SALISBURY.

STURDAY, JANUARY 14, 1843. Republican Whig Ticket!

For President of the United States. HENRY CLAY OF KENTUCKY.

STATE BANK OF N. CAROLINA.

The following proceedings of the Stockholdst the Bank of the State, offering a surrender their Charter, if it should be the pleasure of he Legislature, to instruct the Representative of the State in a meeting of the Stockholders to take measures to wind up the business of the Bank at as early a day as may be consistent with the safety of the debts and a reasonable indulgence to the debtors of the Bank, they would poetly therein, we had published in the Roleigh Register of the 3d Instant, which we recommend be serious consideration of our readers. Let them remember the distress such a measure will bring spon the People, and let them also remember who are the authors, and reward them accardingly, when the proper time arrives.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT TO THE PEOPLE.

The annual general meeting of the Stockhold and the Bank of the State, took place yesterday, and continued to a late hour. There was a larger representation of stock, in attendance. than we recollect to have seen on any former occases. The meeting was organized by calling

Gen SAMUET, F. PATTERSON, to the Chair, and the appointment of W. R. GALES, as Secretary. The following Resolutions, submitted by Judge CAMERON, were unanimously adopted by the Stockholders :

Resolved unanimously. by the individual Stockholders, in the Bank of the State of North Carolina, that if it be the pleasure of the General Assembly of the State of North Carolina, to instruct the Representative of the State, in the General meeting of the Stockholders of said Bank, to propose the adoption .f. such measures. as may be necessary for closing the business of the Proprietors thereof, at as early a day as is equision with the security of the debts, and resonable indulgence to the deuters of the Bank, they will concur therein:

Resolved. That a copy of the foregoing Reso gion be transmitted by the Chairman of this meeting to his Excellency, the Governor of the body, that this meeting will be continued open from day to day, by adjournment.

We wish the whole People of North Carolia could have heard the remarks, made on this masion, by Judge CAMERON, the President of the Bank. They would have carried conviction ted by the Resolutions, is the only one which, by the Committee. the interested in the Institution, can pursue,saffairs. And while this effect would have one Anti-Bank mun in the community, could ter. have taken the slightest offence at any remark which fell from him. Most ably and eloquently was he sestained too, by Messis Badger, and J. Bran, and by other gentlemen at less length. We are glad that we shall have it in our power. blay before the public sketches of these speech-, and thus enable the Stockholders to speak themselves, as to their motives of action.

Gen Gaines - We learn from the Memphis ennessee) Enquirer that Maj. Gen. Edmund Gaines, having been nominated in Pennsylnotice for the Presidency, several of his old per sonal friends and neighbors at Memphis took orasion to address him a letter, the object of which has to obtain his views opon the various quesons of national policy which agitate the Union, and also some expression as to whether the demonstration in his favor met his approbation .aspirants to the Chief Magistracy.

THE INAUGURATION.

The Inauguration of Gov. Merehead, took place on Saturday last. The day was remarkably fine, and we have rarely seen the Capitol so densely thronged with spectators of both sexes" At 12 delock, precisely, the Senators repaired to the House of Commons, preceded by their Speaker, who took his seat on the right of the Speaker of the House. In a few moments, the Governor entered, attended by the Judges of the Supreme Court, and the Joint Committee appointed to wait on him. The Oaths of Office were administered by Chief Justice Ruffin, subscribed to by the Governor, and attested by the Chief-Justice. The ceremony was impusing, dignified and solemn.

Gov. Morehead made a very few remarks, but they were to the purpose. He declined entering into any exposition of his opinions on political subjects, on the ground that his views had so recently been made known in his message. He took care, however, to remind the Legislature, His response is published; in which the General how deep on interest was felt by his and their requirecally withdraws his name from the list constituents, the People of North Carolina, in the results of their legislative action. Their responsibility, he said, was great, and he invoked them most earnestly, to discard all minor influences, and with an elevated patriotism, to adopt such beneficial measures as would meet public expectation, assuring them of his cordial co-ope-

Of these ingitives, about one hundred and fifty were men, one hondred and fifty women, and fifty children. Most of them came from Virginia, Maryland, and the District of Culumbia, and nearly or quite a hondred from Washington and Georgetown. These negroes have gone principally to Canada, and the sum of five hundred dollars has been expended for their board, nassage, and other expenses.

> HOW STANDS THE CASE? We published a statement, a week or so since, showing that North-Carolina has de rived from her investment in the Bank of the State alone, since July 1835 the sum of $252 000 (amitting fractions) besides being entitled to about $65 000, her share, of the reserved fund on hand-in all $817.

SALISBURY Jan. 10th, 1843.

Ale Pendleton - Dear Sir: It is well enough that friberemined before hand, that whatever rethat it not only called forth your censure, but also that of a certain "Jusiah," who has arisen in his power, and by the "ponderosity" of words seems bent upon grashing me. By your permission I will briefly notice him.
"Josiah" imagines that I unrightenasty designed an attack upon the " Fairest of Creation" for not inking a greater interest in the matter of Temperance! Strange, indeed! Under this impression. however, he capers out before my statiled vision to do battle in the cause; and. intexicated with the hope of an easy victory gives vent to his feelings in tants and jeers ! His pride, on finding himself the defender of the La dies, exceeds its natural bounds about a feet, and he boasts and struts about, beslawing afternately sulogies upon them and ancers upon me He closes the scepe of his atties by a flight from this native land to some desolate Island, girt about by the arms of old ocean! Where at each returning morn he is looking out for some white winged barque to bear him back a-

Now, Mr. ' Josiah,' I want you to come near enough home to hear a few words I have to say to you; I am up old resident of the Town of Salisbury, as you very justly supposed, but contrary to your expectations, I have been a mi note observer of the amount of interest the Ladies have taken in the matter of Temperance (And not only in the matter of Temperance but in all other matters;) and I am willing to admit that they have done barsly enough to se knowledge the claims which the friends of the subject say it has upon them for their aid Bwond this I am willing to make no admissions : & more than this you have not not cannot establish, You and Mr. Penilleton have said, if Bustin gen" " had perped in on the meeting held in the Methodist Church, the evening of the 26th ulti me, he would have seen at once why the sentiments of his letter of December 19, were disap proved of! It is hoe, you had a very band some turn out of Ladies on that pression : I on only opened in but was present all the while And I also ' peoped in' upon a subsequent meet ing held in the Presbuterian Church! Were you there 'Josiah?' Were you there Mr. Pendieton? As well as I recollect, there was no Lawrer there, an Merchani there, no Cashier and no Ladies! [Et quid erat deterius bidder. The erier he pictored as in agony solidomi sunt non ad domo]

Mr. Editor, I desire no controversy either with yourself or with your correspondent 'Josiah, on the subject of Temperance and the La dies : I sincerely hope that I may bereafter be permitted to enjoy my wonted silence. If you do not choose to consider and try my suggestions as contained in my former letter, you will certainly not offend me, as I have no right, whate ver, to dictate, although I am one of your subscribers. I hope, however, you will not permit We have never seen the Whig members | me again to be called forth by your correspondent. Josiah' If I am I shall present some statistical facts which will probably surprise more persons than yourself and him. To speak plainly, the Ladies would do well to fee ' Josiah'

not to prove me further. lu fact, if I were one of them I would attempt to choke him off, for he is but poor help to them after all. In his efforts to 'sweep away' the charges which he says I 'indirectly' made against them, he actually confirms those charges by making some lame apologies for their neglect the Temperance cause, and by telling them

In conclusion, I would inform 'Josiah' that am not an antiquated bachelor, filling some dark unknown corner in creation; not have my bouts with the Ladies created in my bosom a hatred to the sex I walk forth day after day to the public streets, and elsewhere, breathing the free air of Heaven; and very often delightfully employing an hour in the refining society of prin-cipled females. P. S. I have a problem to submit before take my final leave, which he may solve or not just as he pleases

LOCOFOCOISM UNMASKED.

A movement took place in the House of Commons, on Saturday last which more fully disclosed the cloven foot of Locofoco. ism, than any thing which has recently come under our potice. A Resolution had, a day or two previous, passed the Senate, which the reader will find in the proceedings of grage of the Poet that body, for the appointment of a Joint Select Committee, with full power and authornty to make a rigid tov estigation of the Banks, to exemine the Books, and count the Specie on hand, &c. &c. &c. This resolution was concurred in by the House, no objection being made to it from any quarter. On Saturday, however, lot and behold, a motion is made by a prominent Democtat to re-consider the concurrence of the House, on the ground that the subject was not fully understood when acted on, and indeed, the projector of the investigation in the other branch was not, himself, aware of the extent of the duties which his own resolution imposed! On this motion to re consider, the most interesting debate of the ground of argument, pro and con, on the subject of the Binks, and touching, incidentally, the leading political questions of the day. Our Reporter has attempted a sketch of the discussion, but no synopsis can do justice to the spirited and effective speeches delivered on the occasion. The Whies poured in a galling fire into the Loco Foco ranks, and demonstrated so forerbly heir natenable position, and the recklessness of their course, that we did not believe the Party screws could be so effectually applied as to rally a majority in favor of re-consideration. But the event proved that nothing is too strong for the stomach of Locofocoism. This very party, who have for years been depounding the Banks before the people, as swindling shope, as devouring the substance of the people, as rotten to the core, and who by this very re-And it appears. from the Reply of the solution, as Mr. Francis told them, declared Directors of the Bank of Cape Fear, to that the recent statements submitted by the certain interpretories propounced by one Banks as to their condition and means, are branch of the Legislature, that that Institu- wholly false and deceptive-this very party. tion has likewise paid to the State, during | we say, who have pretended all slong that the same period, on her investriment in that all they wanted was an opportunity of ferreting out the shuses of these Corpors-It is for the People to say, whether the tions-this very party, the moment they State's connection with the Banks, which found that they had committed themselves has gived them from increased taxation, has to an investigation, which would as surely been so unprofitable, as to render a discula- have ended to stamping with falcebood, their tion of the copartnership desirable. - Ral- | sllegations against the Banks, and was made - this very party, me say, as soon as they

Of course, having the majority, it was reconsidered, and the Resolution now lies on the Table! How any man, after giving this ente to re-consider, can ever stead up before the People again, and talk of the rotten condition's of the Banks, passes our comprehension. CONGRESS.

The political debate unnecessarily hang upon hill to regeat the Bankrupt Law, continues he House of Representatives to the exclusion of almost every thing else; and has assumed an entirely partisan aspect. The speech of Mr. Cushing has excited much animadversion. All things considered, it was one of the most extraordinary ever delivered in Congress. It was the first time the infamous maxims of WALPOLE have been advocated and sestained in an American legislature. Mr. Cushing, coolly andide liberately, offered, as it a public auction, the patrunage and influence of the Administration to any party that would support it. No matter what might be the views and policy of this par chased ally of the Government, no matter what might bet he character of the men, whom such mercenary motives could bring to the sepport of Mr. Tyler, all would be lost sight of in the importance of the nomerical strength acquired. Mr. Thom son, of Indiana, very happily exposed this bold proposition of wholesale corruption - his shameless degradation of the dignity of the General Government. He convolsed the House with a ludicrous description of a political auction, of which Mr Cushing was represented as a Crier, offering the Government patronage to the highest quant omnia cum singula exceptione populi ex citing bids, and getting none, such was the mean them with John H Hardie, Esq., (who has been opinion held by the bidders of the quality of the goods he offered - Raisigh Register

We have witnessed the truth of this, during the two years that Mrs McLailen gradually declined in her health, till death had the victory, and grace the triumph.

She gave herself to the Church and to the service of its covenant head, by a profession of religion, when she was about 18 years of age .-Her walk as a christian was throughout consistent; characterized by cheerfulness, animation, and a high degree of intelligence. Once in the course of her pilgrimage she found herself in the situation, so feelingly described in the Book of Job. 22d chap. and 5-10 verses. Bohald I go forward; but he is not there; and backward, but I cannot perceive him : on the left hand where he doth work, but I cannot behold him. He hideth himself on the right hand, that I cannot see him.' But out of these deep waters the Lo d delivered her ; and set her in a large place; and renewed her song of praises. But once aller this, and that was a few weeks before her denarture, she was embarrassed with doubts and tears; and described her situation in the lan-

And fear to launch away. But the Lord helped her, and she came out with a song. She was asked, 'Why didst thou doubt?' Because I was looking down and saw the winds tempestuous, and the seas and waves rolling.' That is, I saw myself as nothing but a 'budy of sin and death'; I therefore doubted whether the Lord Jesus would save one so un. worthy. But Jesus came to save lost sinners. Yes, I see and believe in him : and am now surprised how I could, and askamed of myself that I did donbt. Her disease being protracted, she began to fear that she would become impatient; and prayed much, and after that pa tience might have its perfect work Her prayers were answered, to her great jny; and she spake Session took place, covering the whole of it afterwards as follows: O yes! It is sweet kn w not how or to what extent he can manifest hi self to his afflicted children. Had I departed a few nights since, when I thought myself cross ng the cold stream of Jordan : I would have gone without seeing and knowing some of the sweetest manifestations of divine grace .-O yes! a few minutes of such wakening bliss, is worth waiting for through months of pain .-Although I have often read it, yet I did not know what it was that eye had not seen, nor ear heard, nor had it entered icto the heart of man what things the Lord hath prepared for them that love him." . But now I think I know something about it.' Thus receiving and rejuting in the fullness of the grace of Jesus, she gradually declined and now sleeps in Jesus.

" Through glass of faith I plainly see That she is happier far than me, Her golden harp she tunes so sweet While seleme ar her Saviour's feet, That I should like to go and bear.
