Jayne's Expectant.

This medicine has already proved itself to be all that it has been recommended, by those who have given it a fair test in this country, and the demand for it increases daily. We have just heard of an important cure of Asthma, which has been effected by the use of it, in a neighboring town—the case was that of a female who had for a long time been under the care of a physician but had received no relief, and her case was considered hopeless. As a last resort she purchased a bottle of Dr. Jayne's Expectant, which caused her to expectorate freely, gradually ceased her cough, and is rapidly restoring her to health. We have no hesitation in saying that this preparation of Dr. Jayne for cure of coughs, colds, influenza, asthma, consumptions, &c. is the most valuable medicine ever offered to the American public. There is no quackery about it—Dr. Jayne is one of the most skillful practising physicians in Pennsylvania; and wherever his various preparations have been thoroughly tested, he is looked upon as a great public benefactor. Somers (Me.) Journal.

DYSPEPSIA AND LIVER COMPLAINT may be cured with certainty, and at a trifling expense, by taking every night, at bed-time, two or three of Jayne's Sanative Pills, and a dose of either his Alterative or Vermifuge three times a day. This treatment never fails to cure.

WELL, WELL! I'M BECOMING BALD, and can't help it, is frequently expressed by those whose Hair, (like a false friend) is leaving them. Now this is all a mistake; Jayne's Hair Tonic, faithfully applied for a week, will preserve the Hair from falling off, remove all dirt and dandruff, prevent its becoming prematurely gray, cure eruptive diseases of the scalp, and still more, by its continued use reclothe the head with new and beautiful hair.

Prepared only by Dr. D. JAYNE, Philadelphia, and sold on agency by GEO. HOWARD, Tarboro', Nov. 9.

THE DEMOCRACY IN MOTION.

We publish to-day the Proceedings of Democratic Meetings in Cleveland, Halifax, Sampson, Warren, and Johnston, and expect soon to have the pleasure of laying before the public, accounts of the movements of the Democracy in many other Counties. Our information from all quarters of the State enables us to say, that the best spirit is abroad among the party—our friends are united and harmonious, and full of confidence and hope. We owe it to our cherished principles and to the cause of the country to make a vigorous and powerful effort in the approaching campaign. Now is the time to redeem North Carolina. Not less than five hundred members were in attendance at the late Democratic State Convention in Virginia; let our friends come up to Raleigh, on the 12th of April, not by tens and twenties, but by fifties and hundreds.

We would respectfully suggest to our friends in the various Districts the propriety of taking early steps to nominate Electors and appoint Delegates to Baltimore; and as the Districts are not the same, separate action will of course be necessary as to Electors and Delegates. In a letter from a distinguished Democrat, just received, it is advised that each Congressional District appoint three or four Delegates to Baltimore, so as to ensure a representation from all the Districts. We like the plan, and would commend it to the attention of our friends. Of course each District would have but one vote, and it would make no difference if half a dozen Delegates should concur to cast that vote; and in addition to this, the presence among the people of a number of Delegates fresh from the Convention, would be productive of benefit to the cause. Let each District, for instance, appoint four principal Delegates and four substitutes; and let the State Convention appoint two principal Delegates and two substitutes; and in this way a large representation would be secured. The opinions and wishes of the party could be fully reflected, and the eleven Electoral votes of the State could be given to the man of their choice. These suggestions are thrown out from no desire to thrust our views upon our friends, but from a sincere desire to promote the best interests of the party.

So far as this Congressional District is concerned, the Democrats of Wake, it will be recollected, suggested that the Convention to appoint Delegates to Baltimore be held here on the 12th day of next month. This was done, because it was thought the time would be convenient, as the Delegates to the State Convention might also be charged with the duty of appointing Delegates to Baltimore; but our friends in Warren, we perceive, have recommended Nashville as the place and the 27th day of April as the time for holding the Convention. Johnston County, on the other hand, agrees to meet at Raleigh on the 12th. The Delegation from Wake, we have no hesitation in saying, will cheerfully attend at any point that may be fixed upon by a majority of the Counties.

Let our motto be, union and concert—organization and the usages of the party—and no quarters to Federalism until the State is redeemed.

Generals Scott and Worth.—The New Orleans Delta has published, in a supplementary sheet, the correspondence of Gens. Scott and Worth, relative to the late difficulties in the army, subsequent to the publication of the army orders, censuring severely certain letters written to the United States. The supplement does not appear to have been sent in this direction, but we find in a Western paper the following brief notice of the correspondence:

Gen. Worth addressed a letter to Gen. Scott stating that he learned with astonishment that it was the opinion of the Army that the imputation of scandalous conduct, mentioned in a general order, referred to him, and asking if such was the intention of the Commander-in-chief.

Gen. Scott replied that the order clearly expressed that he meant to apply the imputation to the author of the letter signed "Leonidas."

Gen. Worth rejoined, and said he did not consider the answer satisfactory. Gen. Scott replied that he could not be more explicit. He had nothing to do with the suspicions of others, and, if he had valid information of the authorship, he would prosecute the parties before a court martial.

Gen. Worth replied that he supposed the Commander regarded him as not deserving a satisfactory answer, and, feeling himself aggrieved, he should appeal to the President. He concluded by accusing Scott of acting in a manner unbecoming an officer and a gentleman.

Gen. Scott then ordered Worth under arrest, for behaving with contempt and disrespect towards the Commander-in-chief.

Mr. Clay and Mrs. Polk.—We find the following well-told anecdote in the Western Continent, of Saturday. It is, no doubt substantially true.

"It is doubtless known to our readers, that shortly before his departure from Washington, Mr. Clay attended a dinner party, with many other distinguished gentlemen of both political parties, at the President's house. The party is said to have been a very pleasant affair—the viands were choice, the wine was old and sparkling—good feeling abounded, and wit and lively repartee gave zest to the occasion, while Mrs. Polk, the winning and accomplished hostess, added the finishing grace of her excellent housewifery in the superior management of the feast. Mr. Clay was of course honored with a seat near the President's lady, where it became him to put in requisition those insinuating talents which he possesses in so eminent a degree, and which are irresistible even to his enemies. Mrs. Polk, with her usual frank and affable manner, was extremely courteous to her distinguished guest, on whose good opinion, as of all who share the hospitalities of the White House, she did not fail to win.

"Madam," said Mr. Clay, in that bland manner peculiar to himself, "I must say that in my travels, wherever I have been, in all companies and among all parties, I have heard but one opinion of you. All agree in commending in the highest terms your excellent administration of the domestic affairs of the White House. But," he continued, directing her attention to her husband, "as for that young gentleman there, I cannot say as much. There is," said he, "some little difference of opinion in regard to the policy of his course."

"Indeed," said Mrs. Polk, "I am glad to hear that my administration is popular. And in return for your compliment, I will say that if the country should elect a Whig next fall, I know of no one whose elevation would please me more than that of Henry Clay."

"Thank you, thank you, Madam."—"And I will assure you of one thing. If you do have occasion to occupy the White House on the Fourth of March next, it shall be surrendered to you in perfect order from garret to cellar."

"I'm certain that—"

But the laugh that followed this pleasant repartee, which lost nothing from the manner nor the occasion of it, did not permit the guests at the lower end of the table to hear the rest of Mr. Clay's reply. Whether he was "certain that" he should be the tenant of the President's mansion, or whether he only said he was "certain that" whoever did occupy it would find it in good condition, like the result of the coming contest for the Presidency, remains a mystery.

The fatal Chloroform Case.—The Cincinnati papers of Friday last, contain references to the case of Mrs. Simmons, —who suddenly sunk, as in death, while having teeth extracted, under the influence of chloroform. The Commercial says: "The post mortem examination of the body of Mrs. Simmons had not taken place last evening, and the attending physicians express the hope of a possibility that she may yet be restored to life—the body being still warm! Efforts are made, of course, to restore her.

There were several rumors on Thursday afternoon, that she had partially revived. But the Cincinnati Queen City of the 24th ult., says that every effort was made to restore her, but in vain; the vital spark had fled.

Fatal Experiment with Chloroform.

—A young lady, daughter of Mr. Macdonald, a baker in Catharine street, in this city, recently met her death in the most awful manner, from the use of this now fashionable but most dangerous preparation. About three weeks ago, the ether was employed to allay the toothache; but subsequently the sufferer was supposed to die, from what cause does not appear. The apparent death, however, was only a trance, or protracted swoon; for, on opening the coffin a day or two ago, the unfortunate girl had turned round upon her face, and in her agony and desperation had actually destroyed two of her fingers, on recovering from her temporary death by ether. The coroner's investigation should elicit the fact as to who prescribed a remedy which produced this most frightful result.

How shall it be accounted for?—Some ten years since, a Well was sunk upon the premises of Judge Cameron, of this City, to the depth of 70 feet, and a plentiful supply of good water obtained; but shortly after, (within a year,) the water disappeared, at that season when water in Springs and Wells is generally most abundant; and the Well became entirely dry. Another Well was then dug in the vicinity, and again an abundant supply was found. After the lapse of some time, the water disappeared in this Well also; but subsequently, after long absence, it re-appeared in both Wells, rising in the former to the height of twenty feet.—Again, very recently, it has vanished, and both Wells are now dry. Upon what principle of philosophy this hydraulic phenomenon is to be accounted for, is more than observation or science has revealed to us; and it is a question, which we submit to those more skilled than we are, in the knowledge of the supply, motion and forces of fluids. We believe we have stated the facts in the case with accuracy, and invite a solution of so remarkable a freak of that most serviceable and necessary element.

The Legislature of New York has passed a general law for the establishment of manufacturing companies in that State. Under its provisions companies can be formed without any further legislation. The provisions of the law are said to be very judicious, and well calculated to guard the public from loss.—ib.

Atrocious.—A villain, by the name of Pettis, some sixty years of age, recently paid his addresses to a handsome young widow residing in McGoopin island. Being rejected in his suit, he armed himself and went to her house; on her still persisting in refusing him, he struck her on the head with a hammer, and with his bowie knife attempted to cut her throat. Foiled in this attempt, and seeing a young man approach the house, he seized her by the nose and cut it off.—St. Louis Reveille.

Melancholy Accident.—Two Ladies Killed on the Railroad.—As the afternoon train of cars, on Thursday evening, was passing from Fitchburg to Athol, Mass., on the Vermont and Massachusetts line, and when near the crossing about a mile and a half above the depot in Fitchburg, a horse and sleigh with two ladies passing the railroad, when the horse became frightened and backed the sleigh on the track, by which both of the ladies were thrown out in front of the engine, run over, and instantly killed. The engine, as soon as the horse was seen to back, sounded the alarm, and the train was nearly stopped when the fatal collision took place. The unfortunate ladies who thus lost their lives were Mrs. Osborn, wife of Mr. Abraham Osborn, of Fitchburg, and her daughter, Mrs. Jacob Tolman, of West Sterling. The head of one was severed from the body.

An Imposter.—Many of our readers have noticed that nearly every Sunday, in front of the Cathedral has stood an old beggar, who, tin cup in hand, presented the strongest kind of appeal, by his woe-begone appearance, to the sympathies of all who passed by. The police of the First Municipality have lately discovered that, far from being an object of charity, he is a holder of some $15,000 worth of property in Lafayette, and about $5,000 deposited in the various banks of the city. A very large portion of this sum has been raised by begging, which he has followed for many years. During the week his "tramp" is on the Levee; and on Sunday his scene of operation is confined to the different churches. When arrested by Officer Trescazes, he had on his person six dollars in dimes and piayunes. His name is Antonio Fanchieu, and, with his wife, he has carried on the most systematic scheme of imposition that we have heard of for a long time.—N. O. Delta.

Jersey Pork.—The steamboat Independence from Sweedsboro', N. J., arrived here on Tuesday afternoon. She had on board twenty hogs, ten of which weighed one thousand pounds each.—Phil. N. Am.

Widows of Revolutionary Soldiers.—An Act of Congress approved 2d February, 1848, makes further provision for surviving widows of soldiers of the Revolution, entitling the widows of all such soldiers, whose marriage took place before the 1st of January, 1794, to receive for and during their natural lives, from and after the 4th March, 1848, the annuity which would have been allowed to their husbands by the Act of June 7th, 1832, if living at the time it was passed, subject to the same restrictions as are prescribed in the Act of 1838 granting half pay and pensions to certain widows. And further, all widows entitled to the benefits of this latter Act are admitted to the benefits of the Act just passed.

Trial of the Rev. Issachar Grosscup.—The Jury empanelled in the case of John H. Wheeler against Issachar Grosscup, and which has occupied the Court more than a week, was terminated this morning (Friday, Feb. 25) by a verdict for the plaintiff, with $950 damages.—It was a case unusual in our county, being for seduction of the plaintiff's daughter, and therefore, as well as from other causes, excited deep and pervading interest. The plaintiff is a highly respectable farmer residing in the town of East Bloomfield, and the defendant a clergyman of the Baptist denomination and a married man. The victim is an interesting and prepossessing young lady of the age of 21 years, and together with her parents, and some of her brothers and sisters, members of the same denomination. It appeared that the defendant had boarded in the plaintiff's family, and was treated with every kindness and confidence. It was on these accounts and the means resorted to by the defendant to escape the penalty of his transgressions, that the betrayal and seduction was rendered doubly aggravating.

Woman frozen to Death.—The Providence papers report the death of a woman named Welch, in the woods near that place on Monday night. The woman lived in Olneyville, and in the afternoon was on a visit to some friends about a mile and a half distant from her home. In the evening she started on her return, in a snow storm, got lost in the woods and was frozen to death. She has left a husband and six children.

Alleviation from Cough.—Persons using stoves for warming apartments, will find that a small piece of common resin, dipped in the water which is placed in a vessel on the stove, will add a peculiar property to the atmosphere of the room, which will give great relief to persons troubled with a cough, who breathe the atmosphere of the apartment. The heat of the water is sufficient to throw off the aroma of the resin, and gives the same relief as is afforded by a combustion of the resin. It is preferable to combustion, because the evaporation is more durable. The same resin may be used for weeks.
