear, if one section of the ountry commences with conditions, that nother will with another, and a different ne, so that at last there will be interminale dissension. We think with them this , that unless the whole West can unite one and the same condition, it is better have none at all. Under the present ate of things, we cannot urge too strenuusly upon the Directors to have the surveys d Report of Major McNeil: until that omes out, it will be useless and vain to ess any subscription of any kind. The asonable assurance that the Report will vor the great grain growing counties of e West; should that be done the work will occed with the certainty of existence ould it not be done, it will have to be ex. sated with other means than theirs. Such the growing confidence in the northernost route; that we believe the whole stock puld be taken in one week, should it be und practicable. We know of several large bscn ers to the condition, who would puble their subscriptions, and several oths who would make large additions to the nourt taken by them: The Towns of reensboro and Lexington. with the rich rntories of Abbot's Creek, Swearing Creek, erroway, Uwharie, Little River and Deep ver, containing as able a population as y to the same extent in North Carolina, are assured will go in liberally, if a point high up as the mouth of Abbot's Greek be made the first terminus. There is country not a mile that we know of on loutes now undergoing a survey that compare with these sections which all sufficiently near to the apper route.

TO THE RIGHT ABOUT.

The President's pet, General Jesup, who trigued himself into the place of his comander in chief, after intriguing him out it: now that that commander has sinds ted himself to the entire satisfaction of the court that tried him, as well as the see with which that transaction covers n, and all concerned in the base plot, by ormal retraxit of his former charges. In official letter to the War Department, Wahed in the Globe, he thus endeavors emove the stigma which his own dirty aduct has fastened upon his reputation: "As an act of justice to all my predecesto command, I consider it my duty to that the difficulties attending military crations in this country can be properly preciated only by those acquainted with I have had advantages which neither sible to operate with any prospect of suc-

ross the country.

seek with any other view than the mere performance of his duty; distinction or increase of reputation is out of the question; and the difficulties are such that the best concerted plans may result in absolute failure, and the best established reputation be lost without a fault.

"If I have at any time said aught in dissaragement of the operations of others in Florida, either verbally or in writing, officially or unofficially, knowing the country as I know it, I consider myself bound us man of honor solemnly to retract it."

But this all comes too late; public opinion is formed as to his conduct: Honorable men in the army, as well as in civil life, have all formed the same conclusion, to wit, that General Jesup made a seevet assault upon the reputation of his superior officer. which he intended to se kept dark, and which was only brought to light by the precontous temper of the President, in a moment of excitement, and but for which disclusure and the odium which it has produced, this teparation would never have been

GENERAL GAINES

We have read the defence of this war ora patriot, with feelings of great regret. We are mortified to see two such men as Generals Scott & Games.laboring to degrade and criminate each other, when we verily believe, that each has done all they could for the honor of their country, and when the fault, as all the testimony shows, lies at were wanting to clear the reputations of either of these gullant men, we think it may be found in the extract which we have copied into the loregoing paragraph. The government which has thrown these two brave men into this attitude towards each other, as well by its remisness, in providing for the Seminole Campaign, as by subjecting them to this ignome mous trial, has a great to answer for: and the more for the fact turns out to be, that the government steelf is the party that ought to have been tried for the failure of this war iff Florida.

THE PRESIDENT .- The Washington corresundent of the Courier & Enquirer says ;

"The President is very, very feeble, and will not be able to commence his journey to the Her mitage on the 6th of March, as he intended. In marquence he has given notice of his intention to take up his lodging with Mr. Blair on the mor-ning of the third!!! This may be a fit terminaion for such an administration as the present but it dues not become the dignity of statten that any Ex-President should domiciliate trimeelf unet the roof of such a man as Blair."

Bank of Cape Fear .- Col. John D. Jones has been elected President of this Institution, vice Gen. James Owen, resigned-the latter nd estimates completed at an early day; all having been chosen President of the Wilming on and Halifax Rail Rond Company pice (

Wilmington and Halifax Road .- The Sabscription of Stock to this Road by individuals, quantit of the Societor, that it was impossible cople hereabouts are unwilling to take a it is ascertained, has reached that point, which bear the Store in capital cases ever to introduce ap in the dark: They say, they want a of two fifths of its Capital. #### REPORT OF THE TRIAL OF HEN-RY SWINK.

Superior Court of Law for Rowan Co., Fall Term.

HENRY SWINE. $ 1836. At 10 o'clock, October 12th, 1836 .- The Pri oner was brought to the bar-orraigned and Plead " not guilty." The Indictment charged in four counts, that the prisoner had murdered his own wife, Margaret, on the 10th day of April, 1836 .- 1st. Hanging, chasking and killing, with a rope, value sixpense-2nd; cheaking with the hands-Srd; beating, wounding and alling, with Lands, feet, fists, with force and rms-4th ; giving a morial wound on the side of the head with a smoothing Iron of the value two shillings. At 20 minutes after 12 o'clock Jury was sworn and empennelled, many being ejected, as well by the prisoner's objections as by their ewa opinion having been formed and ax pressed. The indictment was then read in the cearing of the Prisoner, Court and Jury, by Mr. Solicitar Poindexter. called -Ist, Samuel Lemly, the Coroner presi ting at the inquest taken upon view of the body of the deceased, on the morning siter the murder. He saw the wife of the prisoner dead in the bed where he was informed she usually slept—the corpse was much mangled and bloody resent when witness arrived—the their of the eceased was drawn over the wound on the head, blood congested in the hair, he arrested and brought prisoner to the Court House, S miles distant from his dwelling, there saw blood on the sleeve of his shirt, and two spots of blood on the skin of his arm. Prisoner said the stains of blood come from a Borse that he had bled ; af erwards said his nose blad, and the stains were from it. He was then cross examined, and only repeated verbutim as before; further examined by the Solicitor, said the prisoner did not pretend o account for the murder, he appeared careless and indifferent

George Vogler, one of the Jurors of inquest, stated that the wound on the head of the decid. was one and a half inches long, that the purple printe of a rope on the neck and throat were quite plain; her black hair carefully drawn over he wound on the head congealed with blood; prisoner was present at the time of examination re was taken to the kitchen, afterwards brought to town, there examined, marks of blood apneared upon his shirt sleeve, and on the skin o his arm, prisoner first said that the stain was occusioned by the bleeding of his nose, and afterwards said that the stains were occasioned by the bloud from a horse.

John Cochenhoor, said he saw the dead body during the time of the inquest, saw blood on prisoner's left arm, and on his shirt sleeve ; had them possessed, in better preparations & not often been at prisoner's house; the blund on the sleave, appeared to have been as if dabbled in ore abundant supplies; and I found it imor smeered one and not as juting at droping on it. Prisoner owned a Negro woman and three or 4 s until I had established a time of depots children; there was but one room in the house, sore leg, elept alone.

Dr Bouchell, saw the dead body at the time of the inquest, saw the wound on the head, mark on the front part of the neck with the impression of a rope sufficient to have caused repression of circulation and resparation. The wound on the head was a larectated one 2 inches long.

Walliam West, Step Father of the said he was at the House of prisoner about sun rise, on the morning of the inquest; the mother of dec. was present, charged prisoner with having killed her daughter, his wife, because of his having to pay money, the cost of the proceedings on a peace warrant, issued against him at the relation of his wife; prisoner remained scient, and did not deny the charge: the prisoner and his wife lived disagreeably, had frequent quartels, deed, had a good character; witness saw deed; at sun down, the previous evening in good health, knew prisoner to have beaten his wife once about 19 mouths before, that they had been married about eighteen years, she had three

Nancy Smith went to the house of prisoner before sun rise in the morning of the inquest, in consequence of information received from a Ne gro buy - found Swink was up and dressed, the body of deed, was still warm, two of the children were also up and dressed, one still asleep in the bed that Swink usually slept in Swink usually slept alone of account of having a sure leg the children, particularly the youngest me, always sleps with deed. There was but one room in the House, the two beds were in it, not six feet apart; prisoner appeared stond and

Samuel Jones in the Spring of 1836, honght lodder of Swink, who delivered at a previous time 600 bundles without receiving payment delivered 400 on the day previous to the mur der, and received payment for 1000, to the amount of $7,50 or thegesbouts, said he was going to pay the costs in the case with bis

John Foster saw Swink on the evening provious in the affair - rode some distance with on a wagon towards home, discovered he had the door of neither of them. If any thing left him on the road two miles from home near seen drinking, and was elightly intusicated,

Jesse Johnston said he was present on the thorning on which presoner's wife was found dead; saw blood on Swink's clother, the sleeve of his shirt sumared 2 of 3 mehrs-bland on the skin of his arm, blad of the same colour as that on the bed. Witness charged Swink with having killed his wife ; he said I never did so befure not never shall—rope found; present and this is not the rope. The rope had about on it, present said he had used the rope the fall before

The Prisoner offered no testimony. Mr. Pearson one of the prisoner's counsel opened the defence in a long angument, connecting on the trainsony and musting on its insufficiency. Su-licitor General Pomorator insisted that the tes timony was sufficiently strong to raise a violent presumption of guilt. Prisoner was in the house at the time of the inorder, he has been traced to near his own house taking his course towards it late on the previous evening—he is found there early next morning, with more else but the deed. and three equals children; he relied on other strong circumstances, as his not denying when charged with the murder, never even insinuaed that any other person was guilty of the murder. Prisoner's confession to the witness John son, " I pever did so before for never shall," amounfeil to an absolute confession. Mr. Nash, the other counsel for the prisoner, occupied nearly the seme ground that Mr. Pearson had previously done, insisting on the insufficiency of the testimony against the Prisoner, the slightness of the circumstances, and the probability of the murder being committed by some other persor. A crime so contrary to nature, should not be reconstilled to rest on any buthan being withou stronghest direct proof or circumstances so strong

as to amount to positive proof. Judge Settle energed the Jury, that the ar entitles the Company to the State subscription, postave or direct testimony was correct as an an stract proposition; it had been observed in the defence that the pursoner's children should have been introduced as they were present at the composent age and capacity. Office estantial estimony of presumptive evidence is of three grades, as light, probable and violent, light presumption movets not at all, probable pre-ump tion moveth but little, violent presumption is e qual to full proof, as to the erromestances, strong nough to be called violent presumption, this de pends on the fourth of time between the happening of the tacis and the observation of the witness-if circumstances of the accessed be inconsistent with imposence, this is violent presumption; cases of conviction on exempistantial evidence, where the accused was, or afterwards proved to be innucent, are enec by the prisoner's ounsel, should only be allowed to have the effect of making the jory cantto s. Technicalities in this and similar cases introduced and seled upon to protect the innocent. In this case the great question is, who is the person guilty—the proof sufficient to show that a morder has been comuitted, and then another question arms narrowng the field of enquiry, is the prisoner guilty? If the circumstances detailed by the witnesses, show that his conduct and the facts positively alledged by the witnesses, show that they were acouststent with mor soce, and you shall beleve the witnesses, then the conclusion is that he is guilty. If the facts and circumstances set forth by all the witnesses be equal to the direct testimony of one witness, provided you can credit the lestimony of the witnesses, this simunits to violent presumption. Was the blood open the prisuner's suit sleeve, the blood upon the skin of hiearm? was the fact of there being no blood upon the children who usually slept in the same bed with the murdered mother? was the fact of one of the children being found asleep in the bed of the accused without the sign of blood? do all these facts indupe you to believe any thing? does the fact of the prisoner's madessions and his standing mate, when accused? his not pointing to the precable murderer of designating ine expressing some suspicion of the murderer will not these things have some weight with your I tell you as the presiding officer of this court that they should have a prependering weight with you in pronouncing your ausolute judgment in this case. The alleged confession to the witness Johnson, is a matter of some delicaty; it tasy be construed into an absolute de nial of an absolute contrasion. But you most, Gentlemen of the Jury, attend to the circhmstances. It is admitted that the prisoner is an illiterate man, we must therefore forbear any grammatical criticism as to the construction in that point of view. We must take the words to it is reasonable to suppose the prisoner understood them to express his meaning at the time the words to be, or have a meaning correspond

"This is a service which no man would two beds to it, prisoner on account of having a tance, nor to a confession, but are to be taken by | express waiverby the parties, of all right to | the jury as a circumstance connected with other arousestances and Reighed and considered as consistent or incomment with unocence; you improper—for until a Jurar is challenged and the have heard the evidence of Lemly and Vogier, younge of challenge alledged, there is nothing be they have been examined separate and apart, they concur in showing that the prisoner equive-cated about the blood on his arm; truth and ousistency is evidence of innocence, falsehood and equivocation are comeountant with guilf.
The jury retired at about 9 o'clock in the eve

ing-could not agree and were abut up all night, on a subsequent day the Jury came into Court, and arked the Judge, if the prisoner's not denying and remaining aftent when accused of the morder, amounted to a confession of his guilt? His Honor replied, that is a circumstance which the Jury must consider, as the Court cannot on dertake to say what evidence shall be satisfacto ry to convince the Jury of a fact, or how much it will require to induce a belief of a fact. The Jury continued to disagree, and were strictly shut up under the guard of an ufficer until 4 o' clock on the 4th day or 15th of October, when they came into Court, and they had agreed, and were polled, when eleven anid directly guilty, and the other said, " Bring forced by the laws of they country I am bound to say he is guilty." Shortigafterwards the Solicetor prayed Judg ment upon the Prisoner, who was then asked if he had any thing to say, why judgment of death should not be passed upon him? when Mr. of Judgment, which were doon argument overruled servatum, and Judgment of death procoun-

The Prisoner-then prayed an appeal, and the Record was made up, approved and toawarded to the Supreme Court.

From the Raleigh Register. .

SUPREME COURT .- In the case of the State v Benton, decided at the present term of the Soutemer Court, questions relating to the seem proper in each case. mode of drawing Junes, the time and manner of making challenges and the nature and sufficiency of the grounds of challenges, were discussed at the bar and determined by the Court And as the matters so determined are of timmediate influence upon the practice in the Superior Lours, and, in the regular course of publication, the Report of the case will not reach the Protes. is thought that a sketch of the points so deteracceptable alike to the Jaoges and the Bar of the Superior Courts

A brief summary of these points has, under this impression, been prepared by a gentleman of the Bar from the very elaborate, clear and learned Opinion of the Court, as delivered by Mr. Justice Gaston & we now present it to the pub-

STATE v. BENTON.

Abstract of the points ruled in this Case. 1. It is not error, for a Judge in a capial case to direct the Juro's of the original panel (more than twelve being in attendance) to the first drawn and tendered to the prisoner, although the prisoner demanded that names of the tales man should be put into the box and drawig with those of the original parel. For, although the latter proceeding might not be erroneous, the formet is us at regular and in best accordance with the statutory regulations on the subject of luries. And the same mode of proceeding should be adopted, as well when a special renire has been awarded under the act of 1830, as where tales Jutors are summonted de circum stantilus

2. When a Juror is directed by the Attorney General to stand acide notif the panel to gone through, it is a challenge for cause then taken but of which the cause is not to be declared un ul, by the whole number of Jarors being dispos thoot completing an inquest, processary to enquire of the cause of such chal lenge in order to proceed with the trial. Where the original panel is first drawn, (as it should al ways be if more than twelve of the Jurors in at tendance) the Attorney Coneral must declare so soon as that paged is disp sed of, as it is not egular to call upon tales Jurora except for want of Jurors of the original panel. After the origin at panel is exhausted, all the other Jurers in attendance, whether summoned on a special re nire or de circumstahlibus, constitute but one panel-age the Kitoreey General has a right to withhold the declaration of his cause of chal enge till it is gone through, subject to this quali fication, that when the Court shall see that oppressive or other is jurious consequences may result from the extreme assertion of such right. the Court may, in the exercise of a sound dis retion to prevent such consequences, require me to declare the cause of challenge at an ear her period Where less than 12 of the original papel are in attendance, they should be added to the tales and form one panel The right to se aside a Juror exists now, as it did believe the acof 1827, giving a certain number of perentury challenges to the Officer proceduing for the State. And when the officer is called upon to assign his cause of challenge the same June per emptorily, or he may, if he pleases, waive his challenge, and in that case the Juror may be tendered to the prisoner. 3. The allowance of a legal of aller ge, where by the party is compelled to accort as . a Jures upe whom he had a right to reject, is error in law, which vittates the verdict and is to be corrected not by a new trial, but properly by a ve aire de novo. Therefore a challeuge should be distinctly taken, in order that the opposite par ly may either deny the truth of the matter aledged, or avoid it by counter plea of new mat ter, demur to its sufficiency in law .- Where an aspend fact arises, as in the two first cases, it is to be tried, either by triets according to the ancient usage or ( which is to the best and most convenient mode) by the Court, by the assent of the parties, according to our practice-and when the facts appear, either, by finding or ad mission, the sofficiency of the challenge if a question of law, to the decision of which by the odge, exception thay he taken as in other cases and the whole matter should then be distinctly set forth on the record. Where however no thing appears but a challenge taken for a certain cause and overruled by the Court, it will be in tended that the cause of the challenge was admitted or proved and its sufficiency only passed on by the Judge. But if the fact be put in issue. its determination, whether by triers of the Court, s conclusive and cannot be re-examined.

4 The practice which has obtained in this State of putting to Jurors (before and without any challenge taken) what is called 'the preliminary question, is irregular and unwarranted by law. It is true the Judge, if he have reason to think there are improper persons on the list of Jurora, may, if he pleases, proceed to purge the panel before drawing and tendering the Jutors; they were uttered: unlearned as he is, what is or a Juror may ask to be excused on account of their common meaning and intent? in one way his state of mind, as well as other grounds, and its plain meaning is a direct decial as to say " I the Judge may consider the application and, in never did nor I never will do so." But in an- his discretion, discharge the Juter; or if the parother way equally free from critical construction ties choose, they may submit to the Judge taxx is "I never did murder only this once, but I amme into the middle once, the June of the middle once, if he June of them never will commit murder again!" Now taking and the Judge may, if he think proper, exering with either the one or the other of these in- der to exercise it with effect, examine the Jurors terpretations, they do not amount to an acquit- en eath; but in the last case, there should be an chailenge except peremptorily. Except in these instances, such preliminary examinations are improper-for until a Jurur is challenged and the fore the Court to which any examination is per tinent. The party should first declare his chal eppe and its cause-if the fact alledged is denied then, and not till then, arises a case for the examination of the Juror or any other person.

5 A Javer to be competent must 's and indiferent as be stands upsworm,' and therefore, one who has made up and declared his opinion ouching the matter to be tried, is not a competent Juror. This prejudication of the matter constitutes a principal cause of challenge, for he law, upon the fact of such prejudication uppearing, determines that the Jurar is under such bras as does not leave his mind free to set upon the evidence; and therefore the fact being proved or admitted, nothing is left to discretion but the Judge must declare the Jurar unindifferent as a onclusion of law. But no one can object to the leror, on account of such bias, but the party against whom the biss operates, and therefore when a jutor is challenged by one ancused of a erime on the ground that he has furned and expressed an opinion, it not appear, in order to suction the challenge, that the opinion so ormed and expressed was an opinion that the arrused was guilty. To constitute ground of principal challenge, there must be a settled opinoh-a case where the mind of the Jurur to made op on the question to be tried. Hypothetical cimions -- supression not amounting to this state of mind-do not support a principal chal-lenge. They tend to suspector of bias, but do not show was expressly—from them the law does not draw an injercuce of unindifferency and therefore they can only be offered as ground of challenge to the favor in which class of challengen, the question of untuitifferency is submitted to the Court or the trier, an an inference of fact to be drawn or not drawn, as, in their discretion, shall

6. A Juror may be examined in every ase to prove the cause of challenge alledged against bin, unless the matter tend to his infamy or discredit; but to form and express an opinion that one accused of a rime is guilty, does not of itself, import any thing infamous or discreditable in the luror; and therefore a Juror challenged on that account may be himself examined a shew the fact.

7. The ground on which declaring an pointon disqualifies a Juror, is, that he, may probably be influenced by that opinion, or the reasons on which it is founded, and not solely by the evidence offered on the trial. Therefore he, who has found the same matter between other parties. or between the same parties in another suit or in another trial between the parties in the same suit, is disquelified, since he ought not to be influenced by what he peard on the former trials; and vet the aw presumes that he will be so influenced. And for the same reason, he who forms & declares an opinion from report or hearsay, is disqualified.

MASSACHUSETTS.

A committee of the Massachusetts Legissture have reported a bill authorizing the Governor to appoint a practical Farmer to make an agricultural survey of the Commonwealth, and to make a detailed report every six months. The sum of $2,500 to be appropriated to the purpose.

An article in a late number of the Mobile Register gives an interesting account of the cotton growth of the United States It says that in only four states, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Florida, has the cultistion of catton incressed. The whole of the crop of the United States in 1836, was estimated at 490,000,000 of pounds. The number of field bands, as correctly as could be ascertained, was supposed to be $40.000 valued at $800 each. The total capital invested in the growth of cottom in the United States was estimated at $800,000,000. The great increase in the demand of slaves has enhanted their value enormously, and therefore the above may be considered as falling far short of the actual value of property invested in the cultivation of cut-
