PROHIBITORY LAW.

A friend who is in the habit of going into South Carolina to sell his produce, on returning home, informed us that the last Legislature of that State had passed a law, prohibiting the sale of articles the products of other States, under a heavy penalty without a license. The following letter to the Editors of the Fayetteville Observer, will put our friends on their guard:

Messrs. E. J. Hale & Son:—Gents:—I was at Bennettsville, S. C., on Monday last, it being monthly sale's day, and saw a good many long footed wagoners and citizens, on account of a law passed by the last Legislature prohibiting the trade of all or nearly all of the products and manufactures of other States, without License, to obtain which the applicant has to be recommended by two persons and give two securities in a bond of $2000 to observe the law; or subject himself if he sells without license to $2000 fine, one half of which goes to the informer. The applicant has to pay twenty five dollars (to the Sheriff I suppose,) and five dollars to the State Treasurer, and a per centum on all the sales. The construction that seemed to be put on the law was that flour, bacon, lard and all such articles, not the growth or manufacture of S. C., were prohibited. I cannot see, if flour, the growth of N. C., was prohibited why cotton is not also. The citizens seemed to be surprised and disappointed, for many of them had been in the habit of laying in a supply of flour, bacon, &c., on sale days, and had come to do so again, but were disappointed. Some I saw came to buy seed oats; the wagoners would tell them, we cannot sell them to you. My reason for writing this is that many of your subscribers are in the habit of carrying their surplus produce to S. C. markets. I would be glad you would publish the law if you can obtain a copy. I have never read the law; but heard Wm. D. Johnson read a part of it, being applied to by some wagoners for legal advice. I think if a person is convicted and is unable to pay the fine he subjects himself to 12 months imprisonment. I think more produce will go to Fayetteville if the above construction is right. Johnson read the law from a leading S. C. paper.

VIRGINIA DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

The proceedings of the Democratic State Convention of Virginia have been somewhat animated, and at times noisy. District, Senatorial, and County Electors have been appointed, but the chief topic of discussion and distraction was a resolution offered by the Hon. A. A. Chapman, declaring the preference of Virginia for Ex-Governor Henry A. Wise as a candidate for the Presidency. A substitute was offered by Mr. B. B. Douglas, proposing to affirm that "it is inexpedient at this time to declare a preference for any of the distinguished men who have been named in connexion with the Presidential nomination to be made by the approaching National Democratic Convention," but to give a pledge to support the nominee of that Convention.—The discussion upon this subject was continued through the greater part of Friday night, and was resumed on Saturday. The result was the adoption of the substitute proposition.—National Intelligencer.

A POLITE BULL.

An Irishman was going along the road, when an angry bull rushed down upon him, and with his horns tossed him over the fence. The Irishman recovering from the fall, upon looking up saw the bull pawing and tearing the ground, (as is the custom of the animal,) whereupon Pat, smiling at him, said, "If it was not for your bowing and scraping, and your humble apologies, you brute, fair I would think that you had thrown me over this fence on purpose!"

CONGRESSIONAL.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Senate—On Mr. Iverson's motion, a resolution was adopted setting apart every Friday after the present week, for the consideration of private bills.

Mr. Seward introduced a bill for the admission of Kansas into the Union, on which he will speak Wednesday of next week.

Mr. Brown reported a bill authorizing the corporation of Washington to issue $20,000 worth of stock in order to build a centre market, which was passed.

On motion of Mr. Nicholson, a resolution was adopted instructing the Naval Committee to inquire into the expediency of having all commissions of Captains and Lieutenants in the revenue service confirmed by the Senate; also their compensation increased.

On motion of Mr. Mason, a resolution was adopted for the arrest of Thaddeus Hyatt, of New York, who refuses to obey the summons of the Harper's Ferry Committee.

Mr. Hamlin submitted a resolution of inquiry (which lies over) as to the propriety of granting to California all the right of the United States quicksilver mines, the proceeds to be applied to the construction of the Pacific Railroad.

A bill for supplying the States with arms was made the special order of the day for Thursday.

After an Executive session, the Senate adjourned until Thursday.

House:—Mr. Smith of North Carolina, defended his political position. He said he never was a Know-Nothing, but always a Whig.

The Committee on Roads and Canals reported back a joint resolution for the removal of the Red River Rafts. The bill was re-committed.

The Special Committee on seats proposed to adjourn until Friday the 5th proximo, in order to restore the old seats. The House refused to adjourn but decided to restore the old seats.

The election of Printer was postponed until Thursday next.

In Committee of the Whole, the President's Message was considered.

Mr. Lamar made an eloquent speech defining the position and condition of the South.

Mr. Davis, of Maryland, likewise defended the Legislature of Maryland for its censure of his vote. He said his vote for Pennington was approved by all whose opinions he respected. He knew Pennington was in favor of the Fugitive Slave Law. His speech abounded in invective.

The House adjourned until Thursday.

FOR THE WATCHMAN.

THE SACRIFICE.

The time was rapidly approaching when our friend was to bid adieu to a life of single blessedness for one wholly different in its nature; and we, who were to stand by him in the hour of trial, expecting to elicit from him some sublime expression, and of seeing his face light up like that of the dying hero or expiring martyr, asked him how he felt; but picture our disappointment when he replied, in his accustomed style, and with an unchanged countenance, that he felt about as usual, or something equivalent to it. Then came the fatal moment and our lamented friend, with a manly fortitude, walked up to the hymenal alter, with a fair young being beside him, and was sacrificed upon it before our eyes with as little apparent concern, as that of Socrates himself, when he drank off the poisonous draught prepared for his death and expired in consequence. We rose and believe, however, that in the amiable and beautiful bride he has won, our friend has received a full reward, such as the true heroism displayed by him on that memorable occasion so richly merits, and hope that others on reading this account, feebly expressed, though it be, may have their souls fired with a noble spirit of emulation with respect to the hero of this affair and resolve to go and do likewise. W.

A fifteen miles skating match came off at Portsmouth (N. H.) on Thursday last. James Ayres made the distance in 47 minutes; George W. Marston in 47 minutes 6 seconds, and Jacob Haddock in 50 minutes. Ayres and Marston each skated one mile in 2 minutes 20 seconds, which is within one fourth of a second of Flora Temple's best time.

We learn from the Memphis Appeal that the bill for the expulsion of free negroes from the State of Mississippi, which passed the House of Representatives of that State, was defeated in the Senate.—The Legislature has adjourned sine die.

Kindness of a Dog.—A son of Mr. Devore, of Harwood, Conn., broke through the ice, and would have been drowned, but for a Newfoundland dog, which caught him by the collar and held him up till assistance came. Afterwards, the dog escorted him home, which, considering that he was a stranger dog, and had no previous acquaintance with the lad, is remembered as an extremely discriminated act.

A Free Negro Enticing a Slave to Runaway.—Kitt Huffman, a free negro who was tried for murder last spring in our Court, has enticed a boy the property of Wm. Cain, Esq., of this place, to run away with him and go North. It seems that for some time past he had been striving to entice two of Mr. Cain's boys (brothers) away, and prevailed upon one to do so. Kitt was up here on Wednesday, but left in the boat for Wilmington, just one hour before the officer arrived at the wharf. It is expected that he will leave the boat at White Hall or some place between this and Wilmington, and meet the boy at some place before arranged upon. Kitt is a bright mulatto, about 5 feet 11 inches or 6 feet high. The citizens of this and adjoining counties ought to keep a good look out for them.

TO THE MERCHANTS

OF THE

WHO BUY FOR CASH.

WE beg to inform the Merchants of the South that for the future we will conduct our business expressly with a view to the wants of the Southern Trade. The handsome patronage which this trade has bestowed upon us, since we commenced business, has induced us to adopt this course. Moreover, the prosperity of the South is increasing the number of merchants, and creating a competition that compels closer buying than has hitherto prevailed. The best Merchants now buy largely for cash, and the numbers of such buyers are rapidly increasing. We do not at present know of any cash Dry Goods House in New York that addresses itself particularly to the South'n Trade, and we embrace the opening thus afforded to announce that we will conduct our business and purchases expressly with a view to Southern wants.

We earnestly commend to the consideration of all who can buy for cash, the following statement of the nature of our business, which we think will convince them that at least our work is worthy of an examination. We buy for Cash exclusively, largely at auction, also at Sheriffs' sales and wherever money commands low prices, and we sell for Cash exclusively; thus we neither pay our charge for the risk of Credit, and besides making no losses, we conduct our business with small expense. We are in old Courtlandt street, where rents are cheap, and we keep no costly salesman, nor send abroad till more costly travelers or collecting agents, which is no trifling item of expense to our credit houses. Our stock will be found somewhat irregular, because we only buy such goods as we can obtain at less than market rates, but we make it an aim to deal in fresh and desirable goods only, and if we ever have any that are otherwise, they shall be fairly represented.

There are numbers of merchants throughout the country who have never tried what cash can do in New York. We respectfully urge all such to try the experiment, and believe we are warranted in assuring them that except on leading domestic goods, a REASONABLE RETAIL PROFIT CAN BE SAVED.

For ourselves we promise fair and honorable dealing to all who may patronize us, and with confidence refer all who may not know us, to a great number of the best merchants throughout the Southern States, one or more of whom may be found in most of the important business towns. We are sure they will cordially bear testimony of our respectability and the cheapness of our goods.
