Four years before the nineteenth century dawned-in March, 1796 -the Times announced the sale of a wife in Sheffield for sixpence, Those saints who squeeze a shilling and a little while afterward the same paper solemnly informed the public that the price of wives had risen in Smithfield market from half a guninea to three guineas and a half. They were good old times, indeed, for the man who wanted to get rid of the woman he had sworn to cherish. In 1803, it is recorded, a man led his wife by a halter into the cattle market at Sheffield and sold her for a guinea.
