Superior Court, for Rowan, is in session this week, His Honor Judge ELLIS presiding. There appears to be little business doing, and no case on the docket of public interest.

Delt is understood that the Hon. JAS. C. Dobbin is the nominee of the locofoco caucus for United States Senator. This nomination was due to Mr. Dobbin, for a number of reasons, and takes no one by surprise. In the first place, he is well known to be a faithful exponent of his party, with regard to that " cardinal article of the Democratic creed," as the "Standard" once designated it-the doctrine of Secession. In the next place, that little glorification Speech of his, and the waiver of his opposition to nomination firstplatform afterwards, in the Baltimore Convention, fixed the business and secured the nomination of Pierce, who was the only candidate spoken of, who had refused to commit himself upon the Compromise measures. Again-if the supposition be not rather too uncharitable—it afforded "Young America" in the Legislature a royal opportunity of wreaking their vengeance upon Gen. SAUNDERS, for the liberal Whig sentiments announced by him, a few days since, in the House of Commons; as well as of showing their contempt for "Old Fogyism" generally! Stirring times are upon us and the public may be on the lookout for a Kilkenny

DEATH OF "ICHABOD CRANE."

Jesse Merwin died in Kinderhook on the 8th instant, at the age of seventy years. The Kinderhook Sentinel contains the following obituary notice of the deceased:

"Mr Merwin was well known in this community as an upright, honorable man, in whom there was no guile. He was for many years a justice of the peace, the duties of which he discharged with scrupulous fidelity and conscientious regard to the just claims of suitors, ever frowning upon those whose vocation it is to 'foment discord and perplex right.' At an early period of his life, and while engaged in school teaching, he passed much of his time in the society of Washington Irv. ing, then a preceptor in the family of the late Judge Van Ness, of this town.

"Both were engaged in congenial pursuits, and, their residences being only a short distance apart, the author of the 'Sketch Book' frequently visited the 'Old School House' in which "Squire Merwin' was employed in teaching the young idea how to shoot, and subsequently immortalized his name by making him the hero of one of his inimitable tales, 'The Legend of the Sleepy Hollow."

THE TELEGRAPH.

An effort is certainly to be made to establish, as soon as practicable, a telegraphic communication between this country and Europe, by means of wires laid across the Atlantic. We are now too well accustomed to the marvelous to doubt the reality or the success of such an undertaking. It can be, and will be, soon accomplished, and the day is not distant, perhaps, when the circuit will be completed around the globe. When these expectations are realized, our world will be found in a condition so strange that it will hardly be known by its older inhabitants.

When it is recollected that the earth's surface at the equator revolves east ward at the rate of about a thousand miles per hour, it must be obvious that news transmitted by telegraph in the same direction, and with the same velocity would be no-Since our last publication, several in- ted as instantaneous at the antipodes-

WE COME TO THE RESCUE.

The Salisbury Whig alludes to a remark of Byron, that he "never knew an ugly woman named Mary," and remarks that it never saw a pretty one name Betsy. Now, Byron had not Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions, Novem. seen all the "Maries" that we have seen, or he would not have made such a remark, nor Elizabeth Williams and others, vs. David Billings and would the Whig have impeached all the " Betsies" with ugliness if it had seen the one half called " Betsy?' that we have seen. The fact is-and it may seem strange-we never saw over three thousand ugly "Betsies" in all the days of our life! And the Whig is a naughty boy for making such an ugly insinuation. An Not in Milton.

If the "Betsy" family think we deserve thanks for this vindication of their beauty let them show it .- Milton Chronicle.

Another frightful railroad accident took place on the New Haven road on Saturday. While the train was crossing the bridge at Windsor Locks, (Conn.) one of the rails broke, when the three hindmost cars were thrown off the track, and the last one was precipitated into the canal in twelve feet of water. Two brothers, named Parker, who returned from California in the steamer Georgia on the night previous, and were on their way to surprise their wives, were drowned, and several other passengers were seriously injured. The three cars above mentioned were completely smashed to pieces, In the Senate, on Wednesday, and the track was so broken up as to render it give the election of Clerks and Masters and the track was so broken up as to render it impossible for trains to pass over it. my place, I hope I have in Equity to the People, was rejected by impossible for trains to pass over it.

New Iron Project .- It is stated that Shoenberger, the oldest iron maker in Pennsylvania, Rhey, Matthews & Co., of Pittsburg, and a number of enterprising capitalists in New York, Boston, and Philadelphia, are organizing a company, with $1,000,000 capital, to embark very extensively in the manufacture of iron rails at Johnstown, Cambria county, Pa.

A GENTLEMAN. - The man who "turns out" when you meet him upon the public highway-no matter how rough in appearance, or uncouth in matters of accomplishment or fashion—is a gentle man. This test will never fail to establish a character for either gentility or clownishness in civilized countries.

From the Raleigh Register.

MR. GALES :- The following lines are the production of a very poor and humble man in my neighborhood, with whose rhyming propensities I lately became acquainted. This poor old man lives entirely alone, with no human being to keep him company, and, when seen at public places, is remarkable for his homely garb, and his quiet, modest, and inoffensive deportment. All his education consists in simply knowing how to read; and I am informed that his solitary nights are passed in reading, by fire light such books as he can borrow from his neighbors.

WASHINGTON'S GRAVE.

Disturb not his slumbers, let Washington sleep, Neath the boughs and the branches that over him weep; His arm is now nerveless, but his deeds remain bright, As the stars in the dark-vaulted beaven at night.

Oh! wake not the patriot, his battles are o'er, Let him quietly rest on Potomac's far shore; On the river's green border, by his countrymen blest. With those he loved dearly, let Washington rest.

Hush'd be thy whispers, walk softly round, 'Tis the grave of a hero, it is liberty's mound ; His name is immortal, our freedom he won, Brave son of Columbia-our own Washington.

The watch-word of freedom, his name will endure, The bond of Union, both steadfast and sure, While the stars and the stripes shall triumphantly wave, O'er the land that can boast of a Washington's grave.
