" Of all the States south of the Potomac. sone has more titles to respect than North Carolina. This State has not received in other parts of the Union the esteem and consideration which are due to her modest worth Her situation is unfavorable to notoriety. Her extensive sea-coast is rendered almost useless for the purpose of commerce by a barrier of sand. She has no large city which serves as a point of attraction, and collects and distributes information respecting the State. The country on the line of the railroad, which is the principal thoroughfare for strangers, happens to be the most barren and unimproved part of her soil.

Yet she is rich in revolutionary reminiscences, in resources of the forest, field and mine, which are still undeveloped, in varied and magnificent scenery, in literary institutions, and a substantial and well dis-States one of which is foolishly endeavoring to maintain the pomp of departed greatness, and the other having a strange passion for being conspicuous at the expense of being ridiculous, she has avoided Europe the errors of both, striving neither to rule norto dissolve the American Union. Her domestic affairs have been managed with prodence and success. She has neither been eager to try novelties nor neglect the real improvements of the age. In intercourts, and her judiciary has been adorned by some names that would reflect lustre on any tribunal in the world. Her citizens an honorable obedience to the laws. She has not been as much distinguished as some other States for the brilliancy of her public men; but a State which has sent to the national councils a Macon, a Stanly, a Gaston, an Iredell, a Graham and a Badger has no cause for mortification on that score. Her general quietness has gained for her the appellation of Rip Van Winkle; and though she may perhaps be liable to the reproach of inertness, we con less that, in these days of public and private recklessness, we regard such a failing as " leaning to virtue's side." -

THE PRESENT ADMINISTRATION AND THE LAST.

We have had occasion, more than once to notice the exultation of the entire Locofoco breis over the victories achieved by their party in the late elections. Yet it is very certain that they have gained no strength since the Presidential election, any where; and in most places, the vote falls greatly below that cast for Gen Cass. This result, it must be furthermore remembered, has been obtained before a session of Congress has taken place, and before the President has developed a single feature in his policy. It has been brought about entirely by the inertness of the Whig partyan inertness for which we are not disposed to apologize, but which finds its best apology in the constitution of the Senate.

The however, is not the only Administra tion, which has, of late years, found itself in a minority in the House of Representatives .-Col Polk, if we recollect rightly, went into office with a majority of sixty in his favor. Two thort years of mal administration, were suffitient not only to prostrate that majority, but to from the greater weight in the opposite scale. The people did not decide against him, before they knew what he intended to do. Far from it. They gave him a fair and impartial trial. elsewhere. To two Congresses had he developed his plans of Administration, before they finally passed up. on him. He was deliberately weighed in the scales of public opinion, and was found wanting. A judgement thus deliberately formed, with a full knowledge of all the circumstances of the case, could not be easily reversed, and we consequently find that it was triumphantly Matained, when Gen. Cass, who has pledged to follow in his footsteps, came forward to ask those who had passed it, for their suffrages.

The people could find nothing good in the Administration of Mr. Polk, and they repudia. led it. As the principles by which that of Gen. Tylor will be guided, are understood to be dimetrically opposite to those of his predeces-105 it is but fair to presume that when they be entire approbation of those who rejected en. Cass. For that roason, we entertain no Aprehension of the of the success of this Admistration. Let the people but fully underand its measures-let them but know they the antipodes of those which have so lately uniped the seal of their unqualified disapprobation, and we fear not the result. At present, in the article of investigation, a majority would be of small service to us in the House. ar preferable is a minorty now, to one two hats hence. If Gen. Taylor had commanded large majority in the lower House the first leation, and if after the meeting of Congress, he should be deliberately condemned by such an overwhelming verdict, as shook Mr. Polk the White House, we should then have rea-100 to despair .- Richmond Whig.

POLYMATHEAN INSTITUTI

YOUNG LADIES

THE MISSES BURNS,

Formerly of Philadelphia, and recently of Baltimore THIS Institution purposes commencing operation in Salisbury, Powan County, N. Carolina, September

The Pantographic Method of Teaching, which originated in this Institution, is eminently calculated to make learning a pleasant employment to young ladies. The great variety of interesting and amusing illustrations made use of, lends interest to many studies which are

" Sounds which address the ear are lost, and die In one short hour; but that which strikes the eye, Lives long upon the mind; the faithful sight Engraves the knowledge with a beam of light."

usually regarded by young persons as dry and insipid

Young ladies are taught in small classes, and the whole attention of a teacher is given to one class,-the gradual development of the youthful mind is watched with much care, and throughout the course, the studies of the pupil are carefully adapted to her mental capacity and progress; but the peculiarity of this method of teaching is in the happy manner in which the different branches of study are illustrated.

Pupils will be received at a very early age; and the Course of Instruction will be far more thorough and complete than that of any school conducted in the ordinary way can be.
