There are at this time unmistakable Charlotte. Our people seem to be inspir- struction of this class of vessels. ed with new life and new energies, amounting almost to intoxication. The wildest and most extravagant dreams of those who prophesied five years ago upon this subject are now about to be realized. But in order to continue this state of things and to ensure a glorious future to our town and her inhabitants much, very much depends upon the policy which is to be pursued by our capitalists and property holders. If they confine the circulation of their capital to channels which are beyond the reach of our active, thrifty and be purchased by steady and industrious mechanics, they may greatly darken, or even eventually destroy the happy prospects which now adorns the horizon of our future. It is to the young and enterprising portion of the community that we are to look to keep the ball in motion .-The older citizens have done well in their nerves. It is this: day and generation. But they have become measurably superanuated, and their energies greatly exhausted. They cannot therefore keep pace with the spirit of the age, like those who have their fortunes emblazoned upon the brow of the future. In this view of the subject, we are now passing the threshold of an important crisis in the history of our town .-Look well to it, therefore, ye who hold the destinies of Charlotte in your grasp .-Hold out every inducement, now, to the thrifty and enterprising to come to Charlotte, that they may help to build up our fortunes .- Charlotte Whig.

Is the legislation of Congress to be thus forestalled? Were the people of the State told of this by these leaders in the late campaign? Were they apprized of this pledge of Gen. Pierce to shut the door against us when applying for our just rights? What do those who voted for the Land Resolutions think of this pledge to lend a deaf ear to their just demands on the Government? When, since the days of the Stuarts, would a King of England have made such an announcement to the Parliament? Let not the friends of distribution be intimidated by duch threats. If he does veto such a bill, locofocoism will have its death blow in this State?—Raleigh Register.

The Charleston Courier, is publishing the details of the recent fatal accident on the South Carolina railroad, by the falling of a culvert, notes the following incident:

" A most thrilling scene occurred immediately after the break down. A child's voice was heard calling from the bottom of the cars, which had fallen in, "Pa! Pa!" It was covered up with broken plank and the trunks of sixty or seventy passengers. It was the child of the Rev. Mr. Pringle, an Episcopal Clergyman, who, in great agony, was wringing his hands, exclaiming, "My poor baby !" and supplicating the Almighty to save his child; and his supplications were heard; for, after a half hour's hard work, his baby was miraculously saved, with scarce. ly a scratch upon it. Mr. Muldrow, who was also in the same car, escaped uninjured, and Mr. Henry B. DeLorme only had his leg a little bruised."

HORRID MURDER.

Letters were received here, last week, from Hyde, Tyrrell and Beaufort Counties, stating, that Washington Carrowan, a citizen of Hyde County, of some fifty years of age, and many years a Baptist Preacher, lately, on some frivilous pretext, knocked his wife down with a chair, and beat her with it until the chair broke to pieces, and then seized a large stick and continued to beat her, until a man named Lassiter, who boarded in the house, interfered to prevent her being murdered .-Whereupen, Carrowan took his gun to shoot Lassiter; but he disarmed him and left the house.

A few days afterwards, say on the 15th of last month, Lassiter chanced to go by the Railtond; with a subscription on the part of the house, which stood near the Public road, when Carrowan, seeing him pass, took his gun and ran through his field to cut him off, and overtook him in the savannah and shot him dead: then took up his victim, and carried him some half mile into the swamp, and threw him face down into the mud, and stamped him below the surface of the mud, and covered him over lege Butler of South Carolina came up his escape from the County and eluded the train last Thursday on his way to pursuit. " If a cylindrical piece of zinc is placed near the top of a broom handle, and another about fifteen inches below, connection being made between the two by means of a wire, a person taking hold of the top piece with the right hand, while the left is placed on the copper or lower piece, forms a voltaic circle, which becomes powerful the more the broom is used. The hands must be without gloves, so that the metals are in contact, and the windows of the room should be open when the broom is used, so as to admit the air freely. The discovery is invaluable to females in a weak state, for want of active life, and for males it can be applied to axe handles.'
