

To the Voters of the Eighth Congressional District of North Carolina:

I respectfully announce myself to you as a candidate for re-election. By your kind partiality I have the honor of a seat in the First Congress of the Confederate States.

While in Congress, therefore, as your representative, I used every exertion in my power to strengthen and increase the army, to give proper assistance and encouragement to the Executive, and to prevent, as far as possible, those disastrous collisions between the civil and the military authorities which are so apt to occur and so difficult to adjust in time of war.

I voted for both Conscription acts, not because I desired to force the Southern citizen from his home and family to the camp and battle-field, but because I considered them indispensable to the independence of the country.

I voted to raise the pay of the non-commissioned officers and privates in the army, because I believed that they both deserved and needed it.

I voted against the Exemption acts, not because I was opposed to all exemptions, but because I considered those acts wrong in principle, dangerous in policy, and unjust in many of their discriminations.

I voted for the Funding bill, because I thought it necessary to diminish the volume of the currency and thereby to give more healthy action to the finances of the country.

I voted for the Tax bill of the House, which was rejected by the Senate; but, before the conference bill, which is the present Tax law, came up for action in the House, I was called away by affliction to my family, and hence I had no opportunity to vote either for or against that measure.

In fine, I voted for every measure which I thought would give strength to our army, vigor to the Government, and confidence to the country.

Should you endorse my course as your representative by a re-election to Congress, I shall be guided by the same principles and policy which my record indicates, and I shall devote my best energies and attention to secure your interest; and, although I desire peace as ardently as any one, and shall use every honorable means to obtain it, yet I will consent to no adjustment which does not bring with it the independence of the Confederate States, their total separation from the United States, and all the blessings of liberty to which we are entitled by inheritance and for which we are now contending.

Our cause is just. Our trust is in God. Our destiny, I firmly believe, is to be victorious in this struggle, and to enjoy a career glorious beyond parallel in all past history. Let us prove ourselves worthy of our cause, and worthy of our destiny. Let us be united in our efforts, and the whole world combined cannot enslave us.

I am, very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
W. LANDER.

LEATHER.

THIS IMPORTANT ARTICLE OF prime necessity continues to advance in price, and shoe-makers are predicting that prices hitherto accounted enormous will be next to nothing as compared with prospective demands—This may be so, and probably will be true unless consumers shall take timely warning and prepare to supply their wants without purchasing. It is believed there are surplus cattle and hides enough in the country to supply the public demand for leather. Farmers, as a general thing, keep more cattle than can be well kept and made most profitable. If they would take as good care of their cows as they do their horses and mules, one half the number would be more profitable for milk and butter. The surplus stock might be fattened and slaughtered. The undersigned desires to do all in his power to keep down the price of leather, and if he can secure the co-operation of stock-owners he believes he can do much good in this direction. He cannot afford to pay the present, extraordinary demands of dry and green hide, and then sell leather at $2, the highest price he has, up to this time, sold at. But if farmers, who have hides, will send them to his Tannery, (or leave them at Sprague Brothers, in Salisbury), he will tan them on the usual terms, obligating himself to sell his own share at a rate only reasonable enough to justify him in so doing. I don't wish to speculate, have done, and will do all I can, against it. So any one wishing to have their Hides Tanned can do as above directed.
