THURSDAY EVENING, JAN. 8, 1856.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

We give up our columns, this week, to the annual message of the President. It is not the less welcome to the American people because unexpected before the organization of Congress. In an exhibit of the state of government affairs, the President's Message is always eagerly sought after and attentively read; and therefore we deem an apology for failing to give our usual variety of news in this number, altogether unnecessary.

We think Mr. Pierce has done himself credit in this message, on two or three points. He sets forth, with clearness, the embarrassing state of our relations with England in regard to Central America, and intimates that a serious rupture may grow out of them. The misunderstanding in regard to the enlistment of soldiers in the country for the Russian war, is also presented; and it is apparent that both these questions, wisely unsettled, may yet prove sources of national trouble. Great Britain is most clearly in the wrong in both, and we feel quite sure that America will not compromise her rights or her honor in either for the sake of peace.

But that portion of the message, especially more unreliable, is in reference to the "Constitutional existence of slavery." The subject is discussed with fairness, boldness and truth. However in connection some of Mr. Pierce's actions seem to lie, and if he has here announced his convictions of right and conscience, on the subject, and will sustain them with a corresponding course of action for the remainder of his term he will certainly merit the respect of all who are truly Democrats, and who desire the perpetuity of the Union.

No Organization Yet.—Up to the time that the House of Representatives have failed to organize. The members continue to meet, but come no nearer the end, in wrangle and dispute. They adjourn and meet again, and spend their time in idle talk. How long this state of things will continue it is impossible to tell, as, to all appearance, an organization is as far off now as when the first ballot for Speaker was made.

This state of things is not only a disgrace to the country, but to our minds it is alarming. We have arrived at that point in our history where no one party spirit or sectional distrust can stop the machinery of government as in times past. It is time for the American people to pause for a short time and seriously consider for and to which we are inevitably tending. Whig—what comes next? Is it not anarchy, or revolution? We know no government where this state of things exist, and if it continues, of course our Government is at an end. And what ground of hope have we that it will soon terminate and the wheels of Government be set in motion? Is it on the patriotism of the Representatives of the people? Their partizanship is manifest in their votes and speeches in Congress on local questions, and these, with all their supporters, unite them as with a chain of iron. Where then is the remedy?

If negro emancipation is at the foundation of the opposition of the public characters, we think Southern members had as well give a vote on the negro question, and let them take their course freely. If they succeed, every patriot in the Southern States let them pass over their plans and begin the work. No issue cannot arise but "just as well" in the first Congress, if their object be a severance of the Union, a total overthrow, which we believe awaits them, more effectually than civil discussion, the only harm done in bringing on it now is but a question of time.

Ef We are certainly obliged to our friend Wiswell, of the Raleigh Standard for the commendment paid in it to our labors in the work of Ired. Supreme Court Reports. If he thinks they are well done, it was clever in him to give us credit for it, and he is entitled to our thanks therefor. But then, when he came to speak of our allusion to Jesse Nottingham, he rather took it that we have no affinity to the doctrines of the party known by that name, as we acted, which not only is the injustice done us, but is the palpable misrepresentation of a fact.

Now, it is very true, we have not shown a rampant zeal for this new party. We have never joined it, so to speak. But many of its principles we believe are right; for instance, a check upon imigration into this country of the venal, pauper population of the old and rotten States of Europe—an amendment of our naturalization laws so as to allow sufficient time for aliens to acquire correct ideas of the nature of our government, and become identified with it as citizens in their feelings and habits; this principle that Americans should govern Americans—that foreigners should not be appointed to office to "lord" it over her native sons—these and other features of the party we have advocated, and will continue to advocate as time and circumstances may dictate. We contend, therefore, account for Mr. W's undertaking to fasten our political "affinities," not for at all minding to them in the manner he does. He certainly had no right to suppose it would be coming to us. On the contrary, assuming that he has read the "Watchman" for the last twelve months, he must have violated his own sense of truth in making the statement, and cannot be surprised at this rebuke.

The Southern and Southwestern Commercial Convention, at their last session in Charleston, appointed a Committee to determine upon the time and place of its next session.

The Committee, by joint action with the citizens of Richmond, and the Board of Trade, have called a meeting of the Convention on the 30th January next, in Richmond.

The Columbia (S. C.) Carolinian deplores the unnecessary destruction of the shade trees and ornamental grounds of that beautiful town by a heavy shot on Saturday. Ranges of years will not restore the same.

Since Friday last we have had cold enough fair. A North-East wind prevailed, and Dead Loss, a capital prognosticator of weather, in the face of the blustering gale, averred that there would be snow in less than 24 hours! Some shivered and others smiled, but all willing to admitted it was cold enough, for it was at a pretty high rate and many were thus forewarned. Sure enough, Saturday morning revealed a fulfilment of the Doctor's augury. The ground was covered with snow, and the storm continued until a late hour in the afternoon. When it ceased to fall, it was found to be full eight inches in depth. Sunday morning the mercury reposed at 6 degrees above zero until after sunrise. On Monday morning at 11; and this morning, at 18. Ice is abundant and our citizens are storing it away. The snow melts very slowly, and must remain with us for many days unless carried off by rain or a south wind.

VICE PRESIDENT OF ECUADOR.

Letter of the Watchman.

A friend in South America has inclosed to me an Ecuadorian Newspaper of the 23d ultimo. From diplomatic notes contained in this sheet it appears that Marcos Espinosa, L. L. D. was inaugurated as Vice President of that Republic at Quito on the 10th of the month. Since which time he has been performing the duties of the position, during the illness of the President, Dr. Espinel at present confined to the hospital suffering. On our calling Portfolio of Foreign Relations, sought the services of Vice President, Dr. Espinel addressed the following note to Mr. White, our Minister Resident in that country; which you will perceive by publishing in your columns, accounts for Mr. White's absence.

SALISBURY, Jan. 1856.

[TRANSLATION]

QUITO, Oct. 1st 12, 1855.

The undersigned has the honor to announce to H. E. the Minister Resident of the United States of America that on the day [illegible] have been appointed Minister of Foreign Relations, in consequence of his having been called to the offices of his country as Second Magistrate of the State.

In making this announcement, the undersigned will avail himself of this last occasion to express his grateful sense of the highly honorable and satisfactory relations that have been established between [illegible] and H. E. M. W. — as it is meant for Mr. White will carry with him to the new post he is about to occupy the kindest respect for, and the most agreeable recollections of his associations with H. E. and the other members of the Diplomatic Corps resident in this Capital. And although the official communications of the undersigned [illegible] this date he avails himself of the present occasion to renew to H. E. the assurances of his distinguished consideration.

[illegible] H. E. will receive a similar declaration from the hands of the [illegible] appointed Minister of Foreign Relations.

Dios Guarde a Vmd muchos años.

MANUEL ESPINEL.

To His Excellency [illegible] Minister Resident of the United States.

[MR. WHITE'S ANSWER]

QUITO, 13th Oct. 1855.

The undersigned, Minister Resident of the United States has the honor to acknowledge the receipt of the polite note of H. E. Dr. Manuel Espinel Vice President charged with the duties of the Executive authority by the [illegible] of the Republic, in consequence of his having been [illegible] to the offices of Second Magistrate of the State.

The undersigned [illegible] the pleasure of tendering to H. E. Dr. Espinel the assurances of his distinguished consideration.

MR. CRAMPTON TO BE REMOVED.

WASHINGTON, January 4.

It is stated in a letter from London, from a reasonable source, that the British Government has [illegible] the demand that Government be the recall of Mr. Crampton, minister (transferring him to some other diplomatic station, as in the case of the sending of Sir Henry Bulwer hither from Spain. Sir Geo Ouseley is named as Mr. Crampton's successor.

Gen Shanklin arrived here to-day, and goes on to Washington to-night. Free State men of Kansas superintendent their interests.

New York is believed by many persons to be deeply concerned in the slave trade, and it is said that a certain Portuguese captain who has just covertly landed 650 slaves in Cuba, left Havana on the 24th ult., in the Crescent City, to receive his labors in that northern port.

MARRIED:

At Lexington, on the 18th ult., by the Rev. Dr. Wilson, Mr. JOHN F. LONG, to Miss MARGARET, daughter of the late Col. John Lowe, Esq.

In Iredell County, on the 18th inst., by the Rev. T. L. Tucker, Mr. JOHN A. TUCKER to Miss E. T. TUCKER.

In Stanly County, on the 17th ult., by the Rev. A. F. Atkins, Mr. WILLIAM A. KIRK to Miss ANN J. FORREST.

In this County, on the 20th ult., by the Rev. Thornton Butler, Mr. FREDERICK A. STIREWALT and Miss SENA YOST.

DIED:

In Davidson County, on the 16th ult., Mrs. SUSANNAH LONG, wife of Mr. John Long, Sen'r, aged 66 years.

In this County, on the 15th ult., Mr. DAVID FISHER, aged 23 years and 4 days.

In Iredell County, on the 20th of December last, in the 21st year of her age, Miss CATHARINE L. SMITH, eldest Dr. L. L. Smith, and second daughter of Wm. Lee Brandon, Esq.

The death of this amiable and estimable lady, so justly beloved by all who knew her, has cloaked a large circle of relations and friends in mourning, though they do not mourn as the rest of men who have no hope. Miss Smith made a public profession of religion at the Presbyterian Church of Concord, when she selected for a permanent rock and foundation, upon which she reared her hope of heaven. A protracted illness of nine months she bore with a fortitude and resignation which was the result of her faith in the promises of God. Her last moments were peaceful and happy. In her last moments she realized that the Lord was dealing very gently with her, and that her sufferings were but light when compared with the glory that awaited her. She requested that her friends should not mourn for her, but rejoice that she was going to be with Christ, which was far better. She bade farewell to her father, mother, brothers and sisters, and all her friends, and requested that they should meet her in heaven. She then committed her spirit into the hands of her God, and fell asleep in Jesus.

Funeral services were performed by the Rev. Mr. EDWARD

PROSPECTUS OF 'The Seven Travellers,' OR 'North Carolina Traditions.' BY A. A. McB.

☞ Now Ready for the Press. ☜

THE work to which the above title belongs, was written by a native North Carolinian, and embodies a variety of thrilling tales and exciting incidents, which occurred in the good old times—the halcyon days of the Old North State, and which have special reference to the pioneers of those by-gone times.

The scenes, &c., are mostly, with a few exceptions, laid in North Carolina, and no doubt will be interesting to North Carolinians generally.

The extensive material from which the various tales, legends, &c., contained in "North Carolina Traditions" have been taken, has been wrought by the author in a masterly manner, and the characters are drawn to the life.

A vein of humor runs throughout the volume; but notwithstanding it is characterized by a strictly moral tone.

A great many stories, incidents, &c., framed directly from the "olden inhabitants," have been duly gathered and inserted, and thereby, it is hoped, will be rescued from an immerited oblivion.

To those who would become more intimately acquainted with the past history of North Carolina, her institutions, and also with the habits, manners, and customs prevalent in the olden time, which are now obsolete, we would say, buy "North Carolina Traditions," and read it. You will laugh and cry alternately over the fates and fortunes of the different characters, and at the ending of the perusal you will be both a better and wiser man.

We cheerfully, honestly, and consciously recommend the work to the patronage of all truly noble, whole-souled, and high-minded North Carolinians, who, with a generosity worthy of them and their native State, are willing to overlook the faults and imperfections of Southern Literature, and to cherish and support it in its infancy, instead of lavishly expending their money and their patronage on the abolitionized, incendiary lucubrations of the North with which we are deluged. We appeal to Southern Pride and Southern Patriotism to cease its wanton adulation of Northern humbug, and to build up a Literature of our own, and we earnestly hope the appeal will not be in vain.

Having purchased the copy-right of "North Carolina Traditions," the subscriber would respectfully solicit a large number of subscriptions in order to defray the expenses of its publication.

The volume will be printed on fine white paper, and will contain about Three hundred pages in handsome octavo binding.

Subscription price only $1 00! To be delivered by subscribers.

A number of agents have been authorized to receive and collect subscriptions.

GREAT EXCITEMENT IN SALISBURY.

THE cause of which is, that they are now receiving at Richmond & Harrison's cheap cash Store one of the largest stocks of ever offered in the market. A part of which consists in the following, viz: Ladies' Cloaks, Talmas and Mantillas, Alpacas, French and English Merinos, Delaines, Persian Twills, Colourgs, &c. Prints, assorted; Oakford's latest style Soft and Silk Hats; Gentlemen's and Ladies' Gaiter Boots and Shoes, assorted; Groceries, Hardware and Crockery. A very large assortment of Ready Made Coats, Pants, Vests, shirts, &c., for men and boys.

All of these goods were bought before the late advanced prices and they are determined to sell them low for cash, or to punctual payers on short credit, at wholesale or retail, as they can be purchased in Western North Carolina. We return our sincere thanks for past favors, and hope by strict attention, punctuality and promptness in business to merit an increase.

Account of country produce taken at the highest market prices, in exchange for Goods.
