

...the destructive Administration. I... you then, he said, one and all, as... regard the success of these principles... stand by them, and main... the last hope of the nation... Do not suffer any division; let us rally... the same banner, and, supporting the... constitutional rights of all sections of the... stand by each other. Then our... will be certain.

Mr. P. said it did not perhaps become... to speak in this place, of men; but... the flag could not be sustained with... to hold it aloft when raised, he... be adjudged in a remark or two upon... subject. The flag under which we rally... is a noble, broad and expanded... and proud we are of it; it should... in a hand worthy of it, and able... placed forth upon the breeze. That... hand is the hand of HENRY CLAY. To him... to no other man, most our banner be... entrusted, if we would see it gloriously... floating and in proud and triumphant victo...

Mr. CLAY, he said, was a noble man... He himself came into the Senate with... strong prejudices against him. He had... warily opposed him long before he knew... In the Senate he found himself by... his side—he watched him with a suspicious... eye—but his prejudices had gradually... way before the power of truth; and... from being a suspicious opponent, he would... frankly confess he had become an admirer... of the man. It was not his eloquence... that was well known—it was not the great... services which he had rendered his country... and which must be familiar to all, that won... him; but it was his noble nature—his fear... less support of what his judgment told him... was right, regardless of consequences, that... called forth his admiration. No man ever... looked danger in the eye with a more de... termined, unflinching countenance, when... in the pursuit of truth, or the sustenance... of right, than HENRY CLAY. (Great cheer...)

Thus he spoke of his own knowl... edge. He had seen him standing, as it... were, upon the very edge of a political gulf... down which, apparently, a single step must... plunge him. I have seen him (said Mr. P.)... look into the gulf with a fixed, yet un... dulating eye, and, with all its consequen... ces before him, take the step which he... thought necessary. Such a man is... Henry Clay. (Cheers)

I have heard him utter, said Mr. PRESTON... in his closet, sentiments which, had they... uttered from the lips of one of the ancients... of Greece or Rome, would have been re... ceived with admiration to the present day... On one occasion; (continued Mr. P.) he... did do the honor to send for and con... sult with me. It was in reference to a step... he was about to take, and which will, per... haps, come to your minds without more di... rect allusions. After stating what he pro... posed, I suggested whether there would be... no danger in it, whether such a course would... not injure his own prospects, as well as... those of the Whig party in general. His... reply was, "I did not send for you to ask... what might be the effect of the proposed... movement on my prospects, but whether it... was right; I HAD RATHER BE RIGHT THAN... BE PRESIDENT."

Such sentiments as these indicate the... nobleness of the man, and the high purposes... of his soul; and they should call forth the... admiration and the confidence of the nation... They point to him as the most wor... thy to wield her destinies. I avow myself... a devotee for HENRY CLAY. I will not say... that the Whigs will be defeated unless... they rally as one man, in a solid phalanx... around him and his principles. I know... it is inevitable. But if they do thus... rally, their triumph is certain. May it be... my lot to congratulate you hereafter upon... their victory, rather than condole with you... in mourning with the country on your de... feat.

Mr. P. then mentioned the name... of Mr. FAYETTEVILLE, of New York, and Mr... of Virginia, were called for, but it... did not appear that they were in the room... I took no notes of any speeches, and... returned a position not favorable to hear... We must not, therefore, be considered... as attempting to give more than a sketch of... the development remarks of the two distinguish... speakers.

When Mr. PRESTON mentioned the name... of HENRY CLAY in connexion with the... banner, there was an outburst of feel... ing that told of the hold which that great... name had on the affections of the meeting... It was a "one more," before they allowed... the speaker to proceed. It was a gratifying... outburst, and will be productive of good... The motion of Mr. B. BADGER, the Assoc... iation adjourned to meet on Saturday eve... next, at seven o'clock, at the Temper... ance Hall, Northern Liberties.

The U. S. District Court, for the District... of Virginia, decided last year in three several... cases, from the purchase of Bills of Exchange... from the U. S. Bank of Pennsylvania in Mobile... that a corporation erected by one state is incapa... ble of contracting or suing in any other state;... that such a corporation can collect... taxes out of the State which granted it a char... ter; and that the question was elaborately... argued before that tribunal by several of... the ablest lawyers of the country. The true... nature of the constitution and of a solid benefi... cial action of the states will rejoice to... see the judgment of the District Court... confirmed by the unanimous concurrence of... the Supreme Court, with the exception of the... dissenting opinion of Mr. Chief Justice, which... is given below. The national In... tegrity, in reference to the cases, says:

The Chief Justice rendered in the three cases by... the District Court in Alabama are all reversed... and the Chief Justice, and we understand... containing those propositions:

That by the comity of Nations, Corpora... tions, as well as sue, in other na... tions, as well as in that which they exist or by... Government they are created.

That the comity exists, in still stronger... degree between States connected together as are... the States of this Union.

That the Constitution and Laws of Ala... bama do not such policy as is infringed by... the purchase and sale of bills of exchange with...

in her limits by the agents of foreign Corporations.

An admission that there are some rights of citizens of other States, secured by the constitution, of which a State cannot divest them.—This was not the ground of the decision, but was intended, as we suppose, to be in legal phrase, the exclusion of a conclusion.

Mr. Justice Baldwin gave a separate and very elaborate opinion in favor of reversal, but putting his judgment on the right of the parties, under the Constitution of the United States.

Mr. Justice McKinley adhered to the opinion expressed by him in the Court below.

Cheraw Gazette.

"A Whig 'Cobler and Tinker,' in the U. S. Senate.—It is stated in the Brookville (Ind.) American, that John Henderson, who has recently been elected to the United States Senate by the Whig Legislature of Mississippi, was formerly a resident of Brookfield, where he carried on the trade of shoemaking. He afterwards removed to Cincinnati, attended school for a short time and then engaged in the study of the law. From thence he removed to Mississippi because distinguished in his profession, married an heiress, acquired the confidence of his fellow citizens in his talents and integrity, and is now selected to one of the most important offices in the Government. Mr. Henderson's career is thus far highly honorable to him and admirably illustrates the republican character of our institutions.

WATCHMAN.

SALISBURY:

FRIDAY, MARCH 20, 1839.

Hon. A. H. SHEPHERD, Hon. A. RENOZER, Hon. LEWIS WILLIAMS, (all Whigs) are again candidates for Congress, as yet without opposition.

Hon. EDMUND DEBERRY, (Whig) is opposed by WM. A. MORRIS, (V. B.) of Anson.

Hon. H. W. COGNOR, (V. B.) is a candidate without opposition.

We learn that Messrs. GRAHAM, (Whig) and MONTGOMERY (V. B.) are also candidates for re election.

ROWAN IN THE LEAD.

We commend to our readers the following spirited Resolutions, adopted by the Grand Jury at the late session of the Superior Court in this County. We have rejoiced to have seen such sentiments from any Grand Jury that might have been emanated, but coming as they do from a source of so much intelligence and respectability, we can but hail the measure with additional satisfaction. Rowan has been shorn of her territory, but this action of her late Grand Jury, shows that her ancient chivalry is still undiminished.

WHEREAS, the usurpations, incapacity, mismanagement and corruption of the present Administration of the Federal Government are every day becoming more manifest, & it being our right, as well as our duty, fearlessly to express our opinions touching the conduct of our rulers, and the necessity of displacing them.

Be it Resolved by this Grand Jury, that we view with alarm the fearful increase of Executive patronage and Executive usurpations, and that the passage of the Bill, commonly called the Sub-Treasury, would tend still further to increase the power and patronage of that branch of the Government.

Resolved further, That the recent enormous loss of the public money by the subaltern officers of the Executive, that a further evil would attend the passage of the Sub-Treasury, namely, the insecurity of the public money.

Resolved further, That we condemn in most decided terms the practice lately found to exist amongst the officers of the Federal Government, namely, the levying a tax on each other to raise a fund by which to bribe votes to uphold the Administration.

Resolved, That the eminent services of HENRY CLAY, entitle him to our first consideration as a candidate for the next Presidency: That he has shown himself on all occasions, the true friend of his country, and his whole country—and we believe, the Southern States particularly, owe him a debt of gratitude which ought to be paid.

We have read with pleasure the Circular of the Hon. A. RENOZER to his constituents, and have determined to publish it in our next. It is the best, we think, that has emanated from him. He exposes with a fearless pen the corruption and Anti-republican course of the present Administration. We believe that the Whigs are unanimous in this region, in desiring that he should be again a candidate, and we trust that he will not disappoint their just expectations. It is a season when all must expect to make sacrifices, with a view to purge the Government of its faithless, tyrannical and incompetent rulers. The people of England would not endure a set of rulers, whose corruption has been made as palpable as "a city set upon a hill."

HON. MR. STANLY.—We think it must be a source of regret to all sedate well disposed minds, that the Editor of the Standard has admitted the coarse tirade of Dr. Duncan against Mr. Stanly, into his columns. That article was certainly without responsibility, until it was taken up and endorsed by our North Carolina Editor. If Dr. Duncan had received from Mr. S. any insult, that would at all excuse his disgraceful vituperation, acknowledging as he does the arbitrament of the duel, he ought to have appealed to it, and his not doing so was an acknowledgement, that he did not feel himself entitled to a gentlemanly redress: He admits that the object of his remarks was to provoke a resort to this established mode. This is an admission, too, that Mr. Stanly is a gentleman worthy thus to be called on. No one who has known the estimation which that gentleman is held among those who have known him at home and abroad, can for one moment dispute that position; why then did not Dr. Duncan himself appeal to arms? The inference is inevitably either that he was afraid, or was seeking some advantage, or that he knew his standing as a gentleman would not be recognized. No man can peruse the ribald stuff contained in this publication, without being strongly impressed with the notion, that the late inference is the more correct one. If Dr. Duncan ever had the advantages of genteel associations, he must have a strange proclivity to vulgarity. One would conclude that his habits of thought, and his style of language, had been acquired on board of the Ohio keel-bottoms, or in the New Orleans fish market. He has himself written out his true character, and Mr. Stanly stands fully discharged in the eyes of all honorable men for not noticing any thing that he could do or say.

But to our cotemporary of the 'Standard.' He is we believe, not a North Carolinian: but he has been among us long enough to know, how the name of STANLY is regarded among all parties in this State. The gallant sire of this "gallant boy" was a man of sound sense and usefulness: He was honorable, patriotic, chivalrous and indefatigable in the service of his native State North Carolina ought, or she does rejoice in his memory, and on all who bear his honored name. She has especial cause to cherish this lineal inheritor of noble qualities. State pride, common forbearance, and a decent regard for the observance of civilized life, ought to have prevented the North Carolina Press from joining with a Northern Abolitionist, in detracting from the fair fame of a North Carolina Representative. But to endorse such persiflage against a young man, so every way unexceptionable as Mr. Stanly, is an instance of party infatuation, greatly—to be deplored.

POLITICAL MEETING.

At a meeting of a portion of the Whigs of Northampton County, held at Jackson, on the evening of the 5th March, 1839. The same was organized by calling COLLIN W. BARNES, Esq. to the Chair, and appointing THOS. HUGHES, Secretary. After the object of the meeting was stated by the Chair, the following Preamble and Resolutions were introduced by SAM'L CALVERT, Esq., and unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, a meeting purporting to be a "Democratic State Rights" Meeting, was this day held in the Court House of Jackson, Northampton County, and said meeting passed Resolutions condemnatory of the course of two of the members representing Northampton County in the last General Assembly of the State, inasmuch as they condemn the Resolutions introduced by Mr. Rayner and passed by the Legislature; and whereas, Col. Faison, one of the members thus condemned, was present, and attempted to address the meeting, in vindication of his course in the Assembly and was prevented by being informed that he was out of order, as not belonging to the party holding said meeting, and whereas, every thing like free discussion was prohibited by said meeting.

Resolved, that in the opinion of this meeting the resolutions passed by the self-styled Democrats do not express the opinion of a majority of the people of this County.

Resolved, that this meeting approve the votes given by their Representatives Capt. William Moody of the Senate and Col. Herod Faison of the Commons in the last Legislature, upon Mr. Rayner's Resolutions.

Resolved, that for the purpose of ascertaining public opinion upon these subjects, public notice be given in different parts of the County, inviting a meeting of the citizens of Northampton County, on Monday of the next Superior Court, at the Court House in Jackson, to take into consideration and discuss freely said measures, and that all parties be invited to attend.

On motion,

Resolved, that the Chairman appoint a Committee of five whose duty shall be to give notice in different parts of the County, of the proposed meeting to be held in the Town of Jackson, at our next Superior Court, whereupon the Chair appointed the following Committee—

- HENRY W. IVLEY, RICH'D H. GARNER, JNO. LAMBERTSON, JAMES SHEROD, MATT CALVERT.

Resolved, that the proceedings of this meeting be published in the Raleigh Star and Register and that other papers favourable to the cause be requested to publish the same.

On motion,

Resolved, that the proceedings be authenticated by the signatures of the Chairman and Secretary.

COLLIN W. BARNES, Chm.

THOS. HUGHES, Secy.

In the course of Mr. Robertson's Speech on the Public Lands, in the House of Representatives, the following dialogue took place:

I proceed to address other arguments, Mr. Speaker, in support of the proposed measure, drawn from the practical legislation of the country and the opinions of men in high authority. The authority of great names will have more influence, I know, than any argument of mine. Gen. Jackson, in 1829—

Mr. Pickens. Do you quote Gen. Jackson as authority?

Mr. Robertson. Not for myself, Sir, but for the party of which he was the leader.

Mr. Pickens. You do not call him the leader?

Mr. Robertson. I do, sir; the acknowledged, the undoubted leader; and among his followers were some as abject and servile as those of the Eastern monarch, who were ready, when his Majesty said it was night at noon, to look up to the sun and swear they saw the moon and stars.

Correspondence of the National Intelligencer.

New York March, 18.

New York breathes free again. What of alarm there was of war is about over. The clamor of war only is left in Maine Governor Fairfield scolds, but is about to be obedient to "the powers that be," even after all the bluster. Thus he arrived at a right conclusion by a very wrong way.

From New Brunswick we learn that the Provincial Legislature have made a contingent appropriation for a road near Teniscoua lake. The Frederickton Sentinel trusts that the United States will called upon to foot the New Brunswick militia and road making bill. The object of the appropriation for the road is to open away to Quebec. The British mail now traverses this route.

The Bangor Whig. 1 o'clock P. M., March 14, in a postscript, announces an express passing through Bangor to Augusta, with a letter from, Sir John Harvey to Gen. Scott. Mr. English, the messenger of Sir John, on his return from Augusta to Frederickton, remarked that he thought Governor Fairfield's proposition would not be satisfactory to the Provincial Government.

The Nova Scotians, judging by their newspapers, are very much amazed that the New Brunswick Assembly is not as mad as the Nova Scotia Assembly. They have but little to log to sell in N. Brunswick and therein is the difference.

Willis's new paper, the Corsair has made its public debut with much eclat. It is characteristic of Willis, a melange of all tongues and fashions; clever, happy, amusing; to be read by every body, and to be abused by every body—perhaps. It cannot but succeed, if he carries among us, and infuses into it his spirit and genius.

Exchange on England to-day is at $4 83 1/2 to $4 86 1/2 an advance of 1/4 per cent. since Saturday. A large amount has been sold. Stocks have not advanced, but have rather fallen off to-day. The American Trust Company, whose stock at one time was as high as 113, has been sold as low as 90.

From Guatemala we have dates to January 23d. Carrera's insurrection was about over. A convention of the State of Guatemala was about to meet. The new Constitution for Nicaragua had been promulgated.

The flour market is very dull. The river port, it is very probable, is open all the way to Albany, for we expect a boat tonight.

The New Orleans Picayune of the 26th ult. says: "The steamer John Randolph, Captain Miller, arrived yesterday from Nashville, brought 911 bales cotton, 959 hhd's., 111 bales and 68 boxes tobacco, 198 empty casks, 24 bb's. and casks sundries, 594 turkeys, 35 dozen chickens, 38 hoes, 5 dogs, &c. &c.—the largest cargo we believe, ever brought by one boat."

MARRIED.

At Pine Park, the seat of Hugh Campbell, Esq., in the vicinity of Fayetteville, on Thursday evening 14th instant, by the Rev'd Mr. Colton, Mr. MURPHY V. JONES, of Alabama, to Miss HENRIETTA C., youngest daughter of Mr. Campbell.

At Washington City, on the 9th inst., by the Rev'd Henry Slicer, the Hon. HENRY W. CONNER, member of Congress from Lincoln District (N. C.) to Mrs. LUCY ANN COLEMAN, daughter of the late Gov. Hawkins, of North Carolina.

BIRD.

In this County, on the 17th instant, after a protracted illness of nearly three months, Mrs. ISABELLA B. HALL, wife of the Rev'd James D. Hall, in the 37th year of her age.

In Fayetteville, on the 19th instant, after an illness of a few days, Mr. DUNCAN SMITH, much regretted by numerous relatives & friends.

THE SUBSCRIBERS

RESPECTFULLY inform their friends and the Public generally, that they have bought out the entire interest of JAMES LITCHFORD, in the late business of LITCHFORD & OLIVER, and have taken the stand recently occupied by them, where they intend carrying on the business in all its branches. We shall keep on hand, at all times, a large and complete assortment of GOODS, in our line, and still secure the services of the best workmen the country affords. Gentlemen, therefore, patronizing this Establishment, cannot fail to get as good an article, and have it fashionably cut and made, as can be in any of the Northern Cities. No pains or expense shall be spared to secure our object, and we earnestly solicit a continuance of that patronage heretofore so liberally bestowed upon the late Firm.

Orders from the friends of the late concern promptly attended to as heretofore. Mr. Oliver is now absent, but will return in a few weeks, with an entire new stock of goods in our line of which notice will be given.

Thos. M. Oliver,
Henry Johnson.

Raleigh, March, 1839.

A CARD.

I HEREBY return my thanks to my friends and the public, for the patronage so long bestowed on me, and respectfully inform them that I have accepted a situation in the employ of Oliver & Johnson, at my old stand, where I shall be as happy to serve them, as I ever have been. Those indebted to the late Firm of Litchford & Oliver are requested to make immediate payment, as I alone am authorized to settle the business, and longer indulgence cannot be given as the situation of its affairs will not admit of it.

NEW ENGRAVINGS.

THE Franklin Print Company of Boston have recently published a full length copper plate engraving of Washington, size 18 by 24 inches, from the well known Painting by Stuart, in Faneuil Hall. Of the many portraits of Washington, this by Stuart, is considered the most correct, and those who have seen the original painting will readily recognize in this engraving, a most accurate copy. The execution of the print is in the highest degree creditable to the artists by whom it is published.

In the sentiment of the Whig, the parlor of every American should be ornamented with a portrait of Washington, and this print is cheap and accurate and beautiful enough to gratify the most fastidious taste.—No prudent man should neglect to perpetuate the memory of Washington; and we particularly approve of those which in their nature come within the reach of almost every citizen. The memento is not to be valued by the sum it costs. Rewards reserved for great men for great achievements, with a chaplet of leaves.

Great men have always deserved great recompenses.

Epaminondas saved his Thebes, and died, Not leaving even his funeral expenses.

George Washington had thanks and nought besides.

The same Company have also published the "Declaration" under Trumbull's painting at Washington. Under the picture, in which the likeness of the Signers are presented with much accuracy, follows the document, fac simile, and a key of reference—the whole surrounded by a handsome border, which contains the arms of all the States, heads of the Presidents, &c.
