

THE BATTLE AT HATTERAS.

This affair, so far as our forces were concerned, was characterized by the same determined resistance and manly courage which has been displayed in every engagement had with the enemy since the war began. God has given our men wonderful nerve and courage in every battle yet fought; nor is the Hatteras affair an exception. The enemy had over 100 guns of large size—64 pounders; and our men had 14 guns, 33 pounders. The enemy was 4,000 strong: we but 6 or 700! The enemy stood off out of the reach of our guns, but within full range of their own heavy pieces. This enabled them to rain down upon our men and forts shot and shell with perfect impunity. Whenever they came in reach, the guns of the Fort peppered them well. And with this great difference in men and guns, our garrisons held out for one day and a half! How heartily we wish that the members of the late Governor's Military Board had been under that terrible hail of shot and shell, passing, with our brave soldiers through that fiery ordeal. The people of North Carolina have no reproaches to utter against our forces at Hatteras, though it may cost them $50,000,000 in money and thousands of lives to recover the loss sustained there. Nor have they time now, to fix the blame where it should rest. They must bestir themselves to beat back the invaders of our State, reserving for a future occasion a settlement with those by whose neglect this great disaster has befallen us. Forbearance to such offenders is but cruelty to the people, who have to sustain the consequences of their mismanagement, incompetency or neglect. But let no one be discouraged by the loss at Hatteras. Our cause is still a holy one; and all we possess and hope for in this world depends on our ability to beat back the Northern robbers who are endeavoring to subjugate and ruin us. Our success thus far has been brilliant—too good, in fact, for our welfare; for we were in great danger of becoming careless and feeling secure before the danger was over. This loss will teach us that the enemy is wide awake, and ready to strike us at every exposed point. Let us therefore arouse all our remaining energies and press on to the final victory which we firmly believe awaits us and our cause.

SWIFT MESSENGER.

The Fayetteville Observer relates the passage of a bill through both Houses of our Legislature to pay the 1st Regiment one month's dues—they being in suffering need of it. A messenger was appointed to carry them the money; but at the end of eight days after, no messenger had arrived at the camp, and no tidings received of him or the money. If we our soldiers have friends at home respectful of their necessities.

Salt—This article of indispensable need will soon be plenty, and of Southern manufacture. We may have to pay high prices for it this Fall and Winter; but in a year from now there is reason to believe it will be very cheap. Manufacturers are being established at several places along the coast.

What it Cost—The cost of the Federal Government of taking Fort Hatteras is estimated at about one million dollars. The loss of the Harriet Lane alone, could not have been much less than half a million. Can they steal negroes, pigs and chickens enough on our coast to indemnify them? Some body will be apt to get hurt when they try it.

The Rev. Mr. Grier, formerly of Wilmington, N. C., who returned to Pennsylvania, his native State, on the breaking out of the war, is said to be a chaplain in one of the Northern Regiments.

The Semi-daily mail from High Point to Salem has been discontinued. There is now no connection with the morning train from the South.

Mr. Wilkinson's School—The exercises of the Salisbury Female Seminary will be resumed next Wednesday morning.

From the Charlotte Herald.

J. W. THOMAS. We were called upon by some of the merchants of Charlotte, on Wednesday night to learn from them that J. W. THOMAS, the Principal of the Glenn Anna Female Institute, located at Thomasville, N. C., and also a member of the Senate of North Carolina, who has just returned from a hurried visit in the Northern States, had brought with him notes and accounts against our merchants, which he has purchased or taken as agent, to collect, in violation of both our State and Confederate laws, and that he is now engaged in dunning and gathering up funds from our people to both give aid and comfort to our enemies and put money in his pocket. One of the letters has been sent to our Senator, Mr. WALKER, in order that he may bring the affair before the Senate, and we hope that that conservative and dignified branch of our Legislature will take the matter in hand and deal with Mr. THOMAS in the most rigid manner, for if men who sit in high places are allowed to violate law, themselves being members of the body who make laws, we should not condemn those more humble in life who set law at defiance and aid the invaders of our soil.

[THE EVIDENCE.]

THOMASVILLE, N. C., Sept. 3d, 1861. Messrs. Drucker & Holthorn: Gents:—I had a claim against a house in New York, who could not pay, and to secure myself, took paper on Southern men. I received an account on you for $374 71 in part payment. If convenient, please remit. If done soon, N. C. money at par will be received in payment. Yours truly, J. W. THOMAS.

1860. A statement of W. Lee & Co. To Messrs. Mo's. Sept. 18. " 6 " due $363 18 March 18, '61 17 53

Am't due Sept. 1st, '61. $374 71 We hereby empower and authorize J. W. Thomas, Esq., to collect the above account and receipt from him will be in settlement of the same.

W. H. LEE & CO. With the above evidence of the complicity of Mr. J. W. THOMAS with our enemies, acting as agent, the public as well as the Legislature ought to deal with him as a secret and most dangerous enemy. It is proper to remark that, as Mr. THOMAS claims to be collecting to indemnify himself, many Northern houses must have been indebted to him, for he is sending out heavy duns, similar to the above, which makes him a general agent.

Mr. Thomas has forwarded for payment a Northern claim against the mercantile firm of McCobb & Foster, of this place. It will not be paid to Mr. Thomas. There is considerable indignation here against this speculating gentleman.

FROM RICHMOND. RICHMOND, Sept. 5.

It is generally conceded that the advance of the Confederates towards Alexandria, Arlington and other points, have been steady and successful.

Nothing reliable received from the operations in the mountains. Bad weather has impeded movements.

Much speculation is indulged in, as to the destination of Gen. Sidney Johnson.—The Hessians will find out where Johnson is at the proper time.

Newspapers south of Augusta are very irregular in their arrival at Richmond.

Some few sheets of Confederate notes of the denominations of five and ten dollars, were stolen at Petersburg, en route to Richmond, but being bunglingly signed, they were readily detected and the parties implicated in stealing and counterfeiting have been arrested and are now in custody in Richmond.

RICHMOND, Sept. 6. Passengers from Manassas report that a courier reached there yesterday forenoon and stated that Shuter's Hill was taken by the Confederates on Wednesday.

Federal loss, killed and wounded, 400 with 300 prisoners. Confederate loss 120 killed and wounded. The report is given as received.

Col. Wheat, who fought so gallantly and was wounded so severely during the battle at Manassas plains, has arrived and appears well.

FROM KENTUCKY. LOUISVILLE, Sept. 6.

Gov. Magoffin's Message on Federal Relations is mostly retrospective, showing neutrality to have been thrice ratified at the ballot box, and that his own course in refusing men to Lincoln, and his efforts to keep belligerents off of Kentucky soil, have met with nearly the unanimous approval of Kentuckians. He says—and now addressing myself to the Representatives of Kentucky, I protest in the name of Constitutional Liberty, and in the presence of Heaven and Earth, against all and every one of the President's usurpations and unconstitutional and illegal acts, and I protest furthermore, against the prosecution of a War professedly for the object of restoring the government, an object utterly impossible of attainment by such insane means as a war of coercion. And I protest, moreover, against Kentucky being made the camping grounds or the pathway for the movement of forces by either belligerents. And I recommend earnestly to the General Assembly the prompt passage of resolutions requiring both belligerents to keep off our soil, and respect in good faith the neutrality which the people of Kentucky, with unexampled unanimity desire to maintain.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. B. G. Galder, Paymaster of Navy and native of Virginia, has been arrested.

The government is endeavoring to make contracts for provisions payable in Treasury Notes.

BOARON, Sept. 6. Gen. Butler is here and will address a Union meeting at Faneuil Hall.

FROM NEWBERY. NEWBERY, Sept. 6.

All is quiet here. The people are returning to their homes with a feeling of full security. There is no news of any further movement of the enemy on the sound or coast.
