

TARBOROUGH:

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 26, 1846.

The Result.

Six counties remain to be heard from, but enough has been received to warrant the assertion that "we can and we will" be beaten. The feds claim a majority of 8000 for Gov. Graham, 4 majority in the Senate, and 16 in the House of Commons, giving them a majority of 20 on joint ballot—last Legislature they had 22 on joint ballot, so there is not much of a gain for them on that score, and our unhappy divisions indisputably account for the increase of Gov. Graham's majority, without an increase of the popular vote in his favor. In the face of this apparent decrease of the federal strength, their organs modestly ask us to admit that the Old North State is whig—our "conscience" will not permit us to do so. With the fact so plainly demonstrated that nought but a want of unanimity occasioned our defeat, we can but "turn over a new leaf and try again."

Mr. Haywood's Address.

The Union contains Mr. Haywood's Address to the People of North Carolina, touching his recent course on the Tariff and his resignation as Senator. Its extreme length forbids its introduction into our columns, which we do not regret, as it contains much gross abuse of his "frenzied partisans" for engaging in the "dirty work" of objecting to his course; and an insidious attack on the whole democratic party for advocating the Revenue Tariff bill of 1842, in preference to the Protective Tariff of 1842; and is, withal, a good whig Tariff speech. The following testimony explains the whole matter, that is: Mr. Haywood was ignorant on the subject of the tariff, when he went as Senator to Congress, sought information, found it in Daniel Webster's Speech, and doubtless would have followed in his footsteps had not "conscience" interposed. In his Address, speaking of the Tariff, Mr. Haywood says:—

"Soon after taking my seat in the Senate of the United States (in December, 1843) I for one felt what any man when he first goes into Congress directly from private life will be apt to experience, and that was, a lack of necessary knowledge and information upon it."

The Washington Correspondent of the Raleigh Register, under date July 25th, wrote in reference to the tariff bill:—

"The vote was to have been taken today. Mr. Webster was speaking, and for an hour or two, Mr. Haywood listened to him, then sent to the Chair his resignation and retired from the Chamber."

The last Register contains Mr. Haywood's Address, and remarks:

"By the way, Mr. Haywood's argument in favor of the principle of protection, and against the course and policy of the Administration on the tariff subject, are all good whig arguments."

FOR THE TARBORO' PRESS.

At an adjourned meeting of the democratic party of Edgecombe county, held at the Court House in Tarboro' on Tuesday, 25th Aug. 1846, being Court week—Jos. Jno. Phippen, Esq. resumed the Chair and R. R. Bridgers, Esq. acted as Secretary.

Gen. L. D. Wilson addressed the meeting on the course and principles of the democratic party of North Carolina on the subject of the tariff, and on motion a committee of seven were appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting.

Whereupon the Chair appointed Gen. J. Barnes, Wm. Norfleet, Esq. John S. Danzey, Wm. Thigpen, John L. Bridgers, Esq., Wm. S. Baker and Jesse C. Knight, Esqs., who after retiring some time reported the following preamble and resolutions, which were approved and unanimously adopted.

WHEREAS, the democratic citizens of Edgecombe having heard with much astonishment and regret of the resignation of Senator Haywood, and having seen the vindication of his conduct, feel bound in duty to themselves to denounce his conduct, and to protest against the statements and arguments which he has used for his vindication. If Mr. Haywood had candidly confessed a change of feelings or principles, and retired from the service of the party, he might have rested in peace, but when he seeks to defend himself by attacking democratic doctrines, or makes a statement of them inconsistent with facts, we must defend our principles and denounce the assailant. We have ever been opposed to a Protective Tariff, and have endeavored to promote the election of such men as would faithfully carry out our views; such we believed Mr. Haywood, and we rejoiced to see him elected to the highly honorable and distinguished post of U. S. Senator, because we believed he had labored long and devotedly in the democratic cause, ably sustained its doctrines, and we believed him fully and sincerely committed to all of its principles. But he has proved recreant to his trust on one of the great fundamental principles of our creed. The Revenue bill just passed was framed by the Executive Department, introduced by the Committee of Ways and Means, sanctioned by the House of Representatives and the Senate, and approved by the President—all of them democratic. The bill itself was founded on the ad valorem principle, which has been openly advocated by the democratic party, was the basis of the great Compromise Act of Jackson's administration, was the main foundation of "McKay's bill of 1844," and has entered into most of the tariff bills ever passed. Yet against all this array of precedents, against the principles of his party, against the almost unanimous example of his democratic associates, and against the wishes and expectations of the democratic party which elected him, Mr. Haywood refuses to vote for the bill, even although the bill was to repeal the tariff of 1842, which he had always denounced, and for the repeal of which he was specially instructed by the very Legislature which elected him, and was one of the pledges under which he took office.

The consideration of these circumstances would constrain us to condemn his act as unworthy of a representative of any party or people, unless his vindication could show some excuse for such an extraordinary procedure; but his vindication so far from justifying his conduct, is an additional attack upon democratic principles. Among other statements in his Address, he says the democratic party of North Carolina were pledged to the "McKay tariff of 1844" alone—that they were opposed to the ad valorem system of duties, and were actually in favor of "protection per se." Now we know these positions are untrue as applied to ourselves, and are equally untrue we believe as applied to any other portion of the democratic party of North Carolina. It is true we were pledged to the "McKay tariff of 1844," but were equally pledged to any other bill of the same tenor and object, namely, the repeal of the tariff of 1842, or its "modification, so as to be placed on the basis of revenue duties," (language of instruction.) We have always warred against minimum and specific duties, and contended for an ad valorem system, however strange or new it may seem to Senator Haywood; and the doctrine of protection per se we have abhorred as one of the taints of federalism, and we feel indignant that a man of Mr. Haywood's intelligence and observation, who has been our political spokesman, and in the midst of our council, should ascribe such sentiments to us, either impugning our sincerity or assailing our understandings. Mr. Haywood admits he knew but little of the tariff system till he studied at Washington—if that is so, it does not authorize him to presume his constituents are ignorant of it. With these views we are compelled to condemn his resignation as inflicting great wrong on the democratic party of North Carolina, and his attempted vindication as an attack upon its principles. Therefore—

Resolved, That the democratic party of Edgecombe have ever been opposed to the doctrine of protection, and have always stood pledged to reduce the tariff to a revenue standard to meet the expenses of the Government economically administered. To effect this object they were never limited or pledged to any particular bill, but were opposed to the system of "minimum" and "specific duties," as deceptive and fraudulent in their operation, and advocated the "ad valorem" principle, as the most fair and equitable basis.

Resolved, That such being our sentiments, often and deliberately expressed, we considered every democrat in the State pledged to them by direct admission or long acquiescence; and therefore, heard with surprise the refusal of Senator Haywood to sanction them, and are compelled to regard his resignation at the time and under the circumstances as a wrong on the democratic party, and his vindication as an assault upon their principles.

Resolved, That the Vice President, GEO. M. DALLAS, under the adverse and trying circumstances in which he was placed, has signaled his devotion to truth, justice, and the great democratic cause, by his course on the said revenue bill. And for the obloquy attempted to be heaped on him, and for the sacrifice of present and neighborhood popularity, he may yet receive from a grateful people higher rewards.

Resolved, That the President, JAMES K. POLK, has faithfully fulfilled the expectations of the democracy on the tariff question, and his noble and fearless exercise of the Veto power in behalf of the people further entitle him to their gratitude—that the administration of affairs both at home and with foreign governments, meets our approval, and that notwithstanding the desertion of designing politicians, he will find ample support in the bosoms of the people. Politicians cannot detach the people from him, as long as he continues his present adherence to the great principles with which he came into office.

Ordered, That the democratic papers of the State be requested to publish these proceedings—and that the thanks of the meeting be presented to the Chairman, Secretary, and the Committee.

Grief, Fright, much intense Study, Great Excitement.—These may be the occasion by the strong impression they have upon the moral, may seriously affect the bodily functions. How few persons are there who consider that the action of these upon the humors is the occasion of them becoming corrupt, or of exciting the principle that occasions their corruption. But so it is. And the application to Bran- neth's Pills under these circumstances will be productive of more benefit than all the nervous remedies in the world. Practical facts prove it.

Dear Sir: I am now connected with the Democratic Advocate, Williamsburgh, and am happy publicly to state, for the information of every body, the wonderful effects of your Balsam of Liverwort, 375 Bowery, on myself. About five years since at my acquaintances about me pronounced me to be past all hope of cure from fixed consumption, which seemed to mark me as a sure victim. I had a violent cough, for six months almost incessant, preventing me from sleeping more than half an hour at a time.

I had profuse night sweats, violent pain in the side and chest, expectorated largely, was greatly exhausted, and reduced almost to a skeleton. I commenced using this medicine, and in three days I felt sure of being cured, I was so much relieved by it. In my case it acted like a perfect charm. I am entirely well, and have recommended it to hundreds since, and cheerfully do advise most sincerely all persons afflicted with consumption by all means to use Dr. Taylor's Balsam of Liverwort, 375 Bowery, and my word for it, they will be cured. I can be seen and referred to at any time, at the office of the Democratic Advocate, Williamsburgh, L. I.

Yours truly, A. N. CHAPIN.
