Notice. AS I have not been known to the public, and they have not been made acquainted with my work, I therefore beg to inform persons having any Brick work or Plastering to do, or any kind of brick work, particularly such as brick chimneys, facias, strap arches, cornices, &c. all piers, pilasters, &c. &c. would oblige themselves by calling on me, as I have got a farm of arches, &c. &c. in England, superior to any that I have ever brought here. And with my own learned here, and with the assistance of my book, can execute any job of brick or plastering, in a style that has never been equalled about here. As I am now carrying on the business, I would be very thankful for the people to employ me, if my work does not prove to be as well formed, stronger and more than any has ever been done by any brick mason in this section. I will not charge any more for my work, and will do it as far as my terms as could be expected. On any jobs I would wish to make the terms, I know that I can make a smoother brick than ever has been made any where. I will warrant my work, from smoking, or any thing else that will be one the work, and to be superior to any that has ever been done here.
