FOR THE WATCHMAN.

MR. EDITOR :- I wish to avail myself o nour columns to say a word not about temper. ace, nor the " Sons of Temperance," but up. on another subject. Education is my theme, and a particular academy my special subject. Not that I am going to advocate the claims of education upon the attention of the community,-this has long since been fully done. The ine once was-but is now no more-when with might possibly succeed in life with little er no mental cultivation. If a moral sense of parental responsibility, now a days, will not infact men to educate their children, self inter. est certainly will. That young man who starts out into the, world without an education, has aunched his frail bark upon an uncertain and erilous ocean-disappointment in his hopes, is imost sure to meet him. Duty, therefore, to God and duty to self both say that the mind must be improved-where shall it be done ? Ebenezer: Academy," located at Bethany charch, Iredell county. This is an institution Standard. long standing and of some little note. As aciations with it lead back to the days of Dr. stal remembrance. This Church and this

The present modest, bough efficient, principal of this Academy has been giving instruction within its walls for about wenty five years. His term has just closed. was present during both days of his examinaion, and feel assured that I express the sentiments of all present, when I say, that univer. was thorough and extensive and I am sure that I nave heard many a worse speech within the Col ege walls than some that were there delivered furing the last day of the examination. And astly, though not least, the morals of Bethany righborhood are good-no parent need be faid to intrust a son or a ward to the influ eaces that will there be brought to bear upon

Desperate Affray at Lynchburg .- We learn from the Richmond papers that a violent, and probably fatal personal combat occurred in Lynchburg (Va.) on Thursday, between Mr. Saunders, a son of Dr. James Saunders, a ease was not long in making her the object of its prey. member of the State Convention, and Mr. A. W. C. Terry, the Editor of the Lynchburg Virginian. The difficulty originated in some strictures by the " Virginian,' on the course of Dr. Saunders in regard to the basis question. The Doctor replied through the Lynchburg Republican of Monday, in a card of some length and bitterness. The Virginian of Thursday morn- lovely child; never cross nor peevish in sickness; and ing rejoined, commenting upon Dr. Saunders's in health mild, soft and gentle. style, and charging him with desertion of the East. About 8 o'clock that morning, Mr. Saunders met Mr. Terry in the street, accosted him, and asked him if he was the editor of the Virginian. Upop receiving an answer in the affirmative, he struck Terry with a walking stick. Thereupon the latter drew a revolver and fired, but without effect. Saunders drew another revolver and fired, likewise without effect. Each then continued firing until five shots in all had been exchanged on either side. The result was that each of the parties receiv. ed two wounds, and each of them one shot in the body, it was feared would prove mortal.

We learn that the late Commencement at Chapel Hill was well attended, and passed off pleasantly. We have heard My design, at present, is to call attention to the Address of Mr. Avery spoken of in terms of warm commendation .- Raleigh

Her sufferings were acute ; but under them she was not fretful as is usual in similar circumstances. Obituary.

Departed this life, on the 2d instant, ROBERT W. LONG, uged 27 years.

It would be a dereliction of duty to permit the death of our friend to pass unnoticed, and to leave the memory of his life and virtues to the frail and transitory recollections of his contemporaries, though these will be ever cherished in a few faithful hearts, yet they demand a more public testimonial, and a more extended interest. He was born, reared and educated in Salisbury, and no one in his youth gave promise of greater usefulness. Beloved by his teachers for his docility and obedience, and his schoolmates for his frank and generous bearing, with reiterated requests of England, has his youth was as bright and joyous as a Spring morning. He received a good English Education, intended to fit him at an early age for the practical duties of life. He entered the store of Mr. Thomas L. Cowan, as a clerk at the early age of 14 years, and there applied himself assiduously to the discharge of his duties. By his diligence and vigilant attention to the interest of his employers, he gained their confidence and esteem, and by his conciliatory manners, which endeared him to all classes, he increased their business. At the age of twenty-one he had inspired his employers with such a confidence in his energy, faithfulness and business habits that he was admitted into the firm as a partner .--Shortly afterwards, the Mexican war broke out, and at the call of the President of the United States for volunteers, thousands eagerly proffered their services to their country. The martial spirit of Robert W Long, nourished from his infancy, by reading the deeds of the most celebrated of ancient and modern heroes, though long smothered, could no longer bear restraint. He threw aside the vardstick and ledger, and buckled on his THOMAS P. SPARHAWE,) sword. He was among the first to volunteer in the WILSON DUNTON, company raised in Rowan, and was elected its first Lieu-MAURICE A WURTS.

tenant. It is well known that owing to a series of unfortunate circumstances, this company disbanded, in spite of the active exertions and violent protestations of young Long and a few other gallant spirits. In this mortifying result, he had no agency, and no stain rested on his unspotted character for this unpleasant event. fession. > After his restoration to health, impelled by his active other paper in its section of the State. Address, and restless spirit, he sought in the western country the means of bettering his fortunes. Here he lead an adventurous life, the exposure and hardship incident to which impaired his health, and implanted in his constitution the seeds of the fatal disease to which he fell a victim. He returned to his friends and home, and died in the arms of a mother who prized her noble boy as the light of her existence, and had indulged the fond hope that he would be the prop of her old age and the solace of her declining years. Rarely has a death in that community excited a more profound and general sympathy. The loss of so affectionate a wife, so kind a mother, so faithful a friend, so sincere a christian, is adapted to produce in all hearts sensations of sorrow. The interest of the community in the afflicted family has been warmly manifested, and was rendered more intense by the fact, that the oldest son of the deceased was drowaed, but two days before his mother's death, while bathing with his comrades in the Black Warrior River in the vicinity of Tuskaloosa. This melancholy occurrence was not made known to the mother, lest the intelligence might add another pang to the necessary pains of dissolution, or render her recovery hopeless. His lifeless remains were taken to the house of a friend, whence they were conveyed to the grave. He was buried on Wednesday, and she on he knocked on the door, perferred his request, the Friday succeeding. She died as she had lived, a christian. All through the day of her death, her faith was unfaltering. It is believed that her consciousness remained until the last gasp. Her last words were,-" O Jesus ! Dear Jesus !"

it easy of access. Attention is paid to the manners of the pupils, and every accomplishment desirable for a young laily to acnire, may be found here. While the ornamental ranches are cultivated, they are not made to constitute the staple of the education which we endeavor to impart to our pupils. A high, intellectual training,-a thorough discipline of the mind is sought to be attained as of first importance after the cultivation or moral and religious feelings.

The Trustees and Faculty make every possible effort to prevent extravagance. The regular College charges are moderate. The next session will consist of five months. For Board and Tuition in the ordinary English Branches, and in Latin or Greek, if desired. the charge is $60 ; for Music $20 ; for Oil Painting $15; Drawing $5; for French or any other modern language taught, $5.
