A good Navigation has been effected, by this means, in the Kentucky River, and other streams discharging a less volume of water, and more subject to the annual influence of drought, than the Neuse. Were this accomplished in connexion with the passage of coasting vessels from Beaufort to Newbern, by enlarging the Canal before referred to, it could not fail to add much to the accommodation of the people, and to the wealth and commercial importance of the State. It is well ascertained, that there is no great impediment to the Navigation of the Yadkin River within our limits, above the narrows. The opening of that River, therefore, from Wilkesborough to its intersection with the proposed Turnpike from Raleigh and Fayetteville, westward, and the completion of said Road, are works of great public importance, in which, if the State will not embark on her own account solely, she should not hesitate to second the patriotic efforts of the citizen. The survey of the routes for this Turnpike Road, according to the direction of the last General As sembly, has been completed, and the report of the Engineer may be expected at an early day.

TARBOROUGH:

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1846.

The Address of B. F. Moore, Esq. at

Chapel Hill. We have been favored by our young friend Wm. H. Johnston, student at Chapel Hill, with a pamphlet copy of Mr. Moore's Address delivered before the two Literary Societies of the University in June last, and have given it a careful perusal. While ready to acknowledge the merits of the production, we are pained to notice a glaring objection. An allusion to party politics in a literary address strikes us as in bad taste, and we must express our unqualified disapprobation at its appearance. Shorn of its pointed allusion to the great idol of the whig party, and the homily on the conduct of the present administration in its foreign relations, the speech N. C., about six years of age, was killed is no mean one. The style is neat, the language chaste, and many elegant and eloquent sentences could be pointed out Mr. Moore is well known to the State, and there was no necessity for proclaiming his party predilections from the house tops. The selection of place we think decidedly bad for giving vent to his party feelings. Dumplin Town would have been more appropriate. This is the first allusion to party politics we have ever seen in an Address emanating from the Hill, and we fervently hope the last.

North Carolina Volunteers.

We are glad to see in the late requisition for Volunteers, that the North Carolina Regiment is called into service. Most of the companies are from the mountains ket. where the rifle is their constant weapon, and we hope the U.S. will equip the whole or a greater part of our Regiment as Riflemen. It was from those regions that the noble Rifle corps of Volunteers commanded by Capt. Forsyth during the last war was raised, which was the most efficient and daring in the whole army, and crowned themselves with such triumphs and successes on the Canada frontier. Give them a fair field and the mountain Riflemen of North Carolina will compete with any marksmen in the Mexican war.

The Wilmington Journal of last Friday says: "We learn that Lieut. Fremont, of the U. S. Army, has arrived in town for the purpose of mustering the North Carolina Volunteers into service. We are also informed that Gov. Graham has intimated that they (the Volunteers) will not be ready for service before the 1st of January."

The War.

It is stated in several of the Northern papers, that Gen. Franklin Institute.

HIS Institution, just established, is located at the Cedar Rock, in the eastern section of Franklin county, in the immediate vicinity of the Drs. Outlaw, William Coppedge, A. W. Pearce, and J. J. Thomas, and three miles above Sills's ander Hall.

The Trustees have contracted with J. H. 1846, and well executed; but it differs BARLOW, E-q. to take charge of this Institution as Principal; and from his known qualifications, both as Instructor and disciplinarian, they feel greatly encouraged as to the success of their Institution.

> The neighborhood cannot be surpassed for health or society, and its ready access to the lower country renders it, in every respect, a desirable locality. This, with moderate charges, will, it is hoped, secure a due proportion of patronage. The exercises of the school will commence by the middle of January ensuing.

Terms per Session of Five Months. For Board, and all its contingencies, $30 l'uition in Classical and Mathematical Department, Male and Female Academies.

THE Spring Session of 1847 will commence on the first Monday in January, and close on the 4th of June. There will then be a vacation of two weeks; after which the Fall Term will commence, and close on the 19th of November.

The Trustees of these institutions have again to express their unqualified approbation of the proficiency of the pupils in both Departments, exhibited at the recent Examination. The Schools will continue under the superintendence of MR. & MRS RAY, of whose capability as Teachers, and sound progress of their Scholars is the highest commendation. The Music Department will continue under its former faith ful and efficient Instructress, Miss E VIMA W. CURTIS.

Board $40 per session-Tuition as heretofore. All extravagance in these Schools is carefully restrained; and no accounts allowed, except by the direction of the Paof the Teachers; and it is confidently believed that the entire expenses will be found less than those in village schools generally

A Valuable Farm, FOR SALE.

AVING bought land up the country, I have placed myself in a condition, which compels me to sell the Farm on which I now live; and shall expose the same to public sale on Tuesday the 15th of Dec. next, (if not privately sold before.) Said land contains about

Eight Hundred Acres,

Lies on Swift Creek near Suggs' mill, adjoining the lands of Spencer L. Hart and others, within 61 miles of Tarborough. Enough of which land is cleared to make 25 or 30 bales cotton and 300 barrels of corn; and is well known to be one of the best cotton farms in Edgecombe, having yielded 800 pounds per acre divers times; and there is more good hickory and dogwood ridge land to clear on it, than can be found on any tract of the same size within 20 miles of it. There is likewise an inexhaustible quantity of MARL, on said land, said to be of the best quality. Also, a comfortable DWELLING HOUSE, a large Gin house and screw, and other useful houses. But come and see, as lam determined to sell.

Same time and place, I shall sell a few Horses, Cattle, Sheep, Sows and pigs, Corn, Fodder, Peas and such other things as I may not wish to Terms made known on day of sale. ROBERT D. HART.
