The news from the Ohio Election of last week, says the National Intelligencer of the 21st, is good. Locofocoism is defeated, and the ascendency in the State Legislature preserved to the Whigs, to whom the returns are favorable beyond expectation. The Senate is safe for the Whigs, and several members have been gained by them in the House of Representafires. The popular vote, so far, is greatly in their favor. Hear what the Ohio State Jour-majority; Montgomery gives an increase of more than one hundred over the Presidential election; Muskingum rolls up 800; Shelby gives a gain of 150 since the Presidential election, Belmont gives a gain of more than one hundred; Greene gives between 1,100 and 1,200 to Whig Senator, being a large Whig gain. On the other hand, in Fairfield the Locofoco majority is cut down from 1,100 to 1200; Butler is cut down from 1,400 to 400; Knox is cut down from 600 to 200; and, to crown the whole, Licking changes a Locofoco majority of 340 to a Whig majority of between two and four hundred ! Whatever may the the result in the rest of the State, these facts speak for themselves, and say to the whole country Onio is a WHIG STATE! She takes her stand alongside of Kentucky, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, and those other States that are unalterably WHIG!"

Writing on Saturday morning, the Editor of the Journal says : " From present appearances the Whig majority will be at least six in the Senate and from ten to sixteen in the House."

W. H. Van Schoonhoven, was recently nominated as a candidate for the Senate of the New York Legislature by the Whigs of the 3d district, and soon after he was nominated for the same office by the Anti-rent Convention. Mr. Schoonhoven being present, avowed himself an Anti-renter. This at once brought the Whig press down upon him for countenancing such a disorganizing faction as the Anti-renters. The New York Express, one among the ablest Whig papers in the State, thus concludes an article on the sub-

"Is this the man to be supported by the law and order Whigs of the 3d District-Is this the one that is to go into the Senate Chamber, the Court of Errors ? God forbid! Never will our support be given to such an one; never will the votes of the noble phalanx of law-loving Whigs of old Delaware be given to the man that will thus cringe and succumb to as base a combination as that of the anti-renters, to win

The New York Gazette, speaking in relation to the same matter says:

"With the Rochester American, another Whig paper, we have no hesitation in saying that we regard any connivance with the dishonest, revolutionary and bloody spirit of antirentism, as an infamous outrage against the peace of society, and a treasonable dereliction in any citizen who can stoop to be guilty of it." This is the true Whig principle-and it gives us pleasure to be able to record such sentiments of our brother Whigs of New

GEN. THOMAS G. POLK.

This worthy scion of a noble stock, havenquired through the "Southern Reformet," who is Thomas G. Polk? a writer in the Jackson paper answers as follows:

He then removed to Rowan, and was immediately elected to the Legislature from that Governor, and would doubtless have been ominated and elected, but for the fact that he had determined to remove from the State. PENNSYLVANIA ELECTION.

The latest accounts from Philadelphia confirm what we published yesterday, that the Whigs have carried their entire city tickets-Mayor, Senate, Assembly, Select and Common Councils-and by very handsome majorities; the Council and Legislative tickets by majorities varying from 1,000 to 1,200.

The Locofocos have carried the county; which is said to be a blow that the leaders of the Natives little expected.

The Lancaster Examiner informs us that, notwithstanding the running of a ing parties: "Delaware county rolls up 400 or 500 ma. Native ticket, the Whigs have triumphed jority; Marion, unexpectedly, gives a Whig in that county by majorities ranging from 400 to 800.

In Chester the entire Whig ticket is elected excepting the Prothonatory, and the majority is strong enough to secure the Whig Senator.

In Montgomery, Schuylkill, Cumberland, and York counties the Locofocos have tress Monroe, with companies D and E of the been successful as usual.

Or Our readers know that a New York correspondent of the National Intelligencer explained, a few days since, how the statement that Mr. Walker dictated, or had some share in the celebrated Kane letter, probably came to be made-viz: That a letter or letters were written by F. O. J. Smith and Tallmadge, touching the course that would be pursued towards them should their support be given to the Democratic candidate for the Presidency, and that Mr. Walker was privy to and advised the writing of the Kane letter. Whether this charge of "bargain" with the Conservatives is true or not, remains to be proved. There is, however, one very strong circumstance in support of its correctness-viz! That the Union, which regards it a duty to contradict every thing said of Mr. Polk and the Cabinet which is not true, has not yet contradicted this charge! If it be true, the Conservatives have been treated rather treacherously, and will be apt to blow Mr. Polk unless, indeed, they are appeased. Mr. Tallmadge is in Washington. His presence there may indicate the prosecution of Conservative claims under "the bond;" and if it be so, we shall soon know how he prospers.

TEA OF PARAGUAY .- A letter from the United States Minister in Peru, to J. C. Pickett, Esq., descriptive of the Tea of Paraguay, appears in the National Intelligencer. The tree or shrub grows wild in the woods: the leaves and small twigs are dried by fire on a kind of kiln, then pulverised, packed firmly and rammed with a wooden maul into a raw hide bag containing two hundred or two hundred and fifty pounds, and sent to market. The beverage is made by infusion, as we make tea, and then sucked gently from the pot or covered cup by a reed or straw. It is said to be an excellent cure for dropsy.

Ole Bull has prepared a farewell tribute to America-a composition intended to express the deep feeling and ardent love of liberty which characterized our Revolution, The N. York Mirror, speaking of it, says: "It begins with a complaining voice, the first murmurs of discontent among the people; to which respond tones of encouragement, as if from their future leader, Washington. This is followed by the rush to battle, where through the clang of other instruments, the violin is heard to the tunes of Yankee Doodle' and God save the King. The fierce conflict gradually subsides into a wail for the fallen. MILLERISM.—IMPOSTURE.

The celebrated Joshua V. Himes, the founder of the Miller Tabernacle, in Boston, and the leader of the deluded mortals who believed The Wetumpka Whig says, that in the destruction of the world in 1843, has been sojourning in Maine of late. He came down from Boston, thereabouts, for the purpose of attending a Miller camp-meeting held in the town of China a week or two since, and spent the last Sabbath in this place. He held forth during the day and evening at the vestry of the Universalist Chapel. Himes has evidently got hold of another string, and is pulling who made a profession of Religion. now for the grand catastrophe at some future time. We understand that he contends that in Davie county last month, about two carries the time forward to 1847, which is the ndred professed religion. FROM TEXAS.

The arrivals of the steamer Cincinnati at New Orleans on the 7th inst. brings dates from the 28th ult. The C. came by Galveston, bringing dates to the 4th inst. from that place. The Cincinnati carried two companies of 3d Artillery to Corpus Christi.

The " Army of Observation," as it is styled in the official orders, is quiescent, with nothing to employ its skill in taking "observations' but the Heavens and surrounding scenery. Gen. Taylor has spies constantly ranging the country to Rio Grande. A letter thus communicates the latest report of one of the scout-

"Captain Kerr (dragoons) was out a few days since on a small scout, about 50 miles from here, and he speaks in raptures of the country. He says it is beautiful beyond description .-Then it is 'ornamented' in every direction by clusters of deer; turkies and wild horses."

The barque Phœnix, of this city, arrived at Aransas on the 26th ult., in 24 days from For-4th regiment, under command of Brevet Major

The barque Pacific arrived on the 20th ult., with flying artillery and horses on board. Thirteen horses died on the passage, from being put in the hold, as is alledged.

The ship Herman had also arrived with troops from Old Point Comfort. The volunteers from N. O. were suffering from fellow fever and diarrhœa, there was some talk of removing the army up the Nueces. There were a number of vessels at Aransas from New York, Baltimore, New Orleans and other ports.

Trade at Corpus Christi was brisk, and Mexican traders arrived daily in camp, which was regarded an indication that there was no considerable body of Mexican troops within a reasonable distance. There was no indication whatever of a hostile movement on the Rio Grande.

Hays, who is described as a fine, manlylooking young fellow, modest in manner, but brave as a lion, had been in camp at Corpus Christi with Castro, the chief of the Lipans, who are very friendly with Hays, and who offer to march with him at any time he wishes against the Mexicans. Some concealed person shot Castro while in camp; but fortunately the shot was not effectual.

Captain West, wounded by the explosion of the Dayton, had died.

It was Hays' opinion that the American army would get a fight if it went to Rio Grande; but we think the Captain would not prove a prophet were the army to go there.

The news from Galveston is of very little importance. Ashbel Smith had arrived. It was believed that there would be no opposition to General Henderson as Governor of Texas. Richmond Times.

Eleven days Later from Mexico.

An arrival at New Orleans from Vera Cruz brings eleven days later intelligence. From the city we learn that General Herrera was formally proclaimed President on the morning of the 16th of September, in presence of both Houses of Congress. In his inaugural speech he declares that the security of its foreign relations will be one of the most constant employments of the government. It will aim to preserve and to form friendly relations with foreign powers, avoiding all occasions for controversy, "but guarding always the sovereignty and independence of the Republic, its honor and dignity, and the observance and respectability of the national laws."

The papers of Mexico are still at their old vocation of talking about war, the embarrasments of the government, and the causes of revolution. The plan, according to their statement, is to attempt the reconquest of Texas, without declaration of war. A great many of the vaguest statements are given as the Mexican forces. But no intelligence exciting the slightest apprehension of a serious demonstration is communicated.

Mr. Buchanan.—The Washington letter writers say that Mr. Buchanan will accept the Judgeship, and consent to be shelved—a mode of disposing of him very THE AMERICAN REVIEW, for October much to the taste of the Administration, obstacle in the Cabinet-at least with reference to one important subject. It is expedient that he should be gotten rid of, and if he does not accept the Judgeship, we anticipate he will have to go, some how or other. If he takes the Judgeship, the difficulty of uniting the party at the next Presidential canvass may be lessened, as he is one of the aspirants to the Presidency; and then again perhaps the difficulty may be thus increased, for, from Mr. B.'s character and public deportment, it is probable the other aspirants would more cheerfully compromise their claims ocratic leader. Of one thing we feel pretty certain-that should Mr. Buchanan be made Judge, the Administration will lose the influence in political affairs of decidedly their strongest man in Pennsylvania. Richmond Times.

THE INEBRIATE'S SONG.

I love the shining arch on high, With star's bespangled o'er; When the silver moon beams lovingly-

But I love my bottle more. Hurrah for the bottle, the long necked bottle. When the wine gleams wild and free, Tho' poison dire be mixed with the fire,

The bottle's the thing for me. I love to see the sunlight fall, On the glistening dew-drops new Yet better by far, than these-than all,

I love the " mountain dew." Then, hurrah for the bottle, &c.

I love to see from its rocky bed, The crystal streams go dry; For near their pure water's I dare not tread, When my bottle is standing by Hurrah for the bottle, &c.

I love a fond and fair young girl, With a pure and spotless breast, And a "cupid sporting in every curl," But-I love my bottle best. Hurrah for the bottle, &c.

My fair young love to the grave has gone, My money has fled away; My friends have left me, one by one-But my bottle's still left to me.

Then, hurral for the bottle, the old black When the wine gleams wild and free, The poison dire be mixed with the fire, Still, the bottle's the thing for me.

Charles R. Kinney, of Elizabeth City, died at Hertford, on the 8th inst. He was a distinguished lawyer, and in his death the State has lost an excellent citizen, and the Whig party one of its ablest champions.

Mr. Lyell, the geologist, whose published account of his former tour in this country as a favorable specimen of good sense and fairness, is coming back in the next steamer, for the purpose of a geological visit to Alabama and the southern States.
