THE RIGHT TO OFFICE.

The position of the American party on the question of religious toleration, has been gross y misrepresented or misapprehended by the opposition presses.

It must be a wilful misrepresentation-for no honest mind, seeking for the truth, could have misunderstood a position which has been defined and explained time and again.

It has been said that the American party aim blow at the rights of Roman Catholics. At what rights ? at the right of trial by jury ? Nobody will pretend such a thing. At the right of holding property I . Who has proposed that ! At the right of suffrage ! Voting is a right when a man has been invested with it under the law .- and we have yet to hear of the first whisper of any invasion of this right. Finally, is it a Ulow simed at the right of conscience I Wenttorly deny it. Nobody proposes to make any war on the doctrinal tenets of the Church of Rome, other than with the weapons of truth and reason. Nolody proposes any interference with the belief or the worship of Papists. They may behave what they please or worship what they please, without molestation and under the protection of the laws. The American party hold every man to think, to believe, to speak, to worship what he pleases, under the dictates of his own conscience and the laws of the land.
