

SAYINGS OF MRS. SOLOMON.

Being the Confessions of the Seven Hundredth Wife and Translated by Helen Roland for the Washington Herald.

Verily my daughter three things a man hateth—even these three: 1. A house in which the furniture is too fine to be sat upon and the chairs too good to hold his feet.

2. A woman who attempts to convince him that he is wrong—and succeedeth in doing it. 3. To be found out.

Yea, and a fourth thing and a fifth he despiseth; for a weeping woman is unto her husband as a spigot that leaketh and maketh a distracting noise; even as a sponge that scratcheth or a collar with a raw edge is she unto him.

For while a woman's first tear may touch a man, her second boreth him, and the rest as awet rag on a starched shirt bosom rumpleth up his temper.

But a lady conversationalist is as a fire that sputtereth and he fleeth in terror before the sparks of her wit. She striketh him dumb, but not with admiration. For in conversation, as in life, a man only wanteth an audience and hankereth for his own move in a game of checkers.

Verily, she who hath studied the ologies and discoursed thereon is as a foolish child beside her who asketh a man questions concerning himself. For a man that talketh of books and politics and new thought wearith withal; but a man that talketh of himself never tireth.

Yea my daughter, there are but two ways round a man: one leadeth through his vanity and the other through his fear. For while a woman may bully her way over him, she can smile her way straight through him.

And the blond of the chorus knoweth this. She wearith always the smile that won't come off. Selah.

TARBORO HARDWARE CO.

Doing an extensive wholesale and retail business in hardware, farm implements machinery and mechanical supplies the Tarboro Hardware Co. is today one of the prosperous and progressive enterprises in Eastern North Carolina. Its stock, installs and equips cotton gins and saw mills, supplies bills of hardware to contractors and property owners, responds to all the needs of farmers for farm machinery and implements furnishes blacksmiths and tinners with heavy hardware and roofing material and anticipates and supplies promptly a vast range of needs in the mechanical lines generally. The Tarboro Hardware Co., was established in 1897 by its present owner and manager John R. Pender, who had for over twenty years previously been successfully identified with the hardware business. The beginning made was modest and unpretentious and stocks grew space and additional storequaters and ware house capacity became an imperative question. These were secured, but only to provide temporary relief, until a permanent solution to the question was found in the erection of a fire proof brick and iron ware house building, and which with store quarters, 30x100, two stories, or 9,000 square feet and a two story building in the rear, having 5,000 square feet, gives one some idea of the magnitude of facilities required to handle what is still a growing and constantly growing business. It will only be a matter when the question of more storage and store capacity must again be settled, for already the increasing stocks are crowding every inch of available space. The Tarboro Hardware Co. are headquarters in eastern North Carolina for the best make of farm implements on the market, and their aggregate car load purchases from the manufacturers prove them to be the largest dealers doing business in this line in the State. They handle the International Harvesting Co. Gasoline engines, the Chattanooga and Avery plows, cultivators, drills, the Hackney farm wagon, wire fencing and other leading makes of farm implements and supplies, castings and steam fittings of all kinds are supplied promptly at guaranteed figures, also all kinds of hardware, cutlery, mechanic's tools guns and ammunition, and the thousand and one devices to be found in every first class establishment. John R. Pender, the owner and founder of the business is among the representative citizens and business men of eastern North Carolina. In eleven years his executive ability and enterprising methods have built up an important and a popular establishment, whose facilities and influences extend for many miles around in wholesale and retail lines, and which in its development has introduced and maintained for the farmers, property owners, contractor and mechanics the most advantageous and satisfactory market conditions. This same development has added to Tarboro's prestige and popularity as a trade center, for the Tarboro Hardware Co. is an important factor in the aggregate of local trade operations.

CLEVER SOCIAL FUNCTION IN HONOR BRIDAL PARTY.

Dr. and Mrs. James J. Phillips entertained Monday Evening at Their Home. Dr. and Mrs. James J. Some Pardons Granted.

William Millum, who committed an assault in Mitchell county on a man who had made trouble between him and his wife, and was given four years on the roads, is pardoned by Governor Glenn with the stipulation that he is not to live in North Carolina. Three other pardons are granted. Edward Horton, nine years from Durham, for larceny, is pardoned because the Governor has doubt of his guilt and no confidence in his prosecutor; John Adkins, twelve months, from Stanley for larceny, pardoned for good prison record; Will Davis, Beaufort county, one year for larceny, pardoned because of good behavior and injury received in convict labor.

O'rmack's Last Editorial.

It may be interesting to the public to see the editorial in the Tennesseean that, according to the testimony, was responsible for the tragedy, or at least brought the trouble to a head. We clip it from the Tennesseean of the morning of the day of the homicide:

"To Major Duncan Brown Cooper who wrought the great coalition; who achieved the harmonious confluence of incompatible elements; who welded the pewter handle to the wooden spoon; who grafted the dead bough to the living tree and made it to bloom, and bourgeois and bend with golden fruit; who made playmates of the lamb and the leopard and boy; companions of the spider and the fly; who made soda and vinegar to dwell placidly in the same bottle, and who taught oil and water how they might agree—to Major Duncan Brown Cooper, the great diplomat of the political Zwickelbund, be all honor and glory forever!"

That is all there was to it. There is nothing in the editorial to provoke the shooting of a man and the taking of blood-guiltiness upon a man's soul.—Columbia State.

CAPT. SWIFT GALLOWAY DIED FRIDAY.

Brother of Dr. W. C. Galloway of Near Tarboro, Passed Away at His Home in Snow Hill. The sad intelligence of the death of Captain Swift Galloway at his home in Snow Hill, was learned Friday night and will cause much sorrow by all, who were fortunate in knowing this genial gentleman. Capt. Galloway was one of the most popular men in public life of the Old North State. He held many positions of trust, serving several times as solicitor and as a member of the Legislature.

Capt. Galloway had been in ill health for several months, and his death was not unexpected. He was 70 years of age.

Dr. W. C. Galloway, of near Tarboro is a brother and will attend the funeral.

A Town With a Business Manager.

An instructive experiment in municipal administration is under way in Staunton, Va., a city of 12,000 inhabitants where local authorities have intrusted the job of running the town to a business manager. The city retains the form of political organization required by law, and is governed from a legal standpoint by a mayor and city council. These officers, however, have delegated the purely business functions of local administration to the business manager, elected by them for a period of one year and directly responsible for them. He is given free hand in buying city supplies and in making municipal contracts. Every three months he submits a report to the council, as to a board of directors, and his acts are passed upon, usually with approval. He suggests such legislation as is required to authorize his projects. In brief, his position is practically the same as that of the general manager of a large business corporation.

Staunton's business manager has been in office since last April. Since that time he has evidently made good for after having given him a term of one year, the council has re-elected him for another term. He has saved money to the taxpayers according to his own statements, and given them an economical and efficient service.

For one thing, he was able to place contracts for granite paving at 71 cents a square yard instead of the $2 the council was paying prior to his appointment. These results are analogous to those accomplished by the commission plan of government in other cities. As everyone knows, the difficulty of converting a municipal administration into a purely business proposition is that local government is a political as well as a business affair, and the two things cannot be legally separated. The Virginia town seems to have overcome this difficulty by the simple expedient of employing an officer to conduct the purely business part of local administration while the political functions are retained in the city officials regularly chosen by the people in accordance with the State constitution and laws. It is a system worth careful study by all municipal reformers.—Washington Herald.

Tar Heels Defeated Pennsylvanians.

The debating team of the University of North Carolina, Kemp D. Battle, of Rocky Mount, and J. W. Umstead, Jr., defeated that of the University of Pennsylvania Friday night in Philadelphia. The question involved was: "Resolved that the pooling of interstate railway rates should be legal." The Tar Heels upheld the negative side and were successful in the handling of the subject.

Miss Cora Arrington, daughter of the late Ben Arrington, and Thomas Jenkins were married this morning at 8 o'clock in the Episcopal church, Rocky Mount, by Rev. R. B. Owens. Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins left immediately following the ceremony on a bridal tour to Norfolk and Washington, D. C.

The groom is a brother of Perry Jenkins, of near Tarboro, and is employed as engineer on the Atlantic Coast Line. The bride is a popular young lady of Rocky Mt. They will reside in Florence, S. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Jenkins and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Gatlin attended the wedding from here.

Neglected to Re-insure Building.

A valuable lesson to property owners may be learned from the recent fire in Henderson, which destroyed a large factory, as until recently the building was insured in the Pamlico Insurance Co. of Tarboro, but at the expiration of the policy, the company failed to re-insure the building.

North Carolina Day.

By direction of Supt. Joyner, North Carolina Day will be observed in the Public schools of Edgecombe County this year on Friday, Dec. 18th. Copies of the Programme of Exercises have been mailed to the teachers throughout the county. The printed programme need not be followed in every particular; it makes a good outline with which former programmes—selections from histories, and clippings from newspapers may be used. These North Carolina Day pamphlets should be studied by the history classes during the next few weeks, later (after the exercises have been held) they should be placed in the school library.

It is sincerely hoped that every teacher in the county will enter into the spirit of the occasion and make an especial effort to inspire the children and their parents with a new pride in their State, a new enthusiasm for the study of her history, and a new love of her and her people.

Respectfully,
R. G. KITTRELL,
Superintendent of Schools

State High School Appropriation. The News & Observer published the official State appropriations for county high schools Sunday and in referring to the matter, Prof. Kittrell stated that "the $250 to the Macclesfield, Whitakers and Battleboro schools should not be included under Edgecombe, as the latter two will receive $250 each from the State, one half from Edgecombe and a similar amount from Nash county."

This is due to the location of the schools on the same line and Nash.

Urinary disorders quickly follow. Diabetes and finally Bright's disease.

This is the downward course of kidney ills.

Mrs. E. B. Cuthrell, living at 209 Brown St., Washington, N. C., says: "I have received great benefit from Doan's Kidney Pills and am glad to recommend them. For some time I suffered from distressing pains through my kidney regions, accompanied by a dull nagging ache which extended into my shoulders. My kidneys were very weak, the secretions highly colored and showed that my organs needed attention. At night I was restless and in the morning felt tired and languid. When I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills I procured a box and after a short use the pains and aches disappeared, my kidneys were strengthened and the secretions were regular. I am feeling so much better and stronger that it gives me great pleasure to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

Eat What
You want of the food you need
Kodol will digest it.
You need a sufficient amount of good wholesome food and more than this you need to fully digest it. Else you can't gain strength, nor can you strengthen your stomach if it is weak.
You must eat in order to live and maintain strength.
You must not diet, because the body requires that it eat a sufficient amount of food regularly.
But this food must be digested, and it must be digested thoroughly. When the stomach can't do it, you must take something that will help the stomach.
The proper way to do is to eat what you want, and let Kodol digest the food.
Nothing else can do this. When the stomach is weak it needs help; you must help it by giving it rest, and Kodol will do that.
Our Guarantee
Go to your druggist today, and purchase a dollar bottle, and if you can honestly say, that you did not receive any benefits from it, after using the entire bottle, the druggist will refund your money to you without question or delay.

This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family.
