

The Tarboro News

BE SURE YOU ARE RIGHT; THEN GO AHEAD.—D. Crockett.

VOL. 67. NO. 45.

TARBORO, N. C., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 7 1899.

PRICE FIVE CENTS.

ELI HOWELL.

W. A. HART.

C. W. JEFFREYS.

HOWELL, HART & JEFFREYS,

JOBBING GROCERIES

If You Have

No appetite, indigestion, flatulence, sick headache, "all run down," loss of flesh, you will find

Tutt's Pills

the remedy you need. They tone up the weak stomach and build up the flagging energies. Sufferers from indigestion, flatulence, sick headache, loss of flesh, and all other ailments from these causes, should get a box of

WILLIAMSON'S, N. C.

DR. LOUIS H. REID,

Physician and Surgeon

Office in S. R. Biggs' Drug Store.

DR. P. WYNN, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon

Office in S. R. Biggs' Drug Store.

DR. G. S. LLOYD.

Physician and Surgeon

Office in S. R. Biggs' Drug Store.

DR. DON WILLIAMS, JR.

Dentist

Office in S. R. Biggs' Drug Store.

HOWARD & MARTIN.

Attorneys and Counselors at Law

Office in S. R. Biggs' Drug Store.

GILLIAM & SON

Attorneys-at-Law

Office in S. R. Biggs' Drug Store.

JOHN L. BRIDGERS & SON

Attorneys-at-Law

Office in S. R. Biggs' Drug Store.

Now If You Want The Bath

Just purchased

in the Northern Markets.

I wish to call special attention to my stock of Ladies' DRESS GOODS, TRIMMINGS, BUTTONS, LINEN & CAMBRIC HANDKERCHIEFS.

There is no need to particularize. You just name anything you want and in the Northern Markets.

COME HERE

I wish to call special attention to my stock of Ladies' DRESS GOODS, TRIMMINGS, BUTTONS, LINEN & CAMBRIC HANDKERCHIEFS.

There is no need to particularize. You just name anything you want and in the Northern Markets.

COME HERE

I wish to call special attention to my stock of Ladies' DRESS GOODS, TRIMMINGS, BUTTONS, LINEN & CAMBRIC HANDKERCHIEFS.

There is no need to particularize. You just name anything you want and in the Northern Markets.

COME HERE

STATEMENTS.

Edenton Farmer.—The storm of last week was quite severe, especially in our harbor where considerable damage was done to wharves, small boats, etc.

Bethel Voice.—It will be interesting to many of those who attend the Tarboro Fair next week to also see the knitting factory and the cotton mills of more than 6,000 spindles.

Roanoke Patron.—Mr. John Warren from Norfolk, Va., in passing through our county stopped in our village a short while. He delivered a very good talk in the prayer meeting here Sunday night, and also in the Good Templars' Lodge here Monday night. He informed us that his special mission is the cause of temperance.

Charlotte News.—The new bagging mill at Concord will soon be ready to begin operations, as the roof is now being put on. The main building is 35x126 feet. Two stories with basement. It will operate 500 looms for weaving cloth for bags, besides 15,000 spindles with all the necessary preparatory machinery. Five hundred hands will be employed, and 20 bales of cotton will be worked up per day.

Goldboro Argus.—The train from Raleigh has been so much behind time several times lately that the Newbern train did not wait, thereby causing mail and passengers from the west to be over for twenty-four hours in this city. This causes some worry and trouble to the people living along the line of the A. & N. C. R. R. and no little "bussing" at the devil his due. The coons are not to blame every time. The fault is fault there be, lies nearer home. But something "had order be did."

Raleigh Call.—A young lady recently entered a railway already occupied by three or four members of the opposite sex. One of them in the familiar style we know so well, produced a cigar and his match box, and said: "I don't care to smoke, but smoking is not disagreeable to you?" "Really, sir, (with the sweetest of smiles) "I can't tell, for as yet no gentleman has smoked in my presence."

Asheville Democrat.—Last Saturday night the train ran over and killed an old colored woman named Priscilla Jones, who seemed to have been sitting or lying on the track. She was demented and the testimony of her son before the coroner's jury was that she was in a daze of mind when she was struck. She was 80 years old. The accident occurred about one mile this side of Log's station.

Fayetteville Observer.—Mr. Alex. Bolton, of Carver's creek, was in yesterday, and is much delighted with his first experience with chufas. He had under cultivation this year one acre, from which he sells us turkeys fattened 1,000 pounds of pork, besides giving several bushels of seed to his neighbors. We must admit that Mr. B's experiment with chufas is far better than that of most people.

Sootland Neck Democrat.—On last Sunday night about 12 o'clock the beef market of J. D. Hill was broken into. Some one hearing a disturbance inside, went to see the cause, and it was found that there was some one inside the house. Several persons were called up and the house entered, when a negro named John Jew was found on the inside, trying to make his escape. He was arrested and carried to the lock-up. On next morning his case was heard before the Justice's court, and he was sent to jail to await his trial in the Superior Court next week.

Henderson Gold Leaf.—Mr. Pearson has a method and manner peculiarly his own. There is nothing of the sensational about him. He does not try to work upon the feelings to create undue emotion, but in a straightforward and logical manner he argues with men and women as rational, sensible beings, always stating his points clearly. He goes to the root of the matter and gives facts, based upon the Scriptures, which he quotes freely and fully, to sustain him. He impresses you with his great earnestness and his own direct, plain and simple way of putting the case his words carry conviction to the most indifferent heart.

Raleigh Call.—Deputy Marshal A. H. Temple went on a rampage in lower Granville county yesterday. He was on a still hunt, but no especially successful. He arrested Frank Beck who is charged with retailing without license, and brought him here where he will have a hearing before the U. S. Commissioner this evening.

GENERAL NEWS.

Norfolk Landmark.—Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Parnell predict a triumph for their party in the next general election in England.

Wilmington Star.—A contemporary asks "What's the matter with our politics?" Too many republicans are mixing up in them. That's what's mostly the matter.

Wilmington Review.—A "not so" very tenacious of life, and one of the most provoking of those in the oft repeated story of Thomas A. Edison's having married a telegraph operator, who worked for him, after two years' courtship and then forgot for forty-eight hours all about his wedding, his bride and the lapse of time at some work in laboratory.

New York Sun.—Just as the clock hands on the Pennsylvania ferry house pointed to 4 yesterday afternoon, the gates swung open and the State Penitentiary of Philadelphia, 200 strong, marched out across West and into Courtland street, led by the Metropolitan Band playing "We've All Been There Before Many a Time."

State Chronicle.—Governor Lee says he will not accept the superintendency of the Virginia Military Institute, owing to business engagements. A legal notice sent from London has been published in the Charleston News and Courier in the nature of an advertisement for "Mahone Williams, late of Brooks, Buncombe county, N. C." who is wanted to claim a fortune of £3,454 2s 9d of solid gold money of the British Empire.

Oxford Day.—The Hatfield-McCoy feud went on last night. They have won the world's base ball championship. They defeated the Brooklyn by a score of 3 to 2. The series consisted of eleven games, and the New York having secured six victories out of the nine games all ready played are entitled to the pennant.

Wilmington Messenger.—James Fulford, steward on the steam tug Philadelphia, while engaged yesterday in throwing a rope to a scow, accidentally stepped into the coil lying on the tug and had his foot torn off by the rope which caught it as it was pulled through the hole. The force was sufficient to jerk the injured young man from the tug onto the scow, the injury was such that the amputation of the wounded member was necessary. Mr. Fulford is a young man and lives in this city. The accident occurred down on the Cape Fear where the Government improvement of the river is going on.

Robesonian.—Gen. A. E. Stevenson, 1st. Ast. P. M. Gen., under Cleveland's administration, was in town last Monday, the guest of his friend, Col. Rowland. He remained but a few hours, but in that time he was accorded a reception in Rowland & McLean's law office, and most of the prominent men of the town called upon him. He is a superb fellow. Rev. A. G. McManaway was also in town, the guest of Rev. P. R. Law. He lectured in the Y. M. C. A. hall at night, on what he saw in Europe. His lecture was unique in that it did not make a specialty of word-painting, or, though none possibly would have done it better, he contended himself in telling what he saw, and he did it admirably.

Agri-cultural and Mechanical College.—The furniture, desks, etc. for the Agricultural and Mechanical College are daily arriving. A 6-binding college has been organized and the base ball grounds are being laid off to be used at leisure times.—Raleigh Visitor.

A Strutting Fowl.—It is known here that Dr. Eugene Grierson is intensely hostile to Gov. Fowle because the Governor packed the board so as to secure G. Grierson's removal as superintendent of the Asylum. The other day seeing Lieutenant Governor Holt being discharged the duties of Governor while Fowle was in Washington City, Grierson sent Holt word if he could really like to be Governor that he could secure that position in a very few days; that it was only necessary to furnish Gov. Fowle with a bunch of peacekeepers and put them in the proper place in the very day after word of the Governor, and that Fowle would straightway strut himself to death up and down Fayetteville street. The town was convulsed at this, knowing as all Raleighites do the individuality of Gov. Fowle and Fowle. Raleigh Correspondent.

The Portsmouth Enterprise Times does not appreciate any danger of Virginia going republican.

Rule seems to be infested with burglars.

GENERAL NEWS.

New York Sun.—Just as the clock hands on the Pennsylvania ferry house pointed to 4 yesterday afternoon, the gates swung open and the State Penitentiary of Philadelphia, 200 strong, marched out across West and into Courtland street, led by the Metropolitan Band playing "We've All Been There Before Many a Time."

Oxford Day.—The Hatfield-McCoy feud went on last night. They have won the world's base ball championship. They defeated the Brooklyn by a score of 3 to 2. The series consisted of eleven games, and the New York having secured six victories out of the nine games all ready played are entitled to the pennant.

Wilmington Messenger.—James Fulford, steward on the steam tug Philadelphia, while engaged yesterday in throwing a rope to a scow, accidentally stepped into the coil lying on the tug and had his foot torn off by the rope which caught it as it was pulled through the hole. The force was sufficient to jerk the injured young man from the tug onto the scow, the injury was such that the amputation of the wounded member was necessary. Mr. Fulford is a young man and lives in this city. The accident occurred down on the Cape Fear where the Government improvement of the river is going on.

Robesonian.—Gen. A. E. Stevenson, 1st. Ast. P. M. Gen., under Cleveland's administration, was in town last Monday, the guest of his friend, Col. Rowland. He remained but a few hours, but in that time he was accorded a reception in Rowland & McLean's law office, and most of the prominent men of the town called upon him. He is a superb fellow. Rev. A. G. McManaway was also in town, the guest of Rev. P. R. Law. He lectured in the Y. M. C. A. hall at night, on what he saw in Europe. His lecture was unique in that it did not make a specialty of word-painting, or, though none possibly would have done it better, he contended himself in telling what he saw, and he did it admirably.

Agri-cultural and Mechanical College.—The furniture, desks, etc. for the Agricultural and Mechanical College are daily arriving. A 6-binding college has been organized and the base ball grounds are being laid off to be used at leisure times.—Raleigh Visitor.

A Strutting Fowl.—It is known here that Dr. Eugene Grierson is intensely hostile to Gov. Fowle because the Governor packed the board so as to secure G. Grierson's removal as superintendent of the Asylum. The other day seeing Lieutenant Governor Holt being discharged the duties of Governor while Fowle was in Washington City, Grierson sent Holt word if he could really like to be Governor that he could secure that position in a very few days; that it was only necessary to furnish Gov. Fowle with a bunch of peacekeepers and put them in the proper place in the very day after word of the Governor, and that Fowle would straightway strut himself to death up and down Fayetteville street. The town was convulsed at this, knowing as all Raleighites do the individuality of Gov. Fowle and Fowle. Raleigh Correspondent.

The Portsmouth Enterprise Times does not appreciate any danger of Virginia going republican.

Rule seems to be infested with burglars.

GENERAL NEWS.

New York Sun.—Just as the clock hands on the Pennsylvania ferry house pointed to 4 yesterday afternoon, the gates swung open and the State Penitentiary of Philadelphia, 200 strong, marched out across West and into Courtland street, led by the Metropolitan Band playing "We've All Been There Before Many a Time."

Oxford Day.—The Hatfield-McCoy feud went on last night. They have won the world's base ball championship. They defeated the Brooklyn by a score of 3 to 2. The series consisted of eleven games, and the New York having secured six victories out of the nine games all ready played are entitled to the pennant.

Wilmington Messenger.—James Fulford, steward on the steam tug Philadelphia, while engaged yesterday in throwing a rope to a scow, accidentally stepped into the coil lying on the tug and had his foot torn off by the rope which caught it as it was pulled through the hole. The force was sufficient to jerk the injured young man from the tug onto the scow, the injury was such that the amputation of the wounded member was necessary. Mr. Fulford is a young man and lives in this city. The accident occurred down on the Cape Fear where the Government improvement of the river is going on.

Robesonian.—Gen. A. E. Stevenson, 1st. Ast. P. M. Gen., under Cleveland's administration, was in town last Monday, the guest of his friend, Col. Rowland. He remained but a few hours, but in that time he was accorded a reception in Rowland & McLean's law office, and most of the prominent men of the town called upon him. He is a superb fellow. Rev. A. G. McManaway was also in town, the guest of Rev. P. R. Law. He lectured in the Y. M. C. A. hall at night, on what he saw in Europe. His lecture was unique in that it did not make a specialty of word-painting, or, though none possibly would have done it better, he contended himself in telling what he saw, and he did it admirably.

Agri-cultural and Mechanical College.—The furniture, desks, etc. for the Agricultural and Mechanical College are daily arriving. A 6-binding college has been organized and the base ball grounds are being laid off to be used at leisure times.—Raleigh Visitor.

A Strutting Fowl.—It is known here that Dr. Eugene Grierson is intensely hostile to Gov. Fowle because the Governor packed the board so as to secure G. Grierson's removal as superintendent of the Asylum. The other day seeing Lieutenant Governor Holt being discharged the duties of Governor while Fowle was in Washington City, Grierson sent Holt word if he could really like to be Governor that he could secure that position in a very few days; that it was only necessary to furnish Gov. Fowle with a bunch of peacekeepers and put them in the proper place in the very day after word of the Governor, and that Fowle would straightway strut himself to death up and down Fayetteville street. The town was convulsed at this, knowing as all Raleighites do the individuality of Gov. Fowle and Fowle. Raleigh Correspondent.

The Portsmouth Enterprise Times does not appreciate any danger of Virginia going republican.

Rule seems to be infested with burglars.

GENERAL NEWS.

New York Sun.—Just as the clock hands on the Pennsylvania ferry house pointed to 4 yesterday afternoon, the gates swung open and the State Penitentiary of Philadelphia, 200 strong, marched out across West and into Courtland street, led by the Metropolitan Band playing "We've All Been There Before Many a Time."

Oxford Day.—The Hatfield-McCoy feud went on last night. They have won the world's base ball championship. They defeated the Brooklyn by a score of 3 to 2. The series consisted of eleven games, and the New York having secured six victories out of the nine games all ready played are entitled to the pennant.

Wilmington Messenger.—James Fulford, steward on the steam tug Philadelphia, while engaged yesterday in throwing a rope to a scow, accidentally stepped into the coil lying on the tug and had his foot torn off by the rope which caught it as it was pulled through the hole. The force was sufficient to jerk the injured young man from the tug onto the scow, the injury was such that the amputation of the wounded member was necessary. Mr. Fulford is a young man and lives in this city. The accident occurred down on the Cape Fear where the Government improvement of the river is going on.

Robesonian.—Gen. A. E. Stevenson, 1st. Ast. P. M. Gen., under Cleveland's administration, was in town last Monday, the guest of his friend, Col. Rowland. He remained but a few hours, but in that time he was accorded a reception in Rowland & McLean's law office, and most of the prominent men of the town called upon him. He is a superb fellow. Rev. A. G. McManaway was also in town, the guest of Rev. P. R. Law. He lectured in the Y. M. C. A. hall at night, on what he saw in Europe. His lecture was unique in that it did not make a specialty of word-painting, or, though none possibly would have done it better, he contended himself in telling what he saw, and he did it admirably.

Agri-cultural and Mechanical College.—The furniture, desks, etc. for the Agricultural and Mechanical College are daily arriving. A 6-binding college has been organized and the base ball grounds are being laid off to be used at leisure times.—Raleigh Visitor.

A Strutting Fowl.—It is known here that Dr. Eugene Grierson is intensely hostile to Gov. Fowle because the Governor packed the board so as to secure G. Grierson's removal as superintendent of the Asylum. The other day seeing Lieutenant Governor Holt being discharged the duties of Governor while Fowle was in Washington City, Grierson sent Holt word if he could really like to be Governor that he could secure that position in a very few days; that it was only necessary to furnish Gov. Fowle with a bunch of peacekeepers and put them in the proper place in the very day after word of the Governor, and that Fowle would straightway strut himself to death up and down Fayetteville street. The town was convulsed at this, knowing as all Raleighites do the individuality of Gov. Fowle and Fowle. Raleigh Correspondent.

The Portsmouth Enterprise Times does not appreciate any danger of Virginia going republican.

Rule seems to be infested with burglars.

FEMALE SHOP-LIFTERS.

Ways of Telling Them from Innocent Customers.

Many Are Very Skillful, But Children Make the Most Cunning Thieves—How the Gently Ones Act When Caught to Account.

"Do you never make mistakes in accusing people in your store of shoplifting?" asked a New York Tribune reporter of the manager of a big Sixth Avenue dry-goods house the other day.

"Never," was the reply. "You may think that sounds rather boastful, but it is not due to any superior genius. It is only the result of our determination to let a hundred thefts from us go unpunished rather than risk insulting a single innocent customer. As for our detective force, it is morally certain that women were robbing us, but as neither he nor any of our clerks had actually seen the theft, he has let them go untraced, and will know better the loss to us would, ten chances to one, be less than would result from an illegal arrest, a public scandal and the management of a case involving many customers who would not feel comfortable in a store where people are accused of theft on mere suspicion."

"You lose a good deal, then, don't you, by these light-fingered visitors?"

"Yes, a good deal. The great trouble which brings our counters and the lavish way in which we have to display our goods to steal, and are the only way in which we can keep our stores in the busy season an easy hunting-ground for professional shoplifters and puts temptation in the way of all women, who steal, they don't really know why, and are the class most generally caught red-handed."

"Then are women the only shoplifters?"

"Practically, yes. What is taken from us by men or children is a year's stock of consequence. Few children are bold enough, and men don't think it worth their while. There are some precocious little girls, however, who are trained and sent out to steal, and are the class most generally caught red-handed."

"How do you detect them?"

"We have a system of sharp eyes on children who come in alone, and generally turn them out to steal, and are the only way in which we can keep our stores in the busy season an easy hunting-ground for professional shoplifters and puts temptation in the way of all women, who steal, they don't really know why, and are the class most generally caught red-handed."

"How do you detect them?"

"We have a system of sharp eyes on children who come in alone, and generally turn them out to steal, and are the only way in which we can keep our stores in the busy season an easy hunting-ground for professional shoplifters and puts temptation in the way of all women, who steal, they don't really know why, and are the class most generally caught red-handed."

"How do you detect them?"

"We have a system of sharp eyes on children who come in alone, and generally turn them out to steal, and are the only way in which we can keep our stores in the busy season an easy hunting-ground for professional shoplifters and puts temptation in the way of all women, who steal, they don't really know why, and are the class most generally caught red-handed."

"How do you detect them?"

"We have a system of sharp eyes on children who come in alone, and generally turn them out to steal, and are the only way in which we can keep our stores in the busy season an easy hunting-ground for professional shoplifters and puts temptation in the way of all women, who steal, they don't really know why, and are the class most generally caught red-handed."

"How do you detect them?"

"We have a system of sharp eyes on children who come in alone, and generally turn them out to steal, and are the only way in which we can keep our stores in the busy season an easy hunting-ground for professional shoplifters and puts temptation in the way of all women, who steal, they don't really know why, and are the class most generally caught red-handed."

"How do you detect them?"

"We have a system of sharp eyes on children who come in alone, and generally turn them out to steal, and are the only way in which we can keep our stores in the busy season an easy hunting-ground for professional shoplifters and puts temptation in the way of all women, who steal, they don't really know why, and are the class most generally caught red-handed."

"How do you detect them?"

"We have a system of sharp eyes on children who come in alone, and generally turn them out to steal, and are the only way in which we can keep our stores in the busy season an easy hunting-ground for professional shoplifters and puts temptation in the way of all women, who steal, they don't really know why, and are the class most generally caught red-handed."

"How do you detect them?"

"We have a system of sharp eyes on children who come in alone, and generally turn them out to steal, and are the only way in which we can keep our stores in the busy season an easy hunting-ground for professional shoplifters and puts temptation in the way of all women, who steal, they don't really know why, and are the class most generally caught red-handed."

"How do you detect them?"

"We have a system of sharp eyes on children who come in alone, and generally turn them out to steal, and are the only way in which we can keep our stores in the busy season an easy hunting-ground for professional shoplifters and puts temptation in the way of all women, who steal, they don't really know why, and are the class most generally caught red-handed."

"How do you detect them?"

"We have a system of sharp eyes on children who come in alone, and generally turn them out to steal, and are the only way in which we can keep our stores in the busy season an easy hunting-ground for professional shoplifters and puts temptation in the way of all women, who steal, they don't really know why, and are the class most generally caught red-handed."

"How do you detect them?"

FEMALE SHOP-LIFTERS.

Ways of Telling Them from Innocent Customers.

Many Are Very Skillful, But Children Make the Most Cunning Thieves—How the Gently Ones Act When Caught to Account.

"Do you never make mistakes in accusing people in your store of shoplifting?" asked a New York Tribune reporter of the manager of a big Sixth Avenue dry-goods house the other day.

"Never," was the reply. "You may think that sounds rather boastful, but it is not due to any superior genius. It is only the result of our determination to let a hundred thefts from us go unpunished rather than risk insulting a single innocent customer. As for our detective force, it is morally certain that women were robbing us, but as neither he nor any of our clerks had actually seen the theft, he has let them go untraced, and will know better the loss to us would, ten chances to one, be less than would result from an illegal arrest, a public scandal and the management of a case involving many customers who would not feel comfortable in a store where people are accused of theft on mere suspicion."

"You lose a good deal, then, don't you, by these light-fingered visitors?"

"Yes, a good deal. The great trouble which brings our counters and the lavish way in which we have to display our goods to steal, and are the only way in which we can keep our stores in the busy season an easy hunting-ground for professional shoplifters and puts temptation in the way of all women, who steal, they don't really know why, and are the class most generally caught red-handed."

"Then are women the only shoplifters?"

"Practically, yes. What is taken from us by men or children is a year's stock of consequence. Few children are bold enough, and men don't think it worth their while. There are some precocious little girls, however, who are trained and sent out to steal, and are the class most generally caught red-handed."

"How do you detect them?"

"We have a system of sharp eyes on children who come in alone, and generally turn them out to steal, and are the only way in which we can keep our stores in the busy season an easy hunting-ground for professional shoplifters and puts temptation in the way of all women, who steal, they don't really know why, and are the class most generally caught red-handed."

"How do you detect them?"

"We have a system of sharp eyes on children who come in alone, and generally turn them out to steal, and are the only way in which we can keep our stores in the busy season an easy hunting-ground for professional shoplifters and puts temptation in the way of all women, who steal, they don't really know why, and are the class most generally caught red-handed."

"How do you detect them?"

"We have a system of sharp eyes on children who come in alone, and generally turn them out to steal, and are the only way in which we can keep our stores in the busy season an easy hunting-ground for professional shoplifters and puts temptation in the way of all women, who steal, they don't really know why, and are the class most generally caught red-handed."

"How do you detect them?"

"We have a system of sharp eyes on children who come in alone, and generally turn them out to steal, and are the only way in which we can keep our stores in the busy season an easy hunting-ground for professional shoplifters and puts temptation in the way of all women, who steal, they don't really know why, and are the class most generally caught red-handed."

"How do you detect them?"

"We have a system of sharp eyes on children who come in alone, and generally turn them out to steal, and are the only way in which we can keep our stores in the busy season an easy hunting-ground for professional shoplifters and puts temptation in the way of all women, who steal, they don't really know why, and are the class most generally caught red-handed."

"How do you detect them?"

"We have a system of sharp eyes on children who come in alone, and generally turn them out to steal, and are the only way in which we can keep our stores in the busy season an easy hunting-ground for professional shoplifters and puts temptation in the way of all women, who steal, they don't really know why, and are the class most generally caught red-handed."

"How do you detect them?"

"We have a system of sharp eyes on children who come in alone, and generally turn them out to steal, and are the only way in which we can keep our stores in the busy season an easy hunting-ground for professional shoplifters and puts temptation in the way of all women, who steal, they don't really know why, and are the class most generally caught red-handed."

"How do you detect them?"

"We have a system of sharp eyes on children who come in alone, and generally turn them out to steal, and are the only way in which we can keep our stores in the busy season an easy hunting-ground for professional shoplifters and puts temptation in the way of all women, who steal, they don't really know why, and are the class most generally caught red-handed."

"How do you detect them?"

"We have a system of sharp eyes on children who come in alone, and generally turn them out to steal, and are the only way in which we can keep our stores in the busy season an easy hunting-ground for professional shoplifters and puts temptation in the way of all women, who steal, they don't really