WAR MOVEMENTS.

The past week was one of continual excitement. Ever since the receipt of President Lincoln's proclamation, and his answer to the Virginia Commissioners, our people have been in a perfect ferment.—Resistance to the last man is the universal sentiment of our people. Old Rip Long, conservative man, who throughout have labored and prayed for a peaceful solution of our sectional troubles, and have nevertheless stood up all hope, yielded with anguish of heart when they could hold out no longer. The miserable duplicity of Abraham Lincoln stung them to the quick, and now, one and all, are freely bringing their sons and their treasures to offer up on the altar of Liberty.

Oh! terrible thought! that Americans—brothers in blood—in historic sympathy—in trials, difficulties, triumphs, achievements, civil and military, should now turn of each other in hostile array, all burning with a fury that consumes like hell! Who would measure the dire damnation due to those, North and South, who have, through years of ceaseless agitation, brought this terrible calamity upon us! As there is a just God in heaven, they will get their reward; and since vengeance is His, let him repay it.

The Rowan Rifle Guard promptly responded to the Governor's call, and as soon as they could make necessary preparations, departed for Wilmington, where they peaceably arrived yesterday morning.

The Rowan Artillery, having some months ago disbanded, are re-organizing, and will soon be ready for service.

A home Guard has been organized, and had their first drill on Saturday evening. This corps consists almost exclusively of men advanced in years, with families requiring their guardian care, or dependent on their daily labor for support.

Our friends in the country have not yet begun to move so far as we have heard. Out of the way, in a great measure, of the daily and almost hourly excitements which reach our towns along the railroads, and busily engaged in planting, we feel sad as we think of the sorrow which will visit them when they shall come fully to realize the condition of our dear happy country; and then, after the short mental struggle shall have passed, die, and another and another, will deliberately lay down his farm tools and buckle on the sword. The millions of weeping mothers, wives and sisters, and the millions of prayers going up from hearts burdened with grief, will not restrain the voluntary human offerings which are to be made in defence of our rights and homes, but rather increase them, and nerve them for the conflict.

Let us all now lay aside our old party trappings, and like our fathers in the revolution of 1776, stake "our lives, our property, and our most sacred honor" on the contest upon which we are entering. Let men give up, at once, all idea of saving money for themselves or their children while this great trial is upon us; but freely make a surrender of every means and every energy with life itself, to promote the common cause. Rise earlier in the morning, live more economically, smoke harder and do more than you ever did before, not for self, but for Country. Fly to your arms, fellow-citizens, of North Carolina, as our brothers of every Southern home are doing, and with an eye to your heaven sworn, victory or DEATH.

Virginia has seceded, and her people are in a blaze of excitement, and determined to resist the black republican war against their rights and honor, to the last extremity.

Kentucky is also raising troops for resistance, determined to stand by the South.

Tennessee rings with the notes of martial music, and her warriors are rushing to the armed field.

Kentucky and Tennessee are famed for their warriors.

Arkansas and Missouri are also coming into the field. The whole South, in fact, from one end of it to the other, is in motion. The war spirit in the absolved States is intense, and men have to be drafted to stay at home.

The people of the Northern States are also in the field of excitement, and huge bodies are concentrating for war.

United States troops at the Norfolk (Va.) Navy Yard, have fired and destroyed the work shops at that place.

Virginia troops have taken Harper's Ferry, the Custom House at Richmond, and sunk vessels in the channel to obstruct Norfolk Harbor.

There was a great resistance meeting in Raleigh, last week, and the military have entered the service against the abolition hordes.

Provisions for the Army.—The citizens of Rowan will understand that all our war movements in this State, are at this time voluntary. The troops who have sprung forward to arms their State, have done so freely. The notice to the first company in the service is scarcely a week old. Consequently what has been done is all owing to the patriotic promptness of the people; and until the Legislature can inaugurate a system, and the State make provision for the support of our men in the field, it must be done by voluntary contributions of the people.—The patriotic citizens of Rowan and therefore requested, as will be seen in another column, to send their gifts to McCubbins & Foster's Store, and they will be duly forwarded to the encampment of our Rowan men.

Extra Session of the Legislature.—Gov. Ellis has called an extra session of the Legislature to be convened at Raleigh on the first day of May.

For the Watchman.

West Point, Ga., April 16, 1861.

Mr. Editor: If you will give an old friend room in your columns, I will attempt to give you some idea of what we are doing in Dixie Land. I say attempt, for I well know that my feeble pen cannot picture the scenes that are daily transpiring and the great enthusiasm of the Southern people. You who live under the benign smiles of Abraham, and have been listening to the peaceful words of the oily tongued Seward, no doubt laid down upon your peaceful beds at night, thinking that all would be well in the morning. Well sir, that morning has come; how many lives you have deceived. The wide-mouthed cannon has aroused you from that quiet slumber, and now the stars but stares you the face, that when Lincoln speaks peace, he means war. What mean those groups of men, old men and young men, rounding about the corners of your streets? what means the flashing of that indignant eye?

What means that fear on that anxious mother's cheek? The North Carolina patriot feels that he has been deceived by an abolition tyrant. Does not that stern eye and compressed lip say, "I am ready for the conflict, victory or death, to Southern arms and institutions."

But, Mr. Editor, I started out to tell you what we are doing in Dixie Land, not what effect the war news has upon the people of North Carolina; but, sir, remember that I am a North Carolinian by birth, and have spent the better part of my days in the Old North State, and then you will excuse me for feeling that I among you still; but to the point. Well sir, the people of the South are ready for any emergency. The whole country is an armed camp. Volunteer Companies are daily forming, while others are being required and marched into service. The cry is "Let me go," and really sometimes I fear that there will not be men enough left at home to take care of the women and children. I notice recently that the Ladies of Mississippi have organized a company as a home guard, to keep the negroes at work, make corn, &c., while their husbands, fathers and sons are doing duty at Pensacola. Such women are worthy descendants of the mothers of '76." Even our black population are aroused; thousands would willingly die in defence of the homes and firesides of their masters. Let me give you an incident. A few days since an old gentleman parting with his son, who was about having for Pensacola, turned to his servant and said, "Ghasow, (the boy's name,) you may go with your young master if you wish." The boy replied, "master I will go: tell Dina (his wife) when you get home dat sum of dem Yankees will get hurt or dare will be one dead nigger."

The banner of seven stars and bread bars now waves over the battlements of Fort Sumter. The northern fleet anchored at a safe distance, dared not attempt to relieve Maj. Anderson, who after fighting for thirty-two hours of terrific battle was compelled to surrender. The Charleston Harbor was a little too hot for northern forces. The slipping into Washington City of the great representative of niggerdom between two lights, disguised in a scotch cloak, and an old woman's night cap, is not calculated to arouse the fire spirits of a cold climate. The rail splitter is no Jackson. The extra Session of Congress called to assemble on the 4th of July next, will not meet in Washington, old Fuss and Feathers, to the contrary notwithstanding. Abe must move a little higher up. The 4th of July next will find Abraham afar off and the Licut. General safe in his bosom.

We people of the South are under the impression that it will cost less to take a Capitol, than to build one.

I am frequently asked, "Will North Carolina make one more star in our Confederacy," I answer "Yes," North Carolina, God bless her, must, she will come out." People of my native State did I answer right? Patriots of North Carolina, ye who are the descendants of those who made it too hot for Cornwallis and his myrmidons, awake! to arms! to arms! Your brethren are already in the field. The next gale that sweeps from the Gulf will bring the sound of booming cannon. Fort Pickens must share the fate of Sumter. This morning we received Lincoln's proclamation calling upon the rebels to disperse. Men have combined in such numbers, he cannot collect the revenue. He wants the rent, the mighty dollar. The booming of cannon around the walls of Fort Pickens, will tell him that we "have millions for defence, not one cent for tribute." The Southern Commissioners went to Washington with the olive branch in their hands, the black republican Cabinet talked peace but meant war; now we cry "Come on McDuff, and damned be he who first cries hold, enough."

BLUFFTON.

FLAG PRESENTATION.

The Rowan Rifle Guard received a very pretty company flag last Friday evening, got up and presented to them by Mrs. A. Myers. It consists of the Confederate stripes and a single star. We do not know the interpretation, unless it be secession and the Southern Confederacy. We were too far off to hear the address which accompanied it and the response by 1st Lieut. H. C. Jones, Jr. The Salisbury Band contributed their invaluable services on this occasion, as also on several others during the past week. The incident was an interesting one. The hearts of some of our friends were wrung to see our sons marshalling under the folds of a strange flag; but since the "stars and stripes" now cover those who wage war against us, it can no longer be our ensign.

A Chance for Unionists.—Lincoln calls for men, and should a requisition be made upon North Carolina it is to be expected that the Unionists of North Carolina will promptly buckle on their armor and enlist in the Black Republican War upon the Seceded States. Of course Messrs. Holden, of the Raleigh Standard, and F. L. Wilson, of the Banner, Brawer, the Watchman at Salisbury, and the other lesser lights who have been fighting so stubbornly with their pens for the Union, will be the first to respond. We will "Wait and Watch" but can't be persuaded to "pitch in."—Charlotte Bulletin.

"If it is to be expected," should our national troubles settle down into a general war, the South against the North, according to sectional boundaries, as seems very probable; we say, in that event, "it is to be expected" that those who have been so long spitting for a fight—who have repeatedly declared they would not accept any compromise the North could make, will be as doggedly determined to be first in the fray. The Britton of the Bullet in, we are quite will pine away from his young wife and crying babies, and with a zeal equal to seven furies, charge upon the Yankee hosts! Every one of the secessionists will at once lay down the every day affairs of life, gird on the sword and throw away the scabbard and pitch in.

Since the above was written, the time has come. We will see what we shall see.

SUICIDE.

John Douglas, a small man aged from 25 to 30 years, a Prussian, committed suicide at the house of Mr. Alex. Ben, in this place, Wednesday forenoon, by shooting himself through the heart with a pistol. Fearing the weapon might miss fire he touched it off with a coal, which he held with the tongs. He must have died instantly, as when found he still held the tongs in his hand. Letters found in his possession state, that having been deprived of all his means of support by the absconding of a man to whom he had entrusted his funds, he had no way of making a living, and preferred death as a relief from the trouble which had befallen him. He seemed to be a respectable man, and very well educated.

LIES.—It was reported here on Saturday, that a mob had assailed Massachusetts troops in passing through Baltimore, and that 20 had been killed 1,500 taken prisoners, and 13 Baltimoreans slain. Later accounts say nothing of any one killed, and the conclusion is that it was a very small affair.

It was also reported that they were fighting at Fort Pickens. We are as confirmation of that.

LATEST FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, April 18.

There is tremendous excitement here. Large numbers of troops are stationed at every point around the city, and Flying Artillery, with immense brass pounders pointing to the Virginia shore, keep constant guard.

Several companies have just marched down Pennsylvania avenue, and about nine miles from Baltimore, on my passage to Washington this afternoon, I passed nine car loads of troops moving to the same destination.

Several hundred more from Pennsylvania and Massachusetts are expected here this morning.

FROM COLUMBIA.

COLUMBIA, April 21.

The Navy Yard at Portsmouth, Va., was burned last night by the U. States troops and about 1,200 men went to Fortress Monroe.

Heavy firing of cannon was distinctly heard last night at Columbia also at Camden and Kingsville; supposed to be in the direction of Wilmington, N. C.

State of North Carolina,

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
RALEIGH, April 20, 1861.

GENERAL ORDER, NO. 3.

THE Volunteer forces of the State not already ordered into active service, are commanded to hold themselves in readiness to march at an hour's notice. The officers are required to send to the Adjutant General's Office a roll of the members of the companies. I am directed by the Governor to call for the enrollment of thirty thousand volunteers. Organize—send in the rolls. Commissions and arms will be furnished. Be in readiness to march at a day's notice; drill by day and by night; let the citizens equip their men; some of your brothers are now in the field. The State has reason to be proud of the promptness with which they rallied at the call of your Governor. The decree for our subjugation has gone forth; the blow will soon fall; we must meet it with the whole energies of the State; we must show to the world that North Carolina will maintain her rights at all hazards.

By Order of the Commander-in-Chief,
J. F. HOKE,
Adjutant General.

BAKER & CO'S MEDICINAL TRANSPARENT COD LIVER OIL.

THE TRUE AND GENUINE

UNSURPASSED IN QUALITY AND EFFECTS.

WHEN THE PUREST AND BEST PREPARED.

This oil, if fairly tried, will soon restore the tone of the digestive organs, invigorate the blood, give general vitality to the frame and add energy to the mind and nervous system. Its value has been remarkably evidenced by its wonderful restorative powers, when ordinary means had been vainly exhausted. It affords nourishment to the body when no other can be borne, and furnishes the frame with fat in a truly remarkable manner.

For CONSUMPTION and BRONCHITIS.

For SCROFULA in all its developments.

For WEAKNESS, WASTING, and many forms of DEBILITY, its curative properties are unrivaled.

It may be taken without disrelish by the most delicate patient, and operates without sickening the most sensitive stomach. Its superiority to this and other important classes of preparations, has been attested by the Profession throughout the Union; the written testimony of the faculty of the most prominent schools; the Professors of the UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA, JEFFERSON COLLEGE OF PHILADELPHIA, PHILADELPHIA COLLEGE of MEDICINE, and others.

Invalids should be careful to purchase only of established reputation if they desire the most active and immediate advantages of the remedy. That which we prepare has decided evidences of superiority over other brands. Manufactured only by
