

all these evils may be averted, instead of multiplying antagonist interests and exciting animosity and throughout the nation, marked by geographical boundaries the interest of all, that measures be adopted, would preserve the interest of the country, in the operation of which, every section would be reconciled, and which in fact draw together the different parts with bonds of affection and mutual, personal, as well as political interests."

Raleigh, July 21.—It is with pleasure we learn that our Statesman, Robert H. B. Brantley, Esq. has been appointed to the Board of Public Works of Virginia, engineer for the eastern district of that State. Star.

We are requested by Messrs. Ransom & Potter, to say that they are making arrangements to commence shortly the publication of the North-Carolina Constitutionalist, a sufficient number of subscribers having been obtained to justify its commencement.

Persons holding subscription lists are requested to return them without delay to Messrs. Ransom & Potter, at Raleigh. Fayet. Obs.

The Mails.—The Newbern Mail, of Wednesday last, contains a letter from Mr. O. B. Brown, chief clerk in the Post-office Department, by which it appears that "the Postmaster General has caused such improvements to be effected on the entire line between Baltimore and Charleston, as will give to our northern and southern mails, a dispatch hitherto unprecedented." The whole distance is estimated at 660 miles, which will be performed in 5 days and 1 hour. The mails will take the seaboard route, by way of Norfolk, Newbern, Wilmington, &c.

Flagrant Outrage.—The Norfolk Herald says: We hasten to give publicity to the following statement, communicated to us by several gentlemen of the first standing in Accomack and Northampton counties, and call upon the publishers of newspapers South of us to follow our example, that the perpetrators of this lawless outrage against humanity and the laws may be brought to justice, and their victims rescued from illegal bondage.

Drummond Town, Accomack County, Va. July 11.—Sometime during the month of October last, two negro women, the one called Abigail, and the other Ann, with two children called Leonard and Jane, were taken from the possession of a certain Daniel McKenzie, a negro trader, (who brought them here from the State of Delaware) and committed to the custody of the sheriff of this county upon an application to sue in forma pauperis for their freedom. Early in June last, the jail of this county was broken, and these negroes escaped into Maryland, where they were apprehended and committed to the jail of Worcester county, in Snow Hill. In the first week of this month the deputy sheriff of this county proceeded to remove them thence to our jail, when a man named — Currie, who professed himself to be an agent of McKenzie, got them out of the custody of the deputy sheriff, and crossing the Chesapeake in Floyd's packet from Northampton, landed them at Portsmouth. It is probable that he is now on his way to North-Carolina, or some other Southern State. It is hoped that the friends of humanity will endeavor to arrest this kidnapper, in his outrageous attempt to trample on law as well as liberty, and prevent his removing these unfortunate beings beyond all hope of freedom, their right to which is very little doubted here.

Maryland.—The Baltimore papers announce the lamented decease of the Governor of the State of Maryland, Daniel Martin, Esq. He died at his residence near Easton, after an illness of three days. By this unexpected event, George Howard, Esq. of Anne Arundel country, President of the Executive Council, becomes Governor of the State.

Pause!—The people of this city were thrown into some excitement on Thursday last, by the circulation of an anonymous pamphlet of 16 pages. It proposes a Missionary Society for Richmond—the city to be divided into three wards, by certain metes and boundaries, &c. and agents to be appointed to pay domiciliary visits, every two weeks, for an hour or two to each house—to circulate and read the bible, to offer up prayers, to give moral advice, &c. The names of three or four ministers of the gospel, of different persuasions, have since been named as the authors or aiders of the scheme—besides the names of a few gentlemen, who are to patronize the association and to assist in carrying its objects in execution.

We hope the opposition, with which this proposition has been received by several of the most enlightened citizens of Richmond, will nip it in the bud. The people of Virginia are disposed to cherish the gospel—the great mass of them visit the temples consecrated to the divinity. They have delighted to listen to the admonitions of different ministers of the different sects—to the affecting exhortations of the venerable Bishop of the Episcopal church, the erudition of a Rice, the touching enthusiasm of a Parks—but when they are asked to receive the domiciliary visits of the ministers of the churches, or their agents, they will be apt to say to them: "No, no, gentlemen—we must decline your proposition. We esteem you as men; we hearken to you at the churches or at the lectures with the respect which becomes your station. We will listen to your arguments, in favor of that holy religion which you preach to men. But, we must decline such visits as you propose. We cannot consent, that you should visit our households for the purpose of regulating our conduct there or that of our families. It looks too much like an Inquisition, and we cannot consent to the introduction of any thing which looks like such an institution. We must judge in these respects for ourselves. The great quality of the Virginians is, that they dare to think for themselves—and this is said to be the great secret of the independence of their minds and the firmness of their character. While we yield all due deference to the ministers of religion, we cannot consent to become their dependents."—Rich. Enq.

FOREIGN.

Three days later from Europe.—The ship Nereus, at Boston from London, furnishes London dates to the evening of the 3d June. With the exception of some further details of the continued success of the Poles, their contents are uninteresting.

The London Star, of the evening of the 3d June, says: The brave Polish Commander has completely out-maneuvred the Russians. While a Polish corps was amusing them at Minsk, Skryznecki united all the corps on his left, crossed the Bug, and taking Ostrolenka by assault, has proceeded to Lomza, defeated the Russian guards at Tychosin, and in fact occupied the whole country between the Bug and Narew.

Accounts from Warsaw of the 25th, left Diebitsch at Zocolo, apparently in route for Ostrolenka, or for Bielski or Bialystock, with no resource but to throw himself on the protection of Prussia, as Dwernicki threw himself on the protection of the Austrians. He has, however, to cross the Bug and Narew, with Polish corps at every side of him.

By this masterly movement, the Polish General has placed himself in contact with the Samogitians, Lithuanians, and other revolted districts, by whose population his army will be indefinitely augmented, so as to leave to Diebitsch no prospect of escape, but within the Prussian frontiers. The foreign journals assert, he will endeavor to reach Thorne, in Prussia; but we expect he will seek to cross the Rossoka, and avail himself of its vast forests.

The Messenger de Pologne, a Warsaw paper, announces that Gen. Skryznecki had taken Ostrolenka on the 13th May, where he obtained a large sum of money, the baggage of the enemy, and 1700 prisoners—his aim was to get between the Russians and their supplies.

DIED.

In this county, on Friday, the 15th inst. aged about 48 years, Mr. Abraham Sharp, leaving a wife and eight children to lament his loss.
