An Excellent Suggestion.

A prominent citizen and business nan of town today suggested "that the town commissioners present the rental from the opera house this season to the town clock fund, instead of allowing another carnival to exhibit in Tarboro.

"Every time a carnival exhibits her the showmen carry away from $2, 500 to $3,000 from 'the community They can well afford to present the rental from the opera house and retain the greater amount, which will be spent with our merchants, instead of going to a show."

The Sweetest of Singers. Every Pec ple has its Poet, But David is the King of All. (Psalm 18)

Every nation has its sweet singer, man whose soul has been kindled with the fire of poetry, and who stirs the blood and enriches the literature of his native land with inspiring. To blot out the poetry of the nations would be to rob classic whose names will neven die

But if we ask who is the king of al poets, the central sun around whom one answer, David, the writer of the Pslams, the sweet singer of Isreal stands acknowledged as the univerworld. Greece has her Homer, England has her Shakespeare. America has her Longfellow, but David sings for all lands and all ages and overleaps all geographical boundaries. When his record as a warrior has his kingly reign has been overshadowed by other earthly monarchs, his Psalms will still remain the universal song book, unapproached and unapproachable. These Psalms have furnished the bridal hymns, the battle songs, the prayers, and jubilee praises of every nation in Christendom. They have rolled through the din of every great European battlefield; they have peal every ocean highway of the world. Drake's sailors sang them when they clave the virgin waters of the Pacific Frobisher's when they dashed against the barriers of Arctic ice and night. day when England held her freedon against Pope and Spaniard.
