

tion of the brain. His death is a great loss to the nation, to whose interest he has been so long and so faithfully devoted for the last forty years, and in whose service he has spent his best energies.

Oh Mary, what a charming morning! The prettiest bluish of the Queen's eyes—said John, to a beautiful young girl to whom he was, as he believed, hopelessly making love; though there was a certain gravity in the air, on the part of his dear, that was not very agreeable. The young lady cast an eye abroad from the casement, on the landscape, and with a gentle sigh replied, "it is delightful." "It is delightful—all nature smiles at you," said John, and he drew his chair up to her. "It is delightful—all nature smiles at you," said John, and he drew his chair up to her. "It is delightful—all nature smiles at you," said John, and he drew his chair up to her.

Here John paused a little—his breath grew short and his voice began to tremble, for although he had not yet said anything very serious, he knew he was standing near to the dangerous part of the speech he had laid out for delivery on this occasion. Mary sat near the window, and her eyes still seemed to linger on the beautiful scenery, when our hero, whose courage had come again, resumed. "Mary," said he, and as she looked at him, he took her by the hand with both hands. "Mary, I love you as never man loved before." Here followed another long—and painful—and John had recovered, when Mary, whose eyes were now rivetted on the floor, sprang from her seat, crying—"look out John, there's a jumping right towards you!"

MR. LEAKE. This gentleman announces to his Loco friends in this State, through the last Standard, that if it is expected of the members of their Convention, to meet in this city next month, that he is to canvass this State, that he cannot be their man. He gives several reasons for coming to this determination, but we give the strongest is not mentioned—namely, that it is a thing of the candidate too great a sacrifice of time, labor and money, with no chance of success!—Ral. Reg.

ANOTHER COMMISSIONER APPOINTED. We learn that on Saturday last, in consequence of the continuing indisposition of Mr. Sevier, the Commissioner to Mexico, the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, appointed the Hon. Nathan Clifford, then Attorney General of the United States, an additional Commissioner, possessing equal powers with Mr. Sevier, who will follow Mr. Clifford as soon as his health will allow. The Commissioners are now possessed of equal and several powers, so that one or the other may act. Mr. Clifford and R. M. Walsh, Esq., Secretary of Legation, passed through Washington last Sunday night, on their way to Mexico. At our last advices, Mr. Sevier was rapidly convalescing, and has probably followed Mr. Clifford before this time.—Id.

FROM MEXICO. We are advised through the Telegraph of several late arrivals at New Orleans from Vera Cruz, bringing dates from thence to the 3d instant. The most acceptable item of intelligence is the conclusion of an armistice by authority of Gen. BURLEIGH, between the United States and the Mexican Government, which is to continue in force for two months. This news was received at Vera Cruz by express on the 1st instant. The armistice has, of course, entered upon in pursuance of one of the provisions of the Treaty which has just received sanction of this Government and been returned to Mexico for ratification by her. A much less agreeable piece of information is the report of further skirmishes having taken place, about the 18th or 20th of February, between our troops, under the command of Col. Briscoe, and some four hundred Mexican guerrillas. The conflict is stated to have occurred at Mitigorda. The guerrillas were dispersed, with what loss is not stated; but Gen. Henderson and four Georgia Volunteers were killed in the action. Gen. Twiggs, being apprized by express of the interruption to the advance of Col. Briscoe's command, sent him several companies, which, not finding them, returned to Vera Cruz. They were, however, again dispatched on the 21st, with orders to open the road by clearing it of the guerrillas. Our despatch says nothing whatever of the movements of Gen. Scott.

tion of Mr. Stevens, of Ga., simply declaring, that as the difficulty had been reconciled, and as the parties had apologized to the House, further notice of it was unnecessary.

GENERAL SCOTT. The parting of this veteran Chief with the Army, after the arrival in Mexico of the order suspending him from command, is represented as the most affecting scene ever witnessed since the days of the Revolution.

To the Christian Stillier—No. 5. My Dear Friend:—Have you yet come to the opinion that stilling does not promote the glory of God? I am now about to assume the position that you are doing actual harm. In my first article it was stated that the Christian should do no harm. Whether you agree with me or not in this last position, I trust you are ready with candor to investigate its correctness. You will admit, I presume, without an argument that distilled spirits do a vast amount of harm. How many men have you known to die in the prime of life from its effects? How many to abuse their families? Family broils are so generally caused by strong drink that when you hear of a man abusing his wife, the instinctive enquiry is, "was he drunk?" How many do you now know in suffering poverty brought on by strong drink? How many have you known expelled from the church on account of it? It has been stated as a fact by those who have investigated the matter, that three-fourths of the crime and pauperism of our country is occasioned by strong drink? What an evil is this then that fathers three-fourths of the crimes of our land! What a very price among the demons! Oh sir, could you take in at one view all the evils temporal and eternal, occasioned by the liquor that you and others have made, I am sure your soul would sicken at the sight. Suppose you could do this. Suppose you stood upon some eminence, and beheld, spread around you the effects of the liquor made and sold in our country. There stand and reel and lie the 500,000 drunkards of the United States with their unfortunate wives and children; and there are the 500,000 widows and children of drunkards in their graves. Fifty thousand of these drunkards are lying in the agonies of death, while 50,000 more new recruits, march to occupy their place.—Fifty thousand, like angry demons, are torturing their families, and 100,000 are engaged in fighting and murdering each other. The others with mirth and jests and blasphemous oaths drink down the "liquid death and distilled damnation," and hurry on themselves to the first and the second death. They tear the bread from their starving children's mouth, they sell the homes of their helpless families to procure disgrace and death to themselves. The "worm that dieth not" has already begun its eternal gnawings, and they sacrifice property, character, and every thing to sharpen its fangs and increase its voracity. Look, Christian stiller, my friend, look upon that scene. What squalid poverty! What oaths! What bloody broils! What murders! What maniacs! What multitudes of broken hearted wives and helpless children! How deep, how loud, how long the wail of these! The weeping daughters of Rachel refusing to be comforted because their children were not known but slight sorrow to these. These have lost their all. You acknowledge the evil is great. Who is profited by it?—You, my dear Christian stiller, you contend that you are! You contend that stilling is profitable, and if you and others had never stilled this amount of evil had never been: And from that ocean of suffering—by supplying the streams that keep it full—you are gathering profits! Upon the dying groans of these drunkards and the tears and sighs of their wives and children, you are raising your family to opulence! You admit the evil is great. The fault of causing it lies somewhere. Upon whom does it lie? Christian stiller upon whom? Consider about it.

Your most sincere friend, SIMON COLDWATER. Davie co., March 1848.

For young children every thing should be short and simple. Short sessions—short lessons short recitations—everything short—save recesses. It is a great disgrace to religion to imagine that it is an enemy to mirth and cheerfulness, and a severe exactor of pensive looks and solemn faces.—Dr. Scott.

Died. In this Town, on the 9th instant, Mrs. MARY N. HARRISON, after an illness of ten days, of Pneumonia, in the 54th year of her age. The decease bore her illness with great fortitude, and met death in the full possession of her mental faculties, and with a hope of peace in Heaven. In Stanley county, on the 18th of March, Mr. JOHN FORREST, senior, aged about 75 years. In Wadesboro, on the 21st instant, Mr. J. ARNOLD, aged about 30 years. In Davie county, N. C., on the 22d of February last, in the 24th year of her age, at the residence of her mother, Miss ELIZA A. GAITHER. The subject of this notice was the youngest daughter of the late Mr. G. Gaither. In announcing this afflictive event to her relatives and friends abroad, we wish to relate a few incidents of the closing scene. Miss Eliza was greatly beloved by her relatives and special friends for her amiable qualities and social virtues; but the beauty and strength of character were not fully appreciated, until she was called to pass the ordeal of prolonged affliction. Confined to her bed for eight months, with the gloomy prospect before her, that her disease must terminate in death, she rose superior to self and directed her energies to the relief of her friends whom she saw concerned for her condition, and sought by patient endurance without murmur, or groan, and by exhibiting the utmost cheerfulness to impress them that she was really improving and would ultimately recover. But her heroic efforts stayed not the progress of consumption which had seized on her system. Death approached with steady step, and when his presence could no longer be concealed, she declared to her friends that she came without terrors to her mind, and but for leaving her deeply afflicted mother so recently deprived of her dear Papa, she would hail death's approach with perfect resignation. Her faith in the Redeemer raised her above her sufferings and the fear of death. The last days and even moments of her life were spent in exulting praise and affectionate exhortations to her weeping friends to meet her in Heaven, where she hoped soon to be. She had been for several years a member of the Methodist Church, and died as a Christian able to die, in joyful hope of eternal life.—Conc.

PRESBYTERRY OF CONCORD. The Presbytery of Concord will hold its next regular sessions at Rocky River Church, commencing on Friday the 14th day of April next, at 11 o'clock, A. M. The following Resolutions passed by the Presbytery at its last meeting, should be remembered by the Sessions of our Churches, viz: 1. Resolved, That Presbytery will hereafter require an Annual Report from the Sessions of its several Churches, respecting the fidelity and punctuality with which they discharge the duties which they owe their pastors, including a statement of the amount which they contribute for their temporal support. 2. Resolved, That the Sessions which have failed to bring up their records for review at this time, be required to bring up their several Session Books at the next Spring Meeting, and that they called on by the Presbytery, they should not be censured for their present delinquency. J. S. McCUTCHEAN, S. C. Bethany Church, N. C., Feb. 28, 1848.

EDGEWORTH FEMALE SEMINARY! REV. PROFESSOR G. MORGAN, Principal. GOV. J. M. MOREHEAD, Proprietor. THE year begins with July, and closes on the first Thursday in May; an unbroken term of ten months. The several departments which form a comprehensive and ornamental Education, as Music, Drawing, Painting, French, Latin, and English Languages and Literature, Mathematics and the experimental Sciences; Mental and Moral Philosophy, the Bible and its Literature, are conducted by Professional Teachers, of much experience. Edgeworth is organized on a well defined plan, to impart to a moderate number of pupils, the highest order of Education, and at an expense far less than in Institutions of like grade, in the large Cities. The greatest parental care and oversight, exemption from improper associations, good society, a well arranged course of study; valuable Libraries and Apparatus; approved methods of instruction, religious culture, love of study; great improvement, and whatever qualifies a Lady to perform with dignity and wisdom, the station which Providence assigns her, are secured to Edgeworth pupils, to an extent seldom attained in the most favored Institutions. The expenses for each of the five months are, Board, &c., and the instruction in all, Studies not extra, $75. Music on the Piano or Guitar, $20. Oil Painting $20. Drawing and Water Painting $10. Fifty Dollars are paid on entering, and the bills paid on the 1st of January and May. Pupils should enter at the opening of the year when the classes are formed. They can enter at any time, but not to be withdrawn before the close in May; when they are examined on the studies of the year, advanced to higher grades—and the Senior Class having completed the course, receive Diplomas, as a permanent memorial of a finished Education. Pupils, who are allowed insufficient time to graduate, are permitted to join the classes for which they may be qualified, and all receive the full benefit of their former studies. Parents and Guardians are expected to write, for more particular information, especially for the course of students, when preparations can be made at home. Greensboro, N. C., March, 1848.—1448.

$25 REWARD. RANAWAY from the subscriber, residing near Concord, North Carolina, about the 1st of December last, a negro boy by the name of JOHN JENKINS, being tall, light complexion, and well built—has long dark hair and wears it combed over in front and straight down over his ears and the back part of his head—and when excited or heated by exercise his face assumes a flush and ruddy complexion. He has a scar on his left hand and one upon his right wrist.—He has an axe scar on his left foot, as well as recollected, extending from the end of his big toe near to the middle of the foot. He took with him when he left me a good pair of cassimere pantaloons, and a good brown overcoat and a pair of boots. He may have procured free papers and attempted to make his way to a free State, as a free man of color, or he may have attempted to pass for a white man, which his color would well justify. But I am rather inclined to believe he is lurking about Charlotte, as he was raised in that town and has numerous relatives and acquaintances in and around that place—or he may be about Asheville, N. C., having a brother living there. Any information respecting him, given to me at Concord, N. C., will be thankfully received. And the above reward will be given to any person who will deliver him to me, or confine him in any jail so that I get him. WM. C. MEANS. Concord, N. C. March 22, 1848.—1448.

FASHIONS FOR 1848! HORACE H. BEARD, Dressmaker, has just received, (at his old stand,) from New York, the American and European Fashions for the Spring and Summer of 1848, and will continue to receive them quarterly. He is prepared to execute all orders in his line of the trade, in a fashionable and workmanlike manner, at the shortest notice. From his long experience in the art of cutting and making garments, he feels confident that he can give satisfaction to his customers. He respectfully returns his thanks to his friends and the public for their liberal support tendered him heretofore, and will endeavor by increased efforts to please his customers, to merit a continuance of their favors.
