Grand Crop in Southwest.

According to the ginners' report of cotton ginned to November 1st 400,000 more bales were ginned this year than last for the same time. Nearly every bale of this increase comes from the cotton belt beyond the Mississippi, with the exception of 46,000 in Mississippi. In Texas there was an increase of more than 600,000, Arkansas 86,000, Indian Territory and Oklahoma 47,000, Louisiana 213,000.

North Carolina has ginned 105,000 less, South Carolina, 270,000, Alabama 150,000, Georgia 270,000.

Last year by November 1st this State had ginned 67 per cent. of the total crop, Texas 68, Alabama 66, Georgia 75, South Carolina 73, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Indian Territory, Mississippi and Louisiana had each ginned less than 46 per cent.

The seasons in the Southwest have been so favorable that it is quite probable that a larger percentage has been ginned than this year as well as picked.

Just the reverse prevails east of the Mississippi.

However we are still unable to see where the bears and figure out a crop of 13,000,000 bales or even 12,500,000 which is the amount it is said the mills will need.

With a yield probably not as great as is needed, we are also at a loss to understand why the price should be below ten cents.

PROTECT THE SONGBIRDS.

Written in behalf of the State Audubon Society.
BY ORREN W. TURNER.

How is it that the people—generally speaking, manifest such little interest in our songbirds? Why are we so constituted that we do not appreciate the merry chirps and warbles of our surrounding bird life? "Birds appeal to us most strongly through their songs and their songs are most eloquent of nature's voices. The gay carol of the grosbeak in the morning, the dreamy, mellow call of the pewee, the vesper hymn of the thrush, the midnight throat of the whip-poor-will, the clanging of the geese in the spring and the song valedictory of the blue bird in the Fall. How clearly each one expresses the sentiment of the hour of the season."

The elaborate song of the field sparrow, a sweet plaintive "Ker-wee-ker-wee-ker wee chee-dee-ee" which ends in an expressive prolonged twitter, is one of the most enchanting songs in bird life and is worthy of appreciation by every one.

The hermit thrush, as he sits with drooping wings and tail pouring forth his vesper strain recalls to one's mind the poem of "Shelley's Skylark."

"Teach me thy heart's gladness
That thy heart must know,
If such harmonious gladness
From my lips should flow
The world would stand and listen
As I am listening now."

Even the swamp sparrow's simple insignificant "Tweet-tweet" is amazingly beautiful. The fox sparrow possesses incredible singing qualities but his song must be heard to be appreciated. As he sits on the top rail of the meadow fence pouring out his sad, melancholy song, one would think that he had suffered some terrible loss which had completely blighted his fair existence, so sorrowful, yet beautiful does he sing. He seems to say, "Come see me ere I go." The pitch iou G and ascends to B where it is sustained for two notes, then it descends to F sharp and wittained for three distinct notes, the last, occasionally running into a trill.

The sweet disposed goldfinch as he feeds upon the thistles, sunflowers and birch buds, sings a sweet mellow, "Near me near me Dearie" to his loving mate beside him, who answers with a cooing, "To be sure" and how lovely they bid us farewell as they swing into the air in bounding undulations uttering a merry "Cher pie cise, Cher pie cise."

How many had the luck to hear at midnight the American mocking bird as he sat in a neighboring tree pouring forth the innermost parts of his soul in song! Surely it is worth two hours sleep to any one to listen for five minutes of this Nightingale of America as he takes the advantage of night's serenity to display his vocal talents.

The yellowbreasted chat ranks next to the brown thrasher in song and his song is as mysterious as it is pleasing. It is absolutely impossible to describe his song as no alphabetical interpretation will give his song justice. An inexperienced bird lover would think that he had suddenly come upon an insane asylum if he should hear the chat in full blast. Mr. Burroughs describes his song thus: "Now he barks like a puppy, then quacks like a duck, then rattles like a kingfisher then squalls like a fox, caws like a crow and then mew like a cat."

All of our song birds are insects and noxious weed destroyers and most assuredly they deserve protection as well as the scavenger and game birds. Birds are as indispensable as the air we breathe and without them this world would be a desolate place, inasmuch as we are in debt to them, yet we seem to be unaware of their existence. But with combination efforts may we uphold Audubon's motto: "A bird in the bush is worth two in the hand" and make our homes bright with the presence of Nature's most beautiful.

A Year of Blood.

The year 1906 will long be remembered in the home of F. N. Tackett, of Alliance, Ky., as a year of blood; which flowed so copiously from Mr. Tackett's lungs that death seemed very near. He writes: "Severe bleeding from the lungs and a frightful cough had brought me at death's door, when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, with the astonishing result that after taking four bottles I was completely restored and as time has proven permanently cured." Guaranteed for Sore Lungs, Coughs and Colds, at Staton & Zoeller's drug store. Price 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

The most disgraceful incident in the entire campaign was the undignified, unjustifiable denunciation of Mr. Hearst by Mr. Roosevelt through his cabinet officer, Root. No president has ever before stooped so low in local politics.

Made Happy for Life.

Great happiness came into the home of S. C. Blair, school superintendent, at St. Albans, Vt., when his little daughter was restored from the dreadful complaint he names. He says: "My little daughter had St. Vitus' Dance, which yielded to no treatment but grew steadily worse until as a last resort we tried Electric Bitters; and I rejoice to say, three bottles effected a complete cure." Quick sure cure for nervous complaints, general debility, female weakness, impoverished blood and malaria. Guaranteed by Staton & Zoeller. Price 50c.

Had a Close Call.

"A dangerous surgical operation involving the removal of a malignant ulcer, as large as my hand, from my daughter's hip, was prevented by the application of Bucklen's Arnica Salve," says A. C. Stiekel, of Mill-st., Va. "Persistent use of the Salve completely cured it." Cures Cuts, Burns and Injuries. 25c at Staton & Zoeller's, the druggists.

Made Many Jumps.

That various army and navy officers in Washington should had the controversy with Japan over the treaty rights of Japanese subjects in this country as proof that we need more battleships and larger military expenditures was only to be expected. In naval and military circles in Washington the doctrine is that we are always on the verge of being assailed and that we never have vessels or men enough to resist even the first assault. The more excited element among the army and navy officers are quoted as saying that "Japan with her modern navy could take the Philippines before the United States could move a wheel." If this is the belief of these critics, it is the severest indictment ever brought against our navy, which is as "mod'ra" as that of Japan. We have in commission in the Pacific forty vessels of all classes, and we have many more in reserve. The Asiatic fleet, which comprehends the vessels assigned to the Philippines, includes four armored cruisers, five cruisers, seven gunboats, five destroyers, four vessels of the local Philippine squadron, four fleet auxiliaries, all ready for service, besides others, among them two powerful armored cruisers. This is a force not to be brushed aside in the first onslaught by Japan. It is one capable, it is believed, of a stout resistance and could readily be reinforced. The Japanese navy is excellent as far as it goes, and its achievements have given it a deserved reputation for skill and resourcefulness, but in guns and vessels it is far outclassed by ours. The guaranty that Japan will not make the present difficulty a casus belli is not found however, in her relative naval strength, but in the ability of her statesmen, who, as they slowed at the time of the conclusion of peace, are not readily moved from a course their wisdom prescribes by the clamor of Japadese jingoes.—Boston Transcript.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, early point to weak Kidney Nerves. The Kidney like the heart, and the stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide the organs. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach the controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine is cloudy, or if you are troubled with dizziness, or if you are afflicted with any of the other distressing or dangerous kidney diseases, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month. Election Returns.

Upon the face of the returns in New York, Mr. Hearst is defeated by 52,000, but he claims that all his votes were not counted. His name was on two tickets, the Democratic and Independent League. The claim is made that in a number of counties his name on the latter ticket was not counted. Mr. Hearst carried Greater New York by 76,000 while the Democratic candidate for Lieut.-Governor received a majority of 135,000. Congress will be republican by 60. The republicans lost 27 Congressmen.

Probably the greatest gains made by the Democrats was in New Jersey, where they gained three congressmen and elected a majority in the legislature.

In this state they held their own or did better, especially in the Eight District, which defeated Spencer Blackburn.

The county canvassing board has been in session here today, and completed the canvass too late for publication today.

There was polled in the county nearly 1700 votes. The Democratic majority for state officers is over 1300.

The most famous strike breakers in the land are Dr. King's New Life Pills. When liver and bowels go on strike, they quickly settle the trouble, and the purifying work goes right on. Best cure for constipation, headache and dizziness. 25c at Staton & Zoeller's the druggist.

Labor on Farm and in Shop.

There seems to be a labor famine throughout the land, and the same is true of other countries. The South is calling for cotton pickers and the West is short of corn huskers. A cry for milkmaids comes from every dairy and creamery East, North, West. There is also a scarcity of skilled labor, though a most respectable authority has estimated that the machinery employed in American industries is equal to the physical energies of 50,000,000 able-bodied men.

What an enormous production these figures represent! It is supposed that Pittsburg, Pa., and the surrounding towns are the most wonderful industrial center in the world; and it is certain that no other city—not New York, nor Chicago, nor London, England, even—supplies the railroad tonnage that comes out of the Pittsburg district. There, too, notwithstanding machinery that does the work of millions of men—there, too, is a cry for more labor.

The South is especially clamorous for agricultural labor, farm hands; but the South is in sore need of better farming than it is now doing. It is said that specimens of Lancashire, England, are buying cotton lands in Georgia. It will prove a great blessing if they should fetch with them those European methods of farming by the employment of which in England, France, and Germany the yield of the field has been gradually and regularly increased and the fertility of the soil steadily and progressively improved. A yield of 200 bushels from ten acres is infinitely better than a yield of 400 bushels from 50 acres.

As for the South, she has in some respects the best farm labor in the world. The industrious and contented negro is a treasure when he follows instructions as to preparation of the ground, tillage, harvest, and garnering of the crop. There is never any difficulty with this fellow down here. His only drawback is prosperity. It is hard for him to endure that. He is the happiest man in the world simply because his wants are few and
