TARBOROUGH:

SATURDAY, APRIL 13, 1839.

We would remind our readers, that Monday next is the time appointed for the assembling at Washington, of the Republican Convention for this Congressional district. We are pleased to see such a resolute and determined spirit manifesting itself—the democracy appear to be anxious to merit success, if they cannot command it. The "crisis," so happily set forth by H. I. Toole, Esq. at the Washington meeting, demands the united and vigorous exertions of those who still desire to maintain Jeffersonian Republican principles.

We stated in a late number of our paper that it had been intimated to us, that the "good reasons" which Mr. Stanly had promised to assign for his refusing to vote on the Atherton resolutions, were contained in his controversy with Mr. Duncan. We understood it so at the time, and when we made the statement was not aware that Mr. Stanly had issued any Circular in relation thereto, until we saw the following article in the Raleigh Standard. So soon as we can obtain a copy of the Circular referred to, we will endeavor to give our readers an idea of its contents.

Mr. STANLY, in his address from Washington City, to the third Congressional District, uses the following words: "I welcome the hour that bids me leave

"this troublesome theatre of party strife. I leave with pleasure these scenes where I see daily exhibitions of the corruptions and vile mismanagement of a party that is struggling to get possession of all the power, patronage, and money of the nation."

What party is "struggling to get possession of all the power, patronage, and money of the nation"? If the "whigs" are to be believed, the democratic republican party, have got possession. Then it must be the "whigs" whose picture the Representative from the third Congressional District has thus faithfully drawn. A man's unstudied pictures are often the best likenesses.—Raleigh Standard.

The Editor of the Washington Whig declines our proposition touching Mr. Duncan's reply to Mr. Stanly—but instead of that, says he will publish next week his letter to the abolitionists of Ohio, "for the edification of his readers." We would assuredly "think the Editor of the Whig is joking," did he appear to be in a joking humor. We have never read Mr. Duncan's letter, but in our humble opinion, his reply to Mr. Stanly, having a direct bearing on the conduct of their Representative, would "edify" the readers of the Whig far more than his letter to the abolitionists. But while the Whig is sedulously engaged in selecting from other Whig papers, encomiums on Mr. Stanly's speech, we will assist him in procuring a moiety of Whig truth and candor, which by the by are scarce commodities where "democrats" are concerned, which we trust friend Machen will insert purely "for the edification of his readers." The Tuscaloosa Intelligencer, a federal whig paper, has the following candid and just remarks on Mr. Stanly's speech:—

"We confess we do not admire this production, which consists almost exclusively of the bitterest personal invective against Dr. Duncan, of Ohio.—It is often exceedingly coarse, and sometimes descends to the lowest scurrility. To polished wit, refined satire, chastened sarcasm, and dignified invective we shall never object; but we do protest against this degradation of the halls of Congress by mere personal abuse."

Sudden and accidental Death.—We learn that on Tuesday evening last, Mr. George Pollock came to his death in a very sudden manner in Halifax county. He had left his carriage at one of his plantations on the Roanoke, and had mounted a young horse for the purpose of riding out; in attempting to pass through the gate the horse became refractory, and on being struck by Mr. Pollock the horse reared up and fell back on him, crushing him in such a shocking manner as to cause almost instantaneous death. The accident was witnessed only by the little boy that opened the gate, who immediately gave the alarm. Mr. Pollock was quite an aged man, and one of the wealthiest and most extensive landholders in the Southern country—and was said to be the owner of 1500 slaves. He had never been married.

We learn from the Raleigh Standard that the Hon. David L. Swain has been placed at the head of the Fayetteville and Western Rail Road Company, at the recent meeting of the Board of Internal Improvement. The Register states the announcement is premature.

Chinese Mulberry.—The demand for this invaluable plant appears to be still on the increase. At a great sale recently held in New York, the Star states that the prices throughout were a full advance of 25 per cent. The Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle states that four trees, about five years old, were sold in that city, for $150 each. We are told that the sales of Messrs. Collins & Pettigrew, of this State, this spring have amounted to about $75,000. A late Norfolk Herald has the following article in relation thereto:—

On Friday last, the steamboat Alabama took up to Baltimore 22,000 mulberry switches, (Morus Multicaulis) from six to eight feet in length, the value of which, at the lowest calculation based upon actual sales all through the country, cannot be less than forty-five thousand dollars. The number of eyes or buds, upon these 22,000 switches, is ascertained by carefully counting them, to be two millions two hundred and fifty-four thousand, which, according to the prevailing prices, would be considered cheap at two to two and a half cents a piece. The whole were raised on fifteen acres of such land as would be considered well sold at ten dollars an acre in ordinary situations; and the cost of the cuttings, the expense of cultivation, packing, freight, and all else being added, the whole would probably not exceed one thousand dollars! Who would spin out his existence in a fruitless search after the philosopher's stone—and who would think himself rich with a gold mine on his estate, in view of an example like this?

These valuable trees were the property of Messrs. Collins and Pettigrew, two gentlemen with princely estates, near Edenton, N. C., and were sent on to Baltimore in the care of an agent, to be there disposed of. They were packed up with great care in boxes containing, we should judge, about 250 trees in each.

We are gratified to perceive that the veteran editor of the Richmond Enquirer, long known as an able expositor of Republican doctrines, has quoted in terms of just commendation, the speech of Mr. Toole made at the Republican meeting in this Town, and published in the Republican. There is a fine spirit animating the Democratic party of this District. Union, concession are the watchwords. Every thing for principles, nothing for men. We have read with great pleasure the patriotic remarks made by General Louis D. Wilson, the distinguished senator from Edgecombe, at the Republican meeting at Tarborough. He declares, that his late canvass for Congress was a sacrifice of interest and feeling to principle, and that he will go for the man who can best support the principles he maintains.—Washington Hep.

Swartwout.—The New York Sunday Morning News says that "Mr. Swartwout, our late collector, invested nearly or quite all the amount of his defalcation to government in Texas lands, and that since his arrival in England he has effected a sale of those lands to a company of capitalists for about six millions three hundred thousand dollars."

If this intelligence be correct, Samuel Swartwout may stand a chance to be re-nominated for the Vice Presidency, by the New Light Whigs.—Lincolnton Rep.

The Tusculum Alabamian states that the United States Marshall for the Northern District of Mississippi, has made levies on S. Swartwout's interest in eight hundred sections of Chickasaw lands.

The new passenger car put upon the Wilmington and Raleigh Rail Road, last week, is worthy of a passing notice, from its own beauty and convenience, and from the evidence it furnishes of the disposition of the Directors to gratify travellers in the most minute particulars. This car will seat about fifty passengers, is divided into two compartments, connected by a door, and is finished off in the most comfortable manner.

There is now upon this end of the road, eight locomotives, in order for use. On the first of May another steamboat, the "Wilmington," is to be ready to take her place in the line between Wilmington and Charleston. We mention these things as proofs of the spirit and energy with which this most important work has been pressed forward, and as giving earnest that public expectation of its future benefits, will not be disappointed. Wilmington Chronicle.

Small Pox.—For several weeks past, a disease, resembling the distinct small pox has prevailed in this place, to a limited extent and without and fatal or serious consequences. We would have announced the fact, for the information of our country readers, on the first appearance of the disease, but for a difference of opinion then existing among our physicians concerning its nature and character. This difference yet exists, but we think it proper to state that an eruptive and contagious disease of some kind is among us, to the extent of eight or ten cases.

Since the above was written, we have learned that in one case the disease has proved fatal. Mrs. Cummings we are told, died of it on Wednesday. Newbern Spectator.

Biddle and the Bank.—Nicholas Biddle, esq. has resigned the Presidency of the United States Bank of Pennsylvania. Thomas Dandap, has been unanimously appointed his successor. Mr. Biddle has held his office for 20 years, and been a devoted servant to the interests of the aristocracy. Time will develop his claims to the title of the "greatest financier of the age," which has been bestowed upon him by the unmeaning breath of party adulation. He has done more mischief than any man of his time; not through extraordinary talents, but through the extraordinary moneyed means at his command; and whatever else his friends may claim for him, he will be known to posterity as the great conspirator against public morals and the liberty of his countrymen. Raleigh Standard.

Fire and loss of life.—A correspondent of the Richmond Compiler writes from Norfolk, under date of the 4th inst. given information of the destruction of the new double brick tenement on High Street, Portsmouth, by fire. The printing office of the Portsmouth Times was entirely destroyed, as also the chief part of the contents of the post office and Mr. Anderson's Book Store. Adjoining the conflagrated building, on the east, was a large frame house, occupied by Mr. Thomas J. Godwin as a cabinet Manufactory and warehouse, from which nearly all the furniture had been removed, when the gable end and chimneys of the brick house fell upon it, breaking through the roof and upper floor. Mr. Godwin and several others were in the house at the time, and Mr. G. was buried and perished under the mass of rubbish; Mr. Nichols and Mr. Brooks were both badly, though not dangerously hurt. The death of Mr. Godwin is a loss to the community, and is deeply deplored by his fellow-citizens.—ib.

No material change in markets.

The sick are all taking Goelicke's Matchless Sanaive, which is astonishing Europe and America with its mighty cures.

A perfect cure of Asthma, fifty four years standing, effected by the treatment of Dr. Wm. Evans.—This is to certify, that I was attacked with the Asthma in the ninth year of my age, and from that time until the present year, a period of fifty four years, I have been subject to that disease. For the last five years, I had it almost incessantly—not being exempt from it more than twenty four hours at any one time. I had consulted the most skillful physicians, and tried many remedies without any relief. In June last, I commenced using Dr. Wm. Evans' Vegetable Medicine, not with the expectation of effecting a cure, for I believed my case hopeless and my dissolution near, but with the hope of obtaining momentary relief. Before I had used two packages, I was entirely relieved; and I have not been attacked with it since. I can now say that I am permanently cured of the disease, and I can confidently recommend it to all who are afflicted with this distressing complaint.

PROSPECTUS For the "Extra Globe," for 1839. WE lay before our Republican friends a subscription paper for our cheap periodical publication, the "Extra Globe." During the months when Congress is in session, we publish the "Congressional Globe," which gives a condensed report of its proceedings weekly, for one dollar. In the interval between the sessions of Congress, we publish the "Extra Globe," for six months, containing the news, politics, public documents, and whatever else of interest appears in the Daily Globe, for the same price. These two publications are printed weekly, in book form, to render them convenient for preservation and reference. Each number contains 16 royal quarto pages.

The important elections which will take place during the approaching Summer and Fall, will give peculiar value to the information to be derived from this quarter, during the canvass. The new phases of parties in the North, and the troubled aspect which foreign agitation gives to our national affairs, will also impart to the country for the six months preceding the meeting of the next Congress, more than ordinary interest. The publication of the "Extra Globe" will commence the first week in May, and end the first week in November next.
