MILLARD FILLMORE. By the President :

J. CHITTENDEN, Acting Se'y of State.

The Whig meeting held here on mesday last was marked by a harmony danimation as gratifying as they were expected. Harmony we knew existed relation to " public men and measures," we were not prepared to witness the al and spirit exhibited on the occasion, d which nothing, generally, short of an Lual canvass can develope. Mr. Shermade one of the happiest efforts of his ne, so the people said when they returned more thoroughly deserved the confi. Davis, Esq. nce of his constituency than Mr. Sheperd. He proves his heart in the right hace, now, when he is asking no honors their hands. Honest, direct, experiened, judging public affairs dispassionateand wisely,-his counsels are worthy be treasured by the people whom he has so long served.

But his solemnly expressed wish, that Is successor may exercise a wise judgment in his representative action upon the elicate and difficult questions of the times, we have confidence will be grati-Led. Unswerved by any of the miserable traisms of the day, Mr. Morenead's pubthe course will be judicious and conservative and a fair reflection of the sentiments of his district.

It was the nomination of Fillmore and Graham that gave animation to the meeassociated with those names, therefore do be people delight to honor them.

The deceased had been for the last seventeen years a zealous and devoted member of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, and adorned the doctrine of the Lord and Savior by her deep and unaffected piety. The thought of being separated from a kind and devoted husband and affectionate children, was painful to her at the commencement of her illness which she believed would terminate in death, but as the time of her departure drew nigh, she expressed herself as Ming. Honor and safety to the Union are being fully resigned to death. Her relatives and friends who have been called to lament her death, have much to console them from the evidence she left behind, that their loss is her gain, and they may well exclaim :

Telegraph Water Carrier HIS is a new and very useful invention for the purpose of raising and conveying water either from springs or wells, for domestic uses. It is also useful for raising ores from mines, or any similar purpose. It accomplishes the same amount of labor in less than half the time required by any other machine, with half the amount of labor. With this simple contrivance a bucket can be sent to a spring at the distance of three hunared yards and returned with water in three minutes time. It is simple in its construction, durable, and not easily to get out of repair. The undersigned having purchased the patent right for the counties of Rowan, Cabarrus and Mecklenburg, in this State, will be pleased to sell individual rights to such as may need them. Letters addressed to him at Salisbury, N. C., will receive punctual attention.

N. B. All persons having in use the Telegraph Water Carrier in use in the above named counties, are requested to call and see the subscriber as be does not wish to have any unpleasant controversy with any one.
