

Look up, ye mourners, hear what He hath spoken.
He that believes in Me shall never die.
Through faith and love your spirit shall be kept,
Hope brighter grew on earth when 'Jusus wept.'

The following beautiful lines from the Trenton Emporium and True American, and are attributed to the pen of the Editor of that paper. They were written on viewing the 'Vision of heaven,' a painting, by R. Street, exhibiting at the rooms opposite the Chesnut Street Theatre, above Sixth street.

THE VISION OF DEATH.

PAINTING BY STREET.

Beautiful vision!—There she kneels—
The scene, the hour worship given—
While sweetly o'er her spirit steals
The light, the song, the bliss of Heaven,
No cloud of earth is on her brow,
No earthly hopes are flitting by—
The dream that wraps her spirit now
Is borrowed from yon radiant sky.

'Tis not that her young heart is free
As mountain air or music wild,
'Tis not the glow of ecstasy
Joy flings o'er fortune's favored child—
'Tis not that nature there breathes out
Her worship in the water fall—
And all is beautiful about—
'And she, most beautiful of all.

Oh no! there's something in the thrill
Of this world's spirit-stirring mirth—
That, tho' all sweet and joyous—still
Is mingled with the shade of earth—
As in the rainbow's radiant form
That spaces the sky's cerulean sheet
Abides the memory of the storm—
That broke and vanished at its feet.

Oh no!—the leaping spirit there—
Forgot its prison-house of clay—
Far, far beyond this world of care
Wings now its blissful flight away—
That sunny smile serenely bright
Is but the mantle that it flings
Back from its heavenward peak of light,
Whither each hope exulting springs.

Sweet vision of embodied thought,
To earth's low scenes in beauty given—
How is thine angel-image fraught
With all we know or dream of Heaven!
Still to our sphere the lustre give
Of that sweet smile and Heaven-lit eye,
And thou shalt teach us how to live,
And learn us how to die.

DELTA.

From the Burlington Gazette.

A young gentleman wrote the following letter under the direction and eye of his father, to his "lady love," having an understanding with her, however, that she was to read only every other line, beginning with the first. All parties were satisfied.

MADAM,
The great love I have hitherto experienced for you is false, & I find that my indifference towards you increases every day; the more I see you, the more you appear in my eyes an object of contempt. I feel myself every way disposed & determined to hate you. Believe me, I never had an intention to offer you my hand. Our last conversation has left a tedious insipidity, which has by no means given me the most exalted idea of your character; your temper would make me extremely unhappy, & if we are united, I shall experience nothing but the hate of my parents, added to the everlasting displeasure in living with you. I have indeed a heart to bestow, but I do not wish you to imagine it is at your service; I could not give it to any more inconsistent and capricious than yourself, & less capable to honor to my choice and to my family. Yes, Madam, I beg you will be persuaded that I speak sincerely; and you will do me a favor to avoid me. I shall excuse your taking the trouble to answer this. Your letters are always full of impertinence, and you have not the shadow of wit or good sense. Adieu! adieu! believe me I am soaverse to you that it is impossible for me to be your most affectionate friend and humble servant.

What's the matter now?
My wife's a savin critter—a sword of sharpness—she cuts the throat of my felicity, stabs my happiness, chops up my comforts, and snips up all my Sunday go-to-meetings to make jackets for the boys; she gives all the wittles to the children, to make me spry and jump about like a lamp lighter. I can stand it—my troubles is overpowerin when I add em up.
'Oh, nonsense! behave nice—dout make a noise in the street—be a man.
'How can I be a man, when I belong to somebody else? My hours aint my own—my money aint my own—I belong to four people besides myself—the old woman and the three children. In a partnership concern, and so many has got their fingers in the till, that I must bust up. I'll break, and sign over the stock in trade to you.'

A WARNING TO LYNCHERS.

A suit has been lately decided in the Yazoo Circuit Court, Mississippi, which had its origin during the Lynching fever in 1855, and in which the plaintiff, a sufferer from the mob, has obtained a verdict for damages to the amount of fifteen thousand dollars.

According to the account of the case, as published in the Manchester Whig, the plaintiff, Justice Sharkey, was a magistrate at the time of the out-breaking. He was a large slaveholder, had lived in the country more than thirty years, and possessed an unblemished reputation; and yet, because this justice was not satisfied as to the guilt of an individual brought before him on the charge of being an accomplice in the anticipated insurrection, the mob took it into their heads he was also implicated, and that the proper mode of proceeding would be to lynch him also. This, however, says the Whig, 'proved a difficult undertaking. "The resolute justice, who had acted in accordance with his oath of office, refused to surrender himself to the assailants, and barred his door against them, placing himself in a defensive attitude. The party attacked his house by shooting through the door and windows, and Mr. S., with his wife and children, was exposed to an incessant fire of rifles, the balls passing through the house in various directions. He, however, had his rifle at hand, and made good his defence, in killing one of the party, although badly wounded by a rifle ball in his left arm. It is stated that his bed, in which lay a young child, was literally shot to pieces, and, by a miracle the child escaped unhurt.

Under such circumstances, it is highly gratifying to see that justice, though rather tardy, has at length been meted out. The attacking party have brought themselves under the necessity of paying such damages as will doubtless make them a little cautious hereafter executing the mandates of Judge Lynch.—New Orleans Picayune.

He hopes that the extent of his stock, the care with which it has been selected, and the very low prices at which he can afford, and is determined to sell, will he hopes secure not only the continuance of his former customers, but also encourage others to come and examine for themselves. He is determined that the decline of Goods at the North shall be felt and known here also, that its benefits shall not be confined to himself, but that his customers who have felt the inconvenience of SELLING LOW, shall also BUY AS LOW as Goods can be afforded. Thankful for the very liberal patronage which he has received, he hopes by attention to business, to merit a continuance of the same.

BLANK DEEDS FOR SALE AT THIS OFFICE

We reiterate to those fanatical pirates who cruise under the black flag—who oppose slavery because they are themselves the slaves of ignorance and superstition—who pretend to rob clean the upper decks of their neighbors with a HOLY stone—we say look out for breakers.

R. S. BERNARD

Somerton, May 14, 1837.

Dear Sir—This is to inform you I have tested the efficiency of your Remedy for the Cholera in several instances that have lately come under my care, and that its effect evince it to be a judicious preparation—one eminently serviceable. I will say altogether competent to cure the diseases for which it is recommended. I feel no hesitation, therefore, in declaring that for the treatment of such disorders, I shall regularly dispense your Remedy from my office, and would recommend it to be kept in all families liable to these dangerous attacks.

You may use this certificate as you will!

Yours, very respectfully,
W. L. PARHAM

This certificate was given to my agent, E. P. Nash, of Petersburg and for its importance, read Mr. Nash's remarks;

As agent for Bernard's Cholera and Diarrhoea Medicine, I call the attention of the public to the certificate below from one of the most respectable gentlemen in the state; and I particularly call their attention to the one given by a gentleman in this town—and if it were necessary, I could produce a half dozen others from Petersburg, who have tried the medicine within two weeks past.

EDW. F. NASH

Mr. Edward P. Nash, Agent for Bernard's Cholera Medicine.

Dear Sir: I feel it a duty I owe to the proprietor of the above medicine, as well as the public generally, to inform you that the bottle of Cholera mixture which I bought at your store a few evenings since, has entirely cured me of a severe Diarrhoea. The cure was effected in taking only two doses, and as I had tried many other remedies without the least effect. I am fully of the opinion that the medicine here alluded to is every thing that it is said to be.

JAS. S. WALLACE, Petersburg, Va.

Who will neglect to supply themselves with Bernard's Remedy for Cholera, when it is so fully proven to be efficacious in all the diseases for which it is recommended? In no case has it failed to cure the most obstinate attack of summer complaint made upon children. In one instance a permanent cure was effected upon a child in this place, after the summer complaint had put it (as thought by the doctors) beyond the power of medicine to relieve. It was such an aggravated case that the child had in the course of one day and night, sixty-three evacuations from the bowels. Yet one bottle proved a sovereign remedy.

This valuable Medicine is for sale in this place by J. & W. Murphy, in Lexington by John P. Mabry, in Charlotte by Williams & Boyd.

MY BUSINESS has become so much extended, and the amount of arrearages has become so great that I must settle. It will be the greatest injustice to require me to travel all over the country for this purpose. It is to be hoped, therefore, that those who owe me will save me trouble and expense by remitting my dues through the Post Office, and that without delay.

Richmond and Petersburg

RAIL ROAD.

THE completion of this Rail Road (from Petersburg to Manchester, opposite to Richmond) makes the chain of Rail Roads through the State of Virginia continuous, with the exception of only 9 miles; and adds important advantages to the Inland Route for the Northern and Southern travelling.

There are established on it Two Daily Trains, one of which is in connection with the North and South Mail Line; and a tri-weekly train connecting with the Halifax, Wilmington and Charleston Rail Road, Stage, and Steam Boat Line."

PASSENGERS from the South by the daily "Metropolitan Mail Line" will arrive in Richmond on the evening after that on which they leave Raleigh; and having the night for rest, are yet enabled, by existing arrangements, to proceed to Baltimore on the succeeding day, and thence to Philadelphia the same night in time for the Morning Boat to New York; time, less than three days from Raleigh to New York.

The Route through Petersburg and Richmond will be found also to be one of the best routes from the South to the Virginia Springs. The Passengers can arrive in Charlottesville, having only 44 miles Stage travelling after reaching the Rail Roads in Virginia, in three days from Charleston, and two days from Raleigh.

All possible arrangements are made on this Rail Road for the comfortable and safe transportation of Passengers.
