Guild Meeting.

Old Fellows' Hall was taxed to its utmost seating capacity on last Tuesday night, the occasion being the regular meeting of the Thompson Orphanage Guild. A very entertaining and attractive programme was rendered, and the audience thoroughly enjoyed the entertainment.

The meeting was called to order by Vice President John A. Weddell, and opened with prayer by the Rev. Mr. Orpen, of New York, who is spending some time in our pretty little town.

Treasurer Lewis submitted his monthly report which was received.

The President then announced that the programme for the evening would begin with a beautiful vocal duet, which was heartily enjoyed. Miss Daisy Gillespie accompanied them with the organ.

Miss Annie Farrar recited an appropriate selection, evincing much expression and pathos.

Miss Lilla Bell, accompanied by Miss Gillespie with violin, and Miss Ewell with organ, sang a lovely solo, with fine effect. Miss Gillespie's skill as a violinist was admirably displayed.

Miss Ewell rendered a soul-stirring solo, entitled "I Love My Love in the Spring-Time." She was accompanied by Miss Bell with organ. Enthusiastic applause greeted the selection.

The violin solo by Miss Daisy Gillespie was generous and hearty applause for the talented young violinist. Her playing was skillful, and evinced the thoroughness of her training. Miss Gillespie is a musical genius. She was skillfully assisted with the organ by Miss Norma Cloman.

President Weddell made appropriate remarks touching the work of the Guild.

Rev. Mr. Orpen was introduced, and he made some very timely and appropriate remarks with reference to what the Guild is accomplishing. He spoke of the necessity of aiding and maintaining these orphanages throughout the country; spoke of the church relationship to them and to duty. He said the orphanage was for the purpose of teaching, supporting and educating children who are unfortunate and thrown upon the world without means. "People," said he, "must not do good with the hope of reward here, but for the blessing of Heaven hereafter." His talk was very effective.

Miss Farrar was again urged to give a recital, which she did with effectiveness, revealing the powers of a trained artist. Her recital of the "Frenchan and the Flea," evoked loud applause from the assembled auditors. Miss Farrar is an accomplished elocutionist, and never fails to entertain.

A rising vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Barnes and the cultured young ladies for their kindness in entertaining the Guild.

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for January, just out, is really a holiday number, with regard both to the character of its reading matter and its richness in illustrations. The leading article, "St. Andrews and Andrew Lang," by Mrs. Leicester Adis, is a charming account of the university career and literary life of this versatile author, also of the quaint little Scotch city of his Alma Mater, where the new fad of golf has been played on its native links ever since the Middle Ages. Frances Smith gives a glimpse of "Miss Gould, at Lyndhurst," illustrating the occupations and amusements of an American, chateaulike and France Courtenay Baylor contributes three suggestive chapters "On Entertaining," "In the way of picturesque travel and exploration," and "America's Egypt" (Yucatan), by Mme. Le Plongeon; "Finland and the Finns," by Her. mon Montague Donner; and "A Dash into Pineapple country," which is a southerner Florida Lydia Hoyt Farmer contributes an interesting paper upon "Jerusalem in the First Century," and Charlotte McVain Moore writes sympathetically of "Old Kentucky Homes," "Chimney Bells," by S. H. Ferris, is a reasonable topic, thoroughly treated; and a full page engraving of Bougainville's picture of the death of Marshal Launay at the battle of Essling furnishes the motive for some of the historical pages about Napoleon and Alexander I. of Russia.
