emembers of the late Legislature in ressional District. His revelation, if true, great Washington, striously affects the dignity as the pu-

as of our Legislative councils, and is seglated to excite the contempt of sensi-We men against that body. He says this sculiar and inconvenient arrangement not made that they might thereby beat him! ind adds : " If it had been known in Raligh on the first day of December last. dat | was a dead man, no one, will preand that such a district as this would have been made."

In this connection, Mr. Clingman adbeses himself to the people of Wilkes od Watanga, as follows :

And to you, gentlemen, of Wilkes and Watauga, I As a by that in tearing you away from your neigh-ine ad former associates that surround you in Ashe, sarry, and Yadkin, and Alexander, they have been mind by no wish to advance your interest or promote and sortenence. In throwing you into connection at hose, between whom and yourself there is no terand little business, or political association, their pupper has been to make use of you as instruments that me with. They have no more respect for your feelings than graspot has for the wishes of the platoon of soldiers geners out to shoot a man, who is hated and feared me he is the advocate of the rights and liberties of people. They have given the order, but, thanks to erstem, it is for you to decide whether you will g i or not. Like Themistocles, the Athenian, I s b you, "strike, but hear me." If circumstances ever place me before you as a candidate, I mp) fears but that you will give me a fair trial." Now who will pretend to justify the gislature in its schemes of malice aanst Mr Clingman! Ah ! they have nistaken their man. "Small in stature. is towering in intellect," and 'no madinations of envious foes will be able to mest him in his glorious career of Fame. Constent and able his genius will prove we than a match for the combined onmition of all the members of the Legisaure. All he has to do, will be to go where the people, and in the language of fe great Athenian, say, " strike, but hear m'-and the work is did-and his eneais no where !

THE PORK BUSINESS.

In consideration of the items which continually meet our eyes in the newspapers, about the pork business, we are astonished at the prices given for pork, both in this country and the Western markets. In Cincinnati, Dec. 28th, it is stated that the whole number of hogs slaughtered was 332,-000, against 282,000 to the same date last year. At the above date the pork season was considered nearly closed in Cincinnati.

A currespondent of the Louisville Courier says that ' in East Louisville the five extensive pork houses have five or six acres of barrelled pork, piled up three tiers high in open lots .---There are not less than six acres, which would side, exclusive of lard in barrels and pork bulked down in five pork houses, sheds, &c. Besides the above slaughtered hogs there are five or six acres of live hogs in pens."

At the slaughtering establishment of Mr. Poole, Shawneetown, Illinois, the number of hogs killed ranged from 600 to 1000 per day, and over 20,000 would be killed before the close of the season.

The early part of December, according to the Louisville Courier, 78,233 hogs had been slaughtered, and 34.900 were in pen awaiting their fate. The best bogs came from Boyle and Lincoln counties. Spencer county would send 15,000 head. The price was firm at six dollars.

At Terra Haute, Ia., there were five pack ing houses in operation, with more bogs in pen than ever was known before, and sales at five dollars sixty five cents net.

At Quincy and Jacksonville, Illinois, on the 27th, but few hogs had been received, and prices were firm at 5 cents. The St. Louis News estimates the number of hogs to be packed there this season at 30,000.

Such are a few of the items found in our ex. change papers at a single mail. If they fornish a correct indication of the abundance in this department of the provision market, we confess our inability to see where the high prices of bacon are to come from next summer .--Unless there be a foreign demand-which may, indeed, be the case in California, but no where else, that we can think of-it would appear that bacon cannot be so ready sale as it has been lor a few seasons past .- Greensboro' Patriot.

PER CONTRA.

We clip the following item from the last Wilmington (N. C.) Commercial : " Mr. H. B. Northrup, of Washington county, New York, arrived at the Carolina Hotel, in this town, on Saturday morning, en route fr om Red River via New Orleans, Mobile and Charleston, for New York.

Mr. N. is an agent, appointed in November mapapers? Couldn't be any thing else, last, by the Governor of the State of N. York, miss he was more fortunate than most with instructions to proceed to the State of Louisiana, and recover from servitude a tree colored citizen of New York, who was kidnapped in 1841, and sold as a slave to Edwin Epps, of the parish of Avoyelles, La., where he has remained until the 3rd inst.

Legal proceedings were institutied in that am from the Columbia Carolinian, that Parish by the agent, in behalf of the negro, against Mr. Epps, and an order was granted by the Court to have the colored man seques. by be visited without danger. It is also tered and kept by the Sheriff until the suit Miss CHARLOTTE T. COOK. Med that the disease was not the Asiatic could be tried in April next. The day after the sequestration, the parties and their respec. the sequestration, the parties and their respec. tive counsel met the agent at Marksville, and alter examining the evidence produced by the agent in favor of the freedom of the negro, the delendant's counsel stated to the client that the case was a plain one, and the man should be at once given up without further legal proceeding or expense. This advice was followed, and the agent now has the colored man in his charge. We learned these facts in a conversation with Mr. N. who said that it was but simple justice to the South, and particularly to the authorities of Avoyelles, to state that every possible assistance he could desire was promptly afforded him by every person who had any knowledge of the case, and that he had not, thus far, met with the slightest difficulty in accomplishing the object of his mission. The reputation of Red River is not the best. in the world, and yet it is with pride we contrast the result of this case in that region with any and every case that has come from the South before the New York courts. No tech nical quibble was interposed; no delay; no obstacle of any kind; but on the contrary, every assistance and facility furnished the agent, as he frankly states to us.

own and his brother's-but wavers not in his inches high, can be put up for $78-this demendent of the Mountain Con- leve of freedom, and his admiration of our own amounting to as many feet as are embraced in a house forty five feet long, twentyfive feet wide, and twenty-one high-two stories and a half. The materials of which the walls are made are compounded of eight bushels of slaked time, sixteen bushels of sand, and six bushels of fine and coarse gravel. This wall has stood summer heats and winter frosts, and is getting harder and better every day. When stone wood and brick are high, this is considered a very economical material, especially for the construction of cottages around the neighborhood of a large city.

THE CALORIC ENGINE.-The New York Evening Post supposes there would be a saving of $25,000 each Europeon trip, by make eighteen acres of barrels, if laid side by the use of the Caloric Engines of Ericsson over the common steam engines, besides the saving in labor.

> Congress .- The Senate has passed the House bill giving Clarke Mills $50,000 for the erection of the equestrian statute of Washington, in Washington City, and offered a resolution to give him $20,000 for Jackson's statue.

THE FLORIDA INDIANS.-The Savannah Courier has en showu a letter from Florida, which stated that Bil-Bowlegs and his followers have formally declared war against the United States ; which, we presume, means simply that they do not intend to emigrate to the West. The same letter gave the painful rumor that Gen. Hop-kins and his small force had been massacred.

South Carolinian of January 25.

COMPLIMENTARY, BUT TRUE.

THE following deserved notice of the merits of GODMAN'S most luable journal, we extract from the February number of Graham's Magazine ; and, there is no man in the Union, more competent to judge of a periodical's merits, than is the veteran Editor of that long established monthly :---

"Godman's Family Friend."-When this journal was first autonumeed, there were well-meaning prople who shook their heads with a knowing air, pronounced the scheme vivionary in the extreme, and predicted failure. We, who had known Gormans intimately and well, and appreciated his charac-ter as a man of indomitable energy, and a writer of power and brilliney equalled by but few of our best writers, felt that he brilliancy equalled by but few of our best writers, feit that he would achieve a triangh over all obstacles. We must confess, however, that highly as we valued the genius of our friend, we were not prepared for the brilliant success which has marked his progress from the very first number of his paper-a success as unexampled as it has been well-deserved. The Friend already stands second to no journal, either North or South, and is winning golden opinions in every correr of the Union as a literary and pictorial journal of the very best order. The editorial department of the paper is marked by a degree of manity independence and jour and and y a degree

The cultorial department of the paper is marged by a degree of manity independence and just and vigorous thinking, quite un-usual in this class of weeklies, and in the selections show a mind fully skilled in the wants of the great body of periodical readers. But in the original contributions to the journal, as well the ro-mances from the pen of the editor himself, as in the sketches, esmances from the pen of the editor himself, as in the sketches, es-says and poetry which enrich its colume, from their entreests, there butters south, whom Gomas has seduced from their retreats, there is a freshness, versatility, and hearty joyousness of style which give a value to Gomas's Finally Friend that is all its own-a distinctive characher, which cannot be successfully imitated. Of the improving and elevating the taste, and moulding and forming the character of the young in the ten thousand families to which it has access, it would be vain to speak; but that the circle of its relaters is widening with every week at a rate unexampled, we know from the hundreds of orders that are positing into us, from know from the hundreds of orders that are pouring into us, all points, to wend it and Graham for $3,50 in preference to all points, to wond it and Uraham for $3.50 in preference to any other literary paper. GODMAN will live to see a circulation that will astonish even him, or he must die carly. We predict that before the end-of 'dd the Friend will be in every Southern post town the organ and the oracle in all literary matters. The press of the South owe it to themselves to see that GODMAN is supported, in preference to other piratical reprints from the large daily offices which sail in every sea, stowed with freight which coses nothing, and is worthless as well as cheap—mere bothalls to some enormous kite—a competition of mere solide paper, with the brains, muscle and capital of the interior editor. Brothers of the press in the country, don't be guilded into encouraging, by notipress in the country, don't be guiled into encouraging, by noti-cing, these locasis which swarm around you to est up your very bread. The people who take them in preference to the home pa-pers, should be put upon bread and water until they thought and "suffered some."
