

know what explanation or apology could be given to the South for this most impudent and insulting proclamation. My Democratic friend admitted that if the words were truly copied in to the Register, the game was up at the South; but offered to be largely that there was some marionette or distortion of the text or some perversion or suppression that altered the meaning of the original article in the Union. I have not seen the original paper, and therefore cannot vouch for the truthfulness of the copy—all that I can say is, that such falsification is not a vice among Editors generally: the lowest that ever daubed a greasy spot with lies would feel disgraced to be caught in a cheat of this sort. It would be downright forgery, and the young Gentleman who conducts the Register is among the very last I should suspect of so dirty a trick. But it seems to me gentlemen, that the authenticity of this excerpt is the only question left. As my loco friend very justly said, if this be the truth the game is up in the South: If it turns out not to be true, I, for one, will take back all I have said upon the subject, and will make the amend honorable as far as I can.— But if, as I verily believe, it is truly stated, it shall be heard of again—it shall be shouted from every stump in North Carolina—it shall be proclaimed at every gathering—it shall be stereotyped for every press, and shall neither sleep nor slumber until the day of Election, and if Pierce shall unfortunately be elected, which God in his mercy forbid, it shall haunt him on the throne like the Ghost of Banquo. Down it will not! It is an open, a shameful, an impudent avowal of all that the Whigs have charged upon the Democrats—denied, it is true, with holy horror, and charged back upon the Whigs in one universal chorus, as an offense sufficient to deprive them of all confidence and support, it is a deliberate admission that if Pierce is elected "the Free Soil Democratic leaders" "as a regular portion of the Democratic party," are to come in for a rateable portion of official patronage. Read that again Mr. Jones, says Maj. Gaines, an old soldier of the Revolution, who is somewhat deaf. It was again read distinctly by the speaker, for the old gentleman, who leaning forward on his cane, seemed cautiously to scan and consider every word. After a pause.

the doctrines proclaimed in this precious manifesto? If Scott had dared to make such a declaration, is there one here, Whig or Democrat, that would give him a vote? Would he not cease to have an electoral ticket in a single Southern State. When it was discovered by mere accident, that Wm. J. Brown had promised a very small share of the patronage of the Speaker's office to this same faction, if he should be chosen to that office, although it is said he had his speech of thanks already prepared, he was repudiated by Whig and Democrat with contempt and loathing. But here is a promise of exactly the same tenor made in behalf of a Presidential candidate, only on a more magnificent scale; and shall he be pardoned and forgiven and smiled on by Southern faces. Are you prepared, fellow citizens, to kiss the hand that is about to smite you.— Pause, I beseech you, for the sake of those who are to come after you.

DEATH OF THE DUKE OF WELLINGTON.

pose to public sale, on Tuesday, the 26th instant, at

FOUR LIKELY NEGRO SLAVES,

Hogs, 500 bushels of Corn, Wheat, Oats, Hay, Fodder, a quantity of Valuable Lands for Sale—4 or 5 Tracts.

I HAVE several small but valuable plantations on the waters of Hunting Creek, in Iredell county, which I will sell on good terms. There is water power on one of these tracts sufficient for any purpose.— Any one wishing either to purchase it or to invest capital as a partner in the erection of a Factory, or machinery of any description upon it, will give me a call soon.—These lands are all within one day's travel of the Great Central Rail Road, in a healthy section of country.
The above named water location is joining the Eagle Mills Manufacturing Company, and this place is now called South Troy; and there is a fair prospect for a Rail Road or a Plank Road, to run via Eagle Mills and South Troy, or near there, leading via Mocksville, Hamptonville and Wilkesborough, on to wards Virginia and the mountains; when done, the rich provisions of those rich valleys will flow to Salisbury, and thus enrich the Great Central Rail Road.— Then there will be a chance to speed all kinds of manufactured goods to a ready market. Come and help me build Paper Mills, Brass and Iron Foundries, Wool Mills, or any thing else you please. We can commence and build a Rail Road to Salisbury and then to the mountains, we can make the Iron Ore, either the T or U, Iron, and we can also build the Cars and Locomotives at Eagle Mills or South Troy; So let us look into this matter for our own advancement, and the credit of the State.

ANDREW BAGGARLY.
