The writer thereof would most cheerfully support Mr. Livingston, if in a general convention he should be considered the strongest man; but in his opinion this matter should be amicably settled by a Convention assembled from the various parts of the district, unbiased by the dictation of Raleigh correspondents, or of any other persons not personally interested.

In addition to the name of Jno. A. Livingston, Esq. I would suggest the names of Col. R. C. Forsythe of Yadkin; Hon. A. H. Sheppard, of Forsythe; Jno. F. Poinsett, Esq. of Stokes and others; all good and true whigs, (who may possibly be unknown to the Raleigh correspondent) from whom an acceptable nomination can be made; either of whom will be cordially supported by the whigs of Surry.

Every true and genuine conservative whig should desire union, concert and harmony in their ranks, in the approaching contest, and in order to secure so desirable a result, I would suggest that a general convention, composed of delegates from the several Counties composing the district, be held at Yadkinville, Yadkin Co., on the first Thursday in May next, or at such other time and place as may be agreed on.

MORMON DEPRAVITY.

Much has been said relative to the moral character of the Mormons, who have often been called the "Scourge of God." The New York Herald contains letters which ought not to be withheld from the public. It is the statement of a man, and we see no reason to doubt it, that he should be broken up as a community, and be compelled to practice their views among those classes who are at least honest in their professions, however vile they may be.

But the Mormon depravity is greater than the most abandoned profligates of our cities—both they are in the exercise of their abominable, while the others do not add such atrocious mockery to their crimes.

We published recently, for the information of the incredulous, an official confession of a Mormon polygamy, from Orson Pratt, a high priest of the Mormons, and commissioned by the Prophet, Brigham Young, as the missionary apostle of the Latter Day Saints, for the conversion of the heathen, at the city of Washington. From the Sermon, a copy published by Elder Pratt, in the said paper, we have some additional light thrown on the same subject. He says, that "Brigham Young, just now, is the only man on earth who holds the keys to minister the ceremony of marriage for time and for all eternity."

He then proceeds to state, that notwithstanding a man's wife may be hostile to the introduction of another into the family, he must show good reasons for it to the husband, or her complaints will not pass muster. Of the various wives and children which constitute a Mormon family, Elder Pratt says:

"There is no particular rule as regards the residence of the different branches of a family. It is very frequently the case that they all reside in the same dwelling, both united and with the greatest cheerfulness, sitting at the same table and kindly looking at each other's welfare, with the greatest peace and harmony, each year after year. Their children play and associate together with the greatest affection, as sisters and brothers; while each mother apparently manifests much kindness and tender regard for the children of the others as for her own."

"Beautiful! beautiful! Nothing like it, in the Mysteries of Socialism!" "And morning and evening when the husband calls his family to worship the Lord, and call upon him, they all bow the knee, and with the greatest fervor, offer their devotions to the Most High God."

"What a delightful state of things to be in! A man with seven wives, and each the mother of half a dozen children, all thus harmoniously, to the number of fifty around the husband, or father of the whole family, under the same roof. But it appears according to Elder Pratt, that—"

"It is sometimes the case that the husband provides his wives separate habitations, as Jacob did for his wives, each of whom had a separate tent. (See Gen. 31, 32.) Where all the wives are equally devoted, the husband generally endeavors to treat them without partiality."

"How romantic! How patriarchal! How interesting and instructive, these plain and honest confessions of the marriage covenant of the Latter Day Saints! But suppose a case—where a man has seven wives, each living in a different house. He treats them all without partiality. But can any one of them answer to it is thus possible for him to be at home more than one night in the week? Is not this a mystery?"

"Such are the abominations of Mormonism, which the confessions of their delegated apostles at Washington. We trust that the government will not much longer tolerate these things. They are in open defiance of the laws and so-called institutions of the whole country—they are outrage upon common decency—a monstrous and ought to be abolished before they lead to the disasters of civil war. We think that General Pierce will not overlook the case. They must conform to the laws, or they were taken in hand."

Readers will never cease. Glass is now made in all sorts of things. There is cloth made in England of glass, and it has been used as the main spring of a chronometer answered well for such a purpose. But we propose to make of glass, who would have thought it? Yet it is so, and most excellent glass pens they are. It is well known that a flux of lead in combination with the silica in the right proportions, glass can be made of the most beautiful quality. The pens are now being made by the most impure ink.—Scientific American.

Western Democracy; the extent of which is to take all they can get, enrich their own State, and leave the Democracy of Old Virginia to preach about "Constitutional Scruples" over this "sacred fund" — to tax the people of Virginia to the tune of millions — because they won't take their Land Money. Suppose the old Commonwealth could get a grab of three millions of acres of the public land about this time. Wouldn't it help her considerably by relieving her people of a large amount of taxation? Wouldn't it remunerate her to a great extent for the appropriations liberally made at the present session of the Legislature? Yet she could have that and more, too, if she were not denied it by the democracy of her own State. The day is over when Virginia Abstractionists can play the part of the dog in the manger over this land fund. The new States will have it all; and Virginia gets over her Constitutional scruples and pious regard for this sacred fund, they will have helped themselves so bountifully as to leave her nothing but a bone to gnaw. — Richmond Whig.

THE MARRIAGE CEREMONY.

A Mormon paper, called the Ser, is discouraging on the subject of marriage, a plurality of wives, &c., denies that any one has been Divinely authorized to perform the marriage ceremony from the second century to the origination of Mormonism—and concludes as follows: — "Marriage then, among all nations, though legal according to the laws of men, have been illegal according to the laws, authority and institutions of Heaven. All the children born during that long period, though legitimate according to the customs and laws of nations, are illegitimate according to the orders and authority of Heaven. Those things which are performed by the authority of men, God will overthrow and destroy, and they will be void of all effect in the day of the resurrection."

It is to be so, then the Mormonites calculate, we suppose, that they will be the only occupants of Heaven. Whatever may be their fate in the next world, we should be glad to see them compelled to mend their morals on earth.

SUNDAY TRAINS.
It is well known to our readers that neither the Greenville nor the Charlotte-Railroads run any trains on the Sabbath, and we are pleased to notice, at the late meeting of the stockholders of the South Carolina Railroad, the adoption of the following resolution: —

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that all Sunday labor on the South Carolina Railroad and its branches should be discontinued, except as regards the carrying of the public mail, and other cases of emergency; and that the Directors be requested to effect this desirable end as far and as soon as practicable."

Of course it is not to be expected that the mail trains on this road, under existing circumstances, can be discontinued; but we trust that the Directors will take the necessary steps to comply with the request of the stockholders, contained in the above resolution. An Augusta paper (the Chronicle and Sentinel, we believe) thinks that to carry out the above resolution will require the enactment of a State law to that effect. We do not think so.

It is derogatory to our character as a Christian people to suppose that we require the stringency of legal enactments to prevent us from wittily violating the Sabbath day.

The whole responsibility of remedying the evil, and the shame of a system of wholesale labor on the South Carolina Railroad, thrown upon the Board of Directors; and we have some confidence that they will discharge their duty under it. If, however, they do not—if this partial reform is to end with the adoption of the above resolution—then should the press and the community hold them accountable for a wonton disregard, not only of the wishes of the stockholders so specifically expressed, but of the deencies and proprieties which should characterize a professedly religious community and people.

UPS AND DOWNS OF LIFE.—"Five years ago this day," says a writer in Frazer's Magazine, "Louis Napoleon Bonaparte was three years in arrears of rent in the parish of St. James.— He could not pay his tailor's, or his upholsterer's, or his Wine merchant's bill, or meet one half of his engagements in the city or at the West end."

In the following lines the writer has put into verse some thoughts which he found in prose: —
Harsh words are like the hale which beats
The herbage to the ground;
Kind words are like the gentle rain
Which scatters freshness round.

As polished steel receives a stain
From drops at random flung,
So does a child when words profane
Drop from a parent's tongue;
The rust eats in, and off we find
That naught which we can do,
To cleanse the metal or the mind,
The brightness will renew.

THE FOLLOWING IS FROM THE PEN OF W. H. LEVISON, Esq., the distinguished editor of the U. S. Military and Naval Gazette, under date New York, January 26, 1850. What could be more conclusive? —
"It is seldom we permit ourselves to occupy a space in three columns to speak in praise of any article in the patent medicine way; but when we see the life of a fellow creature saved by the use of any medicine whatever, we consider it our right, if not our duty, to give a simple statement of facts, that others may, in like manner, be benefited. The case which has induced us to pen this article was that of a young lady of our acquaintance, who by frequent exposure to the night air contracted a Cold which settled on the Lungs before its ravages could be stayed. (This occurred two years ago this winter.) Various remedies were used, but with very little effect or benefit. The Cough grew worse, with copious expectoration, and the patient grew pale, hollow cheek, told plainly that pulmonary disease was doing its worst on her delicate frame. The family physician was consulted, and although he would not attribute to the young lady the fact that she really had the Consumption, yet he would give no encouragement as to a cure. At this crisis her mother was persuaded to make use of a bottle of Dr. Rogers' Compound Syrup of Liverwort and Tar, and we are happy to state she was perfectly cured in less than three months by the use of this medicine, after even hope was destroyed. It is useless to comment on such a case as this, for the simple truth will reach where polished fiction never can. — If any doubt the authenticity of this statement, let them call at this office.—U. S. Military and Naval Gazette, No. 19 Chatham street, N. Y.
