OF TENNESSEE.

WHIG MEETING.

There will be a Whig Meeting held at the Court House in Salisbury, on Monday of May County Court. All the old line Whigs are requested to attend. There will be several addresses delivered.

Harnett County.—A portion of the citizens of this new county seem bent, either on repealing the law establishing the county, or so much of it as relates to the locating of the County site. At a public meeting held in Barbacue district, having for its object a declaration of views, the following surprising facts are stated:

"A majority of the last Legislature saw fit, in its wisdom, to divide the county of Cumberland, as we believe, on its own responsibility: for no member of the last Legislature from Cumberland, made known the scheme publicly while canvassing the county; and if anything was known to any one, or even the majority who supported and advocated the measure, (which we do not pretend to charge) relative to the division of the county previous to the election, it was kept from the people."

From the South Carolinian.

TROUBLES WITH THE INDIANS,

St. Louis, April 4th.

Advices from Sante Fe state that 260 troops had been ordered by Gen. Garland to invade the Gila country, and avenge the murders and robberies committed by the Apaches.

NEW YORK MARKET.

New York, April 4th.

The steamers' news had no effect on the cotton market. Sales of 2,000 bales, at 10¾c. for middling Orleans, and 10¼ for upland. Flour lower—Ohio $7.62. Corn 65 cents.

NEW ORLEANS MARKET.

New Orleans, April 3d.

Cotton is firmer—sales of 9,500 bales, at 9¾c. for middling.

WASHINGTON AFFAIRS.

Washington, April 3d.

The removal of Wheeler, United States Minister to Nicaragua, is anticipated. Marcy has drawn up a project designed to injure Walker's Government.

Mr. Buchanan has written a letter in favor of the principles of the Nebraska bill, as affording the only settlement of the slavery question.

Throwing Vitriol.—The practice of throwing vitriol on ladies dresses, which, a few years back, created so much excitement in New York, has been recently renewed. The papers give account of several cases which occurred in that city on Sunday night week. The perpetrator had not yet been discovered; but very large sums were offered for his detection, and it is most likely he will be brought to trial.

DEMOCRACY AND FOREIGNISM.

The late Democratic State Convention among its series of resolutions adopted the following:

Resolved, That in the rise at home of factions based upon a single principle inimical to our government and constitution, and in the stirring and warlike condition of the times, we behold dangers to our peace and prosperity, if not to our perpetuity, which should cause every good citizen to ponder well the steps of his political action; and that we earnestly invite the favor of his country, of whatever name or creed, to join us in upholding the constitution in its purity, and transmitting it unimpaired to our successors.

The "single principle" embraced in the resolution refers to the basis of action of the American party against foreigners. Now, while the Democracy sustain this ground, it likewise exhibits its preference thus:

Resolved, That unerring indications point to the Hon. James Buchanan—distinguished alike by his personal character, his tried Democracy, his great abilities, experience and eminent statesmanship—as the nation's choice for the office of President of the United States, for the term commencing on 4th of March, 1857; that we do hereby instruct our delegates to the National Convention to assemble in Cincinnati in June next, to use their efforts to secure him the nomination to that office.

Thus, while the Democracy oppose the American party, because of its hostility to foreign influence, and at the same time fully endorse Buchanan, they forget that on the 4th of July 1815, this same lauded individual, in the Hall of Lancaster, used the following language in regard to foreigners:

Above all, we ought to drive from our shores the influence,' and cherish exclusive American feeling. Foreign influence has been in every age the curse of Republics—her jaundiced eye sees everything in false colors. The thick atmosphere of prejudice by which she is ever surrounded, excluding from her sight the light of

A member of the American party can go further than this—in what expression do they use language more hostile to foreigners! And yet, the great Democratic party which opposes the American organization—can swallow James Buchanan and his hostility to foreigners without making a wry face. A contemporary, in speaking in reference to the speech referred to, says:—

"Where was the need of a speech like that forty years ago? Had the accused agents of Rome then shot down in cold blood American born citizens for daring to hold an American meeting on their own blood bought soil? Had scoundrel priests, with the foreign smell all about them, then, forty years ago, determined to banish the Bible from the public schools! Had a President of the United States then bowed his neck, and on his knees piteously begged the smiles of base ecclesiastical hypocrites, so that he might retain power? Had the arrogant, impious, blaspheming old imposter who pretends

Mr. Buchanan had introduced Mr. Pollin to the diplomatic corps, and had gone to Paris, whether he would return and take passage in the next steamer.

The Empress of France and her infant were doing well. The rejoicing continued, and congratulations were pouring in.

STEADY PROGRESSION

EAGLE CITY,

THE SUBSCRIBER has the pleasure to announce to the world, to whom he sends greeting all kind wishes for their prosperity and peace, that he is making steady progress in the improvement of Eagle City, destined, he believes, to become the greatest manufacturing city in the country. He is now erecting a new cotton mill at this place, to be called the "Troy Mills," and hopes to have it in full operation by the latter part of the summer of 1856. It will be one of the best, if not the very best, mills in the country. The machinery was selected by himself, and the latest and most approved patterns were chosen—It will work like a lever watch—smooth and steady—and he doubts not will excel, in its products, the most beautiful achievements of the renowned Eagle Mills, under whose shadow it is developing its fair and delighting proportions. Eagle Mills long gained for itself a fame as fair as it is wide spread, both for the excellence of its yarns, and the superiority of its cloth fabrics. Troy Mills alone threatens to rival it, and hence the world may look out for a contest involving a result not less interesting in itself, than it must be desirable to every Southern patriot.

The dreamer, speculating on coming events might well step in here, and casting forward his ken beyond the boundary of present time, portray the aspect of Eagle City a few years hence. Let him sketch it: We see a city of beautiful proportions with its towering steeples pointing heavenwards: close ranged blocks of granite buildings with glittering metal tools, reflect the cheerful beams of a vernal sun: the invigorating breezes of a delightful climate, stir the leaves of long rows of elms: the streets are enlivened with a cheerful busy throng: the song of, half a million of spindles is mingled with the roar of looms and rasseaders: Eagle monument rises above all things else, bearing on its top an immense eagle, wings extended, looking down with pleasure on all below. Eagle City Bank is in full view, and by its liberal policy invites all energetic business men to claim its encouragement. Cabinet-printers roll out their piled up goods: the cars of the North-western Railroad receive them, together with thousands of other things, the products of the City: the deafening whistle is blown, and the sound is echoed and re-echoed from hill to hill, and wakes the drowsy powers of reposing fat cattle, which bounce in the rich surrounding valleys: the scene grows!—grows!—and the end is beyond the portraying skill of the prophet! We had but a glimpse—but what a view! And it is all to be realized beyond doubt. Enough, enough!—I will prop on to its final consummation.

ANDREW BAGGARLY.

THOMAS E. BROWN,

Carriage, Buggy and Sulky Builder,

SALISBURY, N. C.,

IS now carrying on the above business, and invites the public to call and examine his work. He is manufacturing very superior vehicles, and feels confident he can give satisfaction to all who want a first-rate article. He can put up work at low prices, if it be desired, but would always recommend the better qualities as cheapest in the long run. He would advise those who wish to procure any thing in his line to call at his establishment before they purchase elsewhere.

☞ His shop is on the rear of his Livery Stable.

☞ Persons at a distance ordering work, will please accompany the order with a description of the article required—style, quality and price—and when delivered, if it does not give satisfaction they will not be required to keep it.

With the advantages of the Railroad at his door, he will take almost any kind of trade in exchange for work—such as Corn, Wheat, Flour, Oats, Bacon, Lard, Horses, Provender, Timber, &c., &c. His is second to none! Those who wish either to buy or to sell decent horses or mules, are invited to call.
