Institution in the way of Tuition so long as the College stands. This is a brief outline of the Canes ship plan as adopted by the Trustees of Davidson College. It would be well for every one to inform themselves of the details, by consuling carefully the proceedings of the Board, sthey have been spread out on the columns of derent public journals. The scholarship plan appears to be the popular mode of endowing litgrary Institutions at the present day. The sysem has been carried into successful operation offerent States, and it seems to be eminenty suited to all localities. But the plan adoptd in Davidson College is more liberal in its spirit, and less open to objection than any I are had the opportunity of seeing.

I feel a deep and lively interest in the internal improvements that have been commenced, and that are in confernalation in this my own, my native State. I have but little doubt, that ben the finishing stroke is put upon the Cenal Rail Roads and the other improvements will necessarily be engrated upon, or row out of this waen all these are completedhen the wilderness of North Carolina will glad, and the desert will rejoice and blossom the rose." Many of our citizens stirred by zeal worthy of themselves, and worthy of the ause in which they are engaged, have done but they could to push forward these noble en energizes. They have done much to wipe off hal reproach which has too long been associaof with the name of North Carolina. But hare is no enterprize that takes a firm hold of he public good, both in Church and State, and the same time muches deeper down into the riate interests of individuals, of families, and ommunities, than the full endownent of Daidson College on the plan recently adopted. her looking he this matter in all its bearings, nd considering it in all its results, I am satised that there is no enterprize in which an inligent community ought to be more eager to ake an investment or secure an interest. It the unanimous opinion of all who have exmined it, that there is no stock that will de. are such a dividend. I am more than anx. us that the citizens of Western Carolina hould wake up to the importance, and the adnotages of this system. They have planted e Institution which is to be endowed on this

an. They have borne the heat and burden the day in sustaining and building up the allege to the present time. And when the ear. estitution holds out a plan, that will secure any and decided advantages to the commuty that will take hold of it, as a matter right and pistice, that plan ought freely to offered to those who have contributed, to ald up the Institution from a desiré to proole the public good. There is no doubt but e scholarships will be taken, they will come from other States, and from other parts of grown State, and take them out of our hands. nd enjoy the benefits of the Institution which have planted-which we have matured-if e are unwilling to avail ourselves of the priage. But it is to be hoped that those who ve manifested so much interest in other pubenterprizes - will by no means be insensis to the claims of this-which in a higher has the better of their judgment; and that they would make bad jurymen in capital felonies. Such flashes of eloquence, such logical discrimination inspires me (not with "ineffable contempt,", but with a slight nausea, and makes me wonder why one should be less " horrified" at such sentiments when uttered by a tri-colored

I would not willingly object to any society which has for its professed object one so laudable as the extirpation of drunkenness, and especially to one which boasts so much virtue and intelligence as the Sons, but I do think (and I am not singular in the belief) that it s overstepping the modesty of truth to say that the "Order" has effected what the Church was unable to accomplish. I think such claims are dangerous to the hopes of humanity, and lead directly to infidelity. It is giving more efficacy to the ordinances of man, than to the commandments of God. The constitution of the "Sons" require too, before admission to membership, that the applicant should have a "good moral character." "The sick need a physician; not those who are whole." If moderate drinkers are classed with drunkards, drunkards with murderers, certainly they have no claims to moral character. If moral men are alone admitted, the necessity of the Order ceases, and if "publicans and sinners" are shut out from this ark of safety, from this "sun-light of hope and happiness," it seems to me the only secure shelter from the pittiless peltings of the storm, would be the aforesaid "dragon wings"! As one of the humblest of "publicans and sinners," I surely would not fly for protection to the great stereotyped speech-maker of the Order, who I understand is in the habit of bearing "false witness" against a high dignitary of a Church to which he boasts of being attached. Against one (who when this orator was "muling and puking in his nurse's arms,") was periling his life to save him from the scalping knife of the savage on our North-western frontier. Even if his charges were as true as they are untrue, a true son both of the Order and Church would like Shem and Japheth take a garment and go backwards and cover a father's nakedness ra her than imitate the example of the accursed Ham, and publish it on the house-tops. I believe if the monev given to this foreign perambulating lecturer was expended among the pious and learned of our clergy, I believe it would be an offering more acceptable to God and more beneficial to the State. The age is progressive, but few or no new powers have been discovered by the modern Solons to move the moral machinery. I am rather inclined to the old and tried paths: to the disciple of Churches when free from false popular opinions-to the influences of religion as expounded by a faithful Ministry-to law, "whose seat is the bosom of God," as administered by able and upright Judges, honorable lawyers and conscientious juries -in schools which scatter the seeds of instruction broadcast over the land-in an independent Press with strength in its arm and light and freedom on its browin physical comforts where each man could realize the benevolent wish of Louis XVI, and have daily a fowl Groceries, Hardware and Cutlery, at lower prices than they have ever before been offered | we can please the most fastidious taste. NAVIGATION OF THE YADKIN.

In accordance with previous notice, a large and enthusiastic meeting of the citizens of Wilkes assembled in the Courthouse in Wilkesboro', on the 6th inst., (it being Tuesday of County Court,) when on motion of C. A. Parks, the meeting was organized by calling Col. A. Mitchell to the chair, and on motion of L. B. Carmichael, John W. Martin and C. A. Parks were appointed

The chairman upon taking his seat, explained the obect of the meeting to be, to devise wavs and means by which to carry into effect, the charter granted by the last Legislature for the navigation of the Yadkin river, and to encourage the taking of stock in said improvement. He then addressed the meeting at some length, showing in a clear and forcible manner the importance of this work, and particularly to the counties contiguous | Col. John Morrison and Angus R. Kelly.

L. B. Carmichael being called for, addressed the meeting in an effective manner, and concluded by offering the following resolutions, which were unanimously John S. Brown, and Daniel W. Crabb.

Resolved, That we duly appreciate the importance The Charlotte papers will please copy. to any community, of a cheap and ready access to the markets of the world, and the impediments and deprivations that depress all industrial pursuits of a people, rius H.
