

POETICAL

From the New York Evening Post. MAN.

The human mind-that lofty thing! The palace and the throne Where reason sits, a sceptered king. And breathes his judgment tone. Oh! who with silent steps shall trace The borders of that haunted place, Nor in his weekness own

That mystery and marvel bind That lofty thing-the human mind!

The human heart that restless thing ! The tempter and the tried; The joyous, yet the suffering-The source of pain and pride; the gorgeous thronged-the desolate; The seat of love, the lair of hate Self-stung self-denied! Yet go we bless thee, as thou art, Thou restless thing-the human heart!

The human soul-that startling thing! Mysterious and sublime! The angel sleeping on the wing. Worn by the scoffs of time-The beautiful, the veiled, the bound, The earth enslaved, the glory crowned, The stricken in its prime! From heaven in teers to earth stole, The startling thing-the human soul!

And this is man-Oh! ask of him, The gifted and forgiven-While o'er his vision, drear and dim, The wrecks of time are driven, If pride or passion in their power, Can chain the tide or charm the hour, Or stand in place of heaven! He bends the brow, he bows the knee-" Creator! Father! none but thee!"

A NAME IN THE SAND.

Alone I walked on the ocean strand A pearly shell was in my hand, I stooped and wrote upon the sand My name, the year, the day; As onward from the spot I passed. One lingering look behind I cast, A wave came rolling high and fast, And washed my lines away.

And so, methought, 'twill quickly be With every mark on earth from me A wave of dark oblivion's sea

Will sweep across the place Where I have trod the sandy shore Of time, and been to be no more: Of me, my day, the name I bore, To leave no track or trace.

And yet with Him who counts the sands And holds the waters in his hands, I know a lasting record stands Inscribed against my name Of all this mortal part has wrought, Of all this thinking soul has thought, And from these fleeting moments caught,

THE GOLD WATCH.

For glory or for shame!

A gold watch is generally regarded as a very valuable appendage to a lady's side. It combines embellishment with utility in happy proportions. It bespeaks rank and consequence. What lady yet ever forgot her watch? And how many ladies, who cannot procure a gold watch, (for a silver one they would not wear,) and its fingers useless, are not made of gold, but | the bud. of brass-such as candlesticks, fire irons, kettles, and the like, are made of. Gold is not sufficiently good for the works. I look further and ask what is the main spring, which puts all the works in motion, and which is concealed amidst what it moves, as many great persons are in mean actions, and I find that this main spring is made of tron ! Which, then, is the most valuable, gold or iron ? or brass or iron ? Iron excels them both. Iron then is the precious metal-the most precious metal! And yet it is regarded as a base metal! It does not sparkle in the eye-it does not make melody to the

This gold watch, with brass works and iron mainspring, is an emblem of the present state of society throughout the world. Its face represents the superficially splendid and tranquil aspect of society, underneath which so much sorrow and evil, energy and talent are at work. Its seals, embelishments, devices, of gold, assimilate aristocracy. Its fingers symbolize the master spirits of age, which point the public eye to the hour of the day. Its works of brass are in the middle classes, and its mainspring of iron in obscurity, and never thought of except when it wants winding up or when it is disordered or broke, represents the industrious and working classes, which move and nourish all, without which all the other classes could not go on, but would rust up in activity, and whose labor is wound up with weekly wages : the value of which labor is like the tron mainspring, concealed and forgotten, except when it gets into disorder, and endangers the working of the machine.

Real Knowledge of Christ .- A believer, though he be ignorant of other learning, yet by the knowledge of Christ will be a blessed man, whereas all the learning in the world, without this, will leave a man miserable. To know the whole creation, and to be ignorant of the Creator, to know all his histories and antiquities, and to be unacquaintded with our own hearts; to be good logicians to other purposes, and in the mean time to be cheated by Satan with paralogisms in the business of our own salvation, to be powerful orators with men, and never prevail with God; to abound with worldly wisdom, and to be destitute of the fear of God, which maketh wise onto salvation-is all but a better kind of refined misery : the devils have much more learning than all this comes to, and yet are damaed for ever .- Bp. Reynolds.

ROGUE OUTWITTED.

A gentleman in Massachusetts, whose name we shall call Hardin, once held a note against a knavish neighbor named Griffin, and which had become as the phrase is, outlawed. Hardin was unwilling to believe Griffin scoundrel enough to defraud him of the debt, and had neglected to compel him to pay it although he was abundant-Ly able. The law is, we believe, that if a man acknowledges himself to be indebted to a person before evidence, after the expiration of the peri od allowed for the collection of a debt, then the claim is valid ; otherwise it must depend entirely on the honor of the debtor. Griffin was aware that he had the staff in his own hand, and he determined to use it. He would speak of his obligation to Hardin with perfect freedom when no one was present; acknowledged that the debt was justly due, and declare his intention of paying it eventually ; but maintained the most obstinate silence when they were in company with a third person. Experience is the prophet of events. Hardin was finally convinced that Griffin meant to cheat him out of the money ; and with true Yankee sagacity, set about con-triving some plan to outwit his neighbor. He called on Griffin one morning with his sleigh, and invited him to take a ride. During their ride their old topic, the note, was introduced.

"Why really, friend Griffin," "it seems to me that you ought to pay that 500 dollars; it is no inconsiderable sem for a farmer to lose. be sure, I have no legal claim on you, but time has not removed the moral obligation."

" I will pay you as soon as I can make it convenient," said Griffin. "It is, as you say, a just debt, and you shall have the money." "I intend to, and no thatks to your honesty, peither." replied the other. | "Mr. Derby, you have heard sufficient for your purpose."

As he spoke, a hogshead which lay in the bottom of the sleigh suddenly collapsed, and the per son of a deacon of the parish presented itself to the eyes of the swindling debtor. Griffin paid the note without further evasion.

MORUS MULTICAULIS, Fruit Trees, &c.

The Subscriber informs the public, that he has for sale, at his Nurseries to Davidson County, 15,000 trees of the Morus Multicaulis, these are superior to cuttings without roots to propagate from. His prices shall be the market price of the article in the North and elsewhere. - He also has a large stock of Fruit Trees, consisting of Apples, Pears, Peaches, Plums, Cherries, &c. being selections of the best American and European fruits, all of which are grafted or inoculated, and in healthy, growing condition.

I will have trees delivered in good condition, at any reasonable distance from Lexington, say 75 or 100 miles, (if amount of orders will justify it.) for which I will charge the usual price of hauling. It will be well for those who wish to obtain trees, to get the Catalogue of the Nurseries, which contains prices, and will be sent gratis to all applicants, the postage being paid. Communications will be promptly attended to. Direct to Lexington, N. C.

CHARLES MOCK. Lexington, N. C. Sept. 6, 1839.

MORUS MULTICAULIS.

WILL continue to sell my Morus Multicaulis Trees, of which I have about Three Thousand, the roots at 20 cents, and the buds at one collar and fifty cents per hundred; (which is one dollar less than the price in this market last fall,) if applied for by the 10th of October next. I have now Trees from the bud nearly Eggs, without charge to persons purchasing my trees; and will agree to buy of them all the mer chantable cocoons made from such eggs at the Baltimore prices.

he is about twenty-five or thirty years of age, he is a bright mulatto, about five feet eight or ten inches high, he stoops a little when walking, steps quick, has a downcast look, he is a little blink-eyed, knockneed, and is a very plausible fellow. I bought said negro from Mr. Andrew Drew, of Salisbury, North Carolina, some time in November last, from which place, he brought Simeon. It is probable he will try to go back to Salisbury, as he says his mother lives there. When he left, he had on a green broad cloth frock coat, a checked shirt, satinet pantatuons and vest, a new straw hat, and a pair of yankee made boots. Whenever he stops, he probably will attempt to get employment in some public house as a waiter, or in some stable as ostler, as he has been accustomed to such work since he belonged to me. I will pay for his apprehension and delivery to me in Hamburg, S C., the above reward, or TWENTY FIVE DOLLARS if lodged in any Jail in this State (South Carolina,) or North Carolina.

Of all the reported Decisions of the Courts in North Carolina, commencing with the earliest Reporter and including the Decisions of the Supreme Court at their June Term, 1837;

JAS. IREDELL, Esq. Attor. & Couns'r at Law.

TURNER & HUGHES, the proprietors. respectfully ask the patronage of the public for this work, which is now in press, and will be published and ready for delivery about the first apprehensions of November, 1839.

In the original proposals, issued more than a year ago, it was stated that the work would probably not exceed seven hundred pages. It is now ascertained it will contain near a thousand pages, and must therefore necessarily be divided into two royal octavo volumes of about 500 pages each-printed on good type and fine paper, and well bound. Price NINE DOLLARS a copy. It is recommended not only to professional men, all of whom will doubtless possess them-Sheriffs, and other judicial officers, as affording them an exposition, in a few words, of the points | present as she similar reason, it is recommended to private gentlemen, who may have the inclination or feel an interest to know the determinations of the Supreme Court, which constitute, so far as they decide, the law of the land, as imperative as any act of Assembly, and as binding in their operation upon every member of the community. Gentlemen will confer a great, a particular favor upon the author and publishers, by aiding in procuring subscribers, and returning the list by mail to Turner & Hughes, by the 1st of November or December next. Raleigh, August 28th, 1839.
