LET Shotwell have a monument worthy of the man.

The Governors of sixteen states appeared in the funeral procession of Gen. Grant at New York.

Prof. W. C. Kerr, former State Geologist and on U. S. geological survey, was named on the 9th inst.

THEIR accidents—Hays the fraud and Author the accident—were the obscurest men at the obsequies of Gen. Grant.

THE Fruit Fair recently held in Greensboro was a thorough success at which we rejoice as it represents a new industry.

SNACK stories have been prominent by their scarceness this year. We are moved to enquire if the liars are all dead.

COLE'S circus will be in the state in September. It is a Cole day when the average colored brother gets left on these occasions.

If Grant's tomb is not guarded from trophy hyenas in a short time there won't be a grease spot left. Somebody robbed his coffin of a gold tack at Mt. McGregor.

The Durham Recorder says: Rev. R. A. Willis has been appointed Presiding Elder in place of Ex. Rev. L. L. Hendon, dismissed. Mr. Willis is an excellent preacher.

"Casualties" is the felicitous name for weddings resulting from Summer Resort flirtations. We suppose the criminal and divorce courts would make them "certainties."

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND is fishing in the Adirondacks for bass. If he would pitch his voice on the stern key denoted by the fish and use Adirondack to chop off official heads he would suit many of his party.

Dr. W. H. Howerton died on the 16th inst. He had been at various times, under republican rule, Secretary of State, and President of the N. C. R. R. Also H. M. Springs and Moreshead.

REV. SAM JONES the gilt-edged revivalist, once told his audience if they didn't like his style they could lump it and leave.

Another minister tried it up on the Western part of this state. They left.

THE State Press has been saying, Gov. Seales, who was there at the time, was not afraid of the hotel fire at the Hywood Springs, because he had been unafraid before.

We trust he didn't run before as all the guests did this time.

THE Teachers' Assembly has selected Black Mountain as the next place of meeting. Sec'y, Harrell predicts the attendance of 1,000 teachers next year.

From all accounts the festive young teachers teach young cupid ideas to shoot into Hymen's net.

Dr. Mary Walker has discovered a Wisconsin bricklayer who wants to marry her.—Exchange.

Poor fellow. He may be certain that his cara sposa will wear the breeches.

Our sympathies are extended to the bricklayer in his bifurcated better half.

POST MASTER Gen'l. Vilas we trust is not so Vilas to be jealous of his First Assistant on account of the favorable notices of Mr. Stevenson, in the party press.

The little hatchet of Secretary Vilas' Department has been vigorously at work removing the cuticle of republican craniums. Of course Mr. Vilas gets the credit.

MR. HULLABELL showed us several bolts of open cotton this morning taken from his farm 2 1/2 miles south of this city. He says he has 14 acres in cotton from which he expects to gather a bale of cotton from each acre.—Raleigh Visitor.

Yes brother. After the plethoric crop of first bolts, the scant ditto of watermelons, now the 93 of a possible 100 average of first bolt—do logs the editor's table.

It always struck us as strange, the average farmer, so ambitious to show his first blooms and bolts, but shows so little pride in his first fruit.

A 77 pound watermelon, according to the New Bern Journal, is the size of it and it is displayed in a show window. Now, bro. Nunn, has there been a dry Ethiopian mouth in New Bern since said display? Perhaps it was so placed to make mouths "water," and keep them from getting dry.

A temperance move to speak.

Adjutant General Jones writes the "Star" that Col. Black and Gov. Seales approved of the finding of the Committee in favor of the First Regiment.—Wilmington Star.

Now this ought to ally the puerile discontent, displayed by some soldiers of the 2d Regt. and seemingly indorsed by the wise, but in this case otherwise, esteemed Star.

With an unexampled wideness in areas of check, Franz Joseph of Austria has refused to receive U. S. Minister A. M. Keiley who was duly accredited, because the wife of Mr. Keiley is a Jewess. Now is a first class opportunity for Sec'y. of State Bayard to show a vigorous foreign policy by telling F. J. to go to the "demonition bow wows" and at once discharge the Austrian Minister at Washington.

DIVERSIFICATION has been the text on which many of these columns have been filled.

We noted last week that the fruit industry was great and growing.

Bill Buffalo, in the "News Observer" gives glowing accounts of the grape culture at Ridgeway. Loaded cars three times a week bear this luscious fruit to the Northern markets, each car containing 2,500 baskets. One firm has sold to the culturalists 50,000 baskets, and the end is not yet.

Girls at Long Branch wear yellow g-r-t-rs round their left leg for luck. News Observations.—News Observer.

Horrible ink slinger! Don't you know many of your readers are "single gentlemen" like Mr. Pickwick? And don't you know these "single gentlemen" are not supposed to know that a girl has any such anatomy round which to wear g-r-t-rs? What are g-r-t-rs any how?

But don't tell us. You ought not to tell on the girls.

But whisper to us, what do they wear under the g-r-t-r on the left leg?

We suppose the girl must be black, or white, else it wouldn't show and the girl would get no luck.

Solve the mighty problem.

Some New History.

A correspondent of the San Francisco Examiner gives some interesting facts connected with the imprisonment of Jefferson Davis at Fortress Monroe. When Gen. Burton succeeded Gen. Miles in command of the fortress he visited Mr. Davis and asked if anything could be done for his comfort. The prisoner expressed a desire to have his bed placed so that the light from the guard room would not shine in his eyes, and so that the wind would not strike him. He explained that he was afraid of losing his eyesight from neuralgia. The general was surprised and asked why the change had not been made before. He was informed that the guard was afraid of an escape. As it was very evident that no escape could be made through grated doors and windows and down the parapet, the general ordered the change to be made, and also gave Mr. Davis the freedom of the fortress on his parole of honor. For this Gen. Burton received abusive letters from all over the North and the Secretary of War reproved him. The general then wrote to Gen. Grant, stating the facts, and saying that if he was required to torment Mr. Davis he desired to be relieved from his command. In reply Gen. Grant wrote: "You are right. Our government wished to crush the rebellion, but not to torment subdued enemies. The people of the North do not wish to torment the people of the South." From this time on Mr. Davis was treated humanely and courteously.

Minister Jarvis and Don Pedro Felicitating.

By the following it will be seen that the salt water has not seriously affected the speech-making powers of "Our Tom." We rather think he waxed Mr. Pedro.

It is to be noted that no reference was made to the historic remark of the Governor of North Carolina to the Governor of South ditto.

On July 11, at 8 p. m., his majesty the Emperor received in public audience Mr. Thomas J. Jarvis, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States of America, who, on delivering his credentials, made the following speech: "Sir—The President of the United States of America having chosen me as envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the said United States to your majesty's government, I have the honor of presenting your majesty with the letter of his Excellency, which I respectfully ask your majesty to receive. My intention is to act so that when I deliver my recitatory. I may, like the gentleman whom I succeeded, return to my country with the high consideration of your majesty and with the confidence of my own country. My government wishes that the cordial relations existing between this great empire and that powerful republic shall become closer and stronger with the years, and that their people will enter into more intimate relations of commerce. Both are parts and portions of the same new world of extraordinary aggrandizement and of unlimited possibilities. They are united by the same land, traversed by great rivers and possessed of fine harbors and their shores are washed by the waters of the same great ocean. The God of Nations, the Creator of all things, connected these two great countries by land and by water and I believe the mission of man—his creature—will be to unite them by the friendly hands of mutual interest and confidence. Studying the history of this great empire, with its various and inexhaustible resources, the people of the United States have been struck by its rapid development under your majesty's wise government. They remember with pleasure your majesty's visit to their country and with all their heart they join their President wishing your majesty a long life of happiness, and to your country peace and prosperity unbounded."

To this his majesty answered: "I thank my great and good friend the President of the United States for this proof of his esteem. I hope, Mr. Minister, that your mission will contribute to cement the good relations existing between our countries."

The Prize and the Best Report.

The portion of the report of Adjt. Gen. Jones, that we clip, must effectually set at rest all complaint of impartiality by the judges.

"The judges of the drill were Messrs. Ulysses Doubleday, James T. Smith, and Joseph B. Bachelor, Jr. These gentlemen were selected because they were impartial and thoroughly competent for the task set before them; and they are entitled to our thanks for consenting to act. Mr. Doubleday, (a brother of the Doubleday of Fort Sumpter fame), commanded a brigade of infantry in the Federal Army during the late war. He is now a resident of Asheville, and one of our most esteemed citizens. Mr. Smith, a native North Carolinian, is a Lieutenant in the Navy, and professor at the Annapolis Naval Academy. Mr. Bachelor, a native of Raleigh, is a Lieutenant in the Army, and commandant of Bingham's cadets a position which has afforded him peculiar opportunities for perfecting himself in the practical knowledge of battalion tactics. Three more competent and unbiased gentlemen than these, available for this occasion, could not have been found. General Doubleday was highly recommended by Col. Black, who was well acquainted with his reputation as a soldier.

The report of the Judges awarding the prize accompanies this Report, marked Exhibit B. This decision was just and fair, and cannot be questioned by any competent critic who witnessed the drill. The First Regiment is composed of excellent material; it is well officered, especially in its commanding officer who has served continuously in the State Guard since its organization in 1877. A period of nearly nine years; and that it excelled in this drill such splendid regiments as the Second and Fourth, gives it a pre-eminence in the State Guard of which it may justly be proud.

The prizes awarded were a silk flag, regimental national colors, for the winning battalion; and a regulation sword and belt for its commanding officer, presented by citizens of Asheville as a token of their esteem for these prizes. I am pleased to state to your Excellency, are entirely satisfied with the award of the judges, recognizing the fact that while the Second and Fourth Regiment drilled admirably well and merit high commendation, the prize was fairly won by their successful competitor. Complaints that may have reached your Excellency to the effect that partiality was shown and the Second Regiment wrongly dealt with are utterly groundless; such reports do gross injustice to the worthy gentlemen who consented to act as judges, and must be attributed to thoughtlessness, and ignorance of tactics, rather than to intentional misrepresentation on the part of those who utter them. In justice to the Fourth Regiment, which carried into the field four well drilled companies and was very ably commanded, it is proper to state that it had to contend with several disadvantages. There was a misunderstanding about the time at which this Regiment was to enter the contest, which produced some confusion. The Regiment executed a difficult movement, changing direction in line, which had been stricken from the schedule, but of which he had not been informed. The drilling of the Second Regiment, under its skillful young commander, was admirable, and elicited much applause. Their last movement, forming a perfect line from column of fours, was particularly fine.

It is gratifying to be able to state that Colonel Black, who witnessed the competitive drill, expressed himself as highly pleased with it; and his judgment as to the relative merits of the three battalions, as shown in this competition, accorded with that of the judges, as I am informed.

Tobacco.

Tobacco is the watch word and battle cry all through this section. It is amazing what an impetus it has given to every branch of trade and to all professions. Wherever you find a man with several acres of tobacco, or even a smaller patch, you can get him to talk of nothing else.

He is enthused. He believes he has discovered the el dorado, for which his heart bowed down with cotton, has yearned and the harvest to which his hope has bent.

In Nash this is particularly and markedly so.

The writer was at Battleboro a few days ago and he heard nothing else discussed.

Two Granville county men, R. H. McGuire and W. M. Herbert, formerly of Nash, were there for the purpose of looking at and reporting upon the Nash tobacco crops.

With an admiring degree of enthusiasm they burst forth in eulogies. Said Mr. McGuire:

"It is the prettiest and finest tobacco I ever saw and I have in the past two weeks traversed the entire tobacco fields of Granville."

We asked if the bright tobacco could be made in Nash.

"Yes," replied he: "That depends a good deal upon the curing."

Continuing he said: "Why I saw yesterday T. V. Avnet's tobacco above Hilliardston. 'Why, sir' (He spoke it glowingly)—'Ed, 'Tom Avnet has got one single field of seventy acres in tobacco, level as a die and high as my shoulder. You could shoot a rifle ball clear across the field and hit the top of every plant on the line.'"

When his exuberance halted up some, we enquired if any more tobacco was seen by him, that compared with Mr. Avnet's, in Nash.

"Oh, yes," he replied, "but I speak of that as the biggest field I saw."

As Mr. McGuire, so it is with all who visit the new pastures of green tobacco in Nash.

The mystery is, why for long, long many years nothing but cotton was thought of on this very soil. Cotton, with its attendant "aorgans" and long train of distresses, desolation and ruin, has been effectually destroyed and thrown in the dust.

The day of our kingly cotton merchant is over.

The man who produces and the man who handles tobacco are the coming, or "come" men, as the case may be.

We heard a gentleman predict that at least, one thousand acres, for a beginning, would be grown in tobacco in Edgecombe next year. Several parties from higher up the country have been in Nash trying to buy land. The land owners, however, are inhaling a rodent and are becoming quite careless about selling. The question now occurring is:

Does it pay after production?

One man in Madison county, we believe, paid $3,000 for a farm a few years ago and last year we hear, sold $60,000 worth of tobacco.

A correspondent from Fishing Creek Township, Granville county, under date of August 11th, writes to the Oxford "Torchlight" as follows:

1st. I will mention the farm of Mr. M. C. Hester, which is managed by her son Mr. C. K. Hester. On this farm they realized from tobacco alone the sum of $3,500. They also sold wheat, raised their own meat and bread and their plantation was left in better condition than before. Just think of it that in 1881 700 of this plantation was bought for $700. To-day it could not be bought for less than $5,000 or $6,000.

2nd. R. A. Tunstall's tobacco (only one horse) sold for $600.

3rd. I. Monroe's tobacco brought $1,400. He worked two horses and two hands.

4th. Elijah Fuller and sons with one horse sold $2,040 worth of tobacco.

5th. W. B. Lewis tobacco, two horse crop, sold $2,800 worth of the golden weed.

6th. Geo. W. Reams with one horse made 7000 pounds which brought $4,700.

7th. B. F. Moss with two horses sold $1,600 worth of tobacco.

8th. J. B. Elliott with two horses sold $2,500 worth of tobacco.

9th. Joel Averett with three horses sold $3,300 worth of tobacco.

10th. J. F. Uary, from 85,000 hills of tobacco realized $3,635. Seventeen acres.

11th. W. J. & A. A. Overton realized $1,650 from a very small quantity of land cultivated.

12th. Mr. Robt. Jeffreys cultivated about 20 acres of land, and sold tobacco his crop for $4,000.

All the above named farmers, besides deriving a good money yield, also made good crops of corn, wheat and other supplies.

Hurrah for Fishing Creek! Can the world beat it? Let us hear from Dutchville, Tally Ho, Bransfield and Walnut Grove. Send in the returns. One farm bell can ring up every laborer on all the farms mentioned.

The Statesville Landmark says it may be set down as reasonably certain that no succeeding Legislature will vote an appropriation for another encampment will not be held soon. To go into camp for real military discipline may take very well with those who "gallop around" and issue general orders, but to the men in line it is more fun than they care to pay for.

Personal Intelligence.

Mr. J. Morris left Tuesday for northern markets. He will "take in" Virginia Beach before he returns.

THE UNION WASHER.

(Manufactured by G. A. HOFFMAN.)

This machine is easily operated, does not get out of order, saves time and labor, absorbs dirt, and preserves the health of women.

On the number of machines, you have a choice of ready a sale, or desired as much attention as the above named machine. Every house should have one of these machines, and it is an indispensable instrument and will, without doubt, in a very short time be convinced of its necessity and benefit.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE.

Put into the machine about five shirts, or a number of smaller pieces that will amount to about the same; then pour in enough warm water to cover the clothing within the machine, and move the lower bar and forth.

If the clothing is soiled for about two hours in warm soap water, the first or above washing will be necessary.

White stockings and shirt wristbands, when badly soiled, must be soaked before washing. After the first washing or soaking, put your hot boiling water, so that the contents, then wash the same for about two or three minutes, next raise the bar, and wash the same. The cleanest white clothes should be put into the machine first, the most soiled last. Should the water in the machine become badly colored, but is not intended.

If the machine is operated or used in the family, it is an indispensable instrument to any family.

THIS IS NO HUMBUG. Try it! Buy it! And tell your friends about it; you will never feel sorry.

Price 12 Dollars. ED. ZOELLER, (the old man) A. O. (TARBORO, N. C.)

The ladies of Tarboro and vicinity are invited to call at the home where Mr. Zoeller will be pleased to show and explain the Machine.

An Old Soldier's EXPERIENCE.

Calvert, Texas, May 3, 1882.

"I wish to express my appreciation of the valuable qualities of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral as a cough remedy.

"While with Churchill's army, just before the battle of Vicksburg, I contracted a severe cold, which terminated in a dangerous cough. I found no relief till on our march we came to a country store, where, on asking for some remedy, I was urged to try AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

"I did so, and was rapidly cured. Since then I have kept the PECTORAL constantly by me, for my family use, and I have found it to be an invaluable remedy for throat and lung diseases. J. W. WATKINS."

Thousands of testimonials testify to the prompt cure of all bronchial and lung affections, by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it readily.

STEAM ENGINES.

TESTIMONIALS: TARBORO, N. C. June 15, 1885.

MR. WM. HOWARD, Sup't. Edgecombe Agricultural Works. Dear Sir:—After fifteen months of the use of your 15 Horse Power Boiler and Detached Engine made by T. M. Nagle, Erie, Pa., I will state that I am well pleased with it, and I believe to be as good an Engine as I have ever used. It steams up as easy and runs more smoothly than any Engine I have ever used.

Yours truly, J. B. TAYLOR.
