Her Stomach a Treasury.

The police have discovered a trick, new to them, which has been practiced in the restaurants frequented after midnight by the better class of people.
Last night, in a resort on Mont martre, where city officials and opera stars are well known and New Yorkers are sometimes seen, a lawyer drew a louis from his pocket to pay for his refreshment, whereupon a young woman of engaging manner approached and announcing herself as a fetishist, asked permission to bite the coin for good luck.
The lawyer was complaisant, but the girl, instead of biting the coin, swallowed it. Despite her alluring smiles, the lawyer's countenance changed to resentment. He called a policeman and the girl was arrested. At the stationhouse the commissary ordered an emetic. Then, to the consternation of those present, there came into view not the louis, but two ten-franc pieces. The commissary urged a second effort, and the patient rid herself not of one, but two coins of the desired denomination. Then she was locked up.
The police have learned that she has been practicing her game with great success. Most of her victims smiled when the coins slipped down her throat, while the others kept their anger to themselves.—Paris Cable to the New York Times.

A Year of Blood.

The year 1905 will long be remembered in the home of F. N. Tackett, of Alliance, Ky., as a year of blood; which flowed so copiously from Mr. Tackett's lungs that death seemed very near. He writes: "Severe bleeding from the lungs and a frightful cough had brought me to death's door, when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, with the astonishing result that after taking four bottles I was completely restored and as time has proven permanently cured." Guaranteed for Sore Lungs, Coughs and Colds, at States & Zoeller's drug store. Price 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

Hurricanes Injure Gulf Trade.

The hurricanes which of late have repeatedly ravaged the Southern Atlantic States and West India Islands have given anxious hours not only to men in charge of the unlucky vessels caught in the storm tracks, but to the owners of ships and cargoes, as well as to the underwriters involved, and altogether the past few weeks have not shown a very auspicious beginning of what is generally considered the stormy season in North Atlantic trade. True, so far as the recent gales are concerned, the characteristic of frost has not been added to the horrors of the situation, but the force of the wind and sea have been so great as to cause long lists of disasters, both ashore and afloat, the sum of which cannot be fully determined, either as to lives or property, for months to come. It is safe to say however, that the advent of these terrific gales will have an unfortunate bearing upon the development of trade to and from the Gulf of Mexico, which within the past few years has shown great progress, even to some extent at the expense of the ports north of Hatteras, and those who are the champions of the latter range will not hesitate to emphasize the danger of the longer sea voyage to the Gulf ports as among the important arguments favoring imports and exports through New York, Boston and the Delaware and Chesapeake. Of course, the Southerners have the staple argument of smaller cost of transportation by flotation to and from their ports for the trade of places within a certain distance, but whatever favors may be shown them by the railroads will be closely watched.—Shipping Illustrated.

Rockefeller, Jr. and Drink.

"Easily the best address that John D. Rockefeller, Jr., ever delivered," was the unanimous verdict of the members of the Young Men's Bible Class yesterday morning in the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church after their leader's exposition of the life of Saul.
"We are influenced too much by what the world says or does instead of by what we know to be right and best," he said. "Take, for instance, the question of purity. The world in its careless pursuit of pleasure indulges its appetites and his passions and he is received in society and is regarded as passable; but the woman who does the same is ostracized. That is an example of the judgment of the world. Shall we conform our standard of life to such a standard as that?"
"Is it ever right to desert principle for expediency? In business, you know the opportunities which come for making gain by misrepresentation are many, and we say, 'The other nations do it, therefore people do it, why not we? Granted that there comes a temporary gain by that course, can you justify it before your God?'
"I do not think it is any greater gain in the eyes of God, to drink beer than to drink water. It is a question of the abuse of the beverage.—New York World.

About Attorney Generals.

It is singular how three States; Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, and Maryland, continue in our own time to furnish the bulk of the Attorney Generals of the United States. When Mr. Moody came to the office, he succeeded Mr. Knox, of Pennsylvania, and when Mr. Moody retired next winter he will be followed by Mr. Bonaparte, of Maryland. Since the foundation of the government in 1789, these three States have furnished twenty of the forty eight Attorney Generals, Pennsylvania supplying eight, Massachusetts seven and Maryland five. Maryland's number will be increased to six when Mr. Bonaparte arrives. States like New York and Ohio have furnished only three each. The hold which the three States referred to have upon this office, and have had always seems inexplicable. True, the Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, and Maryland bars have ever been distinguished, but their record in the Attorney General's office can scarcely be said to be due to professional superiority. It must be reckoned merely one of the curious accidents of government.
But when it comes to treasurers and other cabinet officers, New York is there. There now.

Made Happy for Life.

Great happiness came into the home of S. C. Blair, school superintendent, at St. Albans, Vt., when his little daughter was restored from the dreadful complaint he names. He says: "My little daughter had St. Vitus' Dance, which yielded to no treatment but grew steadily worse until as a last resort we tried Electric Bitters; and I rejoice to say, three bottles effected a complete cure." Quik sure cure for nervous complaints, general debility, female weakness, impoverished blood and malaria. Guaranteed by States & Zoeller. Price 50c.

Vagaries of the Pacific.

The year 1906 has done strange things to the Pacific ocean of which last week's typhoon, destructing as it was, is probably the latest serious. The earthquakes at San Francisco and Valparaiso not only seem to have wrought tremendous damage on land, but to have moved the very foundations of the deep. A bran new island, it is reported to have risen, smoking and steaming, from the waters of Behring sea. The recent numerous groundings of big Pacific steamers in charge of capable navigators, are explained by the fact that familiar ocean currents have been deflected from their wonted courses, presumably by earthquake movements of the ocean bed. Those who go down to this sea in ships have a new peril to guard against.—Findlay Courier Union.

Jail a Disgrace.

In connection with the sentencing of several prisoners to short terms for illicit liquor selling, Judge Purnell, in the federal court at Wilmington, took occasion to pass caustic criticism upon the manner in which the New Hanover county jail is conducted, saying that it is a disgrace to a civilized community. Conditions in the prison were likened unto the black hole of Calcutta, the worst feature of the treatment of prisoners, the Judge declared, being the fare. He said that he would have no more U. S. prisoners unnecessarily punished by sentencing them to terms in the jail at Wilmington; that he regretted even that prisoners had to stay there to await trial.

The Fourth's Great Growth.

In the current issue the Manufacturers' Record estimates that the true value of real and personal property in the fourteen Southern States at present is at least $15,000,000,000, which is nearly $2,000,000,000 more than the true value of property in the whole country in 1860, with the South's population at present 4,000,000 or $5,000,000 less than the total population of the country in 1860. It says:
"Assessments of Alabama property this year are $373,468,462, an increase over those of 1905 of $29,244,241. The increase in 1905 over 1904 was $21,545,428. Alabama is showing the increase in wealth at a steadily advancing rate, which characterizes the South generally, the increase in Louisiana between 1905 and 1906 being from $396,821,157 to $459,271,270, or by $62,450,113, as against an increase of $45,800,000 between 1904 and 1905; in Tennessee, an increase of $25,000,000 between 1905 and 1906 being greater by $8,000,000 than the increase between 1904 and 1905 and the increase of $80,000,000 in Texas between 1905 and 1906 being $23,000,000 greater than the increase between 1904 and 1906. It is further estimated that since 1902 property values in Mississippi have increased by $90,000,000. The total increase of assessed values in the fourteen Southern States was something more than $432,000,000 between 1904 and 1905. The increase this year in the five States mentioned suggest that the increase this year for the South will be close to $450,000,000 which will bring the total up to about $7,100,000,000 assessed property values."

Southern Prosperity is Reflected.

The millions of dollars being spent upon industrial enterprises in railroad construction and municipal and private improvements. Notable among these are several just completed, under way or planned out for Charlotte, a city of about 40,000 population, the expenditures representing investments of more than $1,900,000. Railroad improvements planned will cost $200,000, a $250,000 hotel will be ready for occupancy by the first of next year, a $60,000 hospital will be so built that its present planned capacity may be enlarged, a building for a medical college will cost $200,000 and one the Y. M. C. A. will cost about $70,000, etc.

A Dangerous Surgical Operation.

Involving the removal of a malignant ulcer, as large as my hand, from my daughter's hip, was prevented by the application of Bucklen's Arnica Salve," says A. C. Stichel, of Miletus, W. Va. "Persistent use of the Salve completely cured it." Cures Cuts, Burns and Injuries. 25c at States & Zoeller's, the druggists.

A Town Built on Oyster Shells.

Crisfield, Md. presents a problem for the thoughtful man. This is it: If the first man to eat an oyster was a hero, what kind of a man, or community of men, is it who will build a town on oyster shells? The secondary foundation of Crisfield is the bottom of the Chesapeake Bay, and between the bottom of Crisfield and the bottom of the bay are oyster shells to the number of millions—probably hundreds of millions. On this great stratum of oyster shells stands house, wharves and business places; a railroad runs along it; bridges cross its dividing places; men walk and talk and do business; steamboats and sailboats, with their landings alongside it; merry boating parties put off from the shore by moonlight and fish and crab, and return in the early morn all to this great bank of oyster shells, sunk in the blue water.

Crisfield lives by oysters and crabs—not by eating them; for Crisfielders rarely ever eat either; but by catching them, boiling them, packing them, shipping them, selling them. He who would know the crab can best learn it by visiting this wholly and solely crab town on the Chesapeake. Men in boats quickly fill barrels with crabs and bring them ashore to the "factories." Here they are counted, sorted, steamed, packed in barrels, and shipped, until one wonders who can possibly eat all these mountains and myriads of crabs. There are many people in a country. A crab apiece for them all, once a year in the season, "would mean some crabs." At least, so—Philadelphia Record.

From the prices now paid for storm cotton it seems probable that the damage done by frost and wet will be somewhere between 5 and 15 per cent, but this makes no account of cut off in yield.

Immense Grape Crop.

An immense grape crop has been harvested at Medoc. This writer was informed by Mr. Vinson that the crop would reach twelve thousand bushels, and he thought they would buy as many more. It is indeed a busy place. The old burned building has been replaced by a beautiful structure 45x143 feet and filled with casks that hold from one thousand to twenty thousand gallons each.—Littleton Times Herald.
