

Carboro Southerner

Published Every Thursday. J. G. CHARLES, Editor and Manager. RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION. ONE YEAR $1.00 SIX MONTHS .50

Advertisements among local matter to cents a line for each insertion by regular advertisers.

Durham has a new tobacco journal. It is called the Tobacco. It is very neat and attractive.

New Bern is to have a system of electric cars. These cars are to be run by storage batteries.

A party of thieves last week broke into the smoke house at the pauper's home in Forsyth county and took off the contents.

The University of North Carolina has the promise from Secretary Hoke Smith, to deliver the annual address before the societies next commencement.

Mr. McKaig in his speech in the House said that a gentleman had shown him a suit of clothes purchased in London at $16.00, and then had shown him another suit identically the same, made at Washington city, for $55.

As to the cotton crop, Wilson's estimate which is said to be well thought of in New York is now 7,094,000 bales, Latham Alexander & Co., and Bradstreet are quoted as figuring it out at even less; the latter giving 6,600,000 bales and the former 6,750,000 bales.

The Bland-Bill for the coinage for the seigniorage and the issue of certificates against the dollars so coined, and also for the coinage of all the bullion in the treasury, was reported favorably by the committee.

Mr. Cressy, of the Economist, put the ways of obstructionists very plainly: They are having a reproduction in Congress of the historical feline fight in Kilkenny and the rivalry is between big Tom Reed and one Boutelle, both from Maine, for the place of big Thomas Cat in the riotous hellabolo.

Collector Kope Elias has settled a question that has for some time been a subject of annoyance to the Democratic party of North Carolina, and by his voluntary act relieved the President from a situation that was slightly embarrassing, to say the least of it.

Referring to the chances of the Wilson bill passing the two branches of Congress, the Washington correspondent of the New York Sun says: "The administration is confident as to the House and hopeful as to the Senate."

The other day a small, harmless looking man entered a New York street car, and accidentally trod on the toes of a big six-footer.

Thrashed a Man Twice His Size. The other day a small, harmless looking man entered a New York street car, and accidentally trod on the toes of a big six-footer.

Walter Phillips, a well known and popular young man, died at his home near Enfield a few days ago, aged about 30 years.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent) WASHINGTON, January 15, 1894. "President Cleveland is an honest man, and I believe he is sincere when he said he had referred the whole matter to Congress and would be glad to co-operate with it in the execution of any plan that was consistent with the honor, integrity and morality of the United States and for the best interests of Hawaii."

What is absenteeism? It is a Congressman's straying away from Washington when he ought to be at his post of duty. Two North Carolina Congressmen have been absent from Washington some time, and some people no doubt have censured them but they had good excuses.

The Norfolk Landmark asks this question, as to the income tax: "Suppose, after the income tax is passed, a man finds himself in receipt of an annual income of $3,000.00. What will he do with it? Will he report it for income tax or leave it out? Suppose a man gets $4,000.01 income, will he report it for tax or do and figure it up again to see if there isn't some mistake about it? What will the average American do in such a case?"

From well informed sources it is ascertained that there is a strong probability that if Congress fails to come to his relief within the next fifteen days, Mr. Carlisle may deem it necessary to issue 130 million of bonds under the resumption act for the purpose of maintaining the gold reserve intact, the bonds, if issued, will be sold only for gold, but the details as to how long they will run and at what price will be sold and how placed on the market, etc., have not yet been considered.

The Franklin Times, a most conservative paper, says this on absenteeism: A small minority kept for six weeks a large majority from passing a bill by dilatory tactics of a most frivolous sort.

The House coinage committee has authorized a favorable report on chairman Bland's bill providing for the issue of one cent silver certificates for the redemption of silver bullion now on hand, amounting to more than $55,000,000. The bill will be reported after the tariff is disposed of.

The Democrats of the House came out of the week's general debate on the Wilson tariff bill with flying colors; they met the arguments of the Republicans at every point, and the votes of the House upon the amendments which will be submitted by Democratic members who are opposed to this or that schedule will meet the objections within the party.

Speaker Crisp and a number of the Democratic leaders determined during the fight in the House, when it became evident that the Populist voters would be sufficient to make a quorum, to give the Third party recognition as a party during the progress of the debate if its members would agree to vote.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

A Good Reason for Living.

"She lives to love and loves to live, She loves to live because she lives to love."

Many think it is a sin to be sick; being so, one cannot bestow their affections on others as the Creator intended; being so, it certainly is a duty to cure yourself. Most women, these days, need an invigorating tonic. Worn-out teachers, "shop-girls," dressmakers, milliners, and those subject to tireless labor, have found a boon in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is soothing, strengthening, refreshing sleep relieves despondency and restores to full use all the appetites and affections of one's nature.

There are some reports here to the effect that Fort Caswell is to be rebuilt, and that the Government will put up new brick barracks on the property now partly occupied by the Signal Service, which will be occupied by two companies of U. S. Artillery. Fort Caswell will be garrisoned by men from here, only a small guard to occupy the Fort, except when more may be needed.

The Beaufort Herald says the novelty around those parts now is the bicycle mail route from there to Merton, a distance of 30 miles, tri-weekly. Mr. J. G. Hudson, the contractor of this route, purchased a "Victor" and started Mr. Whitford Mason on his first cycle trip on Monday. Mr. Mason lashed the mail bag to the handle bar and started on Monday. He returned Tuesday evening on time, rather tired. This is no doubt the only bicycle mail route in the State.

Marion Butler, chairman of the People's party in North Carolina, to-day issued an address to that party, urging it to organize at once for this year's campaign. He declares that 99 per cent of the voters in the State are dissatisfied with present conditions; that the issue which looms up above all others in the next State campaign is perfectly free and honest elections; and that the action of the Democrats is adding thousands to the Populist ranks. He calls for immediate organization in every county and for each township.

In one of the windows of the Cotton Exchange there is an old fashioned fire wheel. It belonged to Mr. Curtis Phillips and was recently bought by Mr. John F. Mewborne at a public sale. On it is a small quantity of flax that is about 75 years old. The wheel is much older. Rabbi John Sergius, a converted Jew, of East India, lectured here Tuesday and last night in the Baptist church. Last night he told about the Black Jews, who have become black from exposure to tropical suns.

The Arlington Hospital to be opened in this city shortly, is now an assured fact. Dr. M. E. Robinson will be the physician in charge while Mr. and Mrs. Thos. F. Jones, of this county will administer to the wants of patients. A sanitarium of this kind North Carolina was badly in need of and it is to be hoped that this enterprise will be liberally sustained by its citizens. We regret very much to learn of the assignment of Capt. R. P. Howell, late cashier of the Bank of Wayne, made to Mr. W. T. Velverton yesterday morning, with preferences amounting to $13,812. His liabilities will reach about $35,000. After a long and suffering illness, Maj. Richard McDonald breathed his last, Saturday morning, at 3:30 o'clock, at his home on William street.—Goldstar Headlight.

Three Northern sportsmen were hunting in the neighborhood of Hamilton on the Roanoke river. One of them fell in the river, was nearly drowned and lost a $150 gun; another's hand was badly injured by the explosion of his gun; and the third shot at a bird and killed his fine dog. Mr. J. H. Lane, of Newbern, has been appointed Collector of Internal Revenue for this district. He will nominate the deputy collector at this point, so candidates can put in their bids. By Associated Press the News Observer Chronicle learns that J. B. Shuff, of Beaufort, N. C. has been awarded the contract to erect a life-saving station on the Island of Portsmouth, N. C. Mess. W. H. White and A. McDowell have formed a partnership in the general brokerage business under the general name of W. H. White & Co. There is a force of fifty convicts at work in Tillery, grading the streets and making other improvements. It is rumored that one half interest in the Great Falls Water power, six miles from Weldon, has been sold to Northern Capitalists. This sale insures the erection, in the near future, of two large cotton mills and a hotel. An avenue two miles long, reaching from Great Falls to the Raleigh and Gaston railroad, has already been cut out and is now being graded and culverts put in.—Scotland-Neck Democrat.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent) WASHINGTON, January 15, 1894. "President Cleveland is an honest man, and I believe he is sincere when he said he had referred the whole matter to Congress and would be glad to co-operate with it in the execution of any plan that was consistent with the honor, integrity and morality of the United States and for the best interests of Hawaii."

What is absenteeism? It is a Congressman's straying away from Washington when he ought to be at his post of duty. Two North Carolina Congressmen have been absent from Washington some time, and some people no doubt have censured them but they had good excuses.

The Norfolk Landmark asks this question, as to the income tax: "Suppose, after the income tax is passed, a man finds himself in receipt of an annual income of $3,000.00. What will he do with it? Will he report it for income tax or leave it out? Suppose a man gets $4,000.01 income, will he report it for tax or do and figure it up again to see if there isn't some mistake about it? What will the average American do in such a case?"

From well informed sources it is ascertained that there is a strong probability that if Congress fails to come to his relief within the next fifteen days, Mr. Carlisle may deem it necessary to issue 130 million of bonds under the resumption act for the purpose of maintaining the gold reserve intact, the bonds, if issued, will be sold only for gold, but the details as to how long they will run and at what price will be sold and how placed on the market, etc., have not yet been considered.

The Franklin Times, a most conservative paper, says this on absenteeism: A small minority kept for six weeks a large majority from passing a bill by dilatory tactics of a most frivolous sort.

The House coinage committee has authorized a favorable report on chairman Bland's bill providing for the issue of one cent silver certificates for the redemption of silver bullion now on hand, amounting to more than $55,000,000. The bill will be reported after the tariff is disposed of.

The Democrats of the House came out of the week's general debate on the Wilson tariff bill with flying colors; they met the arguments of the Republicans at every point, and the votes of the House upon the amendments which will be submitted by Democratic members who are opposed to this or that schedule will meet the objections within the party.

Speaker Crisp and a number of the Democratic leaders determined during the fight in the House, when it became evident that the Populist voters would be sufficient to make a quorum, to give the Third party recognition as a party during the progress of the debate if its members would agree to vote.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.

Mr. Carlisle is one more of the victims of the rumor mongers. Every act and every word of his is misrepresented. For instance, Senator Sherman called at the Treasury Saturday afternoon and immediately the telegraph wires were made hot by the sensational stories sent out about his having been sent for to aid the Secretary in preparing for an issue of bonds under the law of 1875.