THE BROWN COTTON GIN CO.

Manufacturers of Cotton Gins, Cotton Gin Feeders, Condensers and Cotton Gin Materials of every description. Our Gins have been in use thirty years, and have an established reputation for simplicity, light-running, durability, and for quality and quantity of lint produced. Our feeders are well adapted to the Gin, and easily operated by any kind of ordinary intelligence. They are the simplest and clearest feeder in the market, and feed with more regularity than is possible by hand, increasing the output and giving a cleaner and better seed. At all Fairs where exhibited and by Planters having them in use, they have been accorded the highest commendation. Our Condensers are well made, durable and simple in construction, and do what is required to drive the feeder or condenser to every reasonable extent, perfect satisfaction to every purchaser. Circulars, prices and full information furnished. Address as above, or apply to PENDER & JENKINS, Tarboro, N. C.

THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY.

Is eminently a Family Medicine; and by being kept ready for immediate resort will save many a hour of suffering and many a dollar in time and doctor's bills.

After forty years' trial it is still retaining the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians commend it as the most EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC For all diseases of the Liver, Stomach and Spleen.

THE SYMPTOMS of Liver Complaints are bitter or bad taste in the mouth; pain in the Back, Sides or Joints, often also of Rheumatism; Sour Stomach; Loss of Appetite; Bowels alternately constipated and Headache; Loss of memory; or a general sensation of having failed or of some thing which ought to have been done. Decidely Low Spirits, a thick yellow appearance of the Skin and Eyes, a dry Cough, or a misapprehension of the nature of the disease.

Sometimes many of these symptoms attend the disease, at others very few. In the Liver, the largest organ in the body, is generally the seat of the disease, and the other Regulator, a time, great suffering, weakness and Death will ensue.

For Dyspepsia, Constipation, Jaundice, Bilious attacks, Sick Headache, Colic, Depression of Spirits, Sour Stomach, Heart Burn, &c., &c.

The Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in the World.

Manufactured only by
J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,

Three American Peresses.

CAREER OF THREE FAMOUS BALTIMORE BELLES.

The "three American peresses" in question were three young ladies of Baltimore, grand daughters of Chas. Carroll, of Carrollton who was generally regarded at the time when the Declaration of Independence was signed as the wealthiest of the American rebels. He came lawfully by his rebellious tendencies, at least, for he was of Irish blood, and there some 'tales of grandfathers' in his family history that would not discredit bailliff basting Galway herself. But that is not now to the point. He had been educated in England and he had very early and in trying circumstances proved himself to possess the spirit and determination which made him a leading figure in the revolution. He had two daughters, an Englishman of Lincolnshire, if we mistake not, but a citizen of Baltimore, and the other Mr. Goodloe Harper.

Mrs. Caton had four daughters, all famous for their beauty, and three of these young ladies eventually became British peresses mainly through the dauntless social ambition of their number, Miss Marianne Caton, who married early in life Mr. Robert Patterson, of Baltimore, the son of a North of Ireland merchant, who had settled in this country and acquired what in those days was regarded as a very great fortune. Robert Patterson's sister, Elizabeth, married Jerome Bonaparte, the youngest brother of Napoleon, who, after carrying her across the Atlantic to Portugal, left her there to find her way as best she could to England, and eventually, at the command of his brother, submitted to an illegal and unrighteous divorce from her, and married again a princess of Wurtemberg. This was a great blow, no doubt, to the Patterson family, but it is not quite correct to represent Robert Patterson beyond measure with the affairs of his sister, his slippery brother-in-law and the angry First Consul. The "angry First Consul" gave himself very little trouble about the Pattersons, beyond ordering his worthless brother to drop the whole family and to insult his wife (which he obediently did) by offering her sixty thousand francs a year to give him up and go home. After the fall of Napoleon, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Patterson went to Paris. They were accompanied by Mrs. Patterson's younger sisters, Elizabeth and Louisa Catherine. They were all beautiful, and Paris at that time was full of military, diplomatic and royal personages deeply devoted to the worship of beauty. Foremost among these alike in renown and in gallantry was the Duke of Wellington. Thanks to the friendship of the great conqueror, Mrs. Patterson and her sisters went everywhere and saw everything. A Parisian records that at the first grand banquet given by Louis XVIII to the allied sovereigns the Patterson party
