Horrors of the Northern Cities .- Withn the last week or two, the annals of rime in the Northern cities have been welling by some of the blackest and most garding deeds. We have seen the rare nample of a son giving his testimony gainst his father, and convicting him of borrible murder, in Philadelphia, folswed by another son giving his testimomin New York against his father, and hat father the murderer of his own wife Then, horror of horrors, we have the moher endeavoring to destroy her little boy. tree years old, because she had nothing ugive him to eat, and had rather kill im than see him suffer! These horrors are under the very noses of those selfgried philanthropists who are ever busyng themselves in the behalf of the poor save who does not know what misery is packed and forwarded with care. mil be gets into their hands! Let these bok around them. "The Greeks are all est doors !"

Etiquette.-A correspondent of the N. York Tribune, writing from Havana, thus notices the ceremony attending a turn out wa fire in that city : "A Spaniard, who arrived at the place anged in front of the building inactive, while the flames were devouring everything in their way. He asked why they did not commence to extinguish the fire. they replied that their chief had not come, and they were waiting his commands .ha quarter of an hour the chief appearand civil, in their uniforms as stiff as surch. Then came the calling of the muster roll. The flames had now gutted sparty of French soldiers, from two menofwar, with their engines, had put the perrounding buildings out of danger, leavg to the noisy and much applauded Spanembers to extinguish."
